This class will teach the students the basic fundamentals of how to survive in a wilderness and jungle situation.

The students will learn the mentality to survive, shelter building, fire craft, water procurement, signaling, and land navigation.

Most folks are found within the first 3 days of being lost, so being able to survive is of the utmost importance.

Students will learn how to build on these skills to survive for longer periods.

This class involves some classroom and mostly field work and overnight sessions.
