228	I don't have an estimate. Over the years, I have removed plants they eat and planted ones that they don't like. Replanted trees and put fencing around the bark, added fencing around the garden, purchased other gadgets to try to keep them out, and sprays to put on plants. I have had to replace a lot of plants that they have eaten. Sometimes they come in and munch down all of the plants to nubs.	2/2/2023 11:59 AM

2	Shrubs, trees, fencing, flowers even artifical, carry ticks, occasional more ageessive bucks during runt, potential for attracting cougars noise from dogs barking at them from behind fences,	2/28/2023 9:15 AM
3	Garden and high water bills for last 3 years, only to have trees and garden destroyed by deer	2/28/2023 7:10 AM
4	Every year they ruin well established trees, eat garden and flowers. With the price of water out here there is absolutely no incentive to make your yard look good. Spring Creek has a 6 foot fence rule which deer will jump. I'm very frustrated with the number of deer. I have had up to 22 in one time. As I drive I see several groups in a single trip so don't try to tell me there isn't a problem out here.	2/28/2023 6:48 AM

54	The deer go after my dog very aggressively. Sometimes they run from her but as of late they are not afraid of her and stomp after her. I also try to chase them out of my fenced yard and they really aren't too scared of me either anymore. I understand I live in their habitat but it's concerning that they are getting bolder and less wary of me. If they stomp my dog they will likely injure her enough to kill her. I deer proof everything I can but they seem to be turning in to more of a problem. They are literally eating everything in my yard. There isn't a deer resistant plant they haven't eaten this winter(except the lavender).	2/2/2023 8:26 AM

60	Fawn hit by vehicle	2/2/2023 6:40 AM
61	No. I figured there is nothing we can do except fencing, repellent and other passive measures to keep deer away due to laws and policies.	2/2/2023 6:28 AM
62	reported injured deer on several occasions.	2/2/2023 5:57 AM
63	No, they have not been threatening enough for that level of concern.	2/2/2023 5:27 AM
64	no. because others have reported it and nothing was done	2/2/2023 5:26 AM
65	Dead deer in my yard	2/2/2023 5:18 AM
66	About 10 years ago, deer with broken leg deteriorated to the point it was suffering. NDOW disparted the animal after agreeing the animal was needlessly suffering.	2/1/2023 9:06 PM
67	deer suffer and die in our yard and it has been impossible to get an agency response in a timely manner. Humane euthanasia options for homeowners are nonexistent.	2/1/2023 9:05 PM
68	Had a sick deer on our property, called NDoW	2/1/2023 8:54 PM
69	Dead/injured deer in yard x 3 events the last couple years	2/1/2023 8:25 PM

46	I went and met with NDOW. Ndow told me that the deer are sca problem, they cannot be relocated and there is nothing else to do but cull them. They said unless the sca starts fining those that feed the deer, even people who just don't secure their hay, in addition to those that illegally feed them, they will never leave. They get aggressive with me, my dog and my kids. I asked what my rights are as I will not be captive in my own yard and home because of aggressive deer. They said that if threatened you can use any means to protect your family, but be prepared to explain to the sherriff if you discharge a firearm. They told me an 8 foot fence and deer resistant plants. They eat even the plants that are listed as deer resistant, I watch them do it daily. They said get a super soaker and blast them.with water in the face, or run a hot wire and have foil with peanut butter and when they lick it they will get shocked and eventually leave. Nothing deters them. They are disease ridden, their natural cycles are off, and they are constantly injured. we have called numerous times about injured deer in the neighbors fence and they said the game warden would come and he never showed so the poor things suffered all night until they died. They tried relocation before and the deer almost beat them back home, not to mention these deer are so domesticated they wouldn't stant a chance.	2/15/2023 2:38 PM

139	As above. Deer caught in a fence on the Spring Creek Pkwy and Heather Drive—the Division of Forestry's study property. The deer got free but broke its leg in the process and tore it up pretty bad. And two babies were left trapped and couldn't follow their moms. One of them also got caught. Called Animal Control and they wouldn't do anything. Said deer can live with three legs. :- ( That fence is a hazard to deer and needs to be fixed. It's not the first time I've seen deer trapped in it. No one seems to care.	2/3/2023 7:23 AM

188	You deal with it. We had a died deer on our property and no one would come and take it away. Not even the SCA. No one. The solution was put it in your trunk and dump the deer on BLM land. So this is what we had to do. I even asked what if I get stopped and they said the deer died on your property and were told to dump it on BLM.	2/2/2023 9:33 AM
