Meditation for The 33rd Sunday In Ordinary Time- Father Tom

In the God given talents that we have been given, we are instructed to go and take them into our communities building up the Kingdom of God. Many would argue those talents and inquire what happens if we are homebound. Love of God, neighbor and self reaches beyond walls and the body, they come from the heart and touch the heart and soul of others. What a beautiful talent.

Meditación para la Trigésimo Tercero Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario – Padre Tom

En los talentos que Dios nos ha dado, se nos ha encomendado salir y ponerlos al servicio de nuestras comunidades, ayudando a construir el Reino de Dios. Muchos podrían cuestionar cuáles son esos talentos o preguntarse qué sucede si una persona está confinada en casa. El amor a Dios, al prójimo y a uno mismo va más allá de las paredes y de las limitaciones del cuerpo. Nace del corazón y llega a tocar el corazón y el alma de los demás. Qué hermoso talento es ese.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Our diocese will soon participate in the national collection for the Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CCHD). Your generous support for this collection brings transformative change to communities across the country, empowering those living in poverty to reshape their communities into reflections of the Kingdom of God. For over 50 years, CCHD has successfully reached people on the margins by supporting community based solutions that address local needs and include local voices, rather than imposing uniform, top-down programs. By enabling low-income individuals to make decisions that affect their lives, families, and communities, CCHD aims to break the cycle of poverty, offering a hand up rather than a handout.

Additionally, CCHD seeks to educate people about poverty and its root causes. This mission aligns with the Scriptures and the principles of Catholic social teaching, promoting justice and empowering the poor to speak and act for themselves.

The Catholic Campaign for Human Development provides Catholics with practical opportunities to demonstrate their love for God and neighbor, reflecting our baptismal mission and ongoing Eucharistic transformation. This initiative is generously funded by Catholics in the United States, particularly through an annual parish collection.

CCHD is a vital part of the Church's social mission in the United States and a unique aspect of the Catholic community's commitment to supporting low-income individuals, families, and communities. This year's collection will take place on November 21st and 22nd, 2026.

I invite you to prayerfully consider how you can help CCHD this year. If you would like more information about the collection and the people it supports, please visit www.usccb.org/cchd.
Thank you for joining us to work on the margins and break the cycle of poverty.

With every best wish and assurance of prayers, I remain, Yours in Christ,

Most Reverend Daniel H. Mueggenborg
Bishop of Reno

BISHOP'S CORNER

Gospel Reflections: 33rd Sunday In Ordinary Time

Our Scripture passage for this Sunday comes from the Gospel of Matthew 25:14–30. This teaching is commonly known as the Parable of the Talents. In the parable we hear of a master who entrusted a large sum of money (five talents was worth fifteen years' wages) to each of his three servants and of how each servant responded to such responsibility while they awaited the master's return. While this passage is often used to encourage the development of human skills or to praise industrious efforts, Scripture scholars agree that the real commission to which Jesus is referring is that of multiplying the gift of Christian faith itself. This teaching has much to offer us as disciples and challenges us to reflect on how well we have multiplied the gift of faith and the message of the Gospel we have received.

Engage in an in-depth discussion by Bishop Mueggenborg on four current Gospel readings. Here you will find deeper questions and reflection. The recent Gospel flections can be found on our Diocesan website. Scan QR Code Below

Durante el mes de noviembre, recordamos a las almas de los fieles difuntos. Oramos y lamentamos la pérdida de todas las mujeres que han fallecido como consecuencia de un aborto. Que las mujeres elijan la vida para sus bebés, abriendo sus corazones y sus mentes para buscar ayuda y aprovechar los recursos disponibles. El Papa León XIV declaró este el Año de San Francisco.

GOOD NEWS

November 15, 2026

Thirty-third Sunday in Ordinary Time (A)

Proverbs 31:10–13, 19–20, 30–31 / 1 Thessalonians5:1–6 / Matthew 25:14–30 or 25:14–15, 19–21

FR. THOMAS M. SANTA, CSSR

So close to Thanksgiving Day, a parable that seems to champion the Puritan work ethic feels fitting. The parable in today's gospel appears to celebrate sincere, positive efforts, while at the same time, it does not look kindly on lackluster attempts. But, as with all of Jesus' parables, we need to take a closer look.

In this instance, the third servant deserves examination. His situation seems to be not so much about work as it is about fear and hopelessness. It is not that he is unable to produce or to take the action needed; rather, he is bound and limited by fear and his perception of what the master requires. His fear makes it impossible for him to do what is required of him, so he does not respond.

We do not know how the master would have reacted if the servant had tried and failed. We do not know if an honest effort on the servant's part would have been enough. We do know that the master rejects fear as an excuse for inaction, and for this reason, the servant is singled out and punished. His fear not only made it impossible for him to work but also prompted the exact circumstance he was trying to avoid: displeasing the master. From the viewpoint of the parable, the servant's decision was not a good one.

Dear Padre

November 15, 2026

At Mass, I have difficulty communing with God after receiving Communion because of the noise and activity. Why not more silence?

During Mass, communal silence is called for within the Penitential Act, for people to recollect themselves; at the end of a reading or the homily, so all can meditate briefly on what they've heard; and then after Communion, for people to praise and pray to God in their hearts. (See General Instruction of the Roman Missal, 45.) In other words, there is a silence that reflects our contrition before God; a silence that reflects our need to ponder his word; and a deep silence before God that reflects awe and incapacity for words after receiving the Body and Blood of Christ!

After Communion, a period of communal silence for personal prayer is intended before other activities, such as a second collection or announcements. Also, a psalm, canticle of praise, or hymn may be sung. (See GIRM 88, 164.) "Liturgical silence is indispensable to the rhythm of a balanced celebration. Without it, the celebration can become perfunctory in its haste or burdensome in its unrelieved sound and song" (Introduction to the Order of Mass, 48, USCCB, 2003). As St. Alphonsus wrote in The Holy Eucharist: "There is no prayer more agreeable to God, or more profitable to the soul, than that which is made during the thanksgiving after Communion."
