

THREADS OF TRUTH WOVEN INTO THE FABRIC OF LIFE

A series of ideas meant to deepen your inner journey

INTRODUCTION

Wisdom Weavings presents perspectives and ideas designed to get the reader to think more deeply about what really matters in life. We know that real happiness is never attained through attachment to things. Yet, in our materialistic Western culture, the emphasis placed on wealth and power obscures the true purpose of why we are here. We at WisdomGuides believe that each of us is born with a purpose and until we discover that purpose we will never be truly happy.

The inner journey is the path of discovery, the quest for our “true self”—who we really are at the core of our being. If you approach Wisdom Weavings with an open heart and an open mind, you just might come into contact with that part of you that has remained hidden for so long. You just might find the trail that you were meant to follow from the very beginning. And along the way, if you are lucky, you will be confronted by the stark realization that your life never was about YOU. You will find the meaning of your life and realize your joy in serving others.

We hope that Wisdom Weavings will get you thinking in a different way about your life and relationships. Not every idea we present will resonate with those who read it, but we know from experience that there is something here for every earnest seeker. Have a look at what follows and see if you don't come across something that has meaning for you!

Good Journeying!
