GOOGLE SCAM

OK. Come on be honest... Put your hands up... How many of you are victims of the recent GOOGLE scam that is going around. I know you may be to embarrassed to admit. But if you are a victim. Don't feel bad you are not alone. These high tech crooks have taken thousand of people. There are two GOOGLE scams going on... and by the way. GOOGLE has nothing to do with it. These Optimizing companies from the U.S. are using robo-calls to entice fear into small to medium business. Business owners that have little or no knowledge of the internet, social media or how GOOGLE operates.

These crooks play on the ignorance of their victims and attack their insecurities. Most of those that have fallen victim have no advertising budget or are on a very limited one. The victims have no real understanding of advertising and marketing and are reaching for straws, so they think that turning to the internet is the answer. After all $395 for a whole year sound like a deal. Like they say. If it is to good to be true... It probably not true.

The GOOGLE fraudsters use 1. A call to assure your GOOGLE listing does not get cancelled but for a one time fee they can prevent this from ever happening again. 2. They call you to inform you that you can now have your business name for a fee on the front page of GOOGLE. Both are lies and a con for the computer/internet ignorant. Both are scheme to sucker in suckers. It works. In the U.S. this practice is against the law. So, these robo-call telemarketers turn to Canada, Mexico, Europe.

This scam has been around since 2011 and there is no law in Canada that can protect victims. Since the fraud is taking place from the United States. This crime becomes and international incident. No local police will touch it. No jurisdictional power can be exercised as the states that these fraud originate from operate as an island to the world when it comes to legal challenges. What does this mean to the victim. YOU BEEN SCAMMED.

But these are not the only scams going around. There is the call that informs you that your company now is eligible for a loan up to two hundred thousand dollars, no credit checks, all they need is your company financials for the past two years and your banking information. This scam originates out of New York. This scam promises to do a free business analysis to see how much you qualify for... 'when they called they had told you automatically qualify'...

In both cases, these scams not only attempt to take your money. Most importantly they gather your business and at times personal information. Information that is sold to other telemarketers. The information sale industry is worth billions. This is how telemarketers obtain calling lists.

I talk to many people on any given day. I can tell you first hand that many pretend to know the internet. Others know somethings about the net. But far from few actually understand the logistics, the purpose and most importantly how to use the internet as a marketing tool.

The internet was set forth as FREE WARE. It was to be a place to exchange intellectual though and information. Search engines and there are many are there to inform and exchange information quickly and easily. It is in their best interest to keep the information fresh and accurate. Marketers see the internet as a place to legally rape and pillage as basic human decency was supposed to be the governing entity.

Like everything in humanity. The internet has become compromised by greed. By thieves and crooks. Something that was set up for the good of humanity has now become nothing more than a public toilet.

From the Amazon's of the world to the many porn chats and sites. The system has been broken. The internet today has become a place that disturbs commerce, industry and trade. It compromises relationships and changes human behavior as psychological repression for it's use are becoming more rampant.

From addiction to its many offering to the exposure of sensitive and immoral material to the population at large.

Not to mention the outmost popular 'FAKE NEWS'. The internet with the introduction of social media. A system again that was set forth to unite people, family. Today it is being used to attack one another, dethrone and or influence governments.

What is it about humanity that we set forth with good intention great plans and systems but some how they become corrupt and used to harm one another.

Case in point. Google Plus scam and related consequences to our society.

Sad world we live in when we are our own worst enemy.

Mark Twain had it right. 'The more I learn about people, the more I like my dog'

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

When it comes to trade, Conservatives want the best deal for Canadian families, workers and businesses.

We understand why Canadians are concerned with the NAFTA renegotiations.

1-in-5 Canadian jobs are created as a result of free trade agreements and it is critical that Justin Trudeau continues to protect these well-paying, high-quality jobs.

It's unacceptable that Justin Trudeau unveiled a federal budget that doesn't contain a contingency plan if NAFTA is terminated, or promote policies that make Canada a more attractive place to invest and do business.

The latest round of NAFTA talks concluded this week, coming at a time when US President Trump announced that he plans to impose tariffs of 25% on steel and 10% on aluminum imports.

President Trump has stated that Canada will be subjected to those tariffs, if a "new and fair" NAFTA agreement is not signed.

Budget 2018 contained no new policies that will help Canadian steel and aluminum workers deal with U.S. protectionist policies and trade disruptions.

Canada's Conservatives stand with the Canadian steel and aluminum workers who will be severely impacted if the United States moves forward with crippling tariffs on aluminum and steel exports.

The Trudeau government is failing to take these trade disputes and other trade irritants seriously.

If Canada isn't open for business, then fewer people in Washington will value maintaining NAFTA in its current form.

Signed,

Dean Allison, Member of Parliament for Niagara West

Wikipedia gives 'Bushism' as linguistic errors in the public speaking of former George W. Bush and I wonder if there will be a 'Trumpism' in due time as I heard a similar error on the radio concerning President Trump.

The announcer misread 'a Trump from President Twitter' even though there may be some truth in this expression as he has appeared to pull a 'Trump' card from his pack with accepting the proposed talks with North Korea and announced it on Twitter. Some in the media have suggested that the President overuses Twitter as an 'official' means of communication and that not all of the tweets have met with approval.

What we need is clear communication of a clear message.

NDP's Horwath announces Dental Care for Everyone plan

TORONTO – NDP Leader Andrea Horwath announced Saturday that when she's elected premier, she'll implement Dental Care for Everyone – a plan that will ensure every person in Ontario has access to dental care without the cost.

"Every three minutes in Ontario, someone visits a doctor's office or emergency room to get care for a dental problem," said Horwath. "No one in Ontario should have to live in pain, or deal with the lifelong damage of going without dental care. No one should have to rack up credit card bills just to get the dental care they need for themselves – or for their kids.

That's why I'm committed to a plan that includes everyone – all workers, people receiving social assistance, seniors and children."

Horwath's plan will mean 4.5 million Ontarians that have no coverage now will have dental benefits.

Announced to a crowd of hundreds of enthusiastic supporters in downtown Toronto Saturday, Horwath revealed the dental plan as one of five major changes for the better she will deliver as premier. They are:

- Providing drug and dental coverage for all Ontarians
- Ending hallway medicine and fixing seniors care
- Cutting hydro bills 30 per cent by bringing Hydro One back into public hands
- Taking on student debt by converting loans to grants, and creating thousands of student co-op jobs
- Protecting middle class families by having the wealthiest people and most profitable corporations pay their fair share

"We don't have to settle in Ontario," said Horwath. "We don't have to settle for families being squeezed and life getting harder here as costs rise and salaries do not. We don't have to settle for health care being cut by the Conservatives, and then cut by the Liberals. We don't have to settle for privatized hydro and sky-high bills. For too long in Ontario, we've settled for bad or worse when it comes to premiers– and look where it's gotten us.

"It doesn't have to be this way. We can change things – for the better."

Horwath will soon reveal a full election platform, which will include details on her plan to take student debt away from graduates, and details on her plan to have the wealthiest people and most profitable corporations pay their fair share.
