

What four weeks we have had since our last article. As you can see from the stats John Von Der Vellen has figured out the lanes. On January 19th he rolled a great 255 much to the dismay of Lowell Grant who had high game with 247. Not to be out done that day Scott Burns stepped up once again for the strike challenge and willed the 7 pin to fall and won $ 111. Way to overcome the taunting, Scott.

Just when you thought things could not get better John Von Der Vellen said no way, On February 2nd John showed the alleys who was boss. He proceeded to roll games of 213 - 247 – and 266 for a specular series of 726. In the last game he rolled 9 straight strikes. He was so nervous on the last ball he almost fell on the lanes. On February 9th our own Debbie O'Connor stepped up the strike challenge saying no way she wanted to do this. Guess what, she knocked them all down and won $72.

As you read this there will only be 3 weeks left in our season. Our final day is Friday March 15th. Unfortunately, we will not have time to include that day in the April Informer.

We are already looking forward to next season. Please consider joining us and getting to know more of your neighbors.
