Recording Secretary Connie Chovan	Debbie Vachal
Corresponding Secretary Barbara Prilaman
Treasurer Ron Asbury

At the October meeting we will be voting on an amendment to the constitution that makes the Training Director position an officer position. As we have officers and 6 board members and the Training Director was previously a board member, if the vote passes we will need one more board member. The nominating committee has with good forethought contingently nominated Kay Hawthorne as the additional board member should the vote pass.

Also, here is the information on the October general meeting:

The October general meeting will be held Wednesday, October 21st at 7 p.m. via Zoom. All members welcome, and remember it counts towards points! The Zoom meeting will start at 6:30 p.m. for people who want to chat a little bit first. We will be voting on amending our constitution to make the Training Director an officer position and on the next board. We will be discussing what we can do instead of our usual Thanksgiving dinner and Christmas/Awards dinner this year; we would really love ideas and input on these.

Alyson Deines is inviting you to a scheduled Zoom meeting.

BRAGS

From Rita Wolkiewicz

On August 29, Travis earned his Master Rally title at the first show here since February. I am very proud of Travis. The Basset Club and the GSD Club did an outstanding job of putting on a safe trials. We plan to continue on towards a Masters 2. We got our first leg the very next day.

From Kay Hawthorne:

What a great month. The bases were loaded for team Oliver. Aug 30 he earned his CD, finishing his VCD title. Thank you judge Bob Margolis. Sept 20 he earned his T2B agility title. Thank you judge Debbie Wheeler. Sept 27 he earned both his HT & PT herding titles finishing his MVCX (master versatility) title with the Cardigan Welsh Corgi Club of America. Thank you judges Cathy Modica & Marie- Paule Gherarti. Good dog!

Sheltering in Place With Your Dog During an Emergency or Disaster

By AKC Staff

Mar 14, 2020 |

Depending on the type and intensity of a natural disaster or pandemic, it may be safer for you and your dog to stay where you are than to evacuate. FEMA advises that sheltering in place is appropriate when “conditions require that you seek immediate protection in your home, place of employment, school, or other location when disaster strikes.” Sheltering in place is not intended to be long-term; FEMA says it should only be for a few hours, not days or weeks.

While you may think you know what “sheltering in place” means, it’s important to understand the actual definition: According to the American Red Cross, “Shelter in place means selecting a small, interior room, with no or few windows, and taking refuge there. It does not mean sealing off your entire home or office building.” It also does not mean that you and your dog have to stay exactly where you are: Depending on the threat, such as during a tornado, flood, or earthquake, you may have to move to another room inside your home to remain safe.

Another reason you may need to shelter at home is a mandated quarantine or self-quarantine during an illness or pandemic. In these situations, you are usually able to move about your house, and even your backyard or neighborhood depending on the severity.

Reasons you may be advised to shelter/stay at home include:

Unsafe air quality.

Roads are too dangerous for travel, due to washed-out roads, downed wires, or trees, or large amounts of snow or ice.

High winds and flying debris.

Health pandemic

Mandated quarantine or self-quarantine due to a virus or other illness

If you have to shelter at home with your dog:

For a quarantine:

Know the location of your dog’s food and medication and make sure you have enough supply to last you the duration of your quarantine. Since dogs can get restless if cooped up inside, have toys on-hand to keep your dog stimulated. You can make your own toys at home, or buy interactive toys online. Keep your dog stimulated by keeping up a routine and continuing training. There are plenty of ways you can continue training for dog sports at home, including Agility, Rally, and Scent Work.

Dogs know when panic is in the air, so try to remain as calm as possible.

For a natural disaster:

Make sure your dog is inside. If it’s unsafe for you to be outside, it’s unsafe for him, too.

Know the location of your dog’s emergency “go bag.” It should have already been stocked with extra food, water, first-aid kit, and other essentials your dog needs. Take your dog with you to a room that is safe. The room’s location is based on whether you are sheltering from a hurricane, earthquake, tornado, flood, or blizzard. If there’s a wildfire, it’s best to take your dog and leave the premises immediately. Bring a battery-operated radio to ensure that you can get updates from emergency officials even if the power goes out, or your phone and Internet connections are down. If time allows, move your dog’s favorite bed or blanket to your safe room, so that you can make him comfortable until the threat passes. Since dogs can get restless if cooped up inside, bring items to keep him engaged, such as toys, games, and learning activities.

Make sure your dog has a place to relieve himself, if he can't go outside. Keeping puppy pee pads on hand can be useful for this purpose, as can potty training your dog to go indoors. Have cleaning supplies on hand, in case of an accident. Keep your dog away from the windows. Debris may fly around during a major storm due to high winds. In fact, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says that flying debris is the most common cause of injury during a hurricane. Be ready for you and your dog to leave at any moment. Keep his leash and any necessary travel gear near the exit, and make sure you refer to your emergency evacuation plan.

Dogs know when panic is in the air, so try to remain as calm as possible.

No matter what, use good judgment: Stay inside or at home with your dog until you hear or see an official message that the threat is over. If authorities tell you to evacuate, listen to them. Nothing is worth risking harm to yourself or your dog.

PLACES TO EAT WITH YOUR DOG

BARK & SIP

Sally 's Fish House & Bar

Dogs can sit, stay, and play at this Manchester Grand Hyatt restaurant, where they'll nibble on treats like carrot peanut-butter muffins and also receive a complimentary tennis ball.

One Market Place, Marina District

Backyard Kitchen & Tap

Sure, they make their own dog treats in house, but the PB eatery also hosts quarterly dog adoption parties with raffle prizes, drink specials (for humans), and goody bags for Fido.

832 Garnet Avenue, Pacific Beach

Woof 'n Rose Winery

The vintners behind this family- owned Ramona winery pay homage to their beloved shepherd- husky and lab in the dog- themed decor and a few of the vintage names, like the 2013 Happy Tails (a merlot- cabernet sauvignon) and the 2012 Puppy Love (a grenache noir- cabernet sauvignon). And unlike most wineries, Woof ' n Rose allows dogs on property.

17073 Garjan Lane, Ramona

The Brew Project

What's better than beer? Puppies and beer! Brew Project's Puppies and Pints event, held on the last Saturday of every month, includes gift basket raffles with puppy toys and treats, beer raffles, and even "pawdicures."

3683 Fifth Avenue, Hillcrest

Encontro North Park

Their new dog offerings read like a pooch's dream menu, including the Mutt Melt (a beef patty with cheese), hot dogs, peanut butter cheddar biscuits, and Pooch Pops, a frozen blend of shredded ice and chicken. Trust us, they'll love it.

3001 University Avenue, North Park

La Jolla Brewing Company

There's the kids' menu (fish and chips, grilled cheese, etc.), and then there's the fur kids' menu. Dogs can dine on burger patties, grilled chicken, and biscuits.

4536 Fay Avenue, La Jolla

Lazy Dog Restaurant & Bar

The name is a dead giveaway— this place is more than just accommodating to four-legged friends. The menu includes an entire set of dishes for dogs, including brown rice, grilled chicken, and a hamburger patty.
202 Camino del Rio North, Mission Valley

Slater's 50/50

You won't be the only one indulging in carnivorous eats. Slater's dog menu turns out the signature 50/50 patty, as well as chicken or bacon strips.
2750 Dewey Road, Liberty Station; 110 Knoll Road, San Marcos

Anthony's Fish Grotto

Sit on the peaceful lakeside patio, where pooches can choose from a menu that includes a protein-packed mix of salmon, white fish, and rice.
9530 Murray Drive, La Mesa

Crack Shack

With an all-outdoor space, dogs are allowed anywhere at the chicken- and egg - centric eatery, preferably while munching on one of the house - made treats: a blend of rolled oats, carrot, peanut butter, and agave.
2266 Kettner Boulevard, Little Italy

Yappy Hour at Hotel Del

Life is anything but ruff for dogs at The Del. Their long- standing Yappy Hour holds court Sundays on the Sun Deck with "dogtail" cocktails for humans (like a Greyhound), and free Evian water and organic treats for dogs.
1500 Orange Avenue, Coronado
