For the team that hears, “Who do you recommend?”

Every week a planner, a couple, or a group contact asks your team for entertainment. Whoever you recommend walks into your ballroom with your property’s name attached. Flash makes that recommendation an easy one.

What your team stops managing

- One contract and one deposit for magic, music, and the microphone
- One certificate of insurance naming your property as additional insured, usually same day
- One load-in and one sound check
- One person to call when the timeline moves
- Backup gear on every booking
- A written run of show, and no timeline changes without the planner’s word

How he works on property

- Follows your load-in rules and service routes, and stays clear of banquet traffic
- Brings a full sound system, or runs lighter when your house AV already covers the room
- Dresses to match the event, from black tie to resort casual
- Hosts in English, Spanish, or both in the same sentence
- Close-up magic needs no stage, no power, and no setup

He was on point for the ceremony, the cocktail hour and the reception.

SUZANNE — WEDDING, NOVEMBER 2024 · 5.0

Built for the events your property already books.

Whatever lands on your BEO this month, there's a version of Flash for it: all three acts together, or just the one the room needs.

01

Ballroom weddings

DJ and MC from the ceremony to the last dance, with strolling magic through cocktail hour so guests aren't just waiting on photos.

02

Corporate groups and conventions

Welcome receptions, awards nights, and program hosting. Strolling magic that pulls people to a trade show booth.

03

Galas and fundraisers

A host who keeps the program on time, and magic that gets tables talking to each other.

04

Quinceañeras and Sweet 16s

Bilingual hosting, the surprise dances, and a hora loca planned like a headline act.

05

Holiday parties and team events

Open-format music for mixed crowds, and a room that actually mixes.

06

Lounges and VIP receptions

Strolling close-up for lounges, restaurants, and hospitality suites. Nothing to plug in.

HOW A FULL NIGHT RUNS

| 01 | 02 | 03 | 04 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Arrival or ceremony sound | Strolling magic through cocktail hour | Introductions and dinner sets | Open-format floor until the lights come up |

Three acts.
One load-in.

Booking a magician, a DJ, and an MC separately means three contracts, three certificates of insurance, three sound checks, and three people who have never met running the night together.

Close-up magic

STAGE OR STROLLING

Are we living inside a simulation? That question is the whole show. The magic happens in the guest's own hands, with their ring, their phone, their signature.

- Stage show: 30 to 60 minutes, seated audience
- Strolling: 60 to 120 minutes, roughly 75 to 100 guests an hour
- For 150 to 200 guests, two hours is the right call

Open-format DJ

NO TWO NIGHTS MATCH

Merengue into Motown into house, and nobody leaves the floor to check what happened. Every booking starts with a playlist built with the client, do-not-play list included.

- Two QSC 12-inch powered speakers, 4,000 watts
- Twelve wireless LED uplights, color matched
- Wireless mics, plus a backup controller and laptop

MC and party motivator

ENGLISH AND SPANISH

He runs the timeline so the planner can stop watching the clock, and cues the photographer before the moment, not during it.

- Grand entrances, toasts, and awards
- Program hosting and vendor cues
- Line dances, call and response, family sets

Twenty-five years of reading rooms.

He started in Harlem and has been working live audiences since he was a teenager. Three years on Carnival ships taught him how to hold a room of two thousand strangers who didn't choose to be there. Twenty countries taught him that the read matters more than the language.

Eight hundred events later the job description hasn't changed. Show up early, learn the room, and make the night feel like it was built for the people standing in it.
