

Battle of Borodino

7 September 1812

There are very few individuals with an interest in this period who have yet to hear of the great battle between Napoleon and General Prince Mikhail Kutusov along the banks of the River Moscowa. Suffice it to say that like so many other engagements, this contest did not end as the decisive victory both commanders sought. On 7 September 1812, some 124,000 French supported by 587 guns slugged it out with the Holy Warriors of Russia, fielding 120,800 men and 640 guns. When it was all over the French would count over 28,000 men as casualties, the Russians over 52,000. Napoleon had driven his foe from the field, but the Russians left with their army beaten senseless yet intact, and this assured that Czar Alexandr would reject any offers of peace by the French. In short, the battle was an indecisive tactical victory for the French, with the strategic edge claimed by the Russians. It could have been different.

Scale. Each stand represents 360 infantry, 180 horse or 6 to 12 (Russian) cannon. Ground scale is 120 yards per inch, while each turn is 30 minutes real time.

Players. Assign one player to each French, French Allied or Russian corps, with some players also doubling as their various army commanders.

Terrain and Weather. The gaming table is 8 feet wide and 6 feet deep, laid out as given. Weather is cool and clear all day. All streams are fordable, as is the River Kolocha south of Borodino, and afford a defender a +1 melee DRM if attacked entirely across stream. The Kolocha is fordable north of Borodino at double the normal penalty. The River Moscowa is NOT fordable except at the village of Maslova. Forests, villages and slopes are rough terrain for movement. Slopes afford the defender a +1 melee DRM if attacked entirely uphill. Forests and villages convey a -1/+1 DRM advantage to the defender for fire and melee respectively. For Bagration's fleches and Raevski's Great Redoubt, the DRM is -2/+2 and -3/+3. Cavalry is automatically Disordered attacking into forests, field fortifications or villages, or across any portion of the Kolocha. Road movement may be used on all roads.

Playing Time. The game begins at 6:00 am and ends with the 4:30 pm turn, a total of 22 turns.

Deployment. Units set up per following map in Line, Supported Line or Masse. Leaders deploy within 12 inches of any unit they command. Given their large number, gun stands are not shown on the map but may be deployed limbered or unlimbered within 12 inches of a leader in their chain of command.

Leaders. Leaders who are Charismatic are marked with the (C) symbol on their label. Poniatowski is Charismatic only for Polish units to include the Vistula Legion, Platov only for Cossacks.

Infantry. All infantry is Columnar except for those assigned to the French Imperial Guard and Davout's Corps which is designated Impulse. Note two of Davout's infantry divisions (Morand and Gerard) have been attached to Prince Eugene. Skirmish capable infantry are annotated with the "Sk" abbreviation.

Cavalry. Cavalry may neither mount nor dismount in this scenario, though the Russians do have a single brigade of permanently dismounted dragoons.

Artillery. All batteries have two functions. Each side may form not more than two Grand Batteries per game, and these must be commanded by an artillery general or the army commander. The French may deploy one of the two massed batteries prior to game start no closer than 7 ½ inches from the enemy and consisting of not more than 25 gun stands Reinforcements. There are none in this game.

Special Rules. The Facing to the Flank and Urban Combat rules are in effect from the Age of Eagles (AOE) Supplement. Each building model will support four infantry or artillery stands.

Optional Rule – Napoleon's Lethargy. When rolling to activate or continue the progress of any unit of the French Imperial Guard Corps under Reserve Movement, apply a -3 DRM. This penalty permanently disappears the first time a Russian unit moves close enough to activate any Guard unit Tactically.

Victory Conditions. Determine victory using the Casualty Point Chart (Figure 6) on page 17 of AOE. If Napoleon is killed, the French automatically lose and all French players are banned from wargaming for life.

Sources. There are many, most of which disagree as regards who was at the battle and how many of them were present. The George Nafziger OB was the principal source used to develop this scenario.

BASING: All infantry as AOE 3-Rank, 4 figures in two ranks on stand ¾ inch wide by 1 inch deep; all cavalry has 2 figures on a stand one inch square; all artillery on a stand 3/16 wide per historical gun in the battery (a French foot battery had 8 guns so would be 3/16 x 8 or 1 ½ inches wide), by one inch deep with one gun model and two gunners if light, three if heavy artillery. All command stands should be spacious enough, but not less than one inch square with one mounted officer/staff for a division command, two for a corps, three for a wing and four for Army Command.

ABBREVIATIONS: Sk – Skirmish capable, Hvy or H-Heavy, A-Armored Heavy, Lt-Light, LL-Light Lancer, LI-Light Irregular, I – Irregular, C-Conscrip, R-Regular, E-Elite, (C)-Charismatic, X-Brigade or oversized Regiment, XX-Division, XXX-Corps, XXXX-Army, Bde – Brigade, Cuir – Cuirassier, Legere – French Light Infantry, Ligne – French Line Infantry, OG – Old Guard. Numbers represent Fresh/Worn/Spent status.

LABELS: Use Avery® White Full-Sheet Shipping Labels for Laser Printers 5265, 8-1/2" x 11", Pack of 25. Print with color laser, cut out labels for use, peel off back and stick on bottom of stands.

MAP: Yes it's crowded; for more maneuver room define each map edge section as 15 inches, vice 12.
