

THE SEQUEL TO 'SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS.'

The Wicked Queen was not happy. She had smashed the mirror and, as it was a time of self-isolation, so she had to clean up the mess all by herself.

Meanwhile, Snow White was living happily with handsome Prince Kipper. They had become happy parents to a handsome prince of their own.

The Wicked Queen heard this and so determined that she was going to pay them an unexpected visit and, disguised as a beggar woman, to infect them all with Covid 19.

But first the Wicked Queen had to become infected herself, so she went deep into the dark forest where she met a kangaroo. She had no idea why a kangaroo was in the forest, and neither did he, but she accepted him into her arms while he said the magic words:

Come to me, come to me,

And my germs will set you free!

At that moment, the Wicked Queen contracted the virus, thanked the kangaroo, and stalked off towards the palace in which Snow White lived.

The Queen, who was in disguise as a beggar woman, showed the two guards a recording of Donald Trump's latest Dettol proclamation and they, straight away, fell into a deep slumber.

The Wicked Queen then walked up the staircase and knocked on the doors leading to the rooms of Snow White and Prince Kipper.

'Who's there?' called Prince Kipper.

'It is I, the beggar woman from Birmingham,' replied the Wicked Queen.

The Prince, not having heard of this woman before, but not wanting to appear stupid in front of his wife, particularly during this season of Covid-induced quizzes, replied, 'Ah yes, we were expecting you. Do come in, but do not forget to keep your distance.'

At that moment, the Wicked Queen opened the door, her back bent and her eyes looking beseechingly at the couple.

'I have a humble present for your son, the prince,' she said, and took a small box out of her bag. She opened the box to reveal..... a toilet roll, the most precious gift in the kingdom.

Snow White gasped in astonishment and Prince Kipper's eyes opened wide in admiration. Why would such a poor beggar woman, who had nothing, give their son such a precious gift?

Snow White then spoke. 'Beggar woman, you are so kind. We are so grateful. We know that your generosity will be remembered forever.'

She did not have the courage to tell the Wicked Queen that, as the prince was but one month old, and he was still in nappies, that he would have no use for such a generous gift.

'We know that our son, Prince Corona, will look forward to the day when he will be able to use your gift. We know that he will think of you when he does.'

But Snow White, unwittingly, had said the magic word, 'Corona'. So the Wicked Queen was struck by a bolt of lightning, destroying both her and her gift, and neither was heard of any more.