One body, old but in good condition

No replacement parts

One heart barely ever broken and beating strong

One brain well used but still intact

Two eyes known to be in the back of my head

Two ears still hearing well but not always listening

Two arms ready to hold and embrace

Two legs that can still run up the stairs

Two feet still able to dance the night away

Two hands capable of most things but not DIY

One head filled with ideas, lines of poetry, stories and countless memories

These exclusive body parts are still available but not for long
