Are Trials Mandatory?

Trials are optional, but we highly recommend it!

It gives you a chance to see your wedding day look in advance. This helps save time on your wedding day. It allows your artist(s) to work confidently, There's no need to test products or hairstyles on the wedding day.

During the trial, we will assess your skin condition and hair texture, provide tailored information and prepping instructions. This helps ensure you're delighted with the results and avoids any last-minute surprises!

We suggest scheduling your trial 3 to 5 months before your wedding date for the best experience!

PLANNING YOUR MORNING

Service Duration: Each person will take one hour for hair and one hour for makeup. Brides may require up to 1.5 hours for either service. On average, a wedding party of six, including the bride, will take approximately 6.5 hours with two artists.

This schedule considers the length and thickness of everyone's hair. It also allows us to thoroughly sanitize our stations between services. These small buffer times help reduce stress. They also create a calmer experience for the bride and bridal party.

The start time for your services will be determined by us. This is based on the number of services, artists needed, and your required completion time.

Your services should be completed one hour before you plan to leave for the ceremony. This gives you breathing room for getting dressed, touch-ups, and photos. it also allows space for any last-minute moments without feeling rushed.
