My child, my children are unprepared for a greater unraveling that is about to come. Many speak of war, yet it is the war that has taken over the hearts of men who have no conscience of the sanctity of life. It is time to arise from your slumber, My Children, and understand that the devil and his many companions seek your soul. Too many are complacent in silence to the evil that is going on all around them. Too many are not protecting the most innocent and place My little ones in the hands of the very enemy that seeks to destroy their soul.

What side of the river will you be on when the earthquake comes; and the river rises and washes away its banks? Who will you call out to when darkness comes upon the earth and land that has been planted will yield no harvest because it is barren? Where will you run to when fire falls from the sky? My Children, you must begin to pray for greater discernment, for too many have taken up company with the devil and do not realize the darkness that is lingering around them. Mankind is provoking the just hand of My Father. I ask My Children to read My words of warning and realize what I have warned for quite some time is now upon your doorstep. Sin divides, but prayer and love multiplies a bountiful harvest.

My children, the world is on the precipice of great change. Never surrender to the enemy that seeks to strip you of your free will, to silence your voice that was created to proclaim the Gospel Message.

It is time to use your voice and no longer reason in fear, for fear does not come from Me, for I am Jesus. Time is short, for the world is on the precipice of great change. This world as you know it is passing away, and those who have not learned from history are soon to be standing in the midst of it. Take heed to the Gospel Message and live it; teach your brothers and sisters in humility how to pray; come to the fountain of My Mercy and do not have prideful hearts. I come to you in love and warning that prayer is the only vessel that will deter war. Prayer is the only vessel in which peace will come upon the world, for I am the Prince of Peace, for I am Jesus and My Mercy and Justice will prevail.

My child, I cry out to My Children to arise from your slumber. I call each one by name and tell you that the hour is at hand. Prepare, prepare, prepare, for the day is coming when humanity will look around and ask where is my brother, where is my sister? Many are not prepared for the disruptions that are soon to come all around this world. Nation upon nation will feel the earth begin to tremble and many will fail to see that this warning is from heaven. Do not listen to those who speak of science, for I Am the Creator of all the living. Just as I commanded Lazarus to awaken, I will command the world on the day of warning that his ways are not pleasing to Me. I tell My Chosen Sons, My priests to prepare, for your flock will come running. Do not wait for this hour, rather open the doors to the confessional. Do not seal off the doors to My Church because you are giving way for Satan to take hold of My Children. The days of darkness are no longer in the distance for communication is soon to be extinguished. Do not surrender in fear, but rather act in humility and with great discernment because the enemy is lurking at every corner. My Children, allow my mother to take you under her mantle, for I am Jesus, and My Mercy and Justice will prevail.

My Child, the great hour is approaching when many will be caught off guard! My Wounds are bleeding profusely and my only consolation is the prayers and acts of suffering My faithful offer to Me. The war that has been waged upon My Little ones has become a plague upon the innocent. I can no longer hold back My Father's just hand. I can no longer restrain the justice of My Father upon his people who refuse the mercy of His Son, for I am Jesus.

This earth is going to begin to rock and tremble. On the day of the earthquake that will begin to ripple all across the world, many will come to see that their ways were not pleasing to Me. Satan has infiltrated every home, every family, and every church. He and his companions have infiltrated every nation and many hearts that no longer recognize the truth. He has infiltrated the minds of My children by using fear in order to bring false comfort, false hope, and false peace.

The hour has come when those who have become the minions of his work will find themselves amongst those who have chosen the same path of darkness for all eternity.

My Children, each and every soul is created in My Image and likeness. I Am the Bread of Life, the Prince of Peace, the Savior of the world and I Am Man, for I Am Jesus. What My Father ordained from the beginning will be in the end. When you deny what you were created as, you deny your Heavenly Father. The enemy seeks to destroy the woman because of her humility and obedience. The enemy seeks to destroy man because of his righteousness in the truth. My Children, this world you have come to know is passing away. My Mother has been coming for some time to plead with her children to turn away from this world to seek out her son, to accept My Mercy, so that you can come home to your father. It is time, My Children, to answer the call of your mother. She has been sent to light the way in bringing her children back to her son. Come to Me in prayer, come to Me in Adoration, come to Me in Humility, for I have a place prepared for you that this world can never suffice. Now go forth My Children and be at peace, for My Mercy and Justice will prevail.

My child, who can I speak to? Who will listen to My voice, My words when I am crying out. I have pleaded with My Children, and yet, so many are far away that they do not recognize My voice that is intricately weaved into the soul of mankind.

I come to you in love, I come to you in warning that you must have greater vigilance at what is happening all around you. I tell My Children it is time to seek that guidance of the Holy Spirit so that you are able to discern all that comes in your path. My Children, history is all around you while you are also living out Revelation. Take heed, take heed to the Gospel message and live it. I have come to nurture and teach you as I am calling all of you to be counted amongst the saints in Heaven by living your life in witness and example. I tell My Children that it is a time of reform. Come to the fountain of My Mercy and do not shackle yourself to your past errors, rather embrace My Love, unite your suffering to Mine, and be My witness in this broken world. It is through your love, forgiveness, and obtaining the graces of heaven that will begin to heal this world. Recognize evil for what it is and do not take hold of it by complying out of fear. Do not allow the enemy to elevate himself through you, rather in greater humility you will defeat all of his deception. Go forth in prayer, go forth in adoration to your Heavenly Father, who through his son Jesus gave you this life, this mission to one day be united with the trinity for all eternity. Now go forth, for I Am Jesus and My mercy and justice will prevail.

My Child, I come to you now with great urgency that the world has entered into the time of warning. I do not speak of the time of my visitation, rather this is a time of warning that will usher in the time when all of humanity will be brought to his knees to see their soul as I see it. My child, those who fail to recognize this time—when evil is seeking to elevate itself yet is being simultaneously pierced by the light of truth—will find themselves like the foolish virgins. I tell my children with great urgency that it is time to repent. It is time to recognize the hour you are living in. I am a God of repetition.

Mankind must turn away from evil and defend the truth. Those who turn away in ignorance will be as those who failed to heed the warnings of Noah. I say to my people—defend and protect my little ones. As I have warned before the blood of the innocent is upon the world because too many have failed to defend and protect them. Woe to those who seek to harm my children in their sinful lust. Woe to those who seek to manipulate my creation, my plan. It is time, my children, to come to the fountain of my mercy. Those who fail to come and seek the ocean of my mercy will come to the harbor of my justice. Turn away, turn away from darkness and seek the light, for I am Jesus and my mercy and justice will prevail.

My child, all healing comes through the Eucharist. When my children consume me and prostrate themselves before me in adoration, they are enfolded in the cloak of my love. Those who surrender themselves to the divine will and trust in my mercy will see that no evil can permeate it.

My child, this world is lacking love. Too many deny loving others out of fear of rejection, yet I say to you that I am the greatest recipient of rejection, for I am Jesus.

This world is crumbling and many are beginning to recognize the evil that is before them. I warn my children, do not fall for the promises of Satan, for his trap is one of eternal darkness with eternal consequences. Come live in my light and embrace the only source of peace because I am the Prince of Peace. Let the wicked stumble upon their own wickedness, for I tell you all lies lead back to the truth. It is time for my children to live the Gospel Message, for your time in Revelation has come. The dividing line has been drawn and the lukewarm do not obtain their eternal reward. One cannot truly move forward if they are always looking behind out of fear. Those who speak that they are ready for this earth to rock and tremble lack the faith to surrender completely to the divine providence.

Mankind seeks to remove me from everything, yet I say to you the world cannot exist without my presence. Every source that allows my people to live contains my image and likeness. Those who deny me and seek to alter my creation, my plan, have sealed their judgement.

My child, I plead to mankind to awaken to this hour, for I can no longer restrain the just hand of my father. The offenses against my little ones has plunged the world into great darkness. I tell my children to look in the horizon because the hour of great warning is upon every doorstep. The time when all of the earth will go dark and the only light will be that of which I come with. The deaf, the blind, the lame for there will be no restraint from my light piercing into the souls of my people. All on earth will come to a pause for even the tiniest of creatures will recognize the time of my visitation. The wind will be still, the ocean will be without waves and silence will settle upon humanity. Be on guard, my children, and do not become distracted by the ways of the world, for I am Jesus and my mercy and justice will prevail.

My child, prayer is the greatest form of love. Praying for your enemies—for those who condemn you—is the greatest act of redemptive suffering because it unites a soul to my passion, death and resurrection. It is in suffering that the soul receives the ultimate measure of my love.

My child, the world is thirsting for the truth and hungering for justice. My children, if you desire to be quenched of your thirst and satisfied of your hunger then turn away from the world and come and receive me in the Eucharist.

The world is unraveling and many are running in fear but I am not the author of fear. I am the true Prince of Peace. Time is passing and I say to my people do not live for this world, live for eternity. All that you need to sustain yourself in this life is offered at the altar of my mercy. When through the consecrated hands of my priests, my chosen sons, the bread and wine become my body and blood.

Take heed to the Gospel Message and turn away from the temptations out of fear. The enemy seeks to manipulate my creation, my plan. He seeks to use human sacrifice in a way that leads the soul to believe they can avoid death and their time on this earth is eternal. Do not drink of the forbidden cup, rather come to the eternal banquet table. My children, the mass is the only vessel in which heaven and earth are united. It is the only means in which the soul and the body are united with heaven. Come live in my light, for I am Jesus and my mercy and justice will prevail.

My child, I warn my children that those who detain my little ones for their own selfish desires will find themselves retained in the abyss of darkness. Mankind needs to protect my little ones from having their free will stripped from them. Each and every soul is created with a mission to fulfill on this earth. I ask my priests to command the angels to go and comfort these little souls and guide them to their place of refuge, for I am Jesus and my mercy and justice will prevail.

My child, I ask my children what value is the world compared to the salvation of one's soul? If only my children would recognize the treasure that their soul is before their Heavenly Father, they would give greater attention to keeping it pure and holy. So many graces go unclaimed because few ask for them. My children, come to me, for I am Jesus. You are each my chosen instruments and when your soul is in a state of grace, it is in harmony with heaven. The graces that flow from heaven to those who ask for them become living vessels of my Father's plan.

My children, when you seek out the Son, you come to have greater understanding of my Father. When you seek the guidance of the Holy Spirit, you come to know the mission you have been sent to do. Live in the light for too many have allowed darkness to take over, and when darkness takes over, fear is what guides you. My children, when you pray trust that your prayers are reaching the corridor of the Divine throne. When you pray in the state of grace, you will have a peace that the world cannot give you.

Come to me in Adoration, come receive me in the Eucharist and in thanksgiving, I will give you many graces to live out your mission in this world. Now go forth for I am Jesus and be at peace, for my mercy and justice will prevail.

My child, I tell my children do not lay down your rosary's rather hold them up in great prayer. This is the hour in which the enemy seeks you at every corner as you need to be on guard. Listen with greater attentiveness because too many are not being guided by the Holy Spirit. I have sent my Mother to assist her children to salvation. It is through my Mother that you will be guarded and cradle as little children from Satan and his attacks. It is through my Mother that you will learn to turn away from the world and come to see that your true home is in heaven.

My children, pray with a contrite heart, and through prayer and fasting, you will grow in holiness. It is through prayer that you will recognize the temptations around you and turn away from evil. It is through prayer and fasting that you will have greater awareness of the mission you have been sent to do. My children, come take my hand and be my witness to the world. Do not fear the rejection of those around you, for I tell you that their eyes will be open by you witnessing and example. Speak with love and a conviction to draw souls closer to me. Do not speak in judgment rather speak in humility and understanding. It is by speaking in humility that you are giving great obedience to the first commandment.

You are soon to be witnesses to the greatest warning to humanity since the beginning of creation. I come to you now and speak in love and mercy that you must be prepared for the changing tides, for many are soon to be caught off guard. Pray for your brothers and sisters, my children, for there are many corpses who walk amongst you. There are many who hear my words but they no longer penetrate their hearts. Now go forth for I am Jesus and be at peace, for my mercy and justice will prevail.

My child, my heart is weeping and my wounds bleeding profusely because my children are still sleeping. I tell my children that the days of mourning are coming when my children realize how they have wasted time. The days of mourning are coming when my children will fall to their knees crying out to heaven to show mercy when mankind has summoned the wrath of my Father. What am I to do when I have warned for so long that sin and worldly pleasures are not the way to heaven? There is a great arrogance in the hearts of my children when they live for themselves and not the mission they were sent to do.

I tell my children in America that you are being cleansed from the inside through the attacks within the walls of your country. America is a treasure that many in the world seek to destroy. But woe to those who seek to harm her. Woe to those who seek to harbor the forces of darkness at the promised nation that will in time guide the world back to my Father. Be on guard, my children, for in the West the earth will awaken—sending ash to cover the lands and all its vegetation. From the East, new coastlines will form and the tears of my children will flow like lava from a mountain top.

It is time to warn your brothers and sisters and do not fear their rejection. The world can no longer sustain itself on this path. The tongues of so many spew lies that they believe are truth and no longer recognize sin as sin. Woe to those within the walls of my church that are vested in my name but no longer speak truth and are soon to see their day of reckoning. I am calling on my faithful ones to listen with true attentiveness to the Holy Spirit, for you are given a great task to bring souls to me, for I am Jesus and my mercy and justice will prevail.

My child, I say to my children if you seek to grow and desire holiness then you must have greater awareness of the state of your soul. Too many say that they act in love, but I tell my children that all love comes from me. If your actions in love go against my creation, my plan, it is not love. Sin is not an act of love, and doing things in this way only wounds your soul and pulls you further away from me.

My children, your trust in me must be greater than of yourself. When I said from the cross, "It is finished," I surrendered to my Father every soul that would accept me, every soul that would deny me, every soul that sought my mercy and every soul that would never see me in eternal glory. I am the source of all love, for love is what encompasses the divine trinity.

My children, I know your beginning and your final destination. You may awaken to the sun rising yet I know if you will see it set. Surrender my children, surrender to the divine plan for your life, for it is then you will find peace. When you seek to do the will of my Father, you will find everything flows in harmony. Even in suffering, you will find joy. Begin this day, this hour coming to the fountain of my mercy, for I am Jesus and my mercy and justice will prevail.

6:09 PM

My Child, I warn my children that this is a grave period for humanity. I warn my children not to surrender to the same enemy that tempted me in the garden of Gethsemane. My children, fear is the greatest means by which Satan lures you. He has unleashed a multitude of his companions to gather as many souls as possible. He has infiltrated those who are vested in my church and seeking to alter its teachings. Do not fear, my children, do not surrender. Do not believe in the lies because what is written is to be—it is truth. It is time, my children, to call upon the Holy Spirit to guide you. Ask for the gift of wisdom, knowledge, understanding to navigate the hour you are living in. There is no peace or joy when mankind is living in sin. Many today lack modesty and sins of the flesh are running rampant. Too many are accepting sinful acts because they don't want to offend their neighbor.

My children, do not defend those who are greatly offending me and my commandments. It is a time of prayer and fasting. The hour has come when many will say, "Where is my brother? Where is my sister?" In the blink of an eye humanity can change. The days of mourning are upon the world. I ask my children to pray for the just hand of my Father to be restrained. I ask my children to pray that my Mother's heart will soon triumph. I say to my children to surrender all that consumes your wounded hearts to me, for I am Jesus.

This world is passing and my children need to awaken to the world around them. Come, my children, come to me and through complete and total trust you will begin to feel nurtured, you will begin to feel peace because my presence will be working in you and through you. Now go forth for I am Jesus and be at peace, for my mercy and justice will prevail.

My child, I am weeping for the world that continues to pierce my most Sacred Heart. The earth, my child, will begin to rock and tremble as I witness the temple, my church being torn in two. You are witnessing the ushering of the wolves in sheep's clothing. How is a shepherd to truly guide his sheep if he is not uniting them in truth but sending them in a direction that leads to confusion. I am a God of order and truth. Just as the sun rises in the East and sets in the West, it does not change. Man cannot change what my Father commanded from the beginning. Everything has an ordained place and time.

My children, it is time to awaken to the changes that are ushering in all around this world. It is time to pray and seek the wisdom of the Holy Spirit. I come in love, I come in warning that as you begin to witness the chair of Peter being empty, you must recognize that the time of my visitation is near. Do not become paralyzed in your lives waiting for my return for you are here on a mission to be my hands and feet. You are here on a mission to be my witness and example in this dark world. Open your eyes and recognize that the unraveling has begun. I am unraveling the lies and showing mankind the truth. Woe to those who know truth, see truth and yet continue to turn away from it. My children, the signs are coming from the East and great fire will fall from the sky. When you hear the horses being summoned from heaven know that the hand of justice is coming upon the world that is harboring the pains of labor. Return to prayer my children, return to the sacraments by coming to the fountain of my mercy. Now go forth for I am Jesus and be at peace, for my mercy and justice will prevail.
