Keynote Speaker Kelli Worrell

Kelli Worrall is the Chair of the Music and Media Arts Field and a Professor of Communications at Moody Bible Institute, where she has served since 1998. She is a published author and is a member of the writing team for Moody's daily devotional Today in the Word. Kelli serves on the Bible teaching team for the women's ministry at her home church and is passionate about sharing the truth of God's Word in a variety of settings. She and her husband, Peter, also speak together at marriage, family, and young adult retreats. Kelli studied Communications at Cedarville University, Religious Education at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School (MRE), and Creative Writing at Roosevelt University (MFA). The Worralls live in McHenry, Illinois, with their two children through adoption: Daryl (14) and Amelia (11).
