Congratulations!

You're a Mommy & Daddy or Mom & Dad to be:

I'm sure you have all kinds of questions such as, when do I take my baby to the doctor & when does he/she need shots? Here it is broken down....

When you leave the hospital with baby, call the office to schedule an appointment for the baby within one week of age, or as specified by the doctor.

- Newborn Visit (1st time visit), they receive a Hepatitis B shot
- 1 Month Visit 2nd Hepatitis B shot

For these next 3 visits, we recommend that you give baby a dose of Tylenol 30 minutes prior to appointment:

- 2 Month Visit DTap, IPV, Hib and Prevnar
- 4 Month Visit DTap, IPV, Hib and Prevnar
- 6 Month Visit DTap, IPV, Hib and Prevnar
- 9 Month Visit 3rd Hepatitis B shot, finger stick to test for anemia/lead

For these next 2 visits, we recommend that you give baby a dose of Tylenol 30 minutes prior to appointment:

- 12 Month Visit MMR, VVX
  - 15 Month Visit Hib, DTap, Prevnar
  - 18 Month Visit Hepatitis A
  - 2 Year Visit 2nd Hepatitis A
- ❖ After your child's 2 year physical he/she is ready for only yearly physical check ups. They will receive a complete physical exam, urine check & hemoglobin check (test for anemia).
