HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 9, 1898.

BRIEN HEATER CO., Hoosick Falls, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—When you installed the Brien Heater in my house, 34 Wilder Avenue, last January, you asked me to report on its merits, and to make any suggestion that might come from my observation of your Heater when in operation. In response to your request, Gentlemen, it affords me pleasure to testify to the fact that in my judgment the Brien Heater, considered from the standpoints of sanitary perfection, economy in fuel and simplicity and ease of management, is without exception the best I have ever examined.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF HOOSICK.

"Hoosac" is an Indian name, and when translated means "Owl Valley," or Valley of the Owl, "Hoo" being the Indian name for owl, and "sac" for valley. The United States Government has, however, established the spelling of "Hoosick" for its post-offices in this township.

Hoosick, the northeastern town of the county, is bounded north by Cambridge and White Creek, in Washington county, east by Bennington, in Vermont, south by Petersburgh and Grafton, and west by Pittstown. The boundary lines are straight, or nearly so, following, however, somewhat the course of the Hoosick river. The town is considerably wider at the north than at the south. The farm acreage of the town is about 40,000 acres. The present population of the township is about 11,500.

The scenery is of a varied character, combining many elements of beauty. The highest peaks are those of Fonda Hill, in the southwest. These are said to be 900 feet above tide water. The valleys are bordered in many places by steep hillsides.

The town is divided into two nearly equal parts by the Hoosick river. This is an old historic stream, whose valley was the war path along which the French and Indians made their stealthy marches upon the villages of New England.

In the southeast part of the town are mineral springs, and deposits of slate exist in various parts of the town.

The settlement of the Hoosick valley was delayed by the long and often sanguinary struggles of the French and English for supremacy and dominion in the valley of the St. Lawrence and the adjacent provinces.

R. S. DILLON & CO'S

This stormy period extended from 1688 to 1760. Hoosick, from its location, being in the direct route from Canada to the towns and villages on the Deerfield and Connecticut, was the most exposed to attacks of these merciless foes.

The one great event of the revolutionary era in this immediate section was the battle of Bennington. This was fought in the town of Hoosick, and, as Judge Ball and others have suggested, it might well have been called "the battle of Walloomsac," as it was fought in the valley of that stream, or upon the adjacent hills, and near the village of Walloomsac.

EARLY HISTORY OF HOOSICK FALLS.

On April 14, 1827, the village of Hoosick Falls was incorporated, Seth Parsons being elected president of the board of trustees. It is said that at the time of its incorporation the population of the village was 200, the number of buildings 36, the electors 50, and the valuation of the property $96,370.

The first known lease of land of the Hoosick patent, at Hoosick Falls, was made of 220 acres by Jonathan Fuller from Augustus Van Horne of New York. The survey of this tract began at a marked birch tree standing below the falls of Quequick. This farm was next conveyed to Henry Northrup, of North Kingston, R. L., who shortly after removed to it, where he lived until his death in 1797. The other part of the village west of Main street and east of the Hoosick river, was a part of the farm of 250 acres belonging to Henry Barnhart. The first store in Hoosick Falls, it is said, was one opened in 1785 by Isaac Turner. In 1784 Joseph Dorr came to Hoosick Falls, and, leasing of Barnabus Bratt 280 acres of land, together with all the water power on the north side of the river, began the erection of a carding and fulling mill. Subsequently a flax mill, a distillery and a saw mill were also erected there. Benjamin Colvin, about the year 1786, built a grist mill on the south side of the river. His successors were John Chase and Theophilus Comstock. In 1791 the first bridge was constructed over the river at Hoosick Falls. In 1822 the first post-office was established in the place, Seth Parsons being made post-master.

In 1823 Joseph Gordon, a Scotchman, built what was known as the Caledonian cotton factory, on the south bank of the Hoosick river between the bridge and the grist mill. About 150 persons were employed in the factory. In 1827 the factory was purchased by Samuel S. Crocker, John Knickerbocker, John House of Waterford, and Jacob Merritt of Troy. In 1868 this property was sold to the Walter A. Wood Mowing and Reaping Machine Company.

In 1831 George W. and Lyman Benedict erected the Tremont cotton factory on the north side of the river.

About 25,000 yards of cloth were manufactured weekly, the number of employes being about 70. In 1855 the property was sold to Walter A. Wood, and was the starting point for the present extensive harvesting works bearing his name.

HOOSICK FALLS AND ITS FUTURE PROSPECTS.

This village, known throughout the country for its thriving manufacturing enterprises, is situated upon the Hoosick river, which supplies valuable water power. The river runs in a serpentine manner through the village, and has a picturesque appearance from the hills. It is also on the line of the Fitchburg railroad, which connects with the entire railroad system of the United States.

It is a lively and bustling village of nearly 8000 people, and is fast being equipped with all the modern conveniences of city life.

The chief industry of the village is the world-renowned Walter A. Wood Mowing and Reaping Machine Co., which has facilities for employing between two and three thousand men, a full description of which will be found on the following pages. As the products of these works are increasing from year to year, and as new industries are being introduced into the village through the intelligence and energy of the Board of Trade, the outlook for Hoosick Falls is certainly bright and encouraging.

THE WALTER A. WOOD MOWING AND REAPING MACHINE CO.

The history of these extensive works began when Walter A. Wood, a young man of vigorous mind and active body, came to Hoosick Falls, and engaged himself as a journeyman machinist to work for Parsons & Wilder. In 1852, having carefully inspected the working of the combined mowing and reaping machine patented by John H. Manny of Illinois, Walter A. Wood was induced to purchase a territorial right, and to begin the manufacture of the machines at Hoosick Falls. Besides occupying the old foundry building, he in 1855 purchased the old Tremont cotton factory. In 1858, Ball & Parsons, who had also been engaged since 1852 in manufacturing the same machines, quitted the business, leaving Walter A. Wood the only one to carry on this branch of manufacturing in Hoosick Falls. In 1859, finding that he needed more conveniences for his increasing business, Mr. Wood rented the mill formerly occupied by Ball & Parsons. In November, 1860, a disastrous fire swept away in flames all the buildings. The same year the work of rebuilding began and the new buildings erected on the site of the old ones were the next year noisy with the hum of machinery, and another period of manufacture began. "The Wood Mower," constructed by the mechanical ingenuity of Mr. Wood in 1859, was sent out among the farmers and achieved a notable success. In 1861, "the self-raking reaper," patented by Mr. Wood, which was further perfected in 1863, added to his greater celebrity as a maker of excellent harvesters. It was at that period a wonder of the times.

In 1870 a second fire swept away all the buildings. The Caledonian mill having been bought in 1869, became the workshop where most all the machines were constructed during the year 1870. From the date of this calamity new buildings have from year to year been erected, which now form this extensive manufacturing establishment.

The present stock company, known as The Walter A. Wood Mowing and Reaping Machine Company, was formed in 1865. From this time until 1879, various useful attachments and additions were made to the machines invented by Mr. Wood.

A Constellation of Medals.

In 1876, at the centennial exhibition, he obtained the highest awards for his harvesters. Austria conferred upon him the knight's cross of the imperial order of Francis Joseph, and France in 1869 decorated him with the cross of the chevalier of the legion of honor, and in 1878 added two gold medals and the cross of officer of the legion of honor—the highest award of honor.

The United States National Agricultural Society gave him its highest prize as early as 1857. He secured the gold medal at the London World's Fair of 1862; at the Paris World's Fair of 1867; at the Vienna World's Fair of 1873; at the Bremen, Germany, World's Fair of 1874; at the Melbourne, Australia, World's Fair of 1880; at the Amsterdam, Holland, World's Fair of 1884, and at the London Inventions Exhibition of 1885. He has also received first prize at a very great number of important field trials and expositions, held under high official auspices, in the United States, Australia, New Zealand and different European countries. In France, where the management of such matters is very strict, he has secured all the first prizes given at government field trials for several years past, with no interruption. The total number of gold medals and other important first prizes taken by him in competition with all the various makes of reapers, mowers and binders in the world, now exceeds 1,200—a truly marvelous record, and one which, of course, has never been approached by others.

Walter A. Wood is the man to whom belongs the credit of giving the world the first machine to bind the grain in sheaves while reaping it. The introduction of the grain binder by him was achieved after great and protracted efforts to render the first attempts the grand success so early reached. It made an era. It caused a revolution in grain raising in America; and the changed methods thus brought about are now steadily forcing their way into adoption in many other countries, as it saves not only labor, but vast amounts of grain formerly lost in scatterings, and worse yet, by delays and sudden injurious changes of weather at the harvesting season.

In 1874 the wire self-binding harvester was brought out, and achieved the signal success which has made the machines of this character known in all the grain producing countries of the earth. Oliver Dalrymple, the great grain grower, had employed at one time, in harvesting his immense fields of grain, 106 of these machines, each of which cut and bound, on an average, 15 acres of grain a day.

Writing of the first trial of the Wood automatic twine-binder in England, in October, 1879, on the farm of Simeon Leather, Delamere Lodge, near Northwich, Cheshire, an observant witness says: "I saw it make 500 sheaves without one stoppage, in the most perfect manner possible, at the rate of 27 sheaves per minute."

The rightly merited praises bestowed upon these wonderful and useful machines have not only placed thousands and tens of thousands of them upon the great grain plains of the United States, but have carried them to those of Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, Australia and New Zealand.

In 1880 the wire binder was abandoned, and a machine substituted for the wire binder in which twine is used for the binding material. As Mr. Wood was the first manufacturer to put the first practical wire self-binder into the hands of the farmer in 1875, so it will be seen in 1880 he was the first manufacturer to put a practical twine self-binder upon the market. Since 1880 up to the present time the twine-binder has been built exclusively, having been from time to time improved, as suggested by experiments in the harvest field from season to season.

Walter A. Wood was the first to build a practical Open Rear Harvester, bringing out in 1888 the Single Apron Harvester, of which the Open Rear, providing an unobstructed passage for the tallest grain, was the distinctive feature. This machine completely revolutionized the harvester construction of the world, which up to that time was uniformly an adaptation of the "Marsh Harvester" type of construction. The wisdom of Mr. Wood in adopting this form of harvester construction, is proven by the fact that within the next three years the leading harvester manufacturers of the world were producing machines of the Open Rear type. In 1894 the Wood Company brought out a new Open Rear Harvester and Binder, in which the Open Rear construction of the Single Apron machine was combined with the best features of the Three Apron or Standard Harvester. In 1897 this machine was still further improved by the introduction of Roller Bearings, and its performance in the various grain fields of the world has won it the reputation of being the best harvester ever produced by this Company.

For the coming season the Wood Company will build their new Open Rear Harvester and Binder, which has been improved each season as the experience in the harvest field suggests. It is acknowledged to be by far the most practical and best adapted to the needs of the farmer of any harvester and binder yet built, possessing all the advantages of strength and durability combined with a lightness of draft, which is the best evidence of the skill and care exercised in its construction.

The Walter A. Wood Mower, from its inception down to the present time has always been the best in the world. In the progress in the art of mower building, the Wood Mower has always taken the lead, and it stands to-day the standard of mower values the world over.

To decrease the draft of what was then the lightest draft mower in the world, the Wood Company, in the fall of 1897, changed the construction of its mowers so as to introduce Roller and Ball Bearings in their construction, at the same time greatly increasing the strength and durability of these machines. The result has been eminently satisfactory, and has called forth the most flattering commendations wherever the mowers are used. Not only in America, but in foreign lands, it is the mowing machine of first choice by the farmers, and particularly those with difficult cutting to do.

Beginning with the season of 1897, a more careful and thorough system of inspection was inaugurated, which covers not only every detail of the manufacture of every part of the various machines produced by the Company, but also extends to the various materials of variable character, which are used in their construction, based upon the most advanced scientific methods. In fact, no effort is spared to make the present product of this great plant the best machines that ever bore the name of WALTER A. WOOD.

THE HON. WALTER A. WOOD.

A sketch of The Walter A. Wood Mowing and Reaping Machine Company would be incomplete without a passing tribute to the Hon. Walter A. Wood, whose good judgment and executive ability have been felt in every pulsation of this vast and growing enterprise, and who had reared it from its infancy to its present stalwart position among the foremost industries of the world.

Walter Abbott Wood was born in Mason, Hillsboro Co., N. H., October 23, 1815. His father, Aaron Wood, and his mother, whose maiden name was Rebecca Wright, were natives of Massachusetts, and both of English descent. Aaron Wood, who was a manufacturer of wagons and plows, had lived in Mason from a very early period in his life, but the year following the birth of his son Walter, he removed to New York state, and settled in the neighborhood of Albany, in which locality Walter grew to manhood, receiving his education in the district schools of Albany county, and serving his apprenticeship to the trade of wagon and plow making in his father's shop. At twenty, having mastered his trade, he went to Hoosick Falls and secured employment as a journeyman machinist, but soon afterwards engaged in business on his own account in a small way. For about seventeen years, till 1852, he carried on the manufacture of plows and castings for machinery. The subsequent career of Mr. Wood is so interwoven with the present gigantic enterprise bearing his name, that we are compelled to refer the reader to the historical sketch of the works in the preceding pages of this book. In his manner he was quiet and unobtrusive, easily approached, but very firm in declaring for the right and condemning the wrong. His benefactions were so numerous and varied and have likewise been so quietly bestowed, that the world can never know their extent and character. His entire career was well rounded and consistent, and exemplified to a striking degree the possibilities of an American citizen, of which he was one of the highest types.

It was, however, not alone through his inventive genius and business energy that Walter A. Wood made himself a power for good among men. In all the relations of life he lived up to the highest standard of duty. As an employer, he was interested in and a sympathetic co-worker with his employes, from the humblest to the most important, for their prosperity and advancement no less than his own advantage and profit; as a citizen, he was public-spirited and deeply interested in the welfare of Hoosick Falls, as well as of the country at large, giving freely of his time and labor in the public service. He was for a number of terms president of the village of Hoosick Falls, which had grown in population and importance as his industry had developed, and was also several times president of the board of education, ever laboring zealously for the maintenance of adequate educational facilities. He was actively instrumental in the organization of the First National Bank of Hoosick Falls, of which he was always a director, and aided in the organization and maintenance of various other business corporations and enterprises. For two terms—covering the 46th and 47th Congresses—he represented the Troy district in the national House of Representatives, as a Republican, with which political party he was associated. In his religious relations he was an Episcopalian, being the senior warden of and a most liberal contributor for the support of St. Mark's Church at Hoosick Falls, from which church the obsequies were held, on Tuesday, January 20, 1892, the Right Rev. William C. Doane, Bishop of the Diocese of Albany, officiating.

In a written tribute to Mr. Wood, published in the Albany Evening Journal shortly after his decease, Bishop Doane says:—

“Mr. Wood's life, as the world knows it, has been full of energy and enterprise. The labor of constant devotion to business was brightened to him not with the mere motive of money making, which nevertheless it attained, but with the perpetual interest of an inventiveness that was never restless or unpractical, and with an ambition for improvement which made each success attained the step towards something better. In the accumulation of his fortune, men were not only bettered by his generous use of money, but the men who had helped him make it were advancing their own prosperity as well. The honors that were showered upon him in medals and decorations, the constant material improvement in the houses and families of his workmen and the increased opportunities for doing good were the real satisfactions of his success. No labor troubles ever distracted the kindly relations, which were close and personal between workmen and employer, in the great works of which he was head and heart and often laboring hand.

"An intense American, he was to me the type of the only nobility that we know in America, which wins and wears the crown of labor; and the grace of his presence, his courtly carriage, his courtesy and dignity, made him the peer of princes everywhere; while the good heart that was in him, held him so erect and strong in courage and character, that at threescore years and sixteen he bore no trace or token of old age."

Our limited space forbids us from adding further eulogies by the press throughout the country, which of themselves would fill a volume.

Mr. Wood has closed an honored life by an honored death, and was the more to be esteemed because, "having succeeded himself, he possessed the rare characteristic of desiring that all connected with him should succeed also." We cannot do better than close this biography with some of the latest words which Mr. Wood himself ever penned:—"Success in life does not mean merely the accumulation of great riches, but rather the use we make of such as we have."

Hoosick Falls is supplied with pure water by the Hoosick Falls Water Supply company. The source from which it is derived is two wells, twenty-five feet in diameter, located on the flats above the falls. Water is pumped into the main pipes direct, and also into a storage reservoir located on one of the eminences of the village. The company has eight miles of street mains, and it supplies the village with ninety fire hydrants. The average pressure is eighty pounds to the square inch. The force is sufficient to throw streams from the hydrants over the highest buildings. E. R. Estabrook is the superintendent.

They believe it is only necessary that the world should know of the natural and special advantages offered by this village, for the world to take advantage of the same, and they give evidence of that interest in and persistence towards the accomplishment of their purpose which rarely fails in its object. A NOTABLE BUSINESS ENTERPRISE.

Among the largest and most successful business houses worthy of mention is that of Easton, Rising & Worden, lumber, coal, hardware and agricultural implements. In the year 1875 Mr. C. W. Easton located in the village and opened a general insurance and coal business, which he soon established as a successful undertaking. In 1880 Mr. Easton formed a partnership with Mr. G. F. Rising, when the foundation of the present large and lucrative business was laid. In 1883 Mr. L. E. Worden, a builder of reputation, was admitted. Mr. Worden has since then represented the town two terms in the board of supervisors, and represented this district in the Assembly two terms.

The business, from its inception to the present time, has been a success, and can be attributed, in a great measure, to the faithfulness of the members of the firm, all being young men of good business abilities, and each with particular qualifications for the different departments. In addition to their business of merchants and fire insurance, they have contracted for and built many of the finest residences and most of the public buildings in the place, and stand unrivalled by any concern in the same line outside of the larger cities in eastern New York.

In 1860 a frame church edifice was erected on Main street, in which services were first held on Christmas day of that year, at which time it was dedicated, Rev. J. E. King, D. 300 persons. It was further enlarged in 1877. A fine toned bell, weighing 1866 pounds and costing $642, was placed in the belfry of this church in the summer of 1874. In 1887, during the pastorate of Rev. C. W. Rowley, Ph. D., it was determined to build a new church, the old one having been outgrown. The Russell homestead was purchased, the old house converted into a parsonage, and the corner-stone of a new church laid October 20, 1887. This edifice was completed in about a year, at a cost, including furnishing, of about $30,000; the value of the entire property—lot, parsonage and church—being about $40,000. This building was dedicated October 31, 1888. The society is a strong and flourishing organization, having a present membership of about 400 persons.

The pastors of the church have been the following:—Rev. Reuben Washburn, 1858; Rev. Joseph Eames, 1859; Rev. Jesse Brown, 1860; Rev. A. Viele, 1861-2; Rev. B. B. Loomis, 1863-6; Rev. William H. The Church of the Immaculate Conception.

The first masses were celebrated here in 1834, by Rev. J. Shanahan, in the old school on Elm street, and in the Baptist church (then used as a union church). Rev. J. B. Dailey attended this place in 1836-7, and subsequently Rev. Fathers Haverman, Farley, Finnely and Quigley officiated, until 1849, and in that year Rev. Hugh Quigley built a church on Church street, which was afterward enlarged by Rev. John McDermott, who officiated until 1862.

In 1862 the Augustinian Fathers took charge of the parish. Rev. J. A. Darragh, O. S. A., was appointed first pastor, and remained in charge until 1865, succeeded by Rev. E. A. Dailey, O. S. A., who remained in charge until 1874.

The church proving too small for the increasing congregation, the corner-stone of a new church on Main street was laid August 15, 1869, by Very Rev. E. P. Wadhams, V. G., of Albany. It was dedicated December 10, 1871, by Very Rev. T. Galberry. A bell, weighing 2960 pounds, was placed in the tower of the church August, 1872.

A new organ, built by Johnson & Son, was placed in the church August 15, 1881. The present edifice is a substantial brick structure with stone trimmings, and cost $58,000. Its seating capacity is 1050.

A magnificent parochial school is supported by the parish.

This building cost $1800 and had seats for about 300 persons. In 1854 the old building was removed, and the present church edifice was erected at a cost of about $7000, and having a seating capacity for about 500 persons. It was dedicated in the
