REGULATIONS OF CARD BRANDS, STATE LAW & FEDERAL LAW

By uniformly assessing a set customer assistance fee across all products and payment types, merchants utilizing the PayLo Program meet the standard regulations set forth by all major card service providers, state law and federal law. Standard pricing includes a small customer assistance fee (much like an automatic service gratuity applied in some dining locations) that is assessed on ALL sales regardless of how payment is made including checks, cash, credit-debit cards, gift cards, etc.

Clear and conspicuous signage is required by law to be displayed at the business entry point and at the point-of-sale to easily and accurately explain the program. The customer assistance fee must be present on any generated receipts from the transaction. PayLo automates the process by applying the customer assistance fee at the time of sale. The software has been vetted and approved by all major credit card brands, state laws and federal regulations.
