

JOSHIAH

www.joshiah.com

Caveat: This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited. Editorial comments are in parentheses; probable wording is in square brackets.

May 6, 2007

Joshiah: Well, now. Well, it is indeed a pleasure to be invited back into your vibrational level and we would like to express our greetings to each of you and as well our gratitude for your once again presenting us with this opportunity to interact and to share with each of you.

Now, this is our custom, before we begin, we would suggest that there exists for each of you the opportunity to be involved in what we refer to as a silent communication, the opportunity for you to have a telepathic interaction and exchange of information with other entities that would be with us on this afternoon and indeed that portion that you might refer to as your higher self. You'll find that as a result of the energy that you have created that it is quite easy for you to alter your consciousness, to shift your consciousness and enter into what you might refer to as a meditative state. And in that altered state of consciousness have that opportunity to interact with and to have a telepathic exchange of information with other entities or, once again indeed, that portion that you refer to as your higher self. And many times that information that you receive in that telepathic exchange is much more pertinent to your individual needs and requirements than is the information that we attempt to express through our friend Elias, and through this rather limited use of a vocabulary. And so, that opportunity exists for you and you will find, once again, that should you choose to close your eyes and express the intent that you can enter into that state of consciousness, that meditative state. And as always, the choice is yours. Absolutely.

Now. Before we begin, we would like to suggest that when we come to interact and to share and to express information it's important that you understand that, first of all, our attempt is simply to [relay] to you that which you desire to hear. You see, we're not in a position where we can have some type of magic access to information that's not available to each and every one of you, absolutely not. The information that we express is information that you desire to hear, and information that is withinside and available to each and every one of you, absolutely.

We also don't come along and suggest to you that if you follow this particular step and this particular step that you will gain some type of new perspective in this creation process that you're involved in, absolutely not. And we don't suggest that if you were to continue listening to what we are attempting to relate to you that then somehow we will enhance and make you have a very successful existence within this vibrational level, absolutely not.

Each time that we interact, we do so in a sense and in a manner that allows you, if you wish, to take that information and do with it as you will. For once again, it's information that you desire to hear and it's also information that can be contained within each segment of the presentation. You don't have to keep coming back to hear a different presentation because you think that there's going to be something that we are holding back from a particular interaction or particular session with you and that we will present the next time. We would never come to you and say, "Well now, listen. We're going to have this five-step program and today we're going to do step number one, and if you expect to have any type of achievement or success you have to come along and listen to step number two and then to step number three and so on and so forth." Absolutely not.

We have absolutely no intent to be set up as some type of guru or some type of entity who has access to information that's not available to you. Absolutely not. To believe that we are an entity who exists outside of your vibrational level that has access to information that's not available to you who exists withinside your vibrational level is simply ludicrous. We do exist outside of your vibrational level, absolutely, but that very fact means that we are limited in our access to your information.

You see, when we enter into your level, when we have this opportunity to interact, we do so because we are offered the opportunity. For no other reason than the opportunity to interact and to share with each of you and to interact and to share with our friend Elias and to share with Elias as well the reality that we exist in in our vibrational level. And that interaction is what indeed makes it worthwhile for us. It gives us the opportunity to experience the range in emotions and feelings that you experience in your vibrational level that's not available in our vibrational level where we understand the reality creation process, when we understand that the reality that we experience indeed is a reflection of the beliefs that we hold. That it's our creation.

The irony of it is that the reality that you exist in in your vibrational level is created in exactly the same manner. It's your creation. It's a reflection of the belief that you hold. You see, we can give you all types of methods and techniques for this reality creation process, but the bottom line is that there is a simple basic reality creation process that exists, not only in your vibrational level but in all of the vibrational levels throughout all of creation, and that is that you as entities are the ones that are the creators of this vibrational level and of this reality that you experience.

It's a simple truth. It's one that you can't escape. You, while in your so-called awake consciousness state, you can hold the belief that you're not in control. And that's fine. If that's what you wish to believe, that you're not in control and that you're not creating it, there's nothing wrong with that belief. Absolutely not. You can have that. And the reality that you experience will reflect that belief absolutely, and there will be all types of validations to prove that you're right, that you're not in control.

The irony of it is that it's a reflection of the belief that you hold, it's a validation of your belief system that you're not in control. You see, at some level the spark of consciousness that you are, what many would search for, their spirituality, joyously creates the reality that you experience and it does so based upon the beliefs that you hold and it does so without judgment. It's not a right or wrong. Right or wrong is a human awake consciousness concept, it does not exist in that level of consciousness where you create this reality. Absolutely not. In that level of your consciousness you can have whatever it is that you desire and that spark of consciousness that you are will create it and it will do so joyously, without judgment. Without saying, "Well, I don't believe that I should be experiencing that. That's going to be a rather negative experience, and they're not going to be very happy at the end of the day, so we're not going to allow that one." Absolutely not.

If you hold the belief, if you hold the desire and the imagination, and if you have the expectation, you will create the reality to validate the belief. Absolutely guaranteed. It's one of the truisms that you cannot escape. And it's based upon the choices that you make. Absolutely guaranteed. There are no exceptions. Absolutely no exceptions at all. Every entity existing, not only within your vibrational level, but all of the vibrational levels throughout all of creation, are responsible for the reality that they experience and it's a reflection of the beliefs that they hold. You see, in your vibrational level in your awake consciousness state you hold a concept many times that you have this experience, this reality experience, and as a result of that experience you form a belief, and as a result of forming that belief you validate the experience. You can say, "Well, I've had that experience, and that's what happened, so now I believe that should the same circumstances occur in a controlled environment similar to that then my belief is that that what's will occur again."

The irony of it is that you held the belief before you experienced the reality. The belief precedes your reality. All the time. Not just once in a while. All the time. You hold a belief and as a result of that belief it influences the reality that you experience, and the reality that you experience validates the belief. And it's really that simple. You can make it more complicated, not only can, but you go to great lengths to make it more complicated. But it's really that simple. That's one of the truisms. That you are that god that you search for and you create your reality. Absolutely. And there's only one other truism and that is that you cannot fail to come to the understanding of who and what you truly are.

Many individuals existing within your vibrational level believe that indeed there's some growth process that you must go through, "You must learn this lesson in order to progress to this lesson and so that you can get on to some type of enlightenment so that you can become a better individual." How can you be more than what you already are? You are all that is. You are the spark of consciousness that creates the reality that you experience. How can you be more? You can't be more. In your consciousness you can believe that you're not in control, and in your consciousness you can believe that you must have these various lessons to experience so that you can grow, and the spark of consciousness that you are creates the reality to validate the belief, and you have the experiences and you can go through the lessons. It's not right or wrong, if that's what you choose to believe then you can have it.

You see, the irony of it is that this reality, this vibrational level that you exist in is an illusion. It's an important illusion, but nonetheless, it's an illusion. You believe when you're in your awake consciousness state that, "This is it," this is the most important part of your entire existence. And it's exactly the opposite. It's not that it's not important, but it's illusionary. It's the most difficult aspect of your reality for you to sustain. And you do it quite well. You see, you put in place an electromagnetic type of energy that limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are while you exist within this vibrational level. You put in place. It's important as well that you understand that it's you that puts it in place. There's not some entity out there, there's not some god, there's not some group of entities or angels or whatever terminology you wish to apply to it, that [are] creating this reality and subjecting you to some type of existence within this reality. Absolutely not.

You're within this vibrational level and within this reality because you choose to be here. You choose. Your choice. Absolutely no one else's. Your choice. And when you came into this vibrational level you did so through choice and quite willingly for the opportunity to be involved in an experimental type of creation process, if you wish to use that type of terminology, where you in your awake consciousness state, in that level of your consciousness, put in place types of energy that would limit your capacity to understand who and what you truly are, so that it can seem real; so that it can seem like it's beyond your control; so that you can have a broad range of emotions and feelings that are not possible for you to experience in any type of existence other than this vibrational level.

An electromagnetic type of energy that exists throughout your entire universe that limits your capacity to have that understanding of who and what you truly are. That electromagnetic type of energy [which] some of your new agers would refer to as a veil, also limits the capacity for other entities existing outside of your vibrational level to interfere within your creation process. There are no entities existing outside of your vibrational level who are looking down upon you and saying, "Well, I think that this little individual is having a problem here so we're gonna fix that for them." Absolutely not. You create it all. All.

And that becomes a difficult concept to grasp, we understand, absolutely. You see, many can grasp the concept that you're in control of minute parts of your existence. Each of you can understand that at some level of your consciousness, at some level of this creation process, you have the capacity to control that particular part of your environment and of your existence. There may be a certain part within your home, for example, where you're in control, "This is my domain. I can decide what time I wish to retire. I can decide which time I wish to arise. I can control various aspects of my creation within that particular area of my existence."

You can accept that, that little portion that you're in control of. The irony of it is that you're in control of it all. You're in control of it all. When we suggest that you create the reality that you experience, we're not just talking about your day-to-day experiences. We're not just talking about the interactions that you have with other individuals. We're talking about creating an entire universe. You as entities create this entire universe. You, as we often refer to as a human consciousness, agree to certain belief systems that you apply that are what we refer to as human consciousness belief systems that are very difficult for you to alter, that you agree to participate in and to perpetuate. You as individuals, when you enter into this vibrational level, agree that there will be certain rules that you cannot violate, certain rules that apply. That you need oxygen to breathe, for example. Oh sure, you can hold your breath for a few moments, but at some point you realize if you're going to continue to exist in your awake consciousness state you're going to require oxygen. It's a human consciousness belief system.

You believe in time and space. The two most important belief systems that limit your capacity to understand your creation process in your awake consciousness state. Time and space are illusions. They only exist in your awake consciousness state. There is no time and there is no space. You exist in an all-encompassing, what we refer to as the now. And it becomes very difficult to give you any type of an explanation through the use of a vocabulary because all of the vocabulary that you can use to give that explanation is based upon the belief in the concept of time. It's your past, or the present, or your future. And for us to say that you exist in the present, in the now, is referring to a spark of time. It becomes very difficult to give you any type of an explanation where you can get a grasp of an understanding that your past is not any more set in stone than is your future. That you exist in the now.

You see, when you believe in this concept of past and present and future, we would challenge anyone to remain in what you might refer to as the present and to not always be reflecting upon the past and to not always be immediately into the future. You just can't be in the present. It's not possible. Because by the time you think of it it has become the past and you're already into the future, and yet your terminology perpetually dwells upon that concept that there is time, that there's this passage of time, and you go to all lengths to measure it. You even set up a universal system whereby you can have all types of cycles that will validate your belief in time. But it's a human consciousness awake belief. It does not exist. It's an illusion.

Now, once again, it's not to suggest that the illusion does not have importance. You see, because by believing in time and space then you can make this reality real, by believing in time and space you can indeed have a concept that you wish to bring into your reality. And if it takes time, if you have to reflect upon it, and if you have to employ certain methods and techniques in order to accomplish that which you desire to experience, then it takes a passage of time, it's more real. And if it's more real than emotions and feelings that are surrounding it are much more intense, are much more valid. And the reason that you exist within this vibrational level, the simplicity of it all, is that you're here to experience that intense range of emotions and feelings.

We would challenge each and every one of you to look at any particular activity that you're involved in, and to break it down, to come back to the basics of why it is that you're doing it, and you will eventually arrive at the understanding and the consensus, absolutely, that you're doing it so that you can experience a certain emotion or feeling. That's why you're here. It's really that simple.

You can make it more complicated, not only can but, once again, go to great lengths to make it more complicated. But nonetheless, that's it. You're here because you choose to be here. You're here because you choose to experience that intense range of emotions and feelings that's not possible for you to experience in any other vibrational level where you understand, at your so-called awake consciousness state, that you are in control.

And so, you put in place, once again, that electromagnetic type of energy that limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are. And then the irony of it is many individuals spend the majority of their existence within this particular so-called awake consciousness state trying to escape it, trying to make a connection with a spirituality that they somehow believe is lost. You can't lose your spirituality. You hide from it. But it's your choice, to hide from it. It's your choice. There's not some other entity, there's no entity that's taken away your spirituality and locked it away somewhere and said, "Well, you can't have that. No, no, you've got to achieve certain amounts of the lessons and you've got to go through all of this certain goals and all of these steps in order for you to receive your so-called enlightenment so you can get your spirituality back." Absolutely not.

You choose to limit your capacity to understand who and what you truly are in your awake consciousness state. You choose. No one else. Your choice.

And when you begin to understand that, when you begin to own that, then you begin to understand the limitlessness of your existence, of who you truly are. You see, in your awake consciousness state you believe, once again, that this is it. Your choice. Your choice to hold that belief. Absolutely. And once again, you go to all lengths to validate it. You put in place the human consciousness belief systems and you also have the societal belief systems and for many the individual belief systems that validate that you're not in control; that validate that this reality is it. When you're in your awake consciousness state that's all that's really important.

Well, if you were to think about it, if you were to dwell upon that aspect, you would soon begin to realize that the most difficult state of consciousness for you to perpetuate is the awake state. You can't stay awake. You will sleep. Absolutely guaranteed. And in that sleep you will enter into what we refer to as the dream state, into a level of consciousness where you will interact with other entities that exist within your vibrational level, and other entities indeed that exist outside of your vibrational level, and you will interact with other aspects of your own identity. Because you see, you are so much more than what you perceive.

You, once again, believe that this is it. You believe that in this conscious state that this particular incarnational period that you're involved in is the most important one. Well, it is important and it is significant. The irony of it is that it is no more important and no more significant than any of your other incarnational periods that you're involved in.

You see, you're so much more than it's even possible for you to begin to conceive in your so-called awake consciousness state. You exist in a multitude of incarnational periods interacting with other entities that you are interacting with in this incarnational period with a different relationships. And many individuals have that capacity to have a recognition of some type in various incarnational periods, and say, "Oh, my. I believe that there's some type of connection here. Don't know what it is, but it's an instantaneous type of recognition."

And you've all experienced it. Absolutely. What you don't understand is that at some level of your consciousness, in your so-called altered states of consciousness, and we use your dream state in order to validate your belief in time and space, in your dream state you're interacting with other individuals and other entities in other incarnational periods.

You exist in the now. It occurs, for lack of a better description or terminology, instantaneously. And so, you're involved in these other interactions and these other relations and when you enter into your dream state you participate in that. And so, this awake consciousness state, once again, is one of the most difficult state of consciousness for you to sustain. You will sleep. Absolutely guaranteed. And from that level of consciousness you will go one step farther and enter into what we refer to as the between incarnational state; you will die, in other words. You can't really die. But in your awake consciousness state you believe that you die. You believe that this ends and there are other entities who continue to exist within this vibrational level, and the belief in time and space, who look at it and say, "Well, we've lost that individual." You haven't lost anything at all. An individual has chosen to alter consciousness one more step, to enter into the between incarnational state.

The irony of it is that when you're in this vibrational level and you're in that between incarnational state you still exist within certain limitations of this veil, of this electromagnetic type of energy that you've put in place, and if you hold a belief systems in your awake consciousness state that you had indeed expressed a desire for, that you hold as being an absolute and you want to have validation for that, when you're in that between incarnational state you will have that validation. Absolutely. If you wish to believe that you're not in control, if you wish to believe that there's some god that's going to create some type of reality for you, you can have that. It's not right or wrong. The spark of consciousness that you are creates whatever it is that you desire, and it does so joyously, and it does so without judgment, it does so from a position of absolute and unconditional love.

And so, when you're in that in-between incarnational state and you wish to believe that there's some type of heaven or hell, depending upon what type of belief system you hold in your so-called awake consciousness state, you can have that. Not only can, but will have that. The irony of it is that in that altered state of consciousness it becomes very difficult to sustain the illusion. It becomes very difficult to perpetuate the reality, because you're at a level of consciousness where you begin to understand that what you're experiencing indeed is a reflection of your beliefs, and as you alter the belief you are away from this limitation in your awake consciousness state of time and space. And so, you alter a belief in that altered state of consciousness, that between incarnational state, and as you alter the belief it's validated and the reality is, for lack of a better terminology, instantaneous.

And so, it becomes very difficult to sustain these illusionary belief systems. And you begin to understand that you can have whatever it is that you desire. And at that point, should you choose, and again we're using some type of an explanation that's based upon your belief in time and space, at that point should you believe that you wish to leave this vibrational level, you can do so. You don't have to pass a test, you don't have to have any type of enlightenment, you don't have to pass any lessons. You simply make the choice. You make the choice.

And many times, because of the interactions and because of the emotional connections, if you wish, with other entities that are existing within this vibrational level, many times you choose to reincarnate, to come back, to do it all over again. Because it's quite fun, because you enjoy the process, because you enjoy that intense range of emotions and feelings that you begin to understand are not possible for you to experience in any other vibrational level, and so you come back and you try it again. And you put in place, once again, the belief systems that allow you to have a certain type of experience in your so-called incarnational period in your awake consciousness state.

Now. You have, in order to validate your belief in time and space, in your so-called past put in place an electromagnetic type of energy, a veil, that limited your capacity to a certain extent to you to consciously create your reality. It limited your capacity for you to consciously create by simply understanding that you are the Creator. Now, there's nothing right or wrong about it. It's simply a choice that you make. You see, it makes it more real.

And you, as a group of entities, once again, to validate your belief in time and space, have made a conscious or semiconscious decision to end this particular vibrational level. Now, that's not a disaster. Absolutely not. It's a choice that you make. You chose to create it, you can choose to leave it. Absolutely. But at some point, you as a human consciousness agreed that you would indeed extend, if you wish, this vibrational level, perpetuate the vibrational level. And as you perpetuate the vibrational level you will bring into place the opportunity for you to alter the energy that surrounds each and every atom of your entire universe. And as you alter that energy, you will make it much easier for you to consciously create the reality that you experience.

[Well,] you could have done this instantaneously. But you see, to do it instantaneously does not validate your belief in time and space, it's not nearly as real, it's not nearly as intense, and the emotions and feelings are not nearly as intense as if you can spread it out. And so, you choose to put in place that type of alteration of your energy and you choose to do it over a period of twenty five years. And we've suggested many times that that choice was made in the year of nineteen and eighty-seven and in your year of two-thousand and twelve will have reached that point where the alteration will have taken place.

And in fact, we've suggested many times that the individuals who are entering into your vibrational level and what some of your so-called New Agers are referring to as the Indigo Children or children who are reincarnating and bringing with them that understanding of who and what they truly are, and the understanding that they can consciously have whatever it is that they desire. And you will find that many of those so-called Indigo children, are children who are very difficult for you to control, if you wish, in the manner that you once controlled other entities in your vibrational level. Children that many would say are very difficult children. Because you see, the children who understand that it's within their capacity to have whatever it is that they desire. They may not understand the concept of how they create it, but they understand that it's theirs to have. And they demand it. They want it.

And so, it's very difficult for those children, [You're not] simply say, "Well, this is it. This is what you're going to do and don't give me any type of argument," because they won't accept that. It's not in their reality. They understand that it's within their capacity to create their reality. They may not understand the exact words, but they have that sense of knowing. And so, the alternative is to offer them choices, so that it's their choice, so that it's their decision, and then they can feel to a certain extent that they are indeed creating what it is that they desire.

Those particular entities are not new entities to your vibrational level. Those particular entities exist within your vibrational level in other incarnational periods and interact with many of you individuals in those particular incarnational periods, perhaps in different scenarios, but nonetheless, interact none just the same. These aren't new. They're not new entities who are suddenly coming down to your Earth. They're simply entities who are choosing to reincarnate and bring with them that understanding that it's now possible to bring into this particular vibrational level and incarnational period, as a result of the human consciousness choice to alter the energy, that electromagnetic type of energy, that veil, that permeates each and every atom of your entire universe. And so, those are the children.

Now. As so-called adults, you can, if you wish, make that choice to also be in control and understand that it's within your capacity to consciously control this reality that you're experiencing. You can, if you wish to make that choice.

The irony of it is that to make that choice and to do it consciously, and to simply say, "Well, that's it, I've made the choice," is a very difficult concept to grasp. Because you haven't changed your beliefs. You don't believe you're in control. "Well, I made the choice, and lookit, my life's not changing at all."

The answers are withinside. You must go withinside and make that connection with that portion of who and what you truly are to understand and to own the concept that you are the creator of this reality, to understand at some level, as these so-called Indigo Children do, that it is indeed within your capacity to control your reality and to create whatever it is that you desire.

The irony of it is that you do it now. That's the irony. There is nothing in this particular reality that you're experiencing that is not a reflection of the belief that you hold. Based upon your choices and decisions, based upon your desires and your imagination and your expectation. It's really that simple. You can make it more complicated, but you're doing it now. When you begin to understand that, and when you go withinside and make that connection with who and what you truly are then you get a grasp of the understanding that this reality that you experience in your awake consciousness state. You get a grasp of the illusory aspect of this reality. And it takes on an entire different perspective. And you begin to have that capacity to understand absolutely that you're in control.

Now, that doesn't mean that you're going to wake up every day and your day is going to go completely the way you want it. Absolutely not. The interactions that you have with other individuals will change. No doubt, they will change. But what changed is your perspective of that day-to-day activity. You see, you can look at it and have a very negative emotion towards a particular day-to-day event that you're experiencing or you can look at it and have a very positive feeling towards it. Even though the event itself may not have changed, your perspective and your understanding of the creation process that allowed that particular event to occur changes drastically. And as a result your entire perspective changes. And as a result, the emotions and feelings that you feel surrounding that change. And you begin to understand that you are in control. You begin to understand that while another may feel that they are somehow dominant over you, you understand absolutely that that dominance is because you allow it to occur.

You see, when two individuals are involved in what you might refer to as some type of an abusive situation, as some type of an aggressor and a victim situation, you believe in your awake consciousness state that that aggressor is the one that's in control. You will believe that that aggressor is the one that is indeed controlling the subject that is the object of their aggression, the victim. The irony of it is that it's the victim that's in control. When the victim chooses to stop being a victim the aggression stops.

Now, that's a very difficult concept for many to grasp in your so-called awake consciousness state, but once again, we assure you that at some level of your consciousness you put in place the agreements and the contracts for the realities that you will experience. You put in place. There are no accidents. There are no coincidences. It's a reflection of the belief that you hold. It's a reflection of the choices and decisions that you make. Of your desires. Absolutely. And many times, the beliefs are put in place in your so-called altered states of consciousness.

It doesn't mean that you don't have the capacity to alter them consciously. It simply means that you've put in place certain beliefs. And your scientists understand, indeed, that there's various aspects of those beliefs that are stored within your DNA. What your scientists don't understand is that the energy that surrounds the DNA has the capacity to activate or deactivate various parts of that DNA. And as a result, of an activation or deactivation of various parts or aspects of that DNA, you bring into being the possibility of a certain aspect occurring. And as you intensify the alteration of the energy that surrounds that DNA, you take it from a possibility into a probability, and you create it. Absolutely. You create it all. Not some little aspect of it, but all of it.

Now, many times you believe in order to validate it and make it real that it takes time to do that. That it takes time for you to develop a certain type of disease or certain ailment. And yet, when you have that disease or ailment you would like to cure it instantly. You would just like to have it go away. It might have taken you ten years to get there, but now suddenly you don't want to believe in this time and space concept, you want it to just go away.

It's within your capacity to do so, absolutely. But many times, because you've activated that possibility and turned it into a probability, you don't understand that it's within your capacity to reverse the situation. You create it all. Not a little portion of it. All of it. And it's within your capacity to alter it. You have but to believe. You have but to understand what it is that you desire. You have but to understand that as a result of the desire and using your imagination to have that experience, and if you had the expectation, you can have it, whatever it is that you desire. And if you don't believe that you can have it, then you work on altering that particular belief system.

You see, many times, individuals don't believe that they're worthy of having a certain type of reality. And it doesn't matter what the reality is, whether to be involved in relationships or whether it's certain types of abundance, it really doesn't matter. You, at some level in your consciousness, don't believe that you're worthy. And as long as you hold that belief then it's going to be very difficult to sustain the reality.

Many individuals can create a reality of abundance, but because they don't hold a belief and sustain the belief that they're worthy the abundance disappears and they're right back where they started. And so, they perpetuate building the abundance and losing it, building it and losing it. And the abundance becomes important, [and it] becomes almost a type of reality that always just beyond. Because, "Well, I guess I don't really deserve it. I guess I'm not worthy enough."

And so, you alter that belief system in your worthiness. You alter it by liking who you are. You alter it by establishing a character that you would like to present to others. A character that you would like to present to others. Not something that you do because you think another might like it. Absolutely not. You do it for yourself so that you can present to others the character that you would like to do. And you do that simply by putting in place a list of principles that you would like to apply. Principles. Just make a list of principles and don't worry about what they are. Just any principle that comes to mind. And then when you've got the list you take the most important ones and you put them at the top. And then every time you get the chance you apply the principles. And you understand eventually that you're creating the circumstances that allow you the potential to apply the principles. And it becomes a very fascinating and unique experience. And as you apply the principles you strengthen the character.

Many individuals who believe that they're not worthy begin to dwell on the negative aspects when they fail to apply a certain principle. "Well, we've done it right nine times out of ten, but that one time we failed." And so the ninety percent is written off because you dwell on the one percent and it makes no sense at all. When you're ninety percent correct, the one percent doesn't really matter a whole lot.

So, you dwell upon that negativity, and as you dwell upon the negativity, you begin to believe that you're not worthy, "I can't do it." Well, guess what? If you hold a belief you validate the belief. You create the reality that validates it and makes it real. And so, you become a failure, and so, "Well, there we are. I can't do it. You see, I'm not worthy. I knew I wasn't worthy and there, that proves it. I can't even apply the principles."

It's important that you dwell upon the positive aspect of that application of the principles, and so that you strengthen the character. And as you strengthen the character an amazing thing begins to happen. You begin to present to others the image that you desire to be and you begin to like who you are. And as you begin to like who you are, then you can get into the various aspects of loving who you are. Of doing things for yourself so that you can experience self love, so that you can experience self worth, and so that you can have that which you desire.

And there's an irony that goes with it. Almost invariably, as you begin to understand that it's within your capacity to create it all, not only within your capacity to create it all, but that you do create it all, many times that which seemed such an important aspect for you to have begins to lose its importance and you begin to have importance in other areas of understanding who and what you truly are. You begin to understand that you are so much more than the limitations that you experience in your so-called awake consciousness state. You begin to change your perspective of this reality that you experience. And you begin to like who you are and you begin to love yourself.

And the irony of it is that without even trying you begin to draw and attract to you others that like you, as well, and others that love you. And you can have and share in that experience. And when you begin to get a grasp of that particular understanding of your reality creation process you begin to believe that you're worthy. And while you may have changed what seemed to be important to you in terms of what it is that you desire, nonetheless, you will have much more success in using your imagination and your expectation to create that what it is that you desire.

And it's really that simple. You can make it more complicated, you can not only can but do. You go to great lengths to make it very, very complicated, but it really isn't complicated at all.

The reality that you experience is a reflection of the belief that you hold. You are the spark of consciousness that creates that reality, the god that you search for, and you absolutely cannot fail to come to that understanding. The rest is illusionary. The rest is within your capacity to change. The rest, as we like to say, is up for grabs. You can have whatever it is you desire, not only can but do. The irony of it is, once again, that you get exactly what it is that you desire. It's your creation. It's your reality. You are the god that you search for. And you cannot fail to come to that understanding.

Now. We would remind you that we are not separated by time or space. Time or space are illusions that exist within your awake consciousness state in your vibrational level. We are separated by what we refer to as a vibrational level and should you choose to interact with us you have but to express the intent and we would welcome that opportunity to interact and to share with each of you. And if you wish, we would return in a moment or two and answer any questions that you might have. And in the meantime we would leave you, with love and with peace. ✨