

Hi, my name is Aniya Jackson. I'm a graduate of HCCs Interior Design program. Growing up I've never had a place that felt like home whether it was because it just wasn't decorated enough or if it was because of the living situation I was in; I always saw these "homes" just as shelters. Thus my company, Jackson Interiors, came about. We provide interior design services such as room remodels, new homes, and renovations at a low rate. Our mission is to provide low income families and young adults who want to live on their own but have a small budget, with the feeling of a luxury and lavish life through their designs. The word luxury means "the state of great comfort and extravagant living". By designing spaces in the clients idea of luxury it makes the space worthy of calling a home and by catering to low income individuals it shows that luxury is for everyone not just the more affluent. Would you like my business card in case you or someone you know is looking for any of the services I provide? Thank you for your time and enjoy the rest of your day!
