

Something

1969 the summer of love
Time to embrace and explore
Woodstock featuring Hendrix and Joplin
Protests about a distant war

Ground control to Major Tom
Men were travelling into space
Armstrong - Jones walked on the moon
The universe suddenly a smaller place

Whilst London was swinging
Tall lime trees swayed
And just past Swiss Cottage
Sugar, Sugar was played

Bedsits and mansions
Nestling side by side
Red brick and Regency
Avenues open and wide

Here it is, the album cover
Photo shot in NW8
Four men walking behind one another
The band's 'best before' date

One barefoot and one in denim
John in front dressed in white
The other like an undertaker
Had it been a Hard Day's Night?

Was it a nod to new beginnings
Realising their fans biggest fears?
The famous Abbey Road Crossing
Moving the painted Zebra to tears

John, Paul, George and Ringo
No one sounded quite so good
Beatles' tracks - the sound of the sixties
The last goodbye in St John's Wood
