Hustle Diva will recite “Sorry” and then ask participants to write a polite but firm response, in their own defense, to a fictitious person in one of four oppressive scenarios provided by Hustle Diva, with two conditions: within their reply, they must not apologize for their response, and they must consistently use “I statements” while conveying their message. Afterward, they will share their responses and engage in open dialogue about how it felt to unapologetically stand up for themselves in their chosen scenario and what, if any, challenges they had while doing so, and how to maintain this skill within real scenarios going forward.
