Eleven members of our department, plus our Zoom host, spent a lovely morning reading the script of Our Town which won the Pulitzer Prize for Drama. We laughed and cried and enjoyed creating really bad sound effects.

It's author, Thornton Wilder has many ties to New Jersey. Wilder taught French at The Lawrenceville School. He wrote a one act play, The Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden. And he earned his Master of Arts degree in French literature from Princeton University in 1926.

After our reading, we were able to see Our Town at the Kelsey Theater on Sunday 1/30 with dinner at Capuanos afterwards!
