

Michellie Jones

Michellie Jones is arguably the most recognizable and accomplished athlete racing in the sport of triathlon today.

Her achievements span more than two decades of winning performances. Whatever distance and discipline Michellie has set forth to race, she has successfully mastered, claiming numerous World Champion titles in Ironman, XTERRA and ITU triathlon racing. In fact, Michellie was recently inducted into the Guinness Book of World Records for having won the greatest number of ITU World Championships Medals in the history of the sport. Michellie's Silver medal from the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games is the gilded lining to a brilliant career. And whether racing at the top echelon of professional triathlon or carrying her inspirational message from the race course to the classroom or corporate boardroom, Michellie shows no sign of slowing down anytime soon.

Michellie Jones' highly decorated career is the result of focused discipline and an unwavering can-do attitude. Michellie takes nothing for granted and is never one to rest on her laurels; instead, she's learned through her own training and racing experience that anything is possible through hard work and intense effort. Michellie is the first to encourage anyone to try something new, especially something that seems frightening or impossible, as her entire career has evolved from attempting and attaining those "impossible" goals. Through frequent sponsor appearances and public speaking engagements, Michellie encourages others to believe in and achieve their dreams.

With 22 years of international racing at a professional level, numerous corporate sponsor relationships and appearances and a prior background in childhood education, Michellie can easily relate her message of inspiration to a variety of audiences. Invite Michellie Jones to share her stories with your group and you'll quickly learn that any dream can be achieved through diligent effort, that age is merely a number and that truly, all things are possible for those who believe in themselves.
