I called him this morning and left him a voicemail. When I tried to communicate with him in writing, he usually doesn't respond. I'm going to tell him that on March 2 when I spoke to him last, that he promised me he would have this done within a month. Today is now April 11 and I haven't heard anything from him. I will tell him that I am getting feedback from my client that makes me feel like I am ineffective as a lawyer solely because of the fact that he cannot follow through on the promises that he gives me. It's a pretty serious charge to come from one lawyer to another but I will convey it because I have had my fill of the situation as well. I will counsel you guys, again, to take a deep breath, control only that which you can control, and continue on. As I have expressed in the past, if every allegation against the school was true and proven, it is not good cause to close the school.

Good morning! Please get Jon Fishbane to put responses in writing to the following questions:

1. Start date and anticipated end date of investigation against MCA
2. What is the scope of the investigation?
3. What can MCA do to cooperate with and expedite the investigation?
