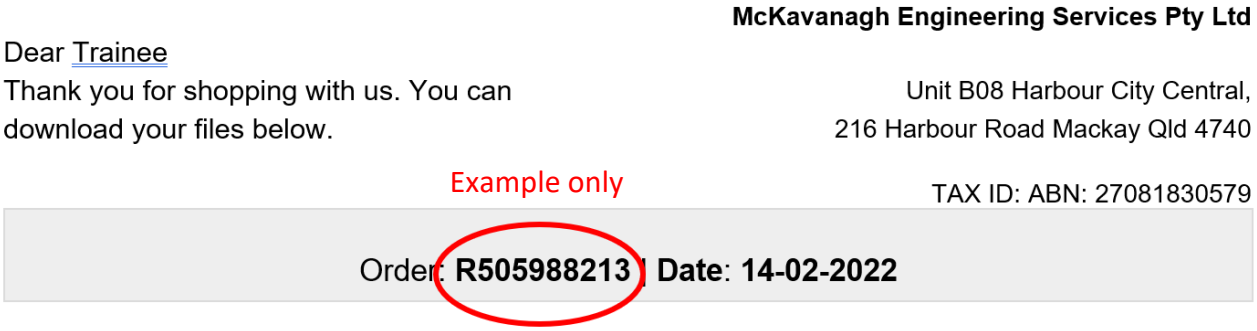
Thank you for choosing McKavanagh Engineering Services for your self-paced training course.

IMPORTANT: Please read the following instructions.

If you have ordered online, you must provide the Order Number as a reference on the Examination when it is returned to us for marking. This allows us to correctly identify the trainees and avoid delays in issuing course certificates.

An online order example:



If you ordered over the phone or via email, simply provide your PO Number or our invoice number on the examination.

As described on our website, the training is self-paced and there is no deadline in which you must complete the training.

You will be able to access the presentation through our website and would have received your course notes and examination upon payment for the training. You are free to distribute the course notes incorporating the examinations to all paid trainees.

Certificates of completion can only be provided to trainees who;

- Include the Order number on their examination sheets
- Successfully attain a pass mark of 85% on the examination
