Sacred Scripture

OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST, KING OF THE UNIVERSE

In this next catechism, I would like to talk more about the work of mercy: bury the dead. Intering a loved one in the ground or in an enclosed compartment above the ground is a work of mercy to honor the remains of a person's body and place hope in the resurrection of the body. Since this burial place will continue throughout the ages, it falls on descendants to care for the resting place of their ancestors. Keeping headstones, the burial vault lid or a crypt shutter clean and in good condition is a continual work of mercy in burying the dead. It is also a way to remind us of the need to pray for the dead and a way to rekindle our hope in the resurrection.

Placing trinkets on the grave of our loved ones is more about us than about our loved ones who passed. Once we die, we see the face of Christ. We see truth and love for what it really is. We no longer care about the things of this world including our hobbies and careers. The only thing a person in heaven or purgatory is concerned about is loving God and loving their neighbor. Also, placing trinkets can cause us to hold on to this world and our time with our loved ones in this world rather than hoping for reunion with them in the next.

We must also realize that we share a graveyard and mausoleum with other family members of other persons buried there. It is good to show consideration for others and not decorate in a way that hinders others from honoring their loved ones.

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

I am writing to encourage festivity in this feast of Christ the King. We do honor Jesus as King of the Universe. It is similar to honoring someone's birthday or wedding anniversary. God is the one who instructed the ancient Israelites to have days of feasting, days of ordinary time and days of fasting. This cycle is good for us spiritually when we follow it to honor God. It is also good for our health as science supports. So feast on this day and worship God at Sunday Mass. For during advent we enter a period of fasting and/or abstinence.

In the hearts of JMJ,

Fr Comeaux
