Mike Wright Named EFL Comeback Player of the Year

The Randolph Oilers are proud to announce that starting Oiler fullback Mike Wright has been named EFL Comeback Player of the Year.

Mike returned to the Oilers this season after a several year hiatus while he was proudly serving in the US Marine Corps. Mike's contributions included multiple tours of duty in both Afghanistan and Iraq.

On the football field Mike (#5) helped the Oilers set a physical tone with his hard-nosed play and extreme competitiveness, whether it be with his bone-jarring lead blocks, his physical running (including several touchdown runs), or his inspired play on special teams. In addition to being one of the toughest players in the EFL, Mike is a dedicated and unselfish teammate, filling in wherever he was needed most- whether it be at fullback or on the defensive line, as well as on most of the special teams units.

Mike seen here with another one of his crushing blocks. This block directly led to a Brooks Payne td score.

The Oilers family and the entire EFL would like to extend our appreciation and thanks to Mike for his dedication, sacrifices, and contributions to helping keep the United States safe. Mike is truly a hero and extremely deserving of this award.
