Walking in Faith Through a Calling Bigger Than Myself

"You cannot change what you refuse to confront."

This truth guides me each day as I face a task far greater than myself—a single, older retired woman stepping into a calling that often feels overwhelming. Yet I trust in the Lord who has chosen me, even when I feel unqualified. I take each day as it comes, leaning on His strength, and holding firmly to my faith that He will continue to lead, provide, and accomplish what I cannot do on my own.

We continue our efforts to educate our children, ages 2–11, many of whom have not yet learned to read or write. Their living conditions are extremely difficult, surrounded by violence, fear, and instability. Despite these challenges, we remain committed to reaching them with education, care, and hope. We place our trust in the Lord, believing He will guide and protect them as we work to build a brighter future together.

"The LORD himself goes before you and will be with you;" Deut. 31:8

Serving a Community in Crisis With Hope and Compassion

Due to the ongoing instability, we are not able to hold afternoon activities at our school at this time, though we sincerely hope this will change in the future. There is no electricity in the area, and darkness falls heavily, making it unsafe for anyone to be out on the streets at night. As a result, very few, if any, churches are able to operate evening services.

I believe that being able to provide water for the community has made a meaningful difference. Many people were walking long distances just to carry a small bucket of water on their heads. By making water easily accessible, we have helped ease that burden and bring a renewed sense of life and hope to the community.

God's call comes before your qualifications

Looking Ahead

We are planning ahead by beginning enrollment for the next school year in the first week of April. As we prepare to expand our mission to serve a larger group of children, we ask for your prayers for guidance and provision. We also humbly request your financial support to help make this growth possible.

We are currently applying for food support for our children for the upcoming school year, and we ask that you pray God grants us favor with those responsible for making these decisions. We are also working toward installing a solar system so the school can have electricity next year. There is much before us as we prepare to welcome additional staff and expand our efforts, all of which will require financial resources. We trust that the Lord is making a way, and we humbly ask for your prayers and support to help make this possible.
