Our Judge

Hi everyone. Thank you for trusting me to be your judge today! I am a local artist who specializes in realistic oil paintings and charcoal or graphite drawings, but I like to experiment with everything I can. I draw cartoons, use spray paint, make sculptures, I have done photojournalism projects and printmaking and I just started knitting. I particularly love working on mixed media projects. I am always looking for new ways to see and talk about the world, which is why I am excited to see how all of you interpret the landscape here. I know that no one painting is necessarily better than another - it is all about the viewer's perspective. With that in mind, I am looking for parts of paintings that evoke something in me and would make me want to keep looking at the work. Brush strokes or line work that is interesting to me, a composition that is dynamic, colors that make me feel something, and some idea of your human lens.

I grew up around art and have spent a lot of my life looking at and thinking about it. I have worked in Orazio Salati's gallery for nearly a decade as a Gallery Assistant and was the Assistant to the Director at Herter Art Gallery in Massachusetts for a year. I have participated in art residencies and have also entered art competitions. I hope I can use this experience to highlight the uniqueness or particular beauty of a few works today. Have a great time painting!

“Two paintings from September 9th Maine Plein Aire paint out. Both featuring the Scottish Highland Coos cows. Sorry for the reflection on the wet paint. This one has a buffalo. There’s only one buffalo in his herd, and he is the leader of the pack.”
