SATURDAY OCT. 10th, 9AM-3:15PM

A hands-on workshop covering rotational grazing, natural health care, enclosures, feeding, hoof trimming, health checks, and milking. Learn practical, regenerative goat-keeping skills directly from our experienced farm team, and get plenty time with the goats.

Grab Your Spot

Water Cycle Restoration Series

Check out our hands-on workshops exploring techniques and strategies to slow, spread, and sink water into the landscape, helping restore healthy, hydrated, resilient ecosystems. These offerings empower advocacy in action; our collective grassroots efforts will change the course of our future.

Agroforestry Series

Practice practical skills that are applicable in a range of scales. We are converting a conventional dehydrating monocrop orchard into various diverse, multi-purpose, hydrating agroforestry systems, silvopastures, and interconnected wetlands. This is your opportunity to be a part of it.

Rock Check Dam Recap

In a beautiful bit of synchronicity, just as we gathered to learn how to slow, spread, and sink water into the land, the skies opened with a gentle sprinkle. May this be a good omen for getting through the forecasted Super El Niño winter.

PHP Grant Community Planting Day 1 Recap

We hosted a beautiful day of planting our new double hedgerow, supported by VCRCD's Pollinator Habitat Program and the helping hands of our community, creating habitat for pollinators and wildlife while protecting our soil. Our next Community Planting Day is October 4th.

We hope to see you at the farm soon!
