What's happening! My name is Michael-Anthony; I am the President of California Steeze Magazine. I am 21 years old and a native to Sacramento. Sacramento King's fan, you already know. I currently attend Sacramento State University; so if you ever see me around campus, be sure to mention California Steeze! When the process of creating the magazine began, I was fortunate enough to have my god sister, Maricella, reach out to me and insist on being a part of the movement. The team would not be complete without our young visionary and official photographer, Brandon. California Steeze Magazine is here to provide businesses, clothing brands, artists and musicians, etc., the opportunity to grow in a number of ways. Provided to our accounts are exclusive spreads in our physical magazines, as well as online promotion and advertising via Instagram, Twitter and our website.

My goals for expanding California Steeze include spreading our name throughout multiple cities in California that have not yet heard the buzz surrounding California Steeze! In hopes that one day it spreads across the nation. Networking with positive individuals is my passion and witnessing people showing interest in something that I am a part of is the rewarding part for me. Helping individuals achieve their visions and helping them grow has been the most fulfilling aspect of running a magazine thus far. Outside of the magazine, my goals are to finish up my Communications major at Sacramento State and continue my ambitious habits in ways to create more outlets to help individuals. I am more than proud of my team for achieving the success we have had and all of the countless opportunities we have created for other talented individuals we are working with! I want to give a special thanks to my Vice President Maricella for her ambitious attitude and loyalty when it came to creating and continuing to push our magazine.

Positive Vibes,

Steeze

Hi Everyone, I'm Mari, the Vice President of California Steeze Magazine. Being 23 from South Sacramento, where there is not much entertainment, I gravitated towards local shows and events. That led to a discussion with my God Brother about an idea he had to create a local Promotional and Advertising Magazine.

Promoting our magazine has been my passion. To be able to use my sociable personality and creativity to help people with their careers is a dream of mine. I hope to inspire people to follow their dreams and continue perfecting their craft.

Since the start of our magazine, I have networked and met talented individuals who motivate me to continue pushing California Steeze. We have grown so fast in such little time with the support of our hometown. Our team has worked hard this past year, so I hope you all enjoy it.

Peace Love & Happiness,

Mari

What's up, my name is Brandon Ramirez. I'm 18 years old and the youngest member of California Steeze. I was born and raised in Sacramento. I graduated Florin High School this year as % 2015. My role in California Steeze is the Official Photographer. I first started gaining interest in taking pictures at a very young age and would use my Grandma's Canon to take pictures in her backyard. I started taking my craft seriously in August of 2014, after receiving my first camera. Since then, I have dedicated myself to photography and perfecting my talent! I keep to myself a lot and get nervous sometimes when I'm under pressure, but taking pictures is a relief from the real world and allows me to break out of my shell. My favorite part about my career is witnessing my client's reactions after showing them my vision through the lens. I plan to continue my education at Sacramento City College and major in Photography. Whatever success I may gain, my California Steeze family is coming with me.

Sincerely,

Brandon

Q: How old are you & where are you from?

A: 21, born in Orange County, I lived in Berkeley until I was three, then moved to Davis. I went to college in Portland for three years; now I'm back in Davis.

Q: How long have you been modeling and making music?

A: I started making music and modeling in November 2014. I'm still learning, but I'm learning quickly and I am so thankful to have a great team behind me.

Q: What piqued your interest in pursuing music and becoming a model?

A: I started music because I used to do poetry and I was really good at writing all through school and college. I had a few friends that were artists, so I started experimenting with it during the end of the summer. November was when I got in the studio and made "Taking You With Me." I also needed a way to find a way to cope with what was going on with my life. At the time, I was going through it and needed a way to get out what I was feeling. I did the modeling for promo; it wasn't my ultimate goal to begin with, but it helped get myself out there. I started modeling my friend's brands, then branched out to fashion HD shoots.

Q: What do you feel makes you stand out as an artist and model?

A: I really don't know; I have a unique, exotic look to me, I guess. As for rap, I am a conscious rapper, which is something I feel a lot of artists don't touch on, especially females.

Q: What is the name of your clothing line and where is it available?

A: Gold Life Clothing. I am partnered with Jacob Starnes, who is the CEO of the company. Clothing available at www.goldlifeclothing.com.

Q: How long have you been interested in fashion?

A: I'm not really interested in fashion; I'm more of the type to wear sweats, high tops and a Cookies hoodie. But, I'm getting more interested because of modeling. I need to know this stuff.

Q: What is your goal as an artist?

A: I want to have a voice; I want to be in a position to make an impact on a worldwide level.

Q: If you weren't modeling, making music or working in fashion, what would you most likely be doing?

A: I would be in school, riding horses (one of my jobs and another career option), traveling the world.

Q: If you could give any advice to any upcoming models or musicians, what would you tell them?

A: Practice. Practice. Practice. Never think you're too good to get better.

Although 21-year-old Stockton native Born Vizionary has only been pursuing a career in photography for approximately six months now, it'd be hard for one to tell just by taking a first-time look at his work. Because of the interest in photography he picked up in high school, he eventually began sharing his talent on social media where he frequently shot self-portraits. As a result of the positive feedback he received, he decided to take photography more serious. In a career field he finds to be a bit overpopulated, what Born Vizionary finds to be the most challenging is going about finding a way to make his art stand out from the rest. "I try to stay open-minded and create new ideas with the people I work with to create something unique from my own perspective." Since having embarked on this journey, he has realized that the photography industry is "cutthroat" and seems to be a competition amongst many photographers. His ultimate goal as a photographer is to be able to travel the world and capture photos of his finds.

3DI$ON

Born and bred in the City of Trees, 23-year-old 3di$on first began toying with the idea of pursuing a music career when he realized it was a way for him to make a significant impact in today's society. "I want to be able to help people through my music by speaking truths and encouraging them to live positively," said 3di$on. 3di$on is determined to create music that resonates with those who haven't been granted the opportunity to experience life from his perspective and to show them everyone is capable of succeeding in life. With influences such as his parents, Malcolm X and Tupac, 3di$on has found that the most fulfilling aspect of being an artist is being able to spark inspiration in others.

"I once had a friend tell me that my music helped them get through a troubling time in their life; that means the most to me," he revealed. With many individuals pursuing a rap career, 3di$on believes that his music stands out from the flock due to the way he delivers his message and feels his music addresses topics many want to, but aren't sure how to speak on. One song 3di$on feels perfectly sums up who he is as a person is a track titled "Innermost", taken from his album, unREAL. "It explains how I think, in terms of my relationships and experiences with people and my battle to keep it real with myself, in terms of my response to those experiences." Though he is actively pursuing a career in music, 3di$on admits that if he weren't doing music, he would most likely be pursuing a career as a graphic designer or anything that involves artistic freedom. If you have yet to take an honest listen to 3di$on's music, you can do so by catching him at a live show this year, seeing as how he keeps himself busy, or you may check out his soundcloud page at

Brought up in the City of Trees where the dreams of many of its residents are limitless, 29-year-old Shana and 32-year-old Celeste's shared passion for fashion was the driving force that led the pair to partnering up to launch an online boutique called 'Authentic Queens.'

Shana & Celeste Interview

Q: How long has Authentic Queens been in business?

A: We started May 2015; just starting out, but looking forward to the future business.

Q: What kind of women does your boutique cater to?

A: We are looking to cater to all women; old, young. We want to have clothing that you can find for any occasion, whether it's to work, church, going out, formal or casual. It appeals to all women.

Q: Do you design the clothing for your boutique?

A: We implement designs that are in demand; different and unique clothing pieces that are still at an affordable price range for our customers.

Q: What is the most fulfilling aspect of running a boutique?

A: Getting the sense of having our own, contributing to others' personal needs of style and people being satisfied and happy with our services and products.

Q: What is your overall goal for Authentic Queens? Do you plan to eventually open a real, physical boutique?

A: We want to expand in having our own physical location and be a nationwide brand. We also will be introducing our own clothing line as well; be on the lookout for that.

Some people would argue that RAP IS DEAD...

Others would argue rap is merely going through another transformation as time progresses. When talking to Sacramento rap artist Taj, one might get the idea that subcategories in rap never existed; instead, rappers have created music for the audiences they relate to the least. Yes, the least. Standing 6'1", weighing no more than 130 lbs, Taj's lyrics give listeners a visual of a scene out of Scarface. However, the man himself, when not in the booth, is as friendly as one can be. With a huge Tiger Woods smile, one would mistake him for a family member of the golf player. It is only when Taj explains his reasons for rapping that one begins to understand his logic behind delivering lyrics most would label "gimmicky" or "fake." In fact, the logic isn't difficult to understand at all. He speaks to an audience that scarred him once they stripped him twice of his belongings.

CALIFORNIA
STEEZE MAGAZINE

FEATURED
SACRAMENTO ARTIST

He speaks to an audience walking the thin line between living what he calls the "straight and narrow" and the "block life." The grey folk, in his terms. The end result of such bouncy, smooth, punchy at times, flow is a truth felt by the damn and confused, yet entertaining enough to be felt and requested by many music lovers around the globe. His 12 Weeks of Summer mixtape left listeners buzzing, but more in question of his next work. Such an unorthodox approach to topics? Beats you'd agree make you feel as if you're in a video game or cruising Miami Beach? Two juice boxes on his dashboard? It's clear he lives up to the infamous phrase "do as you please" and one could simply write him off as another thirsty, confused rapper. But is he confused? Does his music really speak for those confused on which side promises more than the other? Is this column just a crock of confusing shit? All that's known is the man known as Taj definitely has a sound as unique as he is and is taking time to help listeners understand (or at least try to understand) what makes an individual such as himself. We can now get a better glimpse of the new guy on the block and how songs such as "Breezy Time" and "Drunk in the Cantina" were created.

A few of the artists that have inspired me to create music are Tupac, Biggie, Kendrick Lamar, Mos Def, OutKast, my cousin Snoop Dogg and many more. Through their music, I have learned to express my feelings and observations on various subjects in my music without a filter. The best way to describe my music is as conscious rap with a twist of 'ratchetness' to it. Peace.

I go by the name of Savaugn and I am a 22-year-old aspiring model, hailing out of Oakland, California.

My ultimate goal to achieve as a model is to travel the world. When I'm not working the set of a photoshoot or fashion show, I simply enjoy chilling with friends, spreading good vibes and overall, having a good time no matter the occasion. Although modeling can be competitive and hard work, it can also be quite fun and full of jokes and laughter. Working with various artists and photographers, I tend to soak up knowledge in this industry and take heed to the do's and dont's.

I strongly encourage other young aspiring models to follow their dreams. Sometimes you may think you're incapable of achieving them, but if you network with the right people, you'll get your chance at stardom sooner rather than later.

YD

Andrew 'YD' Newton

YD

Like many young artists today, 22-year old East Sacramento native Andrew Newton, a.k.a. YD, first began rapping because of the pleasure it brought him. However, it wasn't long before the compliments were being thrown his way and he finally stepped into the booth. Through his music, which he describes as a mixture of rap, hip-hop and R&B, YD aims to tell the story of his life and what he has gone through.

"I've put so much into my music, money-wise and soul-wise, that at this point; I love making music. It has turned into all I do," YD expressed.

As with any dream worth being achieved, there comes many challenges and what YD has learned in the midst of his dream chasing is that in order to receive, you have to give because nothing will freely be given to you in life. Despite whatever obstacles he has come across, he has used them as stepping stones and is determined to keep pushing despite what others may think of his music. What makes his music stand out from the rest of the pack, YD believes, is that he has his own style and feels he brings something different to the table every single time he steps into the booth. Although he revealed he has a few big-name features on his forthcoming album, Started from the Blacktop, which is set to be released in mid-August, YD noted that he would most like to collaborate with Nef the Pharaoh, Problem, E-40 and a slew of many others. "I've been wanting to work with E-40 for a long time," said YD. "Nef the Pharaoh, I admire his Mac Dre rapping style; and for Problem, I can see us making a hot track," he added.

Though he finds being an artist very fulfilling and thrives off of the motivation he receives while witnessing his family, friends and fans supporting his music, he had to say if he weren't doing music, he would most likely be training to be a UFC fighter or away at college playing football.

California Steeze had the opportunity to feature JT the 4th in Issue III. We were introduced to the talented artist during the “Sleeping Lonely” music video by Young Mezz featuring JT himself.

Who is JT the 4th?

"JT the 4th is a young, hungry artist from Oakland, CA."

Can you explain more of being raised in Oakland and if you had the opportunity, would you have wanted to be raised elsewhere?

"Being raised in Oakland shaped me into the person I am today. It made me have tough skin and it also showed me diversity. It was both a blessing and a curse, but there is no other place like it. Would I have been raised elsewhere? No. HELL NO."

What do you do with your free time?

"Honestly, I don't have any free time. My life is in the studio; I'm always working to perfect my craft. However, when time allows, I try to surround myself with family and close friends."

How long have you been pursuing your music career?

"I've always made music; it's my passion. I come from a family of musicians, my dad, my pops [grandfather]. I can remember being about eight years old, writing raps with my dad and performing them for family and for the church. I made the decision to pursue music as a career about two years ago. That's when I really started putting a plan behind the talent."

Explain the process of a JT the 4th record?

"I'm usually inspired by the beat first. Recently, a lot of my tracks have been freestyled. I still really enjoy writing music though. I feel like ever since Lil Wayne said he doesn't write anything down, now no one wants to write anything down. But yeah, I'm good either way. From there I'll get in the studio and lay the track down."

*"I Want My Last
Album to be My

Describe your music style and who you target when making music.

"My music is based off of my feeling at the time. I love melodic sounds. Like a 2000 R&B sound. I target people who like good music. My music is for people who enjoy life, are trying to prosper, and who can relate."

What could you be better at as an artist?

"I think I could be better at everything. As time goes on I hope my lyrics impact others and my voice gets better. I feel like I will never stop improving. Also, I am on a mission to become more aware of the business side of music, like what really makes people go from a rapper to an artist."

What is your favorite song that you have made and would show anyone who asks for your music?

"I would definitely choose "Fashion Show" but I did a freestyle over "Poundcake" by Drake that was really dope, probably my favorite lyrically. I have a lot of music, though. I make sure that I like everything I do, because once it has been recorded it's fair game. You never know who will hear it."

What is your favorite collaboration that you have done thus far and who can your fans expect to hear you working with soon?

"Umm, I dont really have a favorite collab, per se. I've done a lot of them and they are all super dope. Every artist that I've worked with brings something different to the table, so I can't say I like one piece of work over the other. My most recent collab that's out is "Sleeping Lonely" with Young Mezz, though. I have worked with a lot of people recently. My fans should be expecting work with Derek King, JuneOnnaBeat, PLO, Sonu, Nef The Pharaoh and more. Oh, and hopefully André 3000 one day."

What new projects are you working on?

"I am working on a mixtape that will be completed in 2016. I am also releasing an EP this year. I will be giving them away exclusively at my shows or with the purchase of any JT the 4th merchandise from my website. Check out my social media (JTthe4th) or my Soundcloud (OfficialJTthe4th) for more details."

California Steeze has some awesome plans with you as well, can you share with your readers?

"Yeah, Sonu Tha Kid and I are working on a collab sound titled "California Steeze." It's going to be dope. Be on the look out for that."
