

JOSHIAH

www.joshiah.com

Caveat: This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited. Editorial comments are in parentheses; probable wording is in square brackets.

July 4, 2010

Joshiah: Well, now. Well, it is indeed a pleasure to be invited back into your vibrational level and we would like to express our greetings to each of you and as well express our gratitude for your once again offering this opportunity to enter into your vibrational level and to interact and to share with each of you. For indeed it is for us a pleasure to have that opportunity and to enjoy these exchanges of information which are quite beneficial to our understanding your existence in this reality that you're involved in the creation of in your vibrational level.

Now, before we begin on this afternoon, we would suggest that there exists for each of you the opportunity to be involved in what we refer to as a telepathic interaction or exchange of information, a silent communication, if you wish, with other entities that would be with us on this afternoon or indeed with that portion that you might refer to as your higher self or that spark of consciousness that you are.

And as always, many times, that exchange of information is much more pertinent to your individual desires and needs than is the information that we attempt to express through this rather limited use of a vocabulary. And you will find, once again, that as a result of the energy that you have created in this space on this afternoon that it's quite easy for you to alter your consciousness. You have but to close your eyes and express the intent and enter into that what you refer to as a meditative state and to have that opportunity to be involved in that silent communication, in that telepathic interaction and exchange of information.

And while you may not, many times, have a recall of the interaction, we would assure you that it does occur that there is at various levels of your consciousness that interaction and exchange of information. And many times, that information becomes available to you at opportune times to assist you in this creating of the reality that you desire to experience in your vibrational level in your awake and consciousness state.

And so, we would encourage you to be involved, we would encourage you to enter into that meditative state. And if you're worried about listening to what we have to say, at some level your subconscious will hear it anyway and if you wish you can always listen to the recording so it's not important that you listen. You can do whatever it is you desire, but we would once again encourage you to be involved in that meditation. But as always, the choice is yours, absolutely.

Now. As we have suggested many times, you exist in what we refer to as a vibrational level. A vibrational level is a terminology that we use because it comes the closest to giving you some type of an explanation so that you can grasp an understanding of this reality that you're experiencing in your awake and consciousness state. You see, in your awake and consciousness state, you believe in time and space, you believe in various, what we refer to as, laws of physics or human consciousness belief systems that you all agree to participate in, that there's this consensus that you would form these human consciousness belief systems and that they would be very difficult for you to alter or to exist outside of while remaining within this vibrational level.

And so, you exist in a vibrational level. And there are multitudes of vibrational levels, if you wish, other existences that are occurring within the same time and same space. For time and space are illusory. They don't really exist other than what you experience in your awake and consciousness state. And we've used the analogy many times that it's like experiencing and understanding that you do, that there are a multitude of so-called radio frequencies existing within your atmosphere. And you have the capacity and the ability to utilize various instruments to tap into one particular radio frequency while eliminating all of the rest, although you understand that they're existing within the same space and same time. You're just clueing into the one while you're eliminating the rest.

And so it is in your vibrational level, you choose to concentrate and to exist seemingly within this one while eliminating the rest. They're all there, they're all within the same time and same space.

You choose. It's important that you understand that throughout our communications with you we will use that choice, that word, that "you choose." It will be your choice, always, it's your choice. You exist in this vibrational level and you choose to exist in this vibrational level and you choose to sustain this vibrational level. Not some other entity, not some other group of entities, whatever it is that you desire to label them. It's your choice and it's your reality. It's your vibrational level that you exist in.

In this vibrational level that you exist in, existing within that same time and same space as all the other vibrational levels that exist throughout all of creation is, however, rather unique. It's unique in that in your vibrational level you put in place what we refer to as a veil, an electromagnetic type of energy that limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are while you exist within this vibrational level. Not only at the awake level of consciousness that you're aware of in your so-called conscious state but in all the levels of consciousness that you exist in while remaining in this vibrational level. At the level of consciousness that you experience in your meditative states and in your dream state, and even in what you refer to as your between incarnational states. In other words, when you die, when you terminate, if you wish, the existence in this particular incarnational period and you enter into a between incarnational period. You still exist within this vibrational level and you still exist within the limitations that you put in place of that electromagnetic type of energy.

And we use, again, that term very loosely, "electromagnetic type of energy," because it's the closest that we can come, once again, to give you some type of a description that you can accept and understand in your awake and consciousness state.

And so, while you exist in all of the various levels of consciousness while remaining within this vibrational level, the limitations that you put in place through the utilization of that veil have an influence over your capacity to understand who and what you truly are. That veil, that electromagnetic type of energy that you put in place, that you as a human consciousness and as individuals put in place and sustain, also have other effects in that it limits other entities who choose not to exist within your vibrational level to have the capacity to influence the creation process in your vibrational level. In other words, there're not some other entities sitting out there in some other vibrational level that are creating for you or even influencing your creation. It's your creation. It's your vibrational level.

[We're] not saying that there can't be other entities that choose to enter into your vibrational level but it's a choice. You exist in this vibrational level, in this reality, by choice. You're not put here because you have to learn some lessons. You're not put here because you have to experience some type of growth. You exist in this vibrational level because you choose to exist in this vibrational level. And you exist in this vibrational level for the purpose of experiencing realities that as a result of your putting in place this electromagnetic type of energy, this veil, seem to be beyond your capacity to understand and to control. Seem to be. It's an illusionary reality that you exist in. Not insignificant but illusionary, and it appears that it's beyond your capacity to control. Your choice to put in place, once again, that electromagnetic energy, that veil, that limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are, limits your capacity to understand in your awake and consciousness level and in all of the other levels of your consciousness how you create this reality, how you create the experience, but nonetheless, your choice.

You put it in place. You put the limitation upon your understanding of this reality creation process and of this reality, this vibrational level and creation that you're experiencing. You choose, not some other entity. It's important that you understand that you choose and we continue to emphasize it, because it will have an impact upon the choices that you make that may influence your future, so-called future reality that you exist in.

And so, you have this multitude of vibrational levels and you choose to exist in this rather unique one, this unique one because it's the only one throughout all of creation that has in place [this] so-called veil (inaudible) electromagnetic type of energy that limits your capacity not only to understand who and what you truly are but limits other entities existing outside of your vibrational level the ability to influence or to create your reality for you.

Your choice to put in place that energy. Your choice to exist in this unique vibrational level that, once again, does not exist, is not duplicated throughout all of creation.

You see, when you exist in this vibrational level, when you experience the realities in your awake and consciousness state, it appears that you're not in control. It appears that there is the possibility that there are other entities or some other energy or force that's influencing and creating the reality for you. That it's beyond your capacity to be in control, it appears. Because you see, the purpose of your creation of this reality and the purpose for you existing in this reality is to have the opportunities to experience these day-to-day activities, these realities, these experiences while you believe that you're not in control. Because as a result of that type of experience you have the capacity to experience an intense range of emotions and feelings that are not possible to be duplicated when you understand that you're in control. And that is the simple reason why you choose to exist in this vibrational level.

You choose to exist in this vibrational level to have the ability to experience intense ranges of emotions and feelings that are not possible to duplicate when you believe and understand that you are in absolute control of the reality and of the creation process. The irony of it is that you choose to limit your understanding that you are in control. You choose to limit the understanding. You don't limit your capacity or your ability to create your reality. You don't limit that at all. It's your creation.

And that becomes very difficult for you to grasp in your awake and consciousness state. It becomes difficult because, once again, you choose to make it difficult. You choose to put in place that electromagnetic type of energy, that veil, that limits the capacity to understand who and what you truly are. You choose to limit the capacity for you to understand that there are a multitude of vibrational levels existing within this same time and same space and that you have the capacity to be involved in any of those vibrational levels, should you choose to do so.

What becomes very difficult for you to grasp in your awake and consciousness state is this concept that time and space are illusionary. You see, you exist in this vibrational level experiencing a multitude, a multitude of incarnational periods. And if you take away the concept of time and space, then it stands to reason that you're experiencing all of these so-called incarnational periods, these different lifetimes, simultaneously.

You're so much more than what you comprehend and can understand in your awake and consciousness state. You are so much more. You're all that is. And that becomes very difficult for you to grasp, once again, in this awake and consciousness state. And yet, this reality that you're experiencing is indeed a reality that you create; you as individuals and you as a human consciousness create. It's your creation. Not some other entity that exists outside of your vibrational level, not some unknown secret power or energy. It's your creation. It's a reflection of your belief systems. Absolutely.

So many times we tell you that there are but three things that you cannot alter in this reality in your vibrational level. Not only in this reality and vibrational level but in any of the vibrational levels that you choose to exist in. There are but three things that are absolutes. You are the god you search for. You're so much more than you perceive. You are all that is. You are a Piece of the One. And yet to use any type of a vocabulary expression to give you an idea of the concept of who you are has its limitations, for you see, to suggest that you are the piece of one is to suggest that there is this larger one and that you are but a piece of it and it's not that way at all. You see, there is no other piece of this one who is any more or any less than what you are. You are all that is.

And so, it's a very limiting expression to suggest that you are a Piece of the One. And yet, it gives you some type of an explanation that you can grasp that concept that you are all that is. You are all that is. You cannot change that. You create your reality. That becomes difficult to grasp as well, for once again, you put in place the limitations of the belief systems through this human consciousness belief system to maintain and sustain the veil, the electromagnetic type of energy that limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are, as we have suggested, not only in your awake and consciousness state but through various levels of consciousness that you experience in this vibrational level. And yet, it doesn't change the fact that you create your reality. You create it all.

Now, many of you will look at your day-to-day activities and there will be certain realities that you can accept the creation responsibility for. You can determine that when you're in certain areas of this existence, certain comfort zones, that you can control that. You can control what time you go to bed in the evenings; mostly, not always. You can control what time you're going to wake, providing that you don't suffer from some type of difficulty sleeping that you've chosen to create. But we're assuming that you are experiencing what you might refer to normal type of night activity. And so, you decide that you can set your alarm clock, be it an alarm clock within your physical being or an actual piece of material that you utilize to awaken you at a certain point. You can accept the responsibility for those types of experiences. But those are quite easy for you to accept that within that comfort zone you had some control over your creation process.

That's not what we're suggesting. We're suggesting that you're in control of your absolute, complete existence in this vibrational level. Not only do you as individuals and as a human consciousness create the realities that you experience in your day-to-day activities, you create each and every atom and molecule that exists in this entire vibrational level. This Earth and the atmosphere that you exist in is your creation. This entire atmosphere that you experience, your entire universe is your creation. And if you wish to expand upon that, you have the capacity to create limitless amounts of universes. It's illusionary. You exist in an illusionary reality that's a reflection of the beliefs you hold. It's your creation. You create it all. You can't change that. You can hide from it and do quite well. In fact, many of you go to great lengths to hide from it and are quite successful in sustaining this veil that limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are. In fact, you go to great lengths to even create other entities that have the ability to influence your reality and then you give your reality to them and say, "Do what you wish with my reality". You see, then you validate that you're not in control. It makes it more real. And as a result of making it more real, it gives you the opportunity to experience this more intense range of emotions and feelings which is why you entered into this vibrational level in the first place.

So, it's not wrong, it's not a right or wrong concept for you to believe that you're not in control. That's why you entered into this vibrational level in the first place, is to experience realities where you believe you're not in control. It's not wrong for you to believe that you are but a minute part of this universe that you exist in and that you have no control over it. That's not a right or wrong concept. But the truth is, one of the realities that you cannot change is that you as an individual and as a part of this human consciousness create the entire vibrational level, all that you experience.

It's illusionary. Not insignificant, but illusionary. Ironically, when you are in your awake and consciousness state, the reality that you are experiencing is the most illusionary reality that you can experience through all of your levels of consciousness. It seems the other way around and you go to great lengths to make it appear to be the other way around, when nonetheless, this reality that you are experiencing in your awake and consciousness state is the illusionary reality.

To use the terminology "illusionary" quite often invokes the feeling in one that it doesn't have importance because you apply illusionary to individuals who are trying to trick you, that are doing illusions. And so, that terminology quite frequently brings up this image and conjures up this concept of something that's not important. And that's not what we're suggesting. It's important, but nonetheless, illusionary. It's very significant, but nonetheless, illusionary.

When you enter into your dream states, into your meditative states, and indeed into what you refer to as your between incarnational states, various levels of consciousness, you experience realities that are much more valid than the reality that you're experiencing in your awake and consciousness state. Much more real. You can, in your so-called altered states of consciousness, in your dream states, experience realities that are existing outside of your belief in time and space. You can experience entire lifetimes, and in fact you can enter into the meditative state and experience and be interacting in other lifetimes that you are creating simultaneously with this lifetime. You have that capacity. Absolutely. And it's in those altered states of consciousness that you can step outside of this belief system in time and space and get into the real world. It's in this world, in the awake and consciousness state, that it's illusionary.

Each of you understands that at some point you will terminate this incarnational period. In fact each of you understands that you're going to have difficulty in sustaining a conscious state without at some point entering into a dream state. You can't stay awake; you will dream, you will sleep. Absolutely. You will alter your consciousness into a dream state. If you understand as well that at some point, once again, you will terminate this incarnational period, that you will enter into what you refer to as a between incarnational period. This awake and consciousness state will end. But each of you has no doubt that the other state, that between incarnational state when you die, when your so-called consciousness is in that state, that it will be eternal. The irony of it is that it is eternal, that it exists and you experience it simultaneously to your so-called awake and consciousness state. It's just that when you're awake and conscious you sustain that electromagnetic type of energy that limits your capacity to understand your creation process.

But nonetheless the reality that you're experiencing in your awake and consciousness state is entirely your creation, not some other entity's. Absolutely not. Your creation, as individuals and as a human consciousness. You create it all, each and every atom of your entire universe and all of the other universes that you want to use your imagination to create and to put in place and to sustain. It's limitless. The only limitation to your creation process is your imagination. Absolutely. You create it all. All of it. You cannot change that. You can hide from it, but you can't change it.

And the third truism, if you wish, is that you absolutely cannot fail to come to the understanding of who and what you truly are. You cannot fail. So many individuals spend a huge amount of their so-called awake and conscious state searching for their spirituality, searching for a connection. It's a connection that you choose to hide from. It's not something that's lost. It's something that you choose to hide from. You can't lose it. Your spirituality is who you are. You can't lose that. You can't get separated from it. It's not something that you've somehow lost and you have to search for and find. It's something that you choose to hide from. It's something that you choose to put away, and to hide from to make it seem that you're not in control. To make it seem that this reality is real and it's beyond your capacity to alter or to influence. And it's really not that way. And you cannot fail to come to the understanding of who and what you truly are. You cannot fail.

You exist in this vibrational level because you choose to exist in this vibrational level. There was not some entity that decided that you must come into this so-called existence in order to learn something, unless of course you wish to have that experience. If you wish to have it, you can have it. If you wish to believe that there are a multitude of lessons that you must learn and as you learn that lesson you seem to grow and you seem to feel better about yourself, then go for it. You see, this is not a right or wrong concept. You cannot fail. This is a no-fail test that you're involved in here. It's a given. You will understand who and what you truly are. You will at some point understand that you are the creator of your reality. And you will, absolutely guaranteed, at some point come to the understanding that you are all that is. You cannot fail.

But in the meantime, you choose to exist in a reality, in a vibrational level where you sustain an electromagnetic type of energy, a veil, that limits your capacity to understand that in your awake and consciousness state. Limits your capacity to understand, not completely eliminate it, limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are in your awake and consciousness state.

And so, you, if you desire, can experience realities that seem to be beyond your control, not only can but many times go to great lengths to create realities that appear to be beyond your control because, once again, it validates the experience, it makes it more real. And as a result of that seeming more real, you can experience a much more intense range of emotions and feelings, which is why you entered into this vibrational level in the first place. It's really that simple. You go to great lengths to make it more difficult absolutely but it's really that simple.

And so, if you wish to believe that you're not in control, you can have that. Or, if you wish to believe that you're in absolute control, then you can have that as well. If you wish to believe indeed that you were put on this Earth by some entity and you must grow through some type of experience, you can have that as well.

You see, the reality that you're experiencing is a validation of your belief systems. Without exception. The reality you experience in your day-to-day activities and indeed in the creation of your entire universe is simply a validation of your belief systems. It's really that simple. And yet, the simplicity can make it very difficult for you to alter.

And so, if you choose to believe that you're not in control, the spark of consciousness that you are does not judge whether that's right or wrong, it creates that reality, that illusionary reality, from a position of absolute, unconditional love and it does so joyously. You see, it doesn't matter what the belief is. The spark of consciousness that you are, the spirituality that so many search for which is actually the foundation of your creation, creates the reality to validate your belief system and it does so without judging whether it is right or wrong, good or bad, whether you should or shouldn't have it, but rather validates the belief system and it does so joyously from a position of absolute, unconditional love. And it gives to you exactly that which you desire to validate the beliefs that you hold, without exception.

There are no exceptions. There's no, "Well, I guess there was some entity who decided that they were going to influence my life." There is absolutely not one influence upon your creation and upon the experience that you have in your awake and consciousness state that you do not choose to hold some type of a belief system that's being validated by that spark of consciousness that you are and it's doing so joyously from a position of absolute and unconditional love.

Even individuals who are involved in what you might refer to as abusive situations are involved in that situation because they hold belief systems that are being validated by the spark of consciousness that they are, and the spark of consciousness that they are is rejoicing in their creation process and the validation of those belief systems, even though in your awake and consciousness state you look at it as being some type of a negative experience.

From the level of consciousness from which you create your reality, there is no judgment. This is not a right or wrong, it's a validation of a belief system. And if you don't like your reality, then you change the beliefs that are combined to make the belief system, so that you can change the reality. It's that simple. There's not an exception.

It's important to understand, once again, the three concepts which are beyond your capacity to alter. You are the god that you search for, you cannot exist in this reality but what is your creation, absolutely. And you cannot fail to come to the understanding that you are the god that you search for, that you are all that is, you cannot fail.

And so, without exception then the reality you are experiencing is your creation. Without exception. Even what you might refer to as negative realities, negative experiences that you don't want to be involved in. The spark of consciousness that you are does not judge, right or wrong, good or bad. It gives to you that which you desire to validate the beliefs you hold, without exception.

This is not a right or wrong. You don't have to believe that you're in control. In fact, you entered into this vibrational level to experience realities where it appears that you're not in control. And so, you're actually accomplishing that which you came into this reality to experience in the first place. So, it's not a right or wrong. We're not suggesting that you must do this or you must do that. Absolutely not. You can do what it is you choose. It's your reality It's your creation. There is no judgment whether it's right or wrong. We don't sit here and suggest to you that you must do this and this and this in order to experience some type of reality. You can have whatever it is you desire, not only can but do. The irony of it is that you do.

So many individuals look at the realities and they're looking for certain methods or techniques so that they can change this reality, so that they can [regain] control. You're already in control. You just don't believe it consciously.

You see, one of the first steps into consciously influencing and creating your reality is to accept the responsibility for it and to accept the belief system to understand that you are in control, that it's your reality, absolutely. Not only your reality in this conscious state but you are so much more and you're involved in creations of other realities that you're experiencing at the same time You are a multidimensional personality. You are all that is. You create this reality, absolutely. You are in control, whether you choose to believe that or not. Doesn't really matter. It's one of those things that you can't change. You create your reality. You are in absolute control.

And so, when you're searching for these methods or techniques and you look at other individuals who seem to be more successful and you'd like to try that technique, "Wonder if that would work?" Well, you see, some other individual who's offering you some new method or technique and so you want to try that, "I wonder if that will work?"

Many individuals are searching for some way to make their reality seem to be within their capacity to control and the irony of it is you already control your reality. Absolutely. If you don't like your reality, change your beliefs. Many times, individuals who have difficulty in creating realities that they desire in their awake and consciousness state, harbor belief systems that limit their capacity to consciously create their reality. And again, it's not a right or wrong concept. It's important as well that you grasp the understanding that it's not right or wrong. You're not being judged as to whether you're doing the right thing or the wrong thing other than what you judge yourself in your awake and consciousness state, other than what your society judges you in this so-called awake and consciousness state that you're existing in.

But at the level of consciousness from which you create your reality, there is no judgment as to whether it is right or wrong. It gives it to you. It gives it to you that which you desire. It validates the beliefs that you hold.

Many individuals choose to enter into this vibrational level and bring with them certain belief systems that what you might in your awake and consciousness state refer to as limiting belief systems. Your spark of consciousness will argue with you to that point, because you see the spark of consciousness does not see limiting belief systems but rather gives to you that which you desire, validates your beliefs. But to your awake and consciousness state you have these judgements whether it's right or wrong. Whether I should or shouldn't do this. Which method or technique will assist me and many times it's not a method or technique. It's your belief in the method or the technique that's important. It's what you believe. Many times individuals have difficulty in creating realities that they seemingly desire and that they put in place, all of whatever the method or technique requires in order for them to create this reality, but deep within they hold other belief systems that are limiting their capacity to have that experience in their awake and consciousness state.

Many individuals have difficulty in liking who they are. And as a result of that limitation to consciously like who they are, indeed, they create realities that validate belief systems that they hold, but because they don't like who they are, then they're not worthy of experiencing certain realities. And the spark of consciousness that you are gives that to you from a position of absolute and unconditional love, and it validates the belief.

And so, you have the reality that validates the belief that you hold. It validates what you truly desire. Many individuals don't wish to accept the responsibility for this creation process. They'd rather have angels and guides and they'd rather have gods sitting up there that are influencing their reality. You can have that. Again, it's not a right or wrong. We're not suggesting that you should or shouldn't do certain types of creation process. Absolutely not. You can have that if you wish. There's nothing wrong with it; but understand when you have that belief that there are these guides and angels that are creating your reality, then they will create realities to validate your belief that you're not in control.

You validate the basic belief systems that you're not worthy of being in control of your creation process. They validate that you have difficulty in consciously influencing and creating your reality. It's a validation of beliefs that you hold and the spark of consciousness that you are gives to you that which you desire and you will have all types of experiences in your so-called awake and consciousness state that validate the belief system that you have guides and angels. You can even experience them and you can feel them around you, you can see them if that's what you desire. It's illusory. The entire experience that you're having in your awake and consciousness state is illusory so you can have whatever it is you desire. Not only can but do. You get it all. It validates your belief.

And so, if that's what you desire, go for it. It's not right or wrong. You can have it. Absolutely. But understand that many of those belief systems may also be limiting belief systems if you attempt to create a reality consciously. And you see, you as a human consciousness at some level of your so-called subconsciousness have agreed to participate in the alteration of the energy that makes up this vibrational level that you're existing in. You as entities have agreed to be involved in a creation process where it would be possible for you to consciously create your reality in a manner that has been very difficult for you to accomplish in your so-called history or in your past. Not impossible but difficult.

Entities that had accomplished that capacity to influence their reality from a conscious state have many times been looked upon as being some type of entity that has a superior power or understanding of the creation process and you have a tendency to put them up as being some kind of god or some kind of an enlightened individual. They're no different than who you are. Just have a different belief system that they're applying to their creation process.

No different in terms of who and what they truly are. Absolutely not. You are all that is. There is not one entity existing not only in your vibrational level but in any of the vibrational levels who is any more or any less than what you are. But these other entities that seemingly accomplished the impossible feats of creating consciously, many times are put up as being some type of a god or some type of entity who is seemingly more enlightened. It's really not that way at all.

But you as entities existing in this particular incarnational period have agreed as a human consciousness to alter the energy that creates this vibrational level and as a result of the alteration of that energy, you shall have the capacity, should you choose, should you choose to be involved and to believe, you shall have the capacity to consciously influence your reality in a manner that's been very difficult for you to accomplish in your past. And you in the year of nineteen and eighty-seven put in place the beginnings of the shift in that energy and which you have agreed would be completed by the year of 2012. And so, your so-called psychics are looking at the year 2012 and they can't see past it. They can't see past it because, you see, at that point in your year of 2012, it will become possible for you in a manner that's been very difficult, once again, in your so-called past to influence your creation from a conscious state in a manner that you have not experienced in this so-called incarnational period. And as a result of that capacity, to influence from a conscious state as opposed to influence and put in place, many times, the belief systems that you have at a sub-conscious level, it becomes difficult to predict your so-called future.

You don't have a future, it exists in the now. Only in your so-called past many of the belief systems were put in place in your altered states of consciousness and from that altered state of consciousness you have these so called psychics who could tap into it and say, "Oh, well, we're going to have this experience," based upon the belief system that was held by the human consciousness or by the society, you created that reality. And so, these psychics had that capacity and ability to seemingly forecast your future, a future which exists in the so-called now.

In the year of 2012 and you've made that alteration, you've put in place that limitation for the change of belief systems because you wish to validate time and space. You could have done it instantly, but if you had done it instantly it wouldn't have had the same effect on your so-called awake and consciousness state, on your psyche, on your ego to validate it, to make it real. You still like to validate things through evolution, through time and space. And so, you put in place an evolutionary time period for this to occur. And in the year of 2012, it will be accomplished.

Many individuals are having that experience now. Many are entering into that state in your so-called present time. You are experiencing what many are referring to as Indigo children, entities who are reincarnating and bringing with them that understanding of who and what they truly are, much closer to the conscious level, creating realities that seem very difficult for others to comprehend. "Where do they get that from, where does that knowledge come from, where does that talent come from, how can they accomplish that?" They simply desire. They simply believe. The only limitation to your creation process is what you believe.

And these entities are coming into your so-called incarnational period, into your vibrational level bringing with them much closer to their conscious level the understanding that they can create their reality and influence it consciously, in a manner that's been very difficult for you to do in your so-called past. And many individuals look at these entities, at these Indigo children, as being some type of new entity, like these are new souls. They're the same souls that have been involved in your creation process since the beginning of time. Exactly the same entities that have experienced many incarnational periods, if you wish, are involved in this entire existence in your vibrational level. Just choosing, making a choice at a subconscious level to have the capacity to create their reality and influence it from a conscious level, an awake conscious level, rather than from your so-called subconscious level.

And you, as entities existing within your vibrational level as a human consciousness have put in place, once again, the belief system that at the year of 2012 that ability will be available to each individual who chooses, who chooses to believe that it's possible.

It's important that you understand that it's a choice. It's not a right or wrong. There are many individuals who have absolutely no desire in their awake and consciousness level to be in control. They have no desire. They wish to believe that there are other entities influencing their reality. They wish to put all of their so-called future [and] their reality into the hands of some other unseen entities and allow those entities to create for them. It's a choice. You can have that. You can create that reality. You can create that reality. It seems like you're not in control, but you are. You can create that and you do it from a subconscious level. You put in place these belief systems and you experience all types of realities to validate the belief system that you're not in control. However, you can choose.

And, as you make that choice, particularly as we near this so-called transference of energy, you shall have the capacity to consciously influence your reality in a manner that has been very difficult for you to choose and to be involved in in your so-called past. Your choice. It's always your choice. You can never look at your reality, any portion of it, and say that, "That was not my choice." Because you see, it's always your choice, always.

The reality you experience is a reflection of the belief you hold, without exception. And you have the capacity to change your beliefs and as you change your beliefs you will alter your reality, without exception.

And as you enter into your so-called new age and new energy, you shall have that capacity to achieve conscious creation in a manner that has been very difficult for you to achieve in your so-called past incarnations, should you choose. Should you choose. It's not important that you choose unless you make it important. The spark of consciousness that you are does not judge whether it's right or wrong but rather gives to you that which you desire to validate your belief system and creates the reality joyously, without exception. If you wish to choose you're not in control, if you wish to hold that belief system, once again, it's not right or wrong, you can have that. If you wish to believe that you're in absolute and complete control of your reality, then you can have that as well. The choice is yours. Absolutely, without exception. You're all that is. You are the god that you search for. You create your reality, and you cannot fail to come to that understanding. All of the rest is illusion. Not insignificant, but nonetheless illusionary. And, you can change it.

Now. We would break for a moment or two and if you have any questions we would be willing to return and to attempt to answer them for you. And in the meantime, we would remind you that we are not separated by time or space but rather by a vibrational level. And should you choose to interact with us, you have but to express the intent and we would welcome that opportunity to interact and to share with each of you. And in the meantime, we would leave you, with love and with peace. ✨