

Relationship Advice to my Daughter and Sons

Roses are red, violets are blue

Here's some advice from your mother to you.

Roses and violets both give great pleasure

Marry in haste, repent at leisure

On a first date, roses are best

Look into her eyes, don't stare at her chest

Roses are wonderful, violets are glorious

Please avoid men like Oscar Pistorious

Roses and violets help bees to make honey

Marry for love, but don't ignore money

Don't marry an addict, gambler or boozier

A work shy spendthrift, or some other loser

The seas are bright blue, the trees green and shady

Dad says can one of you wed a pub landlady?

Roses are red, violets are blue

A gin distiller would be nice for me too.

Violets are blue, roses are red

You'll all please yourselves whatever I've said!