

VVL 2024 Seedings Release

Date: 6 March 2024

Prior to the VVL competition draw being released to clubs, a full seeding of the competing teams was undertaken for each competition.

As Volleyball Victoria is entering a new cycle of competitions and with the introduction of the Junior Premier League competition as well as the Youth State League competition, there was a mixture of methods used to determine the seeding requirements for each competition. The following outlines the method used to determine competition seeds.

Competition	Seeding process
Premier One	Results from the 2023 Premier League season
Premier Two	Results from the 2023 Premier League season and the new teams seeded in 13 th and 14 th position randomly via an online randomiser program
Junior Premier	New competition, random seeding via an online randomiser program
State League One	Top 6 clubs per competition ranked based on 2023 State League season, remaining seeds allocated randomly via an online randomiser program
State League Two	Top 6 clubs per competition ranked based on 2023 State League season, remaining seeds allocated randomly via an online randomiser program
State League Three	Top 5 clubs per competition ranked based on 2023 State League season, remaining seeds allocated randomly via an online randomiser program
Youth State League	New competition, random seeding via an online randomiser program

Note: Within the State League One, Two and Three seedings, there are several teams that are not entered in that specific competition in 2024. This has been reflected in the 2024 seeds.

For example: State League One Women/Reserves 1 Women 2023 results

Seed	Team
1	Melbourne
2	Dandenong
3	La Trobe
4	McKinnon
5	Maroondah
6	VFUM

McKinnon is not competing in 2024, therefore Maroondah and VFUM are elevated to 4th and 5th seeds respectively for the 2024 season.

Once the teams are seeded, these seedings will be used to allocate teams to pools via the international across and down allocation system (ie: snake system) to evenly distribute the seeded teams into pools.

Adjustments to this system will only be made if the random seeding process and snake system to allocate pools results in multiple teams from one club being in the same pools.
