Vacuum Pouches

Our premium 65-micron vacuum pouches are designed to deliver maximum food protection, making them an essential choice for professional kitchens, food processors, and retailers who prioritise safety and product integrity.

Manufactured for strength and reliability, these pouches create an airtight seal that protects food from external contaminants, helping to maintain hygiene standards and extend shelf life. By removing air, they significantly reduce the risk of bacterial growth and spoilage—supporting safer storage and handling across your operation.

With excellent clarity, the pouches allow for clear product visibility, making them ideal for both storage and presentation.
