Moon HOURS

Moon Hours takes a look at the gentle happenings of the night.

As days shorten and evenings cool, another world stirs. Moths move softly through the dark, guided by starlight. Fungi grow slowly beneath the fallen leaves. Moonbeams slide across the ground, while stars keep watch above.

These are the hours when it seems nothing rushes yet nothing rests, a time when change happens gently, without being seen.

Moon Hours captures the calm, living night with patterned wings, crispy leaves, soft moonlight, the gentle cadence of the world turning, and the seasons shifting, one quiet night at a time.
