Dear Ms. Hinkson:

You are receiving this correspondence because you wrote to the President of the United States and your correspondence was flagged as related to the President's constitutional clemency power. Please be aware that all clemency related correspondence is handled by the Department of Justice's Office of the Pardon Attorney.

Please allow this correspondence to confirm that the clemency petition of David R Hinkson (Case No. C182422) is pending, but the executive clemency process requires a careful examination and investigation of each petition and all supporting documentation. Depending on the individual facts and circumstances of each case, it is often a lengthy process, taking a year or more from start to finish. Unfortunately, we are unable to offer expedited processing of any individual petition. We can give no assurance that final action will be taken by the President within a particular time frame, because that decision rests with the President alone. Although we are unable to predict when a decision will be reached, we can assure you that petitioners, or their attorney when represented by counsel, are notified promptly when final action has been taken on their petition.

A clemency petition submitted under one presidential administration, but undecided by that administration, need not be resubmitted to this office or the White House, which will ultimately forward it to us. No matter the presidential administration, an application will remain under consideration until final action is taken by the President in office at that time. The Justice Department does not disclose to applicants or third parties the stage at which a clemency application is pending at any given time.

Thank you for writing to the President. I hope this response and information is helpful to you.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading "William N. Taylor II", is positioned above the typed name.

William N. Taylor II
Executive Officer
