TERRY & GEORGIA WILD FOUNDERS

This Newsletter is for the purpose of communicating with the Liberty Coalition family throughout the county, not strangers, so I will be honest and open with you as our family members. We have three serious weaknesses that if we don't fix them, we will not win elections in California, and especially the Central Valley.

1. UNITY

2. ELECTION FRAUD

3. VOTER TURN-OUT

These are what we must work on and unite around. I am working with a number of groups and organizations and I can see the effort many people are making to succeed. But, the one, two three must come above everything else in our priorities. Voter turn-out must be on our lips every minute of every day. It must be in all of our literature and meetings. This is something everyone can and must do. What's up with the division? Let people be who they are and stop trash-talking them if we disagree! We are a bunch of hypocrites if we can't let other people disagree with things. What are we fighting for? FREEDOM! Yes and the right to express ourselves. We just can't be like the WOKE, LEFT and demand everyone conforms to the party line.

Liberty Lunch is a time of getting together and working on lots of different projects. Groups like the CRA, NRA, John Birch Society, The Constitutionals, and many other community organizations doing their thing. Let's, support each other and not divide over petty stuff. Please contact me if you have any thoughts or questions, God Bless You All.

Molly Analla: FCRA President

The Primary Election is over; however, the Special Election for Kevin McCarthy's remaining term is still going on. Election Day for that particular race (CD20) is on March 19th. You were mailed an envelope with yellow on the left hand side. That is for the special election. Please make sure to vote! You have over a week! Our CRA endorsed candidate is Sheriff Mike Boudreaux! Here is the link for the Election Results! <https://electionresults.sos.ca.gov/?ref=berkeleyscanner.com>

So far Measure 1 looks like it might be a Yes, Measure E failed, Measure A passed, and Measure B failed locally. Measure A passing is a good thing for our conservative DA's, Sheriffs, etc elections to be held in non-Presidential year cycles. This is CRAZY, BUT THERE ARE STILL 2.5 MILLION BALLOTS LEFT TO COUNT! Roughly 1 out of 3 votes are still not reflected in the results! Some races won't be called until another month! This is completely unacceptable! On a positive note, Huntington Beach just passed an Election Rules Amendment requiring Voter

FOR MORE INFORMATION SEE" www/ LibertyCoalition.com

Following the Flood, the Genesis account narrates the rise of a secular society apart from God, initiated by Nimrod, a descendant of Ham. Nimrod established the first secular government in Babel (Genesis 10:8-10) and expanded its influence to other cities, (Micah 5:5-6). introducing a system where a select few at the top benefited from the labor of the majority beneath them.

This exploitative principle, entwined with economic manipulation, has persisted throughout history, resulting in the formation of nations and empires characterized by rulers seeking wealth and power through aggression. The governing principles of this Babylonian-style rule, marked by competition, strife, greed, and pride, have endured across various forms of human governments. Regardless of the specific administration, the core of human government is rooted in the exploitation of people and resources, wielded through power, aggression, and deception. The foundational concept of cramming people into cities has perpetuated a global order defined by strife and competition, where the political, economic, religious, and social facets of civilization vie for dominance.

The Bible suggests that this entire system, marked by confusion and conflict, is not aligned with God's design (James 3:16). While governments have risen and fallen, the underlying principles of exploitation and competition have endured, fostering confusion throughout the world. In contrast, God is depicted as a source of order, not confusion, highlighting (1 Corinthians 14:33). the disparity between the world's system of government and God's intended design.

Based on this information there are many Christians and leaders who have come to the conclusion that it is wrong to participate in a process that is historically evil. However there is more to the story; Jesus went about doing good. (even to a fallen and evil world). Christians are, or should be involved in the process of spiritual growth and development, and that includes developing spiritual intelligence and decrement (Proverbs 4:7 "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding.").

The New Testament imparts teachings on submitting to authorities within the Church, recognizing the challenging backdrop of corrupt authorities.

Under certain circumstances, Christians may find themselves unable to comply with the state if its commands contradict God's directives or vice versa, as underscored in Acts 4:19 and 5:29. The exemplary life of Jesus Christ underscores that Christians may encounter persecution and injustice in their earthly journey.

All earthly judgments are provisional, with ultimate justice to be dispensed by God in a manner that will render every mouth silent and hold the entire world accountable to Him (Romans 3:19). The Bible conveys the notion that human beings are destined to face judgment after death, with this judgment based on their deeds during their earthly existence. This judgment, distinct from justification secured through Jesus Christ's atoning death on the cross, emphasizes the significance of one's actions in this life.

In a democratic setting, Christians possess the opportunity to serve as salt and light, utilizing their democratic rights for the advancement of the Gospel. The argument that the law should not enforce morality is often misapplied to Christians, who contend that morality cannot be divorced from the law. While secularists advocate for their assumptions to shape laws and policies, Christians maintain that national laws should function to restrain evil, aligning with God's moral law as articulated in the Bible.

The belief that the Bible contains the "Maker's instructions" underscores Christians' conviction that God's moral law is the ultimate safeguard and promoter of what is good for humanity. Advocating for public policies consistent with Christ's teachings and the Ten Commandments aligns with the desire to bring glory to God and pursue the best for people. In a democracy, Christians have the freedom to articulate their positions, speaking up for what is right while recognizing that individuals have the liberty to accept or reject these perspectives.

The motivation for Christians to speak out is rooted in love for their neighbors and the earnest desire for their well-being. In this endeavor, Christians may find resonance with non-Christians, as the innate conscience in humanity, albeit fallen, can still align with God's standards (Romans 2:14-15).
