Bellabee, FDA DISCLAIMER

Product classification No.3/2021

(Compliance with the FDA regulations and SAR values).

Bellabee is a wearable headband that emits pre-programmed, electromagnetic pulsed signals under ICNIRP guidelines, using FDA and FCC-approved Android or iOS mobile phones.

Bellabee©:

- Its job is to alleviate the symptoms that occur with them. Insomnia, lack of concentration, or, conversely, increased hyperactivity
- helps to restore normal balance of brain oscillations. Because these occur in different forms and initial states, we have prepared these programs for several mental illnesses separately.

Naming Bellabee in the same sentence with any disease does not mean, and should not be understood, that Bellabee, with the program in question, cures and eliminates the disease; it only helps to alleviate the associated symptoms that are different in each disease.

- Bellabee gently coaxes the natural frequencies of your brain and body to speed up, slow down or integrate overall brain functions, change the heart rate, blood pressure and respiratory rates to match your desired mood, enabling you to sleep, focus, relax, or hack into peak flow states.

The content on the internet site has not been evaluated by the FDA. Bellabee© is intended for beneficial effects as set forth in the device and application directions and instruction literature.

Bellabee© is designed to complement other therapies and users should consult with their providers to ensure that the use of Bellabee© is not contraindicated.

Bellabee© does not claim to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any medical condition. Always consult your medical doctor regarding any health concerns. Do not reduce or stop taking medications without talking first with your prescribing physician. The use of a PEMF device is contraindicated for people with epilepsy, bleeding, implanted pacemakers, or women who are or might be pregnant.

IMPORTANT!

Always consult your medical doctor regarding any health concerns.

Do not reduce or stop taking medications without talking first with your prescribing physician.

To conclude, Bellabee is not a medical device.
