PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hello RRWF Members and Supporters:

Rae Cosca. What a great member she was. Always ready to take on a board position and then do a fabulous job. She was Redding Republican Woman of the Year in 2016, an honor well deserved.

She was funny and smart, patriotic and a good friend. But her biggest supporter and HER best friend was Joe, her husband of 69 years. He made sure she made it to all her meetings and events.

Joe had this incredible voice, booming! Whenever Rae was introduced at a meeting or event, Joe made sure the whole room knew how special she was to him and to the membership audience. He was just awesome and fun.

Sadly, Rae lost Joe in March of 2024. But she carried on, moving to be with family in Dayton, Ohio, where we lost her in December of 2025. I heard from her daughter, Leanna, that she was very happy there.

There will be a Memorial for Rae and Joe on May 21st at the American Legion Hall in Shasta Lake at 10:30 a.m., followed by the Patriot Guards lead to Igo for their internment.

Rae loved being a member of RRWF, and I hope you all will be able to attend her send off.

Thank you,

Cathy Kneer

Clint Curtis
County Clerk & Registrar of Voters

Clint Curtis is an attorney and computer programmer with decades of experience in both law and software development. He holds a Juris Doctor (JD) from Barry University School of Law and attended additional law schools at Cambridge University in the UK and McGeorge Law School in Sacramento. His career spans decades with work in legal practice and information technology, with a particular focus on areas where those fields intersect, including election processes and voting technology.

Clint has handled a wide array of cases in both civil and criminal law, including immigration, family law, consumer protection, civil rights and government corruption. He has practiced in federal and state courts across Florida, serving clients with dedication and a strong sense of procedural integrity. His legal work has included both litigation and appellate practice, showcasing his ability to interpret and apply the law at multiple levels.

In addition, Clint has an extensive background in computer programming, having worked in software development and systems analysis for over a decade. His technical experience includes positions at large firms such as ExxonMobil and NASA, where he developed software for internal operations and government contracts. In 2000, he wrote the prototype for the first electronic voting machine. That initial prototype included algorithms that would allow elections to be manipulated. Clint has worked diligently for a quarter century to prevent such manipulations from happening. He testified before the United States Congress and state legislatures across the country. He also provided election information world-wide which has resulted in improvements in election security in those countries.

In Shasta County, he is devoted to providing full video recorded and live reconciliation of the ballots before they leave the precincts. This reconciliation will be available to every citizen. That reconciliation will be repeated before they ever enter the tabulators and once again after the tabulation is complete. Every citizen will be able to personally monitor every step of the election process and know that their votes will be counted exactly as cast.
