Fueling the Fire

Module 3 Worksheet

1. Reflect back on a period of time. It could be a day, week or a couple of months. List things that you have "failed" at in your business.

2. For the items on your list, look at each one – what was the learning that can be associated with the "failure"? This contributes to your growth!

3. When looking at the list again, write down 1 positive perspective related to each "failure".
   For example, I mis-spoke on an important phone call and embarassed myself. The positive side is that I moved on quickly on and carried out the rest of the call in a professional manner to keep the client happy.
