GGWash also posted national links on robotaxis and big-tech control of streets (Open Markets Institute report); no DC DDOT grant items (GGWash national links). GGWash's Monday breakfast links have no DDOT grant or DC bike items (GGWash links).

- DDOT awards $7.6 million in FY27 Vision Zero and Highway Safety grants (28 grants, nearly 20 recipients)
  DDOT release (undated on the page; on the DDOT home page today). Recipients named: Safe Kids Worldwide (child restraint and hot-car prevention); Office of Unified Communications (enhanced 9-1-1 technology and a data analyst); Washington Regional Alcohol Program (public information and SoberRide); a DC Metro traffic stop study (annual evaluation of MPD traffic stop data). Not stated in the release: per-recipient amounts, grant periods, and the full recipient list. Funding source is DDOT's Vision Zero and Highway Safety Office under the Moving to Zero 2026–2030 plan (federal highway safety funds are the usual source, but the release does not say). Scrutiny: no WABA, GGWash or other bike/transportation advocacy nonprofit is named in the release; the full award list would be needed to confirm, and the lump-sum framing makes repeat, large or no-bid awards impossible to check.   Posted Wed Nov 18 (PoPville, quoting Lime). Lime says it has now banned nearly 1,700 riders (1,000 as of Oct 21) under its $17 million "Keeping DC Moving" plan, using age verification, Responsible Riding Technology and LimeVision anti-sidewalk detection, with fines and bans for suspected underage riding and repeat bad parking. Helmet giveaway events at the NoMa Metro station, more through year-end. Company figures, not independently verified (the Nov 5 GW Hatchet item below cited "more than 2,000" in five weeks). PoPville
- Council emergency resolution R26-0541: Micromobility Fire Safety Standards (PR26-0838, Councilmember Allen)
  Introduced Mon Nov 9 and approved Tue Nov 10, effective Nov 10, 2026. Declares an emergency to require that e-bikes, electric mobility devices and their batteries sold, distributed or rented in DC meet safety standards (lithium-ion battery thermal-runaway risk) and to authorize the DDOT Director to develop policies for safe use of e-bikes, motorized bicycles and electric mobility devices. Emergency measures expire after 90 days unless a permanent bill follows. LIMS: PR26-0838
- GW Hatchet: Lime briefs West End Citizens Association; bans now "more than 2,000" in five weeks
  Posted Thu Nov 5. At WECA's Saturday meeting in Duquès Hall, Lime's Erika Duthely said the company has banned more than 2,000 riders over the past five weeks (earlier Oct 21 coverage said nearly 1,000 in four weeks) and tripled its foot-patrol team, with Foggy Bottom among the neighborhoods getting more patrols. Duthely said Lime accounts for more than 70% of shared scooter and bike rides in DC and just under 60% of vehicles for rent; crews generally respond to bad parking within 30 minutes (max two hours)—Foggy Bottom Association president John George said his experience was often two or three days. Lime supports expanding mandatory parking zones and is finalizing a Georgetown BID pilot to relocate badly parked devices; WECA's Barbara Kahlow offered a Foggy Bottom/West End walkthrough. Duthely said Lime is working with DDOT on proposed sidewalk speed limits (not finalized) and has restricted sidewalk riding on streets with protected bike lanes even outside the Central Business District. Nick Delledonne of the DC Safe Streets Coalition asked for larger ID numbers on Lime vehicles to aid enforcement; Lime said it would consider that. Former Councilmember Jack Evans said he has been hit by an e-vehicle and counted 22 scooters near his Georgetown home. GW Hatchet story

Commission delegated five commissioners to finish the letter.
