

THE COMPANY THERAPIST FOR A RIDSHARE STARTUP MUST RESCUE HER SON FROM AN AGED BROOD OF SADISTIC CHILDREN.

"Turn the camp counselors from Friday the 13th into startup geeks and throw them into a Cabin in the Woods infested with Children of the Corn" - Henry Ruebe NERDWIRE

Tessa Reed always wanted to know more about her family history. But when she inherits an old mountain lodge, she gets more than she bargained for. Tessa is the company therapist for her boyfriend's driverless rideshare startup. He gathers his Silicon Valley team to check out the lodge with Tessa and her young son, Ben. They've barely arrived when the crazed caretaker lures Ben into the waiting claws of the Killdren - a bloodthirsty brood of sadistic children that has been playfully disposing of guests since the Donner Party. Tessa must battle the Killdren and find Ben before they make him part of their devilish clan. She soon discovers they have sinister plans for her as well.
