Production terms

Each license covers one organization, one title, and one production. The organization may print and share the production PDF internally with cast and crew. Every live performance before an audience requires coverage, including free performances.

Credit Written by Debora J. Ziller wherever the title appears in programs and publicity. Script edits and competition cuts require written approval. For Voices from the Attic, directors may choose their own music for the music box. The producing organization is responsible for any permissions needed.

How to request a license

Provide the title, organization, performance dates and venue, competition series if applicable, and billing contact. Payment may be made in advance or arranged through a school purchase order. The written license confirms the approved performances and any approved cuts.
