

EFL to expand to seven teams

HYANNIS, Mass. (UPI) — The Eastern Football League will expand to seven teams for the 1983 season with the addition of a franchise in Cranston, R.I.

The announcement was made yesterday following the EFL's winter meeting. The EFL season is played in late spring and summer.

The other six teams are Brockton, Hyde Park, Middleboro, Taunton and Marlboro — all in Massachusetts — and Albany, N.Y.
