DEDICATION OF NEW MEMORIAL MUNICIPAL BUILDING IS WITNESSED BY THOUSANDS—FATHER O'CONNOR AND REV. MITCHELL GIVE PRAYERS.

MAYOR MULVIHILL'S TALK INSPIRING

Recorder Harold E. Pickersgill, of Perth Amboy, Gives Fine Patriotic Talk That Wins Rounds of Applause—Recorder Jacoby Talks for Legionaires—Day Is Huge Success.

The services at the Memorial Municipal Building were opened by Commander Clarence H. Slugg. Rev. C. B. Mitchell, of the First Presbyterian church, gave a prayer and Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill made the presentation address. Recorder Nathaniel Jacoby spoke for the legionaires. The acceptance address was made by Francis Coughlin. A splendid talk by Recorder Harold E. Pickersgill followed.

The dedication of colors was made by the Spanish American war veterans. Mrs. Ludlow, state president of the legion auxiliary, gave a brilliant address.

The cornerstone for the new building was laid on Saturday afternoon, August 9, 1924, with a most impressive ceremony. Judge Pickersgill, Mayor Mulvihill, Architect Jensen and Councilman Andes were the speakers of the afternoon. Despite the heat which reigned on that day many men and women attended the affair.

The tablets are found in the corridors of the memorial building. One contains the following contractors: Jorgen T. Jorgenson, general contractor; Burns Lane & Richardson, heating contractor; Charles A. Conrad, plumbing contractor; Victor Electric Company, electrical contractors. Subcontractors: Smith & Ostergaard, carpentry; H. W. Schrimpf, Iron Works, steel; R. Nad-el, painting; N. J. Terra Costa Company, terra cotta; Fords Arts Stone, Inc., art stone; Christ Andersen, roofing; Boynton Lumber Company, mill work; A. J. Miller, lumber; A. Rabinowitz, hardware; J. K. Jensen, architect.

Another tablet bears the following names: Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill; Councilmen Frank Andes, Samuel B. Brown, Hercules Ellis, J. Lyman, Charrels A. Phillips, Walter Vonah, Joseph C. Child, Edward S. Wilgus, Clerk H. V. Platt, Attorney Emil Stremiau, Engineer Oliver Mitchell, Collector Charles A. Brady, Street Commissioner William H. Walling, Building Inspector John H. Nevill, Thomas L. Slugg, recorder; Henry Harrington, chief of police and William D. Casey, assessor.

Since the building started the general contractor, Mr. Jorgenson died. So did the late Thomas L. Slugg, whose place is being filled by Nathaniel A. Jacoby.

Recorder Jacoby At His Duties Monday

Nathaniel A. Jacoby, local attorney, started his duties as recorder of the borough on Monday night in the new court room. Many friends came to congratulate him. A group of women attended the session. The judge was presented with large bouquets of flowers. The first was sent by his father and mother, another by David Lasler and another from a group of friends which included Louis Ruderman, Leo Brown, Maurice W. Cohen, Samuel Mausner, Morris Ullman, L. Brown, Louis Lebowitz, Solomon Sokler, Joseph W. Mittuch, Elmer E. Brown, Oscar A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kloss, David S. Jacobowitz and Louis Schwartz.

Firemen To Hold Movie Show Tuesday

The Carteret Fire Company No. 2 will present "The Pampered Youth," a wonderful motion picture at the Crescent and Maestic theatres on Tuesday afternoon and night of June 9. Callen Landis is the star of the picture. General indications point to big attendances.

Thomas J. Mulvihill

Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill, presiding officer of the town, under whose administration the long felt need of a Borough Hall was finally realized.

The mayor long anticipated the day when Carteret would have a meeting place for the Council; a building which practically all the municipal business of the town can be conducted under one roof.

On last Saturday, May 30, Mayor Mulvihill saw his dream come true as the new Memorial Hall was dedicated.

The new building is an architectural structure equal to any in the state where the community is no larger; a beauty spot in which local residents should take real pride if they but realize that it stands in lasting memory of home town boys who made the supreme sacrifice in days gone by.

Commander Slugg Energetic Worker for Legion Boys

Commander Clarence H. Slugg

Commander Clarence H. Slugg of the local post of legionaires, deserves considerable commendation for his efforts in making Memorial Day, the success it was. The commander and his able committee devoted much time prior to the event. His co-operation with the council helped to put over the celebration in a way that Carteret wished to see it.

A word of praise is also due Miss Jane Cook, head of the auxiliary who ably assisted the legionaires.

Members of the borough council met on Monday night in the council chambers of the new memorial municipal building with a large attendance present, many of them being prominent women of the borough. Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill presided. The entire council was in attendance. Borough Clerk H. V. Platt was also back at his duties.

Hansen & Jensen was the lowest bidders on the Catherine street and Harris street sewer projects.

The figures were: Catherine street, Mathew A. Hermann Construction Company, $1,017; Peter Peterson, $1,104.65; Hansen & Jensen, $806.60. Harris street, Mathew A. Hermann Construction Company, $1,390; Hansen & Jensen, $1,068; Peter Peterson, $1,117.50.

Mayor Mulvihill congratulated Architect J. K. Jensen for the splendid work in looking after the construction of the memorial building.

The Perth Amboy Gas Light Company in a letter to the council asked that the citizens desiring gas main extension on Edgar street, should send a signed petition, so that the company may learn whether it would pay to lay gas pipes in that section.

Residents of Fitch street presented two petitions asking the council to open Fitch street as far as Lafayette street and acquire the necessary land. Engineer Mitchell was directed to find out just what the borough would require for the opening.

Building Inspector John H. Nevill collected $101 during May for building permits. Chief of Police Harrington in his letter thanked Borough Attorney Emil Stremiau for the co-operation while he was acting recorder.

Councilman Phillips presented a copy of the audit. He brought up again the need of an assistant for Collector Brady, who is now swamped with work. The entire council agreed that the need is evident and it is expected that an assistant will be (Continued on page 4)

America and American principles. Much credit for the success of the day's events is due to Councilman Frank Andes, chairman of arrangements for the council and Commander Clarence H. Slugg, chairman of arrangements for the American Legion.

Thousands gathered at different points, particularly along Roosevelt avenue, and lined the sidewalks to watch the parade, which formed at Brady's field and proceeded down to Roosevelt avenue to Lafayette street, counter marched back to Pershing avenue, to Cooke avenue, to Washington avenue, to Roosevelt avenue, to Hudson street, to Union street, to Salem avenue, to Roosevelt avenue, to Central avenue, to Pershing avenue and to Memorial Municipal Building.

As soon as the marchers halted at the Cooke and Pershing avenue point, there was a bugle call of assembly and Rev. Father John R. O'Connor made the opening prayer. It was followed by a roll call, thirty seconds of silence, taps, salute of a firing squad.

The dedication ceremonies of the memorial hall then began.

At 8:30 A. M. appropriate naval memorial services were held by the American Legion at the ferry slip.

Horse races were the big features of the afternoon and were attended by thousands of people. Daniel Kasha, of this borough, with his "Freckles," captured the first prize of $125. Four other prizes were also awarded.

The biggest crowd of the day came in the evening. Some watched the shooting of the fireworks and others danced. It was a beautiful spectacle and the day ended in a most glorious way, much to the satisfaction of all.

How Five Masked Bandits Forced Cashier to Reveal Combination to Vault in the Northampton National Bank and Escaped With Loot Valued at Over a Million Dollars.

(Copyright by W. G. Chapman.)

HE through express on the Rock Island road left Chicago at 10:40 p. m., on March 12, 1888, with twenty-two thousand dollars in fifty and one-hundred-dollar bills in the keeping of Kellogg Nichols, an old-time messenger of the United States Express company. This sum had been sent by a Chicago bank to be delivered at the principal bank in Davenport, Iowa.

In addition to the usual passenger coaches, the train drew two express cars: the first, for express only, just behind the engine, and, following this, one for express and baggage. These cars had end doors, which offer the best opportunity to train robbers. Messenger Nichols was in the first car, and was duly at his work when the train stopped at Joliet, about forty miles southwest of Chicago. But at the next stop, which was made at Morris, Harry Schwartz, a brakeman, came running from Nichols' car, crying, "The messenger is dead."

The messenger's lifeless body was found lying on the floor of the car. The head had been crushed by some heavy weapon, and there was a pistol wound in the right shoulder. Apparently he had been overpowered after a hard fight. His face was set with force determination. His fists were clenched, and the hands and fingers cut and scratched in a curious way, while under the nails were found what proved to be bits of human flesh. The pistol wound was from a weapon of 32 caliber; but it was not the cause of the man's death. This, unmistakably, was the blow or blows, on the head, probably after the shot was fired. All who knew Messenger Nichols were surprised at the desperate resistance he seemed to have made, for he was a small, light man.

The express car was immediately detached from the train, and left at Morris, guarded by all the train crew except Schwartz, who was sent on with the train to Davenport. After the first cursory inspection no one was allowed to enter the car where Nichols lay; and nothing was known precisely as to the extent of the robbery. The safe door had been found open, and the floor of the car littered with the contents of the safe.

An urgent telegram was at once sent to Chicago, and a force of detectives arrived at Morris on a special train a few hours later. Search parties were at once sent out in all directions along the country roads and up and down the tracks. Hundreds of people joined in the search, for the news of the murder spread rapidly through the whole region, and not a square yard of territory for miles between Morris and Minooka station was left unexplored. It happened that the ground was covered with snow, but the keenest scrutiny failed to reveal any significant footprints, and the search parties returned after many hours, having made only a single discovery. This was a mask found in a cattle guard near Minooka—a mask made of black cloth, with white strings fastened at either side, one of which had been torn out of the cloth as if in a struggle.

Meantime Mr. Pinkerton himself entered the car and made a careful investigation. Coming to the safe, Mr. Pinkerton found that the twenty-two thousand dollars were missing, and that other papers had been hastily searched over, but left behind as valueless.

Among these was a bundle of canceled drafts that had been roughly torn open and then thrown aside. All the train hands were immediately questioned, but none of their stories was in any way significant, except that of Newton Watt, the man in charge of the second car. He said that while busy counting over his way-bills and receipts he had been startled by the crash of broken glass in the ventilator overhead, and that at the same moment a heavily built man, wearing a black mask, had entered the car and said, "If you move, the man up there will be gone." Looking up, Watt said further, he saw a hand thrust through the broken glass and holding a revolver. Thus intimidated, he made no attempt to give an alarm, and the masked man presently left him under guard of the pistol overhead, which covered him until shortly before the train reached Morris, when it was withdrawn. He was able to locate the place where the crime must have been committed, as he remembered that the engine was whistling for Minooka when the stranger entered the car. This left about thirty minutes for the murder, robbery, and escape.

Returning to Chicago, Mr. Pinkerton investigated the character of the man Watt, and found that he had a clean record, was regarded as a trustworthy and efficient man, and had three brothers who had been railroad men for years and had always given perfect satisfaction. Watt's good reputation and straightforward manner were strong points in his favor, and yet there was something questionable in his story of the mysterious hand. For one thing, no footprints were found in the snow on the top of the car.

Brakeman Schwartz, the only man on the train who had not yet been questioned, "deadheaded" his way, in railway parlance, back from Davenport the following night on Conductor Danforth's train, and reported to Mr. Pinkerton the next morning. He was a tall, fine-looking young fellow, about twenty-seven, with thin lips and a face that showed determination. He was rather dapper in dress, and kept on his gloves during the conversation. Mr. Pinkerton received him pleasantly, and after they had been smoking and chatting for an hour or so, he suggested to Schwartz that he would be more comfortable with his gloves off, Schwartz accordingly removed them, and revealed red marks on the backs of his hands, such as might have been made by fingernails digging into them. "How did you hurt your hands, Schwartz?" asked Mr. Pinkerton. "Oh, I did that handling baggage night before last," explained Schwartz; and then he related incidentally that as he was on his way back to Chicago, the conductor of the train, Conductor Danforth, had discovered a valise left by somebody in one of the toilet rooms. Later in the day Mr. Pinkerton summoned the conductor, who said that the valise was an old one, of no value; and, having no contents, he had thrown it out on an ash pile. The only thing he had found in the valise was a piece of paper that attracted his attention because it was marked with red lines.

Examining this piece of paper carefully, Mr. Pinkerton saw that it had been torn from a money draft, and at once thought of the package in the express messenger's safe. Mr. Pinkerton at once ordered a search made for the missing valise, and also an inquiry regarding the passengers who had ridden on Conductor Danforth's train between Davenport and Chicago on the night following the murder. The valise was found on the ash heap where the conductor had thrown it, and in the course of the next few days the detectives had located or accounted for all passengers on Conductor Danforth's train, with the exception of one man who had ridden on a free pass. The conductor could only recall this man's features vaguely; and, while some of the passengers remembered him well enough, there was no clue to his name or identity. As it appeared that no other of the passengers could have been connected with the crime, efforts were redoubled to discover the holder of this pass.

So great was the public interest in the crime and the mystery surrounding it that three separate, well-organized investigations of it were undertaken. The Rock Island railroad officials, with their detectives, conducted one; a Chicago newspaper, with its detectives, another; and the Pinkertons, in the interest of the United States Express company, a third.

Mr. Pinkerton, as we have seen, concluded that the crime had been committed by railway men. The railway officials were naturally disinclined to believe ill of their employees, and an incident occurred about this time which turned the investigation in an entirely new direction and made them more disposed to discredit Mr. Pinkerton's theory. This was the receipt of a letter from a convict in the Michigan City penitentiary, named Plunkett, who wrote the Rock Island railroad officials, saying that he could furnish them with important information.

Mr. St. John, the general manager of the road, went in person to the penitentiary to take Plunkett's statement, which was in effect that he knew the men who had committed the robbery and killed Nichols, and was willing to sell this information in exchange for a full pardon, which the railroad people could secure by using their influence. This they promised to do if his story proved true, and Plunkett then told them of a plot that had been worked out a year or so before, when he had been grafting with a mob of pickpockets at county fairs. There were with him at that time "Butch" McCoy, James Connors (known as "Yellow Hammer"), and a man named "Jeff," whose surname he did not know. These three men, Plunkett said, had planned an express robbery on the Rock Island road, to be executed in precisely the same way, and at precisely the same point on the road, as in the case in question.

The story was plausible, and won Mr. St. John's belief. It won the belief, also, of the Chicago newspaper; and forthwith the railway detectives, working with the newspaper detectives, were instructed to go ahead on new lines, regardless of trouble or expense. Their first endeavor was to capture "Butch" McCoy, the leader of the gang. "Butch" was a pickpocket, burglar, and all-around thief, whose operations kept him traveling all over the United States. The police in various cities having been communicated with to no purpose, the editor finally decided to do a thing the like of which no newspaper proprietor, perhaps, ever undertook before—that is, start on a personal search for McCoy and his associates. With Frank Murray, one of the best detectives in Chicago, and other detectives, he went to Galesburg, where the gang was said to have a sort of headquarters. The party found there none of the men they were after, but they learned that "Thatch" Grady, a notorious criminal with whom "Butch" McCoy was known to be in relations, was in Omaha. So they hurried to Omaha, but only to find that Grady had gone to St. Louis. Then to St. Louis went the editor and his detectives, hot on the scent, and spent several days in that city searching high and low.

The method of locating a criminal in a great city is as interesting as it is little understood. The first step is to secure from the local police information as to the favorite haunts of criminals of the class under pursuit, paying special regard to the preliminary inquiries to the possibility of love affairs; for thieves, even more than honest men, are swayed in their lives by the tender passion, and are often brought to justice through the agency of women. With so much of such information in their possession as they could gather, the editor and his detectives spent their time in likely resorts, picking up acquaintances with frequenters, and, whenever possible, turning the talk adroitly upon the man they were looking for. It is a mistake to suppose that in work like this detectives disguise themselves. False beards and mustaches, goggles and lightning changes of clothing, are never heard of except in the pages of badly informed story writers. In his experience of over twenty-five years Mr. Murray never wore such a disguise, nor knew of any reputable detective who did. In this expedition the detectives simply assumed the characters and general style of the persons they were sporting with, passing for men of spirit and tastes from the East; and, having satisfied the people they met that they meant no harm, they had no difficulty in obtaining such news of McCoy and the others as there was. Unfortunately this was not much.

After going from one city to another on various clues, hearing of one member of the gang here and another there, and in each instance losing their man, the detectives finally brought up in New Orleans. They had spent five or six weeks of time and a large amount of money, only to find themselves absolutely without a clue as to the whereabouts of the men they were pursuing. They were much discouraged when a telegram from Mr. Pinkerton told them that "Butch" McCoy was back in Galesburg, where they had first sought him. Proceeding thither with all dispatch, they traced McCoy into a saloon, and there three of them—John Smith, representing the Rock Island railroad; John McGinn, for the Pinkerton agency; and Frank Murray, working for the newspaper—with drawn revolvers captured him, in spite of a desperate dash he made to escape.

McCoy's capture was the occasion of much felicitation among the people interested in the matter. Mr. St. John and the editor were confident that now the whole mystery of the express robbery would be solved and the murderer convicted. But McCoy showed on trial that he had left New Orleans to come North only the night before the murder and had spent the whole of that night on the Illinois Central railroad. It also appeared that McCoy's associate, Connors, was in jail at the time of the robbery, and that the man "Jeff" was dead. Thus the whole Plunkett story was exploded. Some time before this the man who had ridden on the free pass, and given the detectives so much trouble, had been accidentally found by Jack Mullins, a brakeman on Conductor Danforth's train. He proved to be an advertising solicitor, employed by no other than that self-same newspaper, which would have given a thousand dollars to know what its agent knew; for the advertising man had seen the conductor bring out the valise containing the all-important fragment of the draft. But he had not realized the value of the news in his possession, and Mr. Pinkerton took good care to keep him from that knowledge. Not until he had seen the man safely on a train out from Chicago did Mr. Pinkerton breathe easily; and it was not until months later that the editor learned how near he came to getting a splendid "scop" on the whole city and country.

whither Schwartz was going. The exact form of the dispatch, which well illustrates a system in constant use in the Pinkerton bureau, was as follows:

"R. J. LINDEN,
"441 Chestnut street,
"Philadelphia, Pa.
"Anxious shoes snicker Brown marbles man other dropping eight arrives put grand fifty marbles articles along or derby coat ship very tan seek wearing these have and is ribbon ink dust central Tuesday for dust to rice hat and paper vest yellow ink get must jewelry morning depot on.
"D. ROBERTSON."

In dispatches in this sort important information regarding criminals is constantly flashing over the wires, with no danger of any leak. Thus, from one city to another, and (Continued on Page 6) through every part of the country, any criminal may be shadowed today as Schwartz was shadowed, one set of detectives relieving another every twenty-four hours, and the man's every word and action being carefully noted down and reported, without his having the faintest suspicion that he is under observation. The task of shadowing a person who is traversing city streets is intrusted to men especially skilled in the art (for art it is) of seeing without being seen. This is, indeed, one of the most difficult tasks a detective is called upon to perform, and the few who excel in it are given little else to do. Where a criminal like Schwartz, upon whose final capture much depends, is being followed, two, three, or even four shadows are employed simultaneously, one keeping in advance, one in the rear, and two on either side. The advantage of this is that one relieves the other by change of position, thus lessening the chance of discovery, while, of course, it is scarcely possible for several shadows to be thrown off the trail at once. An adroit criminal might outwit one shadow, but he could scarcely outwit four. A shadow, on coming into a new town with a subject, reveals himself to the shadow who is to relieve him by some pre-arranged signal, such as a handkerchief held in the left hand.

The first words she said on entering the room where he was were: "Harry, I have told Mr. Pinkerton the whole truth. I thought that was the best way, for he is your friend. I told him about your finding the five thousand dollars under the seat of the car, and that was all you had to do with the business."

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

NEW SWIMMING POOL PLANNED

On Borough Property at Lincoln and Roosevelt Avenues—Mayor and Mulvihill Sponsors Plan for Another Pool on the Hill.

DOG LICENSE FEE $2

Contracts Are Awarded to Hansen & Jensen for Catherine and Harris Street Sewers—Washington Ave. Walks Discussed.

The Borough Council at its adjourned meeting in the Memorial Municipal Building on Monday night awarded the contracts for the construction of sewers on Catherine street and Harris street to Hansen & Jensen, the lowest bidders on these jobs, their figure being $806.60 for Catherine street and $1,068 for Harris street. Work on the construction of the sewers is expected to be started at once.

Resolutions to that effect were introduced by Councilman Frank Andres and passed.

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, through Frank Ward, secretary, requested the council to grant the society the use of the council caucus rooms for meetings of the policemen. They also asked to allow the patrolmen to go on duty without the dress coat during the warm summer days. Both petitions were granted. The officers will be equipped with uniform blouses similar to those used by the police forces in other cities.

Mayor Mulvihill and other members favored the patrolmen's request. On motion of Councilman Andres both petitions were granted.

The dog situation was discussed at length. It was decided to raise the dog license fee to $2. The present fee is $1. If a dog is captured by the dogcatcher the owner of the animal will have the secure an additional license giving him permission to redeem the pup. It was intimated that stringent action is required to eliminate the existing situation.

The motion to raise the license fee to $2 was made by Councilman Charles A. Phillips and passed.

Plans were discussed for building a pool at Lincoln and Roosevelt avenues on the triangle plot which, according to Borough Engineer Mitchell, is owned by the borough. The pool will have a depth of two feet and would be about 75 by 100. The engineer was directed to prepare the necessary estimate of cost and submit his findings at the next special meeting of the council on Friday night of this week for the approval or rejection.

The pool was brought up for discussion by Mayor Mulvihill and received with the signal success of Councilman Frank Andres, Walter Vonah, Richard Lyman and Charles A. Phillips. Councilman Samuel B. Brown was in favor of a shower instead.

A special meeting will be held by the council tonight on the Washington avenue sidewalk project.

Holy Family School To Close June 21

There are many activities at the Holy Family Church these days. The session of the parochial school of the church will close on June 21 and on the following day promotion cards will be issued. Over 325 students are now enrolled at the school from the kindergarten to the fifth grades. Rev. Father Joseph Dziadosz said this week that the school will have sixth and seventh grades next year.

First communion will be celebrated at the church on Sunday morning. On the afternoon of that day, the church organizations will hold a picnic on the lawn adjoining the church. Plans are also being completed for the annual carnival to be held for one week beginning August 17. A series of dances and entertainments are also planned for the summer and the early fall.

Father Dziadosz commenting on his congregation paid particular compliments to the various societies of the church. He said that this year the members and officers have taken particular interest in the activities of the church and have helped considerably in bringing in money to the church fund so badly needed.

Dance Tomorrow

The Holy Mary Sodality of the Sacred Heart church will hold its first annual dance tomorrow night at the Polish parochial school auditorium. The Oriole Castle Orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion.

TRUST CO. DEPOSITS OVER MILLION MARK

Carteret Trust Company Went Over the Million Dollar Mark in Total Resources—Bank Has 200 Local Stockholders.

During the past week the local bank—the Carteret Trust Company—went over the million dollar mark in total resources.

The deposits of the bank have been climbing in all branches and more recently the deposits of the borough moneys increased the total faster.

The Carteret Trust Company was formed here a little over a year and a half ago and its rapid growth is believed to be due to the fact that it has 300 local stockholders from all classes and interests in the community.

The Carteret Trust Company has made a special effort to assist the housing situation through mortgage loans and has also aided in forming a revolving fund to assist the local building and loans. Since the Carteret Trust Company has come into being and has loaned well over $100,000 on small mortgage loans, there has been a big increase in the number of dwellings erected in Carteret. The directors of the bank express the hope that the bank would aim for the two million dollar mark goal now, pointing out that the more money that the Trust Company was able to get on deposit, the larger amount it would have available for the up-building of the borough. The Carteret Trust Company adopted at the outset a policy of loaning no such money except to be used in Carteret.

The growth of the bank has been such that the officers of the Carteret Trust Company have already acquired a site for a new bank building. It is expected that the Trust Company will maintain its quarters for a little time yet and possibly within the next year or so start the erection of a building that will compare quite favorably with the bank buildings in much larger communities.

ACTION IS TAKEN ON PLAYGROUND

School Board at Regular Meeting Held Tuesday Night—Four New Teachers Are Appointed For Next Year.

TO HOLD MEETING

Commissioners Will Confer On the High School Equipment for New Structure—Other Business Transacted.

A busy meeting was held by the Board of Education on Tuesday night. Considerable business was transacted by the commissioners. The commissioners appointed four new teachers. They are Miss Bertha Rubel, Miss Minnie Mausner, Miss Anna Knorr and Miss Kathryn Richards. Two resignations were received from Miss Lucy A. Campbell and Miss Jane Musselman, who are returning to their native places.

The supervising principal's report showed a total enrollment of 2,670 in the public schools and sixty-nine in the continuation school. The application of Adolph Niering for a janitorial position was received. Miss Anna Drew Scott, recently appointed principal of the High School, urged an increase in salary. This will be taken up at the next special meeting of the board.

Considerable discussion was held on the water question. Huge bills for water service in the Cleveland school have been received by the commissioners, who doubt that service to that extent has been rendered. At the advice of Attorney Francis A. Monaghan, the board has decided to check up the consumption of water through its own sources before the bills are paid to the water company.

Architect George Brooks reported that he is compiling a list of equipment needed for the new high school. President Edward J. Heil was of the opinion that much equipment of the present school could be used in the new building and at his suggestion Supervising Principal Miss B. V. Hermann and the architect will take stock of the present equipment so as to determine the rest required for the new structure.

Preparations for the opening of the playgrounds were made by the playground committee. Various routine reports were heard. Present at the session were President Heil, Commissioners Bishop, Bradford Schwartz, Brown, Jeffreys and Coughlin.

MAYOR WOULD ABOLISH CREEK

Says He Will Take Up Matter With People At a Referendum On General Action In November.

A BIG MENACE HERE

The Creek Is Most Dangerous, Mulvihill Says—Situation Is Now Being Studied By Members of the Council.

The question of eliminating the creek at Pershing and Cooke avenues will be brought to the attention of the voters at the next general election. Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill revealed in an interview. The creek is a menace to the citizens and must be abolished without delay, he said, because should an epidemic break out in the borough, it would mean the cost of many lives.

"The creek project has been uppermost in my mind, since the completion of the new memorial municipal building, and my aim is now to bring this to realization. Of course it is up to the people. It will be up for a referendum," the mayor added. Mayor Mulvihill pointed out that as soon as the creek is done away with and the trunk sewer laid, a large portion of the swamps would be turned into a park. A comprehensive study of the situation is now being made by the mayor and the council. Councilman Frank Andres believed that the section in which the borough hall and the post office are situated is destined to be the center of the town, provided the big trunk sewer project is completed.

LEGION POST AT BANQUET

Men and Women of Local Legionnaires Give Dinner for Carteret Fire Company No. 2 and Their Wives.

SPLENDID PROGRAM

Pleasant Event Is Enjoyed By a Large Group—Delicious Menu Is Served—Orchestra Plays Throughout Evening.

One of the most delightful affairs held this season took place at the clubrooms of Carteret Fire House No. 2, when Roosevelt Post, American Legion and its Ladies' Auxiliary were the hosts at a banquet in honor of the members of Fire Company No. 2, their wives, sweethearts and friends. The hall was packed to capacity. The tables were beautifully and artistically decorated with fresh cut flowers. A delicious menu was served. The Lyceum Orchestra of St. Joseph's Church played throughout the evening and vocal selections were rendered by a group of local artists including Mrs. John Dunne and Harry Heim.

Edwin W. Casey, acted as toastmaster. He vividly told of the aims, purposes and efforts of the legion, its great work for humanity and its continuous striving in behalf of advancement of the community. He recalled the days of the war, when the legionnaires marched out of their homes for an unknown destination. Commander Slugg, also recalled the days of the war, the stress and flurry it then existed, the heroic work of the women, and above all pointed to the fact that the Carteret fire house was the center of activities, where things were done for the boys. John S. Olbricht in the course of his most interesting talk suggested that the old borough hall become a clubhouse of the legionnaires.

Last night's affair was somewhat of a farewell to the old No. 2 fire-house, where the Legionnaires enjoyed much hospitality. They gave the dinner to say good bye to the firemen who so ably helped them all the time. The Legionnaires are now moving into their new quarters in the Memorial Municipal Building.

The guests were Edwin W. Casey, Miss Jane Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ruckelge, Joseph Price, Albert Wolblund, Frank Haury, Clayton Young, Fred Gunther, Charles Rapp, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Shugr, Edward Dolan, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Coughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Holger Holmes, Louis Ruderman, Gertrude Zier, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cheret, Nathaniel A. Jacoby, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Olbricht, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Green, Mrs. Joseph Young, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Meltzer, Mr. and Mrs. H. # HOW DAN FOOLED THE YANKEES

By FELIX FELLOWS

(© by Short Story Pub. Co.)

THE rain had come in torrents all the morning but, by two o'clock in the afternoon, the hot July sun blazed upon the dripping slopes of the Tennessee mountains, and the handful of mounted bluecoats that trudged heavily up the red clay road growled at the hot vapor rising from the earth which, with the hot rays from above falling upon them, and their long ride of the morning, made further progress almost tortuous.

The stick chimney of a mountain hut snuggled close against the mountain side, almost hidden from the road by the tall bushes and undergrowth, broke upon the vision of the men almost simultaneously, and a smothered Ah! and speedy rightening of reins sent the tired horses briskly forward.

A sudden break in the bushes that bordered the road showed a rugged path leading up to the hut. With a quick yank of the bridle one of the men wheeled his horse into the path, and then stopped suddenly. There, almost hidden in the brush beside the path, on a rock that benched out from its fellows, sat a girl, and the surprise of the soldiers was reflected on her face. It was a plain face—with rather a large mouth that stood open in consternation, and big blue eyes that stared in wonder—a face that might belong to a woman of anywhere from seventeen to twenty-seven, but a glance down her form to the skirt that cut off at the ankles, and the brown bare feet exposed beneath, took you back to the conclusion of seventeen.

In her lap, her two hands clasped a half-finished yarn stocking, with its bristling knitting needles, while the ball of yarn lay soaking in a little puddle farther down the slope, where it had rolled unnoticed.

"Here, girl," called the leader, "have you seen anything of a man about here today?"

"M-a-r-n—she drawled in reply, "hain't seed a m-a-r-n critter terday." Then, a little brighter—"Who be's you-all a-lookin' fer?"

"A d-d Confederate scout—all fell low, dark hair and eyes. Been chasing him since daybreak, and an infernal chase he has given us too, up these d-d slippery hills of yours."

"Nup, hain't seed no critter terday," she reiterated, languidly, stooping to rescue the blue ball, which she proceeded to cleanse by mopping it up and down the side of her homespun gown. "Say"—she drawled—"be you-all soldiers?"

"Come, girl, who's up yonder at the house?" asked the spokesman, ignoring her question. "Where's the men?"

"Gone-ter-war," she drawled.

"Pap and Dan left a'most a ye'r ago. Hain't seed nuthin' uv em have yer?" and the big eyes took on a wistful expression.

"Come, girl, lead the way, we must search the house."

"Nobody's thar but Granny, and she's asleep."

"Well, don't stand there, move along," commanded the man.

"Dasn't," said the girl, "Granny, she's got the asner, and she's got one of her bad spells, and I dasn't wake her."

"Come, come, this won't do, move along here; we can't be detained by a granny or two."

"Wall," said the girl, planting one bare foot on a little elevation of clay and slowly bearing down till the yellow earth oozed up between the toes, "Wall," repeating the operation on another little mound of clay, "if you-all bound ter do it, ye'll have ter do it alone, 'ca'se I dasn't. But I warn yer not to wake Granny, for it's her spell day and she's bad when yer get her started."

"Well, I guess we can excuse you," said the leader. "Here, John, you hold the horses and we'll go up—and be sure to keep your eye on that lovely specimen of southern beauty."

"Say," she drawled, "you-all go easy, 'ca'se if she wakes up he'll be a-poppin', shore 'nuf. And when you-all come back, jes' turn down ther path thar, to the left, to ther spring, and I'll git you-all somethin' ter drink."

A laugh broke from the men. "We'll accept," the foremost turned to say, "provided your something is not spring water."

"Naw, 'tain't neither. It's good ole Tennessee corn juice, as Dad says, as good as ever pisened a rattlesnake. Pap alius 'vites strangers ter drink. It's hospotality, he says, and, says he, 'Hospotality is the poor man's saving grace.'"

The men were nearing the cabin door, when they heard the voice of the girl in a sort of stage whisper, "S-n-y, you-all, don't sturb ole frozen toes, what's bringin' off her second settin' under that 'ar table, or she'll raise ther roof, and that'll wake Granny, and—"

"And we wouldn't be left in peace to enjoy Dad's 'hospotality,'" mockingly finished one of the men. "Well, I, for one, say let her sleep, for I'm as dry as a husk." This condition seemed contagious, for the group went cautiously up to the open door, and as cautiously advanced within and began a hurried survey of the place.

The room was sparsely furnished, but bore traces of cleanliness. Its rough homemade table, from underneath which the head of a Dominique chicken protruded, eyeing the intruders with an inquiring twist of her head, was secured white. Six split-bottom chairs ranged themselves in a straight line along the wall. In the corner furthest from the fireplace stood the four-poster, and the trundle bed was drawn out, with its furnishings piled up to air.

On the bed lay a form, covered, despite the heat of the day, clear to the chin, with a heavy homespun blanket, and on top of that a gay green and yellow patchwork quilt.

Buried deep in the chintz-covered pillow was a head incased in a red flannel night cap, with the face turned to the wall. The knees were drawn almost to the chin and the hands were hidden beneath the covers.

On a peg, at the head of the bed, hung a homespun dress, and beneath it, on the floor, stood a pair of stiff, solid-looking slippers.

Nowhere in the room was there a piece of furniture large enough to conceal a man. A hasty scanning of the walls and ceiling showed no signs of an opening, save the customary hole leading to the loft. With a quiet movement, one of the men lifted a chair beneath this and mounted upon it, only to dismount, convinced, by the network of spiders' webs, that the board covering had not been lifted for months.

"Better look if there is an entrance to it from the outside," suggested one, and the soldier softly tiptoed out and around the house, but came back, shaking his head.

Apparently satisfied, they turned and filed out, and Granny slept on. As they came down the path, the girl clumsily advanced to meet them and conducted them along the "path to the left" to a spring that trickled out of the mountain side and formed a pool in a natural basin that had fashioned itself among the rocks, half hidden by the grass. Stooping at one side, she groped about a bit in the shallow water, and brought forth a good-sized jug, securely fastened to the handle of which was a gourd dipper. Placing the jug on the grass, she untied the dipper, tendered it to the nearest man and said: "He'p yerself."

After each had held communion with the dipper a couple of times, she said to one of them: "Jes' hold the gourd while I pour out some fer that 'ar critter, what's holdin' them hosses. Wouldn't do to slight 'em, cause Dad would do it ef he wuz here."

She filled the gourd to the brim, then shuffled back to the gap in the road.

"Eyer," was all she said as she presented the drink, "hyer's some of Dad's hospotality."

The soldiers, trooping along behind her, snickered at her crude manner, and the courteous bow with which the gourd was received made her shy, and she fell to her way of smashing the little mud heaps with her foot, and watching the soft clay as it oozed up between her stubby toes. The empty dipper thrust into her hands made no impression on her, so intent did she seem in her pleasing occupation, but a loud "Good-by" brought her to a recognition that they were going.

"Good-by," she called; "if you-all should meet Dad or Dan, tell 'em me and Granny's so and so, and tell Dad I 'stended ther hospotality."

She stood gazing after them, and something drifted back to her, like a wonder if Dad wouldn't be riled when he heard she had 'stended the hospotality to a lot of bluecoats.

For a long time she gazed down the road, till the last sound of a hoof-beat died away. Then she hastened to the house, and with a glad "Dan, they're gone," broke into a low gurgling laugh.

"Talk about your bake ovens!" came from the four-poster, and Granny piled out of that bed in a hurry.

But what a grandmother! Six feet in her stockings! And when the woolen night-cap was snatched off, it revealed three days' growth of beard. Next off came the nightgown, and its wearer put it to an unwanted use in mopping away the perspiration.

From a drawer in the cupboard the girl produced a man's coat, hat and shoes, and with a "Hurry, Dan!" passed them to him.

"There, bless you, girl!" He was already at the door.

"You say they went up the Clayton road? That's good, just as we planned. Now, I'll cut through by the mill, meet Granny with the horse, and tomorrow morning will see me safe back to the lines. It's early yet, and if I hurry, Granny will be able to get back to you before dark."

She followed him down to the gap in the road, and, as his form disappeared through the bushes opposite, took her former seat on the ledge of the rock. Every now and then her eyes swept the road in the direction whence the soldiers had vanished. Still she sat on, and when the last streak of sunlight had disappeared and the shadows deepened so that vision could no longer penetrate the distance, she strained her ears to catch the slightest sound.

Finally, amid the bird calls, the songing of the wind, and other familiar sounds of nature, she detected the snap of twigs like some one coming through the grass.

Presently the bushes again parted, at the spot where the man had disappeared a few hours before, and she sprang forward to meet a tired little old woman who emerged therefrom.

"Well, he's off," was her first greeting, and "You're sure they didn't come back this way?" added the grandmother.

"Positive," answered the girl, "ano ef them Yankees never see a Confederate till they ketch Dan, they'll never see one."

RUSSELL COLGATE PRAISES WORK OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION AMONG YOUTH

Serves as Treasurer of $225,000 Protestant Campaign.

Russell Colgate, President of Colgate and Company, who is serving as Treasurer of the State-wide Campaign for $225,000 launched by the New Jersey Council of Religious Education and its auxiliaries, firmly believes that as the twig is bent, so the tree inclines.

"Look at the men who have carved their niche in the industrial, civic and philanthropic life of America, and you will find that they are the products of an early religious training that has guided them throughout their life," says Mr. Colgate.

"Many a potential president gets in with the wrong gangs and becomes a potential criminal. The right kind of religious education in home, school and church and comradeship will keep the younger generation wholesome and clean-minded, and inculcate a moral foundation that is essential to good citizenship.

The Bible is the one book that has done more to develop character than all other courses combined. The Sunday school in this State now reaches only one young person out of every three of the Protestant faith. Help is needed if the other two-thirds are ever to be reached. Daily vacation Bible schools have come to reinforce the ranks of the Sunday schools. Twenty-five thousand Protestant children were enrolled in 180 of these schools last summer, and in the next two years we hope to have 250 such schools with an enrollment of 35,000.

"Daily newspapers cry aloud the crimes, some petty—others serious—committed by boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 20. Moral decay seems to be abroad in the land. Mothers and fathers are beginning to give serious thought to problems that were unknown in their youthful days. The Protestant forces of New Jersey have united on a comprehensive program that is bound to result in much good—but at least $225,000 is needed to bring their plans to successful fruition.

"Week-Day Schools of Religion should be organized. Community training schools for leaders are necessary. Already we have 32 such training schools, but many more are needed. Forty-five teacher training classes are now in operation, and these should be multiplied many times.

"For the sake of Protestantism—for the sake of America—every member of our faith should do his or her bit toward providing the funds needed to carry on this work, which is just starting in earnest. The future holds forth a promise of a finer Manhood and Womanhood if we but do our duty."

Ben Franklin Shown as House Decorator

Benjamin Franklin was interested in household details and papered his own walls. He is quoted as saying: "The little south room I have papered as the walls were much soiled. In this room is a carpet I bought cheap for its goodness and nearly new. . . The blue room has the harmonica, the harp, chord, the gilt scone, a card table, a set of tea china, the worked chairs and screen—a very handsome stand for the tea kettles to stand on, and the ornamental china. The paper of the room has lost much of its bloom by pasting up."

Later he wrote his wife about the same room. "I suppose the room is too blue, the wood being of the same color with the paper, and so looks too dark. I would have you finish it as soon as you can, thus: paint the wainscot a dead white; paper the walls blue, and tack the gilt border around the cornice. If the paper is not equally colored when pasted on, let it be brushed over again with the same color and let the paper mache musical figures be tacked to the middle of the ceiling. When this is done, I think it will look very well."

Among the most interesting pencils made is one intended for the use of surgeons. ## No "Walking Stick" Snake

The biological survey says that there is no snake known as the walking stick. This, however, is an insect of the orthopterous family Phasmatidae, especially one of those forms destitute of wings, in which the body is long, slender and cylindrical like a small stick, the legs being slender and delicate, and resembling little twigs.

First Fountain Pens

The fountain pen was manufactured in England as early as 1835, but it did not attain any great degree of success, as it did not prove practicable in the way it was constructed. In 1884 a patent was granted for the automatic underfed pen. It is stated that modern fountain pens are based on the principle of this model.

BOY WHO "FRAMED"
HIMSELF GETS 25
YEARS IN PRISON

Desire to Appear Tough
Causes Youth to Confess
Many Crimes.

Council Bluffs, Iowa.—Ray M. Snoderly, sixteen, of Wichita, Kan., arrested in Council Bluffs, was so anxious to appear "tough" that he confessed to a dozen or more crimes and is now serving 25 years in the Iowa penitentiary without, so far as the police can now discover, ever having committed a single crime. The Council Bluffs courts are unable to release him and his case is to be brought to the attention of the governor with the request that the boy be pardoned. Snoderly was a boy tramp. For two years he has been tramping around the country, doing odd jobs. But he will tramp no more unless Iowa's governor gives him a pardon. "I wanted to be known as the world's toughest boy," he confessed, just before he started for the state prison. "I got a great 'kick' out of the story I told. But the kick is all gone now, I'm in for it."

Snoderly's innocence is not based on his own denial of his stories, but on the investigations made by the police since his sentence.

Admits He's Bad Egg.
Snoderly came into the Council Bluffs police station one cold night and asked for lodging. After he had been in the place an hour or so he told the chief of police he was a "bad egg" but that he had repented and wanted to "confess" and get it off his conscience. The police wanted to know all about it, and Snoderly unfolded a story of crimes in all parts of the country, including hold-ups, robberies, bootlegging, thieving, shooting, burglaries, and a lot of other things. "Did you have anything to do with the holding up and shooting in Cafe No. 15?" the police asked. "Yes, I'm the guy that did the shooting," replied Snoderly. "That was the first I ever heard of Cafe No. 15," Snoderly told, as he was leaving for prison. "The police would ask me if such and such was the case and I would tell them. All my answers were suggested to me by the questions. If I made a mistake, a suggestion would correct me. I made myself out as tough as I could."

Unfolded a Story of Crimes.

But all that came out afterward. At the time Snoderly signed a confession to the Cafe No. 15 robbery, went to court the next day, swore to the crime and to others and received a sentence of 25 years.

Tells of His Gang.
Investigation shows Snoderly was in Kansas City the day of the Cafe No. 15 robbery and painted a flagpole on one of the tall buildings in that city that day.

"My underworld name is 'Scarfinder Ted,'" Snoderly told the Council Bluffs police when making his "confession." "I belong to a gang of 125 gunmen, with Chicago as headquarters. We have a place over there on the lake front with an underground entrance so we can get away if the police surround the place. We take orders from 'Diamond Dick,' our chief. "'Diamond Dick' carries two pearl handled revolvers—one .38 and one .45 caliber, besides a blackjack. He is a smooth talker, coarse voice, large nose, somewhat flat; scar circles right eye, notch shot in left ear."

Descriptions, down to the smallest detail were given of "Kansas City Hutch," "Pick-Up Red," "Two-Trigger Slim," "Shorty," "Carison," and a lot of others. "There isn't near the 'kick' in being tough that I thought there was," said Snoderly.

Fights With Bible
Bordentown, N. J.—When workmen from the Public Service corporation attempted to replace a large pole of the high-tension line on the curb of the property belonging to Miss Lillian Hillier, the woman objected. To stop the work she placed a Bible and two American flags in the way of the workmen and defied them to disturb them.

Tommy was in church for the first time. As the surprised choir entered he whispered, "Are they all going to have their hair cut?"

What Else Was There
For Millicent to Do?

When Mrs. Gray came home Millicent met her at the door; she seemed bursting with news.

"Mother!"
"Well, dear?"
"What do you think Robert and that Jones boy did this afternoon?"
"Why, nothing bad, I hope?"
"Mother!" Millicent paused impressively. "They went and they built—a fire! Yes! With kerosene! Out behind the chicken coop where you told 'em they never, never must!"
"Millicent! Your little brother! Why, he might have—but why didn't you stop him?"
"Mother, told him, and I told him, and he said he would too, and I took him by the shoulder and shook—" But Mrs. Gray was seized with a sudden suspicion. "Millicent, you know I keep the kerosene locked in the storeroom, and Robert doesn't know where I keep the key. Look me in the eye, Millicent. How did he get that kerosene?"

Millicent's eyelids flickered. "Well, you see, mother—er—when I saw that Robert and that Jones boy were determined to build a fire, why—er—I had to get the things for 'em, didn't I, and superintend 'em, didn't I?" Youth's Companion.

His Gratitude Greater Than His Knowledge

A Filipino boy who had studied English in a Hawaiian night school sent the following letter to a white man who had befriended him and who had made him a present of some pictures and a shirt:
"I received your kind and welcome letter from you, so, I in it, I was very, very glad to hear from you that you so stated at present in good health and fiscal condition. At the second how glad I am and your sister that you were received of our picture in that brilliant afternoon, and so, by this time we were very pleasant that you will keep it so well the same as our bodies always talking and caring for you here. And so, even that picture is not very personally playing of your spirit so, be carefully like so as you body. About the shirt is coming to in my hand, I full of joy and a merry heart so that you did not forget of your promised to me, and now, it is very thinking at the heaven and you of your truly remember and present of this your brother did not know how to forget asking of God at the heaven that he always caring and protecting to you here day and night and far of badly misfortune."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Names for Nautical Fare

The sailor resembles the quick order restaurant waiter in that he invariably has a pet name for articles of diet. Salt beef, that standby of the men at sea, was known during the Nineteenth century as "junk," "old horse," "salt horse" or "salt junk." It was responsible, held one writer of sea stories, for the mabogany complexion of sailors, which was commonly attributed to a combination of rum and the weather. A stew answered to the name of "lobscouse," and was made of salt beef, biscuits and potatoes, seasoned highly with pepper. A dish of cold fish and potatoes was labeled "twice-laid," while a pudding of dried peas boiled in a cloth was welcomed by the sailors under the name of "dog's body." Ship biscuits were even then called "hardtack," while soft, white bread was christened "soft tack" or "soft tomy."

The Telephone

Elizabeth was three years old and, what is more, Elizabeth, like most small girls, was very fond of games of "make believe." Her latest delight in the realm of fancy was "playing telephones," a game of which she never grew tired.

Her grandmother was well aware of Elizabeth's fancy and one night, when the little girl was proving obstinate about going to have her bath, the old lady thought she would try a little strategy.

Grandmother (holding one end of the toy telephone)—Hello! Is that Elizabeth?

Elizabeth (very delighted)—Yes, grandma!

Grandmother—Well, come along, Elizabeth, it's time for your bath.

Elizabeth (dropping receiver)—Wrong number!

Says Hot Cross Bun Is of Pagan Origin

The origin of the hot cross bun is attributed to many sources. Some authorities associate it with the offerings presented, in ancient times, to the gods. One species of sacred bread was called bann, and is described as a kind of cake with a representation of two horns, apparently an offering to the moon.

On the other hand, it is held that "bun" is from the old French word "bugne," applied to a sort of fritter. Though the origin of the hot cross bun was pagan, it soon became connected with the Christian religion.

Buns were apparently eaten on Good Friday, as one of the few allowable items of fasting fare. They were also hung up as talismans against evil, and were kept from one Good Friday to another, being regarded as a cure for various ailments.—London Tit-Bits.

Survival of Pagan Practices

Wells were once worshiped in Great Britain and a survival of ancient custom still prevails in Derbyshire, in the vicinity of the famous "Peak," immortalized by Sir Walter Scott. Just outside the hamlet of Foolow is a well by the roadside. Every year, at a particular time, the girls of the village throw pins into the well. They do not know why, but tell inquirers that the custom is very old. As a matter of fact it is of immense antiquity, having originated with the well worship of pagan times. In Italy, where several such wells have been excavated, it is not unusual to find that the stratified layers of coins and other objects present a continuous and graphic picture of the history of the country back almost to the beginnings of man.—Family Herald.

Real Prohibition Law Enforcement

CORNELIUS DOREMUS

The one candidate who has a clear cut plan for real economy in state affairs while at the same time advocating the development of the state through interstate bridges, vehicular tunnels and good roads.

The candidate who is feared by Bootleggers, hated by grafters and dreaded by political fakars. Cornelius Doremus is president of three banks in Bergen County; has distinguished himself as Judge; is a member of the New Jersey bar; prominent in many patriotic and fraternal organizations, and other civic bodies.

Law Enforcement
"You don't have to be a fanatic to be in favor of real and genuine law enforcement. All you have to be is a patriotic American. If standing four-square for the Constitution on which I expect to take the oath of office as Governor next January makes me a fanatic, then I shall gladly welcome that title. In my fight for bona fide law enforcement I believe I am going to win, for I am making my appeal to a sober Republican party—the party which believes in the old-fashioned doctrine of adherence to the Constitution."—Judge Doremus in his Trenton speech, March 3rd.

If you want an honest, earnest, independent business executive—and not just a professional politician—one who is not under the dictates of a boss, but who will work for your better interests because he will put honest business ethics into his administration—

Spring Primary

On Tuesday next, June 16, is primary day. As most know, the primaries are usually held in the fall, but the lawmakers at Trenton this year found it to their advantage to change the time from the fall to the spring.

Primary day is as important as general election. This year more so, for there are countless candidates seeking one office. For instance, three Republicans are seeking the nomination for governor.

While locally we have no primary fight, the voters of Carteret should not stay away from voting. The national, state and county offices are most important.

Be sure therefore and vote next Tuesday. All the five polls will be open all day, from 7 A. M. to 9 P. M. There will be no waiting.

Our Banks

There is more public good will towards banks as an institution than ever before. The reason is that banks have more good will towards the public than ever.

The banks are perhaps an immense educational service in this country and by evolution they induce us to take our surplus funds out of our stoves, tin cans and stockings and put them in the bank and they induce us to save more and now they are teaching us how to produce more.

Judge C. Doremus On Speaking Tour

Touring Hudson County Wednesday evening and speaking in the evening before the Bergen County Republican Committee in the Court House in Hackensack, former Judge Cornelius Doremus, bone dry candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, struck out hard at sinecurists and extravagance in state government. He also spoke for inter-state bridge project. Judge Doremus spoke first at the Hudson County Doremus headquarters, Journal Square, Jersey City. Counselor Arthur T. Dear, of Ridgewood, presided. Rev. E. J. S. Patterson of the North Baptist Church, Jersey City preceded Doremus. Jastor Patterson praised Doremus as a candidate with courage and back bone. In his speech Judge Doremus spoke out emphatically for prohibition law enforcement and for the Bible Bill. Then turning to the subject of economy in state government, Doremus said: "The opportunities for retrenchment and economy in state government are abundant. If elected governor I promise to exercise my vast powers in that direction to the full."

est extent. There should be a reduction in the number of state bureaus and state departments. Consolidation of co-related bureaus would help cut down the expense. Sinecurists and needless jobs should be abolished. I am the candidate of no clique or faction. I would assume the governorship free and untrammelled and with no obligations to useless job holders. They could expect no mercy from me.

"I believe there can be real reform in the matter of the annual appropriation bill without any constitutional amendment. The short cut to reform in this case is plenty of publicity for the appropriation bill before action by the legislature. The governor has it clearly in his power to enforce this publicity and to insure deliberate and careful action by the legislature before the appropriation bill which aggregated $19,000,000 last year is adopted.

"I promise to wield the axe fearlessly in the interest of the overburdened tax payer.

"Senator Bright's probing committee has already lifted the cover and laid bare many leaks and much extravagance. The Department of Institutions and Agencies spends about $11,000,000 a year, half the total of the entire state appropriation bill. That there has been extravagance in that department seems quite apparent. The time for thorough reform and sweeping changes in that department has arrived."

Sermon Lost Weight During Its Travels

The vicar considered himself a very good preacher, and he was always ready to hear people's opinions of his sermons.

Meeting an old parishioner in the village, he asked: "Well, Mr. Snooks, and how did you like my sermon yesterday?"

"Ye see, parson," was the reply. "I haven't a fair chance with them sermons of yours. I'm an old man now, and by the time I manage to get to the church all the front seats are taken and I have to sit at the back. And there's old Mrs. Smith an' Mrs. O'Callagher's darters an' Bert Snow an' all the rest of 'em sittin' in front of me wid their mouths open a-wallowin' all the best parts of your sermon, an' what gets down to me is purty poor stuff, parson, purty poor stuff." —London Answers.

Ancient Love Charms

According to ancient English rural superstition, October was considered the most notable month in the year for love charms. St. Faith brought the first chance for maids to view their future husbands in a vision. The ritual is for three maids to make a dumb cake—one baked in silence—to pass their portions through a wedding ring, and couch themselves in one bed, repeating the charm: "O good St. Faith, be kind tonight; bring our heart's delight." On St. Luke's day a maid should anoint herself with an ointment made of herbs and honey, and pray to St. Luke before sleeping. "In dreams let me my true love see." On St. Simon and St. Jude's day the peering of an apple, thrown over the shoulder, should fall to form the first letter of the future husband's name. No record as to the veracity of these charms is available.

Under the Mistletoe

Authorities differ somewhat concerning the origin of the custom of kissing under the mistletoe. Walsh is of the opinion that it is an innocent survival from the Saturnalia of the ancients when riot and license ran loose. Other authorities claim that it is a survival of the ancient Druids of Britain. The mistletoe is believed to have been given to the goddess of love to keep, and everyone who passed under it received a kiss to show it was the emblem of love. The Druids cut the sacred mistletoe and hung it over the doorways to propitiate the woodland spirits. According to myth, only happiness could enter under the mistletoe, hence the tradition of the kiss.

Old Musical Instrument

Notes of a musical instrument that are believed to have floated in the warm air of Egypt 3,000 years ago were reproduced at the University of Pennsylvania by Prof. Jean B. Beck, who restored a small flute found in the tomb of a noble of the time of the pharaohs. The air enters through slits in the sides of the reeds instead of at the ends, as in modern instruments. Each note and its octave are sounded equally loud at the same time, quite unlike any present day instrument.

Two American doctors claim to have developed a system of treating cancer by wireless. The receiver is a sheet of tin suspended over the patient's head, and the doctors say that their radio apparatus has proved beneficial hundreds of miles away from the source of treatment.

Queer Jungle Calls
of Dahomey Natives

When the barefooted black men travel in their own country they move as silently as specters. If they are not talking, or singing, or shrilly calling to each other, one does not hear them approach unless it be by the low rustle of their bodies against the leaves.

On such occasions, a file of them winding through the bushes suggests a party of shades bound on some Stygian expedition.

"O-Kou! O-Kou! O-Kou!" That is the jungle greeting of the Dahomey black man. As soon as two travelers catch sight of each other in the distance they begin to shout this call. As they approach they lower their voices until the "O-Kou" sinks to a mere murmur as they pass; then it rises again louder and louder as they separate until lost in the distance.

"O-Kou! O-Kou! O-Kou!" A greeting filled with fear. Doubtless it means something like this: "I know where you are! I know where you are!"—Henri de Kerill in L'Echo de Paris.

Believed Black Cats
Inhabited by Satan

There is no "good luck" portent more generally believed in than that connected with black cats. If one enters the house it must not be driven away. If we meet one in the street, the omen is good, and if it should come and rub itself against us, our luck is right in. Promptly we stoop and stroke it—to make quite certain.

If that is your custom, do you know that you are propitiating the Evil One? Your ancestors in the Middle Ages hated black cats. They regarded them as being inhabited by Satan himself, or, at any rate, by one of his evil spirits. So when they stroked a black cat it was not to bring good luck but to avert ill-luck. By pleasing the cat they turned the devil from his wicked purpose. If you condemn the notion as silly and superstitious, why do you continue it?

Expert Archery

Philadelphia has played an important part in American archery. Its suburbs have produced two national champions, and the first archery association in the United States was the United Bowmen of Philadelphia, formed in 1828.

The annual contest drew as many as 2,000 spectators. There must have been something of the flavor of the days of Merrie England about it, when the king's archers were his strongest and bravest and most valiant knights. Then a Welsh archer shot an arrow through an oak door four inches thick, "with such force the shaft penetrated a hand's breadth on the other side." And the English archers then advanced one step forward and shot their arrows with such quickness it seemed as if it snowed.

Use for the Cork

A young woman called at the house of a doctor, and, after discoursing on all the topics of the day, began to tell him her ailments. Among other things, she said she was greatly alarmed by a "sinking feeling."

The doctor prepared a bottle of medicine and gave it to her, with directions as to how it should be taken. The woman talked on and on, until at length, after many vain efforts on the doctor's part to get rid of her, she made for the door. She had just opened it when she turned and said:

"Oh, doctor, what shall I do if this medicine does not cure me?"

"Take the cork," he retorted. "They tell me that cork is good for a sinking feeling."

Trees and Lightning

No tree is immune from lightning, but among trees of the same kind the one standing well above its neighbors is in most danger, even in a dense forest. This may be due to the greater height of the trees or the kind of ground it stands on. Trees growing in the open are in more danger than those in a thick stand of timber, as are also those growing along an avenue or border of woods. Those growing in moist soil along the banks of a stream are better conductors for lightning than those growing in drier soil.—Exchange.

Dogs Without Tails

A curious breed of dogs is owned by Enara and Kantokelno, Laplanders. These dogs are born without tails, which is considered a very fortunate characteristic, in that the wolves cannot have that member to catch hold of in a chase. The wolves prey upon the Lapps' reindeer, which the dogs are trained to guard, with the result of frequent free-for-all fights. The tailless dog was not always thus, but is the result of the docking process practiced upon generations of ancestors until now he is born without a tail.

Held as Tomb of Rachel

The tomb of Rachel is a Mohammedan wely, or tomb, marking the burial place of Rachel, the wife of the patriarch, Jacob. It is situated about five miles north of Bethlehem. Jewish, Christian and Mohammedan tradition agree in identifying this spot with the tomb of Rachel, the wife of Jacob. "And Rachel died, and was buried in the way to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem. And Jacob set a pillar upon her grave; that is the pillar of Rachel's grave unto this day."—Genesis 35: 19-20.—Kansas City Star.

Influence of Religion

Uncle Toby had a neighbor who was in the habit of working on Sunday, but after a while he joined the church.

One day he met the minister to whose church the man belonged. "Well, Uncle Toby," said the minister, "do you see any difference in Mr. Smith since he joined the church?" "Yes," said Uncle Toby, "a great difference. Before when he went to mend the fences on Sunday he carried his ax on his shoulder. Now he carries it under his overcoat."

By H. IRVING KING

THE THRESHOLD

IN a much-talked-about recent novel the doctor of Gopher Prairie says to his bride, "There! I meant to have you lifted over the threshold," which shows that the old custom of lifting brides over the threshold when they first enter their new home still lingers among us, as it is, also, a feature of rural weddings in England and Scotland. The mixing up in the minds of our remote ancestors of spiritual and material things caused the threshold to be regarded in a peculiarly mystic manner.

As its name implies, it prevented the grain, the body of the corn-spirit, from sliding out when the chaff flew away at the threshing time. It was that part of the entrance to the house over which all must pass that entered it. Consequently there was a constant struggle to facilitate the entrance of good influences and keep out the spirits of evil by "doctoring" the threshold. Causis were buried under their neighbor's thresholds, personal relics calculated to facilitate the entrance of malign influences. A large nail was driven into the threshold to keep death from entering.

On Walpurgis night the German peasant still lays flowers and branches upon his threshold to keep out the witches; and chips from a threshold used to be thought a valuable ingredient in making smoke for the fumigation of cattle. So as no one knows what witches or evil spirits may have done to the threshold it is better that a bride, at the critical moment of her entrance to her new home, should be lifted over it to avoid contagion from the malign influences from touching the possibly-infected door-sill.

Made Lonely Journey

A woman farmer in a lonely part of South Africa, Mrs. Ida Francis, has just shown that in luck and endurance British women settlers are not behind the men.

About two months ago a cyclone devastated her farm, which lies beyond the western fringe of the desolate Kalahari desert; and then came floods which destroyed the food and shelter for her cattle. The only way to save her animals was to drive them 400 miles across the desert to her son's farm, and this she did, unaided.

She found that many of the water holes in the desert had dried up, and sometimes she had to ward off attacks by lions with her rifle; but she kept steadily on, and in the end brought nearly all her charges through safely. —Family Herald.

Only Real Growth

Some men grow, others just swell up. It most frequently happens that the latter swell in the head, rather than elsewhere, and a little money largely contributes to this. True growth is marked by development of mind, heart, and soul.—Grit.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

FAITH

FROM a Biblical source comes the charming Faith, which sprang into popular usage during the vogue of Puritanical names. The prevalence of appellatives which denoted abstract virtues marked the beginning of Puritanism in England, and many such names came under the ban from other classes because of the widespread dislike of the "Round Heads."

But the simple beauty of Faith, as well as the divine virtue for which the name was symbol, kept her popularity undimmed. For was she not one of the trio whom St. Paul commends to the Corinthians, saying: "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

The Puritans brought Faith to New England when they migrated from their native land, and the name has been universally popular there, at the same time spreading to other sections of the country. It is one of the few feminine appellatives which cannot be contracted.

The pearl is Faith's talismanic gem. It is a fitting symbol of purity for its wearer who will possess enviable charm and affability and have many friends. Wednesday is her lucky day and 5 her lucky number.

A WORD FROM SPRING

A GENTLE breeze came whispering by today, And paused a moment on its laughing way "I'm just in from the South," it said, "and I have stopped to tell you that the spring is nigh, And all her styles Are based on smiles; And when she comes her partners will be full Of blossoms fragrant and delectable; And in her train a gay and choral throng Of happy birds will wing their way along; And brand new leaves to clothe the naked trees She'll bring and spread as lavish as you please; And all the country o'er Her flowers will dance as on a ballroom floor. That all may know in these dark days of dread and Grace, and Beauty are not dead, But with us still, For man to make such use of as he will."

Question: Why do all of the great racing cars use Valve-in-Head engines?

Answer: Because this type develops the greatest speed and power. All first place winners of the Indianapolis 500 mile race since 1912 have had Valve-in-Head engines. Buick pioneered the Valve-in-Head engine in 1904 and has used it ever since because it is more powerful, more economical and more dependable.

Has Largest Hands in Baseball

"Tiny" Osborn, one of the best pitchers on the Brooklyn Dodgers, boasts the largest hands in baseball. He can hold, without difficulty, five league baseballs, a feat that no other hands in baseball can accomplish.

COUNTY JUNIOR LEAGUE

Table with 3 columns: Team Name, W., L., Pct. Rows include Sacred Hearts, Levins, Crosswords, Orioles, Blue and Grays, Mohicans.

Crosswords Do Not Play Port Reading

Owing to the failure of the Port Reading Mohicans to show up for their scheduled game at Brady's Field last Sunday, the Crosswords remained in a tie with the Orioles for third place in the Middlesex County Junior Baseball League.

For this Sunday's opposition the Crosswords draw the Orioles as their opponents, and the contest should be an interesting one to follow, since both teams are tied for third and the Perth Amboy team nosed out the locals in a tight game here a short time ago.

White Sox Star Rookie

Here is pictured Ike Davis, the rookie from the Columbus team, who has made good with the White Sox. Davis has been assigned to the regular berth at shortstop by Manager Collins, and his work is hailed with great acclaim by all the baseball experts.

BASEBALL SQUIDS

- Quincy, one of the new teams in the Three-I league, will be known as the Reds. Professional baseball and college football draw the largest crowds in sports. The University of California baseball team will invade the East this season. Waterbury has unconditionally released Rip Conway, who has failed to come to terms. Bucky Harris is leading a fighting ball club, one never whipped until the last man is out. For the first time in ten years, the Cleveland Indians are without a spitball pitcher this season. Toronto, of the International, has obtained nineteen-year-old Outfielder Cleo Carlyle from Detroit on option. Jerry Wadsworth, son of United States Senator James Wadsworth, is a member of the Yale baseball team. Even a bag of peanuts and an electric fan cannot make baseball by radio as thrilling as sitting in the bleachers. The Cincinnati club has insured Rube Benton for $15,000 and Jack Hendricks for $20,000. Hain't wuth it. Condon, a rookie, has been released by London of the Michigan-Ontario league. A sore arm hastened his departure. Joubert Davenport, the Chicago White Sox pitcher who hurt his arm some time ago, has his wing back in good shape again. Homer Jenkins, former star left-handed pitcher of Georgetown university, has been signed by the Washington Americans. Ernest J. Mann, right-hand pitcher of the New York Giants, has been sold to the Indianapolis team of the American association. Jack Bruner, southpaw with the Springfield Western association club, has been sold to Quincy, of the Three-I league. It is announced. Manager G. H. Sisler of the St. Louis Browns, is rating his club four-fold better than a year ago. Every department is improved, he said. Manager C. B. Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals, makes no reservations in saying that his club is the best team he has ever led in that city. The hitting of Fred Lucas of the Boston Braves, converted from a pitcher to a second baseman, is enough to give him full claim to that position. W. R. Shoop of Reading, Pa., has been elected captain of the Yale freshman baseball team. Shoop prepared at Phillips Andover academy and is a pitcher. Basing his belief that reserve strength is the main factor in a major league pennant race, T. R. Cobb states that the Detroit Tigers should win the American league pennant.

Throwing Glove at Ball. It frequently happens that a player, during an exciting part of a game, will forget himself and hit a batted ball with the glove he has removed from his hand. The penalty for such an offense is three bases being awarded if a batted ball and two bases for a thrown ball. The glove or cap must actually hit the ball in order that the bases be awarded, but if the glove or cap misses the ball, no penalty is drawn.

Atlanta will be the scene of the Dixie motorcycle rally and joint gypsy tours on June 12 and 13. In Australia sports are considered to be at least as important as the business life of the nation. Oberlin college's concrete and steel stadium will seat 5,200 fans. It will be ready for next fall's football contests. According to followers of bullfights, to face a wild bull unarmed is believed to be the most hazardous sport in the world today. The annual golf tournament for the Pacific Northwest intercollegiate championship will be held in Portland the third week of May. The American Osteopathic Golf association championship will be held over the Lambert Golf and Country club course, Toronto, in July.

INSTALLMENT PLAN GETS RACE TICKET

The only person who ever purchased a ticket to a 500-mile race on the installment plan—an eight-year-old newsboy, seven years ago—has just purchased his due for the 1925 International contest which will be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30.

Newsboy Paid Way to Automobile Contest by Paying Ten Cents Down.

Seven years ago, as a tot scarcely able to see over the seat sale counter, he pleaded that a ticket be sold him on the ten cents down, ten cents a week plan. He was a good salesman and won. He hasn't missed a race since. "I have just returned from a wonderful vacation," he wrote—for he cannot speak audibly—when he came to the Speedway office this year. "I walked out to Denver and back, selling papers and working along the route. I saw a lot of strange things." His vision also is impaired. Ralph's first seat cost a dollar. Then he jumped to a $7 box seat the following year. But after his one year of extravagance he has continued to park himself in the dollar section. Undoubtedly he enjoys the race more thoroughly than any of the more fortunate patrons who can afford $25 vantage points from which to watch the daring speedsters. The newsboy's patronage is looked upon as a good omen at the Speedway plant. Ever since he started his unusual purchase plan, the crowd has swelled each year. "No more tickets will ever be sold on the installment plan, though," smiled T. E. "Pop" Myers, general manager of the Speedway, in answer to a leading question.

"Topper" Rigney Trains Glove to Improve Play

Topper Rigney of the Detroit Tigers thinks his glove will help improve his play this season. Rigney has been three years breaking in a glove that suits him. He says it has the "feel" he has been seeking. Two of Rigney's troubles have been high flies over the infield and hard-hit grounders. Occasionally, the fly balls have not "stuck" after he has reached them and frequently he has been handcuffed by ground smashes. To a large extent the blame for the errors has been on gloves that were not sufficiently pliable to let the shortstop "freeze" on to the ball when it was once in his hand. Rigney says the glove he is wearing now is thoroughly broken.

Errors by Bennett Bring Out History

When Young Bennett, subbing for Jacobson in center field for the Browns in the opening game with Cleveland the other day, made three errors on as many chances it was thought he had set a record for misplays in the pastures. But while the tot's performance was terrible, in plain words, it was still a bit shy of the mark rung up by Al Selbach, Baltimore outfielder, on Aug. 19, 1902. That afternoon Selbach came through with exactly five errors. It was the worst performance in American league history and tied the National record.

Rovers Win Loop Tilt

From Clovers, 7-6

A home run by Frank Versegi with two men on the bags was a feature of the Rovers' victory over the Clovers in a Junior League game Monday evening at the Tank oval. The final score of the contest was 7 to 6. The hitting which actually decided the game resulted in the seventh and final frame. Smolensky's single, Viater's triple and Depolito's single turned the trick, which caused the first defeat of the Clovers in the loop.

Lincolns Protest

The Lincolns lost a close battle to the Liberties by 18 to 16 in a Junior League contest at Brady's Field on Wednesday evening, but the management has decided to protest the victory. It is alleged that the winners had Frank Versegi, a Rover player, in their lineup and that Versegi figured in six of the counters scored by the Liberties. Also Jess Sullivan, who hit a homer, is claimed to be a Clover player.

HUMANITY'S STRUGGLE

"How early in life ambition assails us," said the young father to a friend as they watched young hopeful attempt to get his big toe in his mouth. "Look at him, only six months old, and not a worry in the world, but he can't let well enough alone. He has to start trying to make both ends meet. It's lucky he doesn't know what a life-long job he's begun."

BOY SCOUT TROOPS TO ASSMBLE HERE

Sixteen Troops of Perth Amboy District Council to Assemble At New Borough Hall at 7:45 o'Clock Monday Evening.

This Monday evening, June 15th, boy scout leaders representing sixteen troops of the Perth Amboy District Council, Boy Scouts of America, will assemble in this borough for the big District Court of Honor.

This event will be held on the steps of the new Memorial Municipal Building and is scheduled for 7:40 o'clock.

Mayor Thomas J. Mulvihill has been requested to address the troops on this occasion. Chairman Glenworth Sturgis, chairman of the District Court of Honor, has informed each scout leader that a large number of Merit Badge awards will be made.

A very cordial invitation is extended to all council members, parents and others to attend the ceremonies.

Calvin Coolidge Jr. Troop No. 2 will meet at the corner of the Free Public Library tonight, June 12, and proceed to the open lots in rear of Chrome avenue, where final tests will be given to the boys by Scoutmaster Robinson in preparation for the Court of Honor that will take place on Monday evening, June 15th, at the new Memorial Municipal Building.

Both Carteret troops and a number from this district will take part in this event. Troop No. 2 will meet Monday evening at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 P. M. and march to the Court of Honor with colors and color guards.

Flag day under the auspices of the Perth Amboy B. P. O. E. will be another event in which Troop No. 2 will take an active part, this will be held on Sunday afternoon at Perth Amboy High School and final instructions will be given the troop on Friday evening by the scoutmaster.

Friends of Schneider Predict Victory

Friends of Frederick C. Schneider, who for eight years has been a leader of the Republican party in Middlesex County, declare that his nomination in the primary election next Tuesday will insure a Republican congressman from the Third District to support President Calvin Coolidge.

Because of his splendid record, and years of service to his party and his state, leaders in the three counties are predicting his victory at the primary. Mr. Schneider's career has been almost spectacular. Born in a log cabin upon a government land grant in Kansas, his family moved to New Brunswick when he was but one year old. He put himself through the New Brunswick public schools and through Rutgers College by selling newspapers, and after he was graduated became instructor in surveying and mathematics in Trinity College. Later he became city engineer of New Brunswick, and is today president of the Utility Construction Company. He is vice president of the New Brunswick Trust Company, and is a director in other financial institutions. He was elected by an overwhelming vote to become a member of New Jersey's War Legislature, serving in the Assembly during 1917 and 1918. During the war he was a four-minute speaker, backing up his pleas to the public by becoming one of Middlesex County's largest purchasers of bonds in each issue. For eight years he has been State Committeeman, leading his party to notable success in his county.

Unassuming in manner, Fred Schneider is a man of few words, but those words carry with them a weight of meaning that never leaves his hearers in doubt as to his stand upon public issues. Having served upon numerous State commissions, under appointment of the Legislature and by both Republicans and Democratic governors, he is splendidly conversant with New Jersey's economic needs, and because of his political experience and his knack of making and holding friends, his supporters believe that he will have but little difficulty in being elected to Congress as a supporter of Calvin Coolidge.

AUCTION SALE OF PERTH AMBOY TRACT

Pardee Property, Located On Both Sides of Convery Place and Adjacent Streets, To Be Sold at Public Auction.

Comparatively few real estate operators, investors and builders have any idea of the sharp increases recorded recently in the value of real estate in Perth Amboy, where it is a slogan that "Never a dollar has been lost in real estate."

Perth Amboy, which has been called "The New York of New Jersey," is the location of the new $4,000,000 Victory Bridge, which at the foot of Convery Place at Smith Street, crosses the Raritan River and forms the principal automobile route to the Ocean Boulevard and the Jersey Coast resorts. Victory Bridge is now nearing completion, and this section of Perth Amboy, a large portion of which comprises the one-time holdings of the Pardee Steel Co., is at the threshold of the almost unprecedented boom in building it is expected will follow the completion of the bridge.

The Pardee property which lies on both sides of Convery Place with large additional frontages on Smith street, the new Fayette street, as extended to Convery Place, and on adjacent streets and thoroughfares, has been subdivided into 527 business and residential lots and, by instructions from the Perth Amboy Trust Co., trustee, is to be sold, in separate lots, at absolute auction by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, on Friday evening, June 26th, at 7 P. M., on the premises, and on Saturday, June 27th, at 2 P. M., on the premises.

The Perth Amboy Trust Co. announces that no assessments are to be paid by purchasers for improvements now being installed, including sewers and grading of streets. Smith street is the financial center and main business street of Perth Amboy, Fayette street is an important business thoroughfare, running direct from the Staten Island ferry, while Convery Place is the direct approach to the new $4,000,000 Victory Bridge over the Raritan River.

Recalling Legislation

A bill which has reached the President may only be recalled by concurrent action of the two houses. Should one of the houses improperly request the return of a bill the President should refuse to return it. The form used is as follows: "Resolved by the house of representatives (the senate concurring), That the President be requested to return to the house of representatives the bill (H. R. ) (title)." After the concurrent resolution passes both houses it is formally transmitted to the White House.

Clouds Provide Mount With Its Tablecloth

One of the most interesting sights to be seen in cloudland is the "spreading of the tablecloth" over Table mountain in South Africa. When a northerly or southeasterly wind sweeps in from the southern ocean the moist air cools by expansion and a dense white cloud spreads over the summit, the Cleveland Plain Dealer says.

It is particularly striking because a perfectly cloudless sky generally prevails at the same time over the surrounding country. The cloud forms a level layer and pours over the leeward edge of the mountain, dissolving and disappearing at a fairly definite level. Thus the picture of a "tablecloth" is complete.

The wind that causes the cloud is always more or less violent, and after making the sweep of the mountain it descends in a cataract into the city of Cape Town, which it fills with dust and uproar. The suddenness with which the cloud forms is a source of danger to persons who make the ascent of Table mountain.

The s. w. cor. of Smith and Hobart Sts., (195x100) sold, about 15 years ago, for $11,400. A few years later the owner died and the property was sold for $70,000. The new owner held it for about 2 years and sold it for $125,000. Buyer resold in ten days for $135,000. Present owner has refused $300,000. ## TO SELL LOTS NEAR "VICTORY BRIDGE"

Pardee Property To Be Sold At Public Auction Next Friday and Saturday by Joseph P. Day, On the Premises.

One of the large barriers to the growth of Perth Amboy will be removed when Joseph P. Day sells the Pardee property at public auction next Friday evening, June 26th, at 7 o'clock, on the premises, and on Saturday, June 27th, at 2 P. M., on the premises, rain or shine.

This great property, which is located directly at the entrance to the new $4,000,000 Victory Bridge across the Raritan River to the Jersey Coast resorts and on both sides of Convery Place, the approach to the bridge, is also on Smith street, the principal business and financial centre and on Fayette street, another of the principal thoroughfares and the new route to the Staten Island ferry, has had a most interesting history.

In the early 50's, Marcus Spring, a learned and cultured man, was the owner of an extensive tract of land, of which the present Pardee tract was a part. Mr. Spring, while an artist, soon turned his property into what was then considered to be one of the finest scientific stock farms in America. He also was a partner of the late H. B. Clafin of New York. Mr. Spring was in the habit weekly of driving to New York, going by carriage along the old Fox Road to what is now New Brunswick avenue, and thence to the old steamboat landing where the "Tom Hunt," a modest little steamboat would convey him to New York. This boat made a round trip daily to New York and at that time was the only means of travel to the "Great Metropolis."

A few years after Mr. Spring acquired the property he started a Military Academy, which proved to be a most popular institution. Major Wiswall of the Union Army was head of the academy.

On the present Pardee property there is a building, which at the present time is used by the Pardee Tile Co. and which formerly was part of the old military academy. The building in which at the present time are located the offices of the Pardee Steel Corporation once was the studio of Mr. Spring. Also, close to where Fayette street is now being cut through there still stands on the old Fox Hill Road, the studio of George Inness, Sr., the renowned landscape painter, whose painting the "Monarchs of the Farm" now stands in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

In the years that have passed since the occupancy of the Pardee property Mr. Spring and the Military Academy, Perth Amboy has grown to be one of the most important industrial and business cities in the Raritan River section of New Jersey. Smith street, on which a number of

The borough fathers devoted the greater part of their time to action on street and sidewalk improvements. A total of nine resolutions were introduced by Councilman Frank Andres and approved authorizing the clerk to advertise for bids for the many improvements. A number of ordinances were also passed.

Resolutions for the following improvements were passed:

Sidewalks and curbs on Lowell street (two sections), sidewalks and curbs, Thornell street; sidewalks and curbs, Holly street; paving McKinley avenue; paving Lincoln avenue; paving and sidewalks and curbs, Emerson street, curbs Randolph street. Also ordinances at the first and second readings for sidewalks and curbs on McKinley avenue and ordinances at the third and final readings changing and establishing the grade on Washington avenue were also introduced by Councilman Andres and approved.

A resolution was also introduced by Councilman Andres and passed authorizing the Board of Health to assume charge of the dog situation and the appointment of a dog warden. An ordinance was introduced at the first and second readings amending the previous ordinance and increasing the fee to $2.

The council received bids for the garbage collection from July 1 of this year. Thomas H. Walker bid $8,880 and Steve January $11,775.

Residents of St. Ann's street petitioned the council for a larger water main. They also asked for a gas main. On motion of Councilman Andres the clerk will write to the water company and gas company respectively to comply with the taxpayers request. Residents of Heald street petitioned the council for sidewalks and curbs. On motion of Councilman Andres the engineer and attorney were authorized to draw up the necessary ordinances. Edwin street residences petitioned for a gas main. Borough Clerk H. V. O. Platt will communicate with the Perth Amboy Gas Company to that effect.

Councilman Andres brought up the question of the dump. He said that the nuisance is the cause of much complaint. Mayor Mulvihill agreed that the situation is deplorable and the street and roads committee was authorized to procure a quantity of ashes for that point. Councilman Samuel B. Brown was authorized to place three large lights at the three corners of the new Memorial Municipal Building.

Mayor Mulvihill reported on the conference and he and the council held with Middlesex County farmers at Spotswood on Sunday. Councilman Walter Vonah told of the need of an icebox in the new borough hall. The building committee was authorized to buy it. Borough Collector Charles A. Brady was authorized to pay the county tax for the first six months amounting to approximately $80,000 and he was also authorized to redeem a note for $60,000 from the First National Bank.

Present at the session were Mayor Mulvihill, Councilmen Andres, Ellis, Vonah, Brown and Phillips.

The Folks Who Know

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THERE are four kinds of folks who know;

The first know not at all,
And very frankly tell you so—
Yes, when they can't recall
The name of this, the name of that,
Own up, and let it go at that.

The second class will wink the eye
And try with hems and haws
To make you think the right reply
They do not give because,
Although they know, it might be well,
Perhaps be better, not to tell.

The third reply right off the reel,
Whatever you inquire,
And love their knowledge to reveal
To student, sage and sire—
Know everything that comes along,
And almost always know it wrong.

The fourth has studied long and hard.
Experience and book,
Have learned with caution to regard
The things at which they look;
And men like that will tell to you
Not what they know but think they do.

And, of the four, the first and last
Will answer you the best;
The first will never lead you past
The truth; the last will test
The truth before your very eyes,
For naught is certain to the wise.

OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES

IT is only within a few years that these diseases have been grouped and classified, though many of them were recognized and studied two centuries ago—that is, in 1713, by Ramazzini, who observed the disastrous effects of their occupation upon metal diggers, gliders, chemists and tin workers.

Farmers suffer from digestive disease, from poorly cooked food and overeating, though their occupation is one of the healthiest.

Fishermen suffer from exposure, and sometimes from too exclusive a diet of fish; sailors suffer from tuberculosis owing to bad quarters, poor food, bad habits, etc.

Lung disease, anemia, tuberculosis and skin disease attack tanners, blacksmiths, miners, bakers, millers and knife-grinders.

Bad air and inhalation of particles of dust injure their lungs, teeth, mucous membrane and skin.

Workers in copper, lead, arsenic, phosphorus, mercury, tin, zinc and brass are frequently seriously poisoned by the metals with which they are occupied, the result being often a fatal one.

Railroad workers have rheumatism, eye-strain, kidney disease (from constant shaking) and they are always exposed to the danger of serious or fatal injury.

Workers in tunnels and caissons under high atmospheric pressure suffer from blood and nerve diseases, while those who work at great elevation, mountain climbers, aviators and others, have lung diseases on account of diminished air pressure.

Bleachers who work in chlorine, sulphur and acids, aniline dye workers, starch makers and chemical workers in general, are apt to suffer from diseases of the lungs and the skin.

Athletes, and those who work in strained and trying positions, very often have diseases of the heart and lungs, while rupture and aneurism are of common occurrence among porters, blacksmiths and draymen.

Boiler-makers and riveters often become deaf from exposure to constant noise.

Vision is impaired in those who work under strong light, particularly if it is unsteady.

Brewers and saloonkeepers have diseases of the lungs, liver and kidneys, as the result of excesses in alcohol.

Flat-feet, varicose veins and constipation are common ills with cooks, waiters, house-servants, policemen and salesmen.

Glass-blowers, potters and band-players often have emphysema of the lungs, and those who work in India-rubber and inhale carbon bisulphide, or those who inhale benzene and turpentine have headache, poor sight and hearing, and intestinal cramps.

Cabmen, commercial travelers and public officials are frequent sufferers from indigestion; while instrument-players, typewriter operators and bookkeepers have cramp and palsies of the hands.

Printers are often tuberculous; and shoemakers, tailors and sedentary workers are victims of hemorrhoids, constipation and indigestion.

In many of these cases, disease is preventable, which is a fact every working man and woman should consider. No constitution is so rugged that it may not break down when the laws of health are persistently disregarded.

Small Elsie Did Not Want Another Oyster!

Oysters, like olives, are an acquired taste, and a taste that some persons never acquire. There are many, says E. E. Whiting, writing cheerfully in the Boston Herald, who sympathize with the oft-quoted young woman who said: "I'm glad I don't like oysters, because if I liked 'em I'd eat 'em, and I hate 'em." There are many also who will feel akin in spirit with the little girl who was making her first appearance at a home dinner at which there were grownup guests.

The first course was oysters on the half-shell. Her mother observed approvingly the placidity and exemplary demeanor of her daughter, and thought to remove some of the solemnity and restraint of the occasion by letting the child into the joys of the dinner. So she said:

"Would Elsie like a nice oyster?" Elsie looked doubtful, but dutifully opened her timid mouth, and mother popped an oyster into it. Elsie closed her lips, and the mother turned her attention to her guests and her oysters. She got to the last oyster on her plate and then remembered her child, whose silence and sustained good manners continued to make a most delightful impression. So she turned to the child and asked: "Would Elsie like another nice oyster?"

A look of anguish came into the face of the patient little girl. She gently and cautiously parted her lips just far enough to reply: "I don't want 'is 'un!"

Has Loan of Books Reduced to System

I was much interested to read an appeal in the personal columns of the London Times for the return of any books borrowed from the late William Archer. There must have been a great many, or this advertisement would scarcely have been worth while. I do not suppose there is a reader who has not suffered from book borrowing, and yet we all borrow books upon occasion.

The trick of it, I have found, is to have a distance limit. If the borrower lives within five miles of my house, I lend with pleasure, as I know that I can always get the book back when I want it. If the borrower, on the other hand, lives some distance away, I say: "My friend, I make my living with my pen and my books. You are asking me for one of my tools, a tool that I may need at any moment. Should the need arise when the book is still with you I should curse you, and that would spoil our friendship."

Preserved Charter

The Charter oak is a tree famous in American history. It stood in Hartford, Conn., and derived its name from the following circumstance: In 1687, Sir Edmund Andros, the royal governor, appeared at Hartford and demanded the charter of the colony in the name of James II of England. While the assembly, in session at Hartford, was considering the governor's request, the lights were suddenly extinguished; and, in the darkness and confusion that ensued, the charter was snatched from the table by a patriot, Capt. William Wadsworth, and secreted in the hollow of an oak tree. This tree, which was ever after known as the Charter oak, was carefully preserved until 1866, when it was destroyed in a violent storm. The charter was renewed when William and Mary ascended the throne in 1689.—Kansas City Times.

Good Story, Anyway

The popular story of how the Spanish province of Andalusia acquired its name is told by Eleanor Blener in one of her travel books. "Early explorers entering the province met a peasant indolently driving a mule over a pass; they begged him to tell them the name of this sunny and pleasant land, presumably in a language or dialect of which he understood never a word. He looked them over, silent and smiling in the usual Spanish fashion, then, turning to his mule, called out, 'Anda, Lucia,' which simply meant 'Go on, Lucia'; but the strangers took it to be the name of the country, which they registered on their rough charts as Andalusia."

Misplaced Sympathy

When Sir Henry Hawkins, the famous judge, was practicing at the bar, on one occasion having the prisoner's children present in the courtroom during his summing up, by his pathetic references to these weeping children he so worked on the sympathies of the jurors that they promptly set the prisoner free. A few days later a friend told him he had been walking in the neighborhood of the prisoner's home during the early days of the trial and had seen these same children playing at hanging a cat, at the same time singing at the top of their voices: "This is the way daddy will go."

Gave Name to Fruit

Shaddock is another name for a grapefruit. The pomelo, shaddock, or grapefruit (Citrus decumana) is a native of southern China. This fruit is more sour than an orange but less sour than a lemon. The name pomelo is from the Dutch name Pompelemoes. Shaddock was the name of a captain who brought the fruit to the West Indies. By some authorities a distinction is made between shaddock and grapefruit, shaddock being the larger, the grapefruit the smaller, having a fine flavor. They are grown plentifully in Jamaica, Cuba, California and most Oriental countries.

AS TOLD BY Irvin S. Cobb

THE VOICE OF PROTEST

A DISTINGUISHED bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church in North Carolina was entertaining a number of his preachers at a chicken supper, following the holding of the annual conference.

Except one very small and very black presiding elder, all present were of an impressive size and bearing. So probably it was only natural that in serving the guests the host should entirely overlook the little man.

Presently the time came for replenishing the plates, and now the bishop saw the small figure wedged in behind two wide, broadclothed forms.

"Brother Jones," he inquired in his best pulpit voice, "will you have more chicken?"

"More?" shrilled Brother Jones indignantly. "more? Huh! I ain't never had some yit!"

Mother's Cook Book

No splendor of service can compensate for inferior or badly cooked food. A college for women which does not send back to her home the daughter more willing and capable to enter into the home problems and solve them with heartiness and grace, is not an institution of learning. It is an institution of unlearning.—Frank Gun-sauls.

HINTS AND THINGS

TO KEEP sandwiches fresh for another day, place them on a large plate and cover with another, then wrap in a towel wrung out of cold water. This method keeps them moist without being soaked in any part.

When making layer cake, bake three layers. Cut one into half and use with a filling of whipped cream. Put the other together with a boiled frosting, chopped raisins and a few nuts. This will keep fresh for several days and you have two cakes with the work of preparing one.

In most homes there will be an occasional slice of dry bread. This may be soaked, added to sour milk and used for griddle cakes or made.

Queen of Bread Pudding.

Take one pint each of milk and bread crumbs, the yolks of two eggs, one cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful of melted butter, the juice of half a lemon. Beat the whites of the eggs very stiff, add two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, mix the pudding and pour into a baking dish, cover with a layer of powdered sugar, then lemon juice and top with the meringue. Bake until firm. Serve with cream or dot with bits of jelly and serve the pudding hot.

Pineapple Sandwiches.

These are nice to serve with a cup of tea or an iced drink. Take one cupful of shredded pineapple, three-quarters of a cupful of sugar, and the juice of half a lemon. Cook until thick. When cold spread on sponge drops cut into halves, put together sandwich fashion.

Veal Birds.

Take thin veal steak cut from the leg. Cut into pieces two by four inches. Lay on a piece of salt pork, roll and fasten with a toothpick, cover with seasoned flour, brown in enough butter to brown well. Place in a baking dish and cover with rich milk. Bake in a slow oven for half an hour. Serve the thickened sauce poured around the veal birds. The pieces of meat may be cut larger and any desired bread stuffing used; roll up and cook as above.

Gelatin Pudding.

Take a half cupful or more of any fruit juice left from canned fruit, measure, and when making prepared jello add the fruit juice instead of water, dissolving the jello in boiling water and finish the pint with the fruit juice.

Pineapple, peach or plum juice is especially good with lemon jello. A little of the juice from pickled peaches or pears adds much to the mince pie which we all enjoy.

Very small baking powder biscuit broken open, buttered and spread with jam and served, make a tasty hot sandwich to serve with a cup of tea or cocoa.

World's Deepest Rivers

In Canada, a section of the Upper Ottawa river is believed to be from 6,000 to 7,000 feet deep, north of Pembroke, Ont. This is considered by far the deepest river in the world. Another Canadian river, the Saguenay, is from 100 to 3,000 feet deep. Few rivers are more than 100 feet in depth. The Mississippi rises to 80 to 100 feet at flood. The Amazon in its lower course is about 180 feet deep.

The Convenience of Electricity!

Not only because it furnishes POWER in practically unlimited amounts, but also because it delivers that power in the most economical and efficient way, permitting the abolition of cumbersome mechanism and the reduction of overhead expense, Central Station service is becoming increasingly popular in industry.

That is one of the reasons why the industrial load of Public Service Electric and Gas Company increased by some fourteen per cent in 1924, and why its future growth is assured.

The popularity with the investing public of securities backed by public utility earnings reflects the general confidence in the continuing development and earning power of such enterprises. Buy

NEW CENTRAL OFFICE

WILL OPEN IN JULY

Telephone Company States New Woodbridge Central Office Will Be Placed In Service Some Time During the Month of July.

According to information just received from D. H. Ford, local commercial manager for the New York Telephone Company, the new Woodbridge central office, which is being installed in the recently erected Brewster Building on William street, will be placed in service some time during July.

The installation, has been under way for some time, and the special forces of telephone men handling the job will soon begin the final preparations for transferring Woodbridge telephone lines from the old central office on Main and School streets to the new switchboard.

This new switchboard and its associated apparatus, which will be located on the second floor, will provide for a considerable increase in local telephone development in that it will be capable of serving more than 2,000 telephones throughout Woodbridge and Carteret. In addition to the relocation of the central office, a considerable amount of new cable has been placed to cars for the increasing demands for telephone service.

The system followed in transferring lines from one central office to another, has been worked out so that there is practically no interruption in the service. Just before the "cut-over" as the transfer lines is called, every telephone connection which is then established at the old office will be set up in duplicate at the new switchboard. When the transfer is made the whole transaction will be completed so quickly that those who are telephoning at the time will hardly know that the change has been made.

Commenting upon the new system, Mr. Ford points out that the subscribers in placing a call will merely lift the receiver from the hook thus causing a tiny lamp, one of which is associated with every subscriber's line on the switchboard, to light, thus signalling the operator.

With the new system in operation, the following suggestions made by Mr. Ford will be helped:

"To call central, remove the receiver from the hook and when the operator answers give the desired number in the usual way.

"Do not hang up the receiver until you have finished the conversation as by doing so you will signal the operator to discontinue your line.

"Do not leave the receiver off the hook when the telephone is not in use.

Mr. Ford says that the exact date for placing the new system in operation will be announced later, and he

SPRING PRIMARY FIASCO

Tuesday's vote in Middlesex County and throughout the state clearly indicated that the lawmakers at Trenton did not do the right thing by changing the primaries from the fall to the spring. In Carteret only a third of the usual primary vote was cast while in Middlesex County nearly 10,000 less ballots were cast than last year. Candidates in the primary race who may have had a chance in the fall, lost out at the June primary.

However when some of the Republican politicians glance over the Carteret results of the five polls will see that they had good support in the borough. Thanks to Mayor Mulvihill, Frederick Schneider polled the highest vote here, a total of 110. Thomas F. McCran received 105 votes. Other candidates won less than fifty votes. If McCran and Schneider had such workers as Mayor Mulvihill and his leaders in other districts they surely would have come out on top.

SCOUT HONORS

Those who attended the court of honor of the Boy Scouts of America held on Monday evening on the steps of the Memorial Municipal Building were greatly impressed with the way the scouts from different troops of the county received with much pride awards for various deeds. Many of Carteret youths were among those who were adored with honors. For instance a tenderfoot badge was awarded to Carteret's newest scout, Carroll Britain, of the Calvin Coolidge Jr. Troop No. 2 of this borough. Alan Phillips, son of Councilman and Mrs. Charles A. Phillips, of the same troop was awarded with a star scout badge and merit badges in astronomy craftsmanship in wood, cycling, scholarship, pathfinding and electricity. And as Mayor Mulvihill well remarked, these honored boys had to work to deserve them. And what a splendid example such boys make to the other boys of the borough.

The ceremony was a sight worth while. It is too bad that the entire youth, with their mothers and fathers were not there to witness it.

WATCH YOUR YOUNGSTERS

The swimming season is on. And the hot weather too. Many of the youngsters are turning their attentions for the nearest swimming hole. The past summers have taught us a good lesson. Many boys were drowned. Some of the victims were our own Carteret boys. This, we feel is an opportune time to remind the fathers, mothers or guardians to look after their children with great care and warn them of the consequences.

BOY SCOUTS ARE HONORED

Court of Honor Is Held On the Steps of the New Memorial Municipal Building On Monday Evening.

Carteret Boy Scouts were among those to receive honors at the court of honor held on the steps of the new Memorial Municipal Building on Monday night.

The program opened with the singing of the first verse of "America," Scoutmaster J. D. Robinson of this borough acting as song leader. Chairman Glenworth Sturgis of the Court of Honor then took charge and introduced the speakers. Mayor T. J. Mulvihill, who gave an official welcome to the visiting troops and commented on the splendid principles of citizenship training which the Boy Scout program is giving boys.

A tenderfoot badge was then presented by Scout Executive J. D. Carstang to Carteret's newest scout, Carroll Brittain, of the Calvin Coolidge Jr. Troop No. 2. The troop charter for the new year as well as the scoutmaster's leadership certificate were then given to Troop Committeeman Calderhead and Scoutmaster Robinson.

Numerous other awards of scout badges then occupied the program, these presentations being made by Rev. C. B. Mitchell, H. W. Thorn, A. B. McDowell and others. The scouts who received tenderfoot badges were: William Miller, Jens Jensen and John Catelli of U. S. Grant Troop 13, Perth Amboy, a second class badge to Scout Werner Johnke of the same troop and first class badges to Scouts Tony Wastrovich, John Montani, Jack Markarckek of Troop 13. Scout Sam Siegel of Troop 2, Perth Amboy, Scout Ernest Dillard of Troop 8 Perth Amboy, and Scout James Knox of Troop 1, Avenel.

As a closing feature the scouts recited in unison the scout oath and gave an "America" yell, Assistant Deputy Commissioner Joseph Goldstein acting as leader.

FAST MOTOR ROUTE FROM DAWN TO DUSK

International Road Opened to Canada Points Way to Summer Tourists to Visit Wonderland In and Near Winnipeg.

Summer tourists have been given a new and fast motor car route into the Canadian wonderland in and near Winnipeg by a "dawn till dusk" run at 41 miles an hour from Winnipeg to Minneapolis, sponsored by Dominion and Minnesota officials and the Winnipeg Tribune.

Mayor Ralph Webb of Winnipeg personally brought Canada's welcome to all America, riding in the official leading car which set the new daylight time record.

The 494 mile ribbon of excellent highway, flowing over fertile plains to the Canadian province from Minneapolis, now covered in a few minutes less than 12 hours, was that known as the Red River trail in the old days when prairie schooners required a little less than a month to reach the portals of old Fort Garry.

Aside from the neighborly relations promoted by the trip between the northern province and Minnesota's cities, the feat brings to pointed attention the splendid opportunity this route provides for Americans to use in entering the open places, the lakes and woods of Canada for summer touring, where scenery, inspiring climate and excellent fishing await the traveler.

The route, running south from Winnipeg, runs through Morris, Emerson, Hallock, Warren, Crookston, Erskine, Mahanomen, Detroit, Wadena, Long Prairie, Little Falls, St. Cloud and Minneapolis.

Mayors of all these cities lifted the speed limits for the caravan and provided escorts of motorcycle police and fire equipment to help establish the 12-hour record.

G. L. Maitland pulled his Studebaker Big Six away from the Winnipeg city hall at 4:55 o'clock in the morning. In the official car with him were Mayor Webb, Roy Parkhill, a world war aviator, as relief driver; A. W. McCurdy of the Winnipeg Tribune, and B. W. Sewell, a Minnesota highway superintendent.

Eleven cars strung out behind Maitland as the cavalcade set out at 50 miles an hour for Minneapolis, 500 miles away, to establish new international history and open the new international highway.

The caravan was held up for 65 minutes at one place where a broken gas line in one of the cars was repaired. One puncture, a wait for gasoline and a heavy rainstorm worked further delay but the big Studebaker drew up in front of Minneapolis' city hall to bring greetings to Brig. Gen. George E. Leach, its mayor, at 5:01 P. M.

Actual running time of 10 hours, 36 minutes, affords an average actual speed of 46.5 miles an hour, indicative of the fine character of this new roadway into Canada which is now available for American tourists.

Out of the twelve cars starting, the Studebaker and two others kept the schedule.

STARTING this week The Carteret Trust Company, of Carteret, N. J., is sending personal representatives to see its friends about their banking needs.

Our service has always been available to all the people—old and young, rich and poor—but now we are going to the people with personal explanations of our banking services and a personal welcome to every one who needs them.

We bespeak your courtesies for our representative when he calls on you and believe you will find the time you give him is not only well spent but well invested.

SLOWING DOWN

WHEN we of normal health and strength begin to proceed more slowly than is our wont, put off attending to our customary duties and neglect to fill each day with a full day's work, the inference is that we are taking a step on the downward path.

Pleasant as these steps are in the beginning, they soon become the cause of untold sorrows, from which in later life it is frequently impossible to escape.

A musician who fails to practice daily soon loses his dexterity. His mind becomes sluggish, his fingers clumsy and his eyes less alert.

So it is in any other profession or in craftsmanship.

The man or woman who shows signs of slowing down is making the first step toward going down. In a little while this is observed in changed attitudes of thought and action. The world is seen from a new viewpoint. Any effort to recover lost ground is fatiguing.

There is no more delight in the old chase, no joyous inspiration in seeking to excel our own best efforts.

We have become inert and indifferent. To make an unusual gesture is wearisome to the flesh. To lure from its lair some great idea which shall set the world agog is impossible, for we are descending to the lowlands where resourcefulness has perished and hopes buried beyond our reach.

As compared with eternity, life is but an existence of a moment, but it is our duty to make the best of it by being always active in climbing the high hills, which take us a little nearer the heavens.

To keep going, to continue to press toward the heights ought to be our chief compelling purpose.

It is better to wear the rags of honor than to be found among the faithless who have turned their eyes from the hilltops and lost their way.

Even if at the end we can show only one soul we have influenced for good, we shall be remembered and blessed.

And when we close our eyes in the final sleep we shall have the sweet consciousness of having never turned back, having never lost our faith nor hesitated in the doing of our duties as we understood them, though at times the paths were hard and our hearts were troubled with doubts and fears.

An IMPORTANT CHANGE IN POLICY

STUDEBAKER herewith announces the discontinuance of the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year. Instead of bringing Studebaker Cars dramatically up-to-date once in twelve months, WE SHALL KEEP THEM UP-TO-DATE ALL THE TIME—with every improvement and refinement made available by our great engineering and manufacturing resources. This policy not only directly benefits present Studebaker owners, but it also enables purchasers of new cars to obtain models that are always modern—WITHOUT THE NECESSITY OF WAITING FOR ANNUAL CHANGES, and without the danger of their new cars becoming obsolete.

BACK of this new policy is an amazing story—of interest to everyone who owns or expects to own an automobile.

The dramatic success of the present line of Studebaker Cars is one reason for this important change. Month after month we keep breaking records—sales keep piling up. This year we will sell almost four times as many automobiles as we produced in the big boom year which followed the war.

Owners report endurance records, even beyond our greatest expectations. Out in the rugged mountain regions where Studebaker sells four times its normal proportion of cars, owners talk about these models in the most extravagant terms. In 1924 the Corporation's sale of repair parts dropped to $10 per car per year. Mechanical stamina under severe usage—remarkable performance under the most difficult travel conditions—THESE ARE THE QUALITIES FOR WHICH STUDEBAKER CARS HAVE LONG BEEN NOTED.

Surely, these significant facts prove beyond any shadow of doubt that Studebaker Cars are so soundly engineered and manufactured and so eminently satisfactory in the hands of owners, THAT DRASTIC ANNUAL CHANGES ARE NOT REQUIRED.

Improvements and refinements will be made from time to time. New features will be added. When our engineering department (maintained at a cost of more than half a million dollars a year) devises an improvement in any model, it will be made without regard to the calendar.

As in the past, we shall continue to pioneer vital betterments that have proved their merit through practical use. Alert, aggressive, receptive to new ideas, resourceful in executing them, guided by scientific research and spurred by imagination, the Studebaker organization proposes to build better motor cars than ever before.

Now you may buy a Studebaker on any day of the year with the confident assurance that the sturdy, thrifty, one-profit car you drive away will not be stigmatized by any act of ours as a "last year's model." Today, in even more generous measure than in the past, Studebaker Cars offer the utmost value for the money.

MAKE SIXTEEN HITS OFF THREE HURLERS

Two Sullivans and Bert Mullan All Share In Mound Duty for Losers—W. Dzurilla Raises Season Homers to Four.

The league leading Belmonts romped home to a one-sided victory over the Tigers in the Twilight League last evening, belting out sixteen hits to win by 14 to 2. Bill Dzurilla led the way with two home runs, one from the delivery of Lanky Curly Sullivan with two runners on the paths in the third inning. The drive was one of the longest seen on the pasture this year.

Pitching success was not prominent with the Jungle moundsmen. An avalanche of base hits rung from the bats of the winners throughout the combat. The Belmonts were held scoreless in only an inning by Bert Mullan, who made his first showing with the Tigers, as relief twirler. Mullan did fairly well in the two innings that he pitched.

The biggest inning of the night came in the third. The Belmonts started off when Joe Trusko singled to center. Mickey Dzurilla hoisted one to H. Sullivan in centerfield, but Makoski shot a single past Chet Young. After Dunn grounded out to Danny Fee, Horai reached first on Ballo's wild heave to first, Trusko and Makoski scoring on the error. Leshick got his third hit of the game by singling to left, scoring Horai. Elko also hit safely to left field in scoring Leshick. That was enough for young Sullivan and the older member of that family entered the box. Curly hit Gip Ginda in the ribs, and Dzurilla poked his first homer, scoring behind Elko and Ginda. Trusko got up for the second time and struck out.

STARS PLAY EVEN BALL WITH EATERS

For nine innings the Mack's Stars and Cadillacs battled to a 7-7 draw at Brady's in a Twilight League tussle, Tuesday evening. Pitcher Zack did not show so well in his first appearance on the mound for the Stars, as he was yanked in favor of Felix Mack in the very first inning due to his unusual wildness. Mack did notable work during his stay, fanning thirteen batters and allowing but seven hits in the nine frames.

Hasbrouck hit for two homers, while Casey, Szelag and Cromwell also belted out similar blows. Casey was star batter of the evening with three hits. Szelag also did good work.

Morris Boxes Kaufman

Local Paul Berlenbach To Clash With Star New Yorker In Ten Round Melee at Long Branch.

Carl Morris, who in previous ring battles has earned a name which means dynamite and danger, will resume his boxing work tonight in a ten rounder at Long Branch with Joey Kaufman, of New York. The card which Morris is showing will be held at the Ocean Park Casino. Other interesting bouts are scheduled to go on before the main affair, in which the local mauler appears. Jimmy Roberts will exchange blows with Willie Walker in the semi-final of eight stanzas.

The local Paul Berlenbach will step into the ring tonight weighing 129 pounds, his standard lightweight limit, which he carries in almost all of his engagements. His training activities have been held with regularity at the St. Joseph's Lyceum Club headquarters and Morris appeared to be in great shape. His wallop is as deadly as ever—and more so.

Has Boy In Lines; Dandy

The latest live wire news from the sporting circles comes from Morris. He claims that he has the future lightweight champion under his wings in the name of Young Ketchell, a junior bantam weight at present; Ketchell will grow considerably and take on weight, which makes us say that his lightweight prospects are dandy.

Ketchell Has Not Any Fights as Yet

but Manager Carl will send him into many stiff workouts before the summer months are in their prime.

X-WORDS TROUNCE OROLES, BY 13 TO 4

Go Into Third Place In Loop; Levines at Brady's Sunday.

The Crosswords showed their real all round strength as a pennant contending outfit, Sunday, in walloping the Perth Amboy Orioles in a Middlesex County Junior League contest at the Raritan Copper Works diamond in Amboy. The final score of the slaughter was 13 to 4. Bill Biesel was leading hitter with a home run, a triple and a single in five times up. Lee smacked out a three-bagger also in his only chance in the game.

The victory puts the locals in undisputed possession of third place, not far behind the second place Levins Stars, who come to town next Sunday afternoon for a battle. This contest should be one worth seeing, since there is a prize at stake and the visiting nine is surely bound to stack up. The game will start at one o'clock sharp.

Reports from up New England way show that Johnny Bruskie, now riding in the professional ranks, is making great headway in his tour of the northern states. He is practically burning up all tracks; his record to date shows four victories, one second, a third, and fifth in seven races on various tracks. The feature of Johnny's success occurred last Saturday at Revere Beach where he defeated Chick Meyers, New England's best sprinter, and F. Bartell in a match race. Bruskie received a hearty applause after this showing, for his skill on the turns and his dazzling speed up the straight way were surely deserving of much praise.

WASHINGTON AVENUE WIDENING DIFFICULT

MANY RESIDENTS BETWEEN EMERSON STREET AND ROOSEVELT AVENUE ARE UNDECIDED WHETHER CONSTRUCTION SHOULD BE DONE BY BOROUGH.

KEPPLER IS APPOINTED BOOKKEEPER

As Assistant to Charles A. Brady and Is To have Office Facilities in Collector of Taxes Department in Memorial Building—Yanari Again Gets Scavenger Contract With Bid of $11,775.

The appointment of Carl Keppler as bookkeeper to assist Charles A. Brady, collector of taxes, was about the most important piece of business accomplished by the Borough Council at its special meeting held in the council chambers of the new Memorial Municipal Building, Wednesday night. The session was held especially for the discussion on an improvement in Washington avenue, however, but nothing was wholly decided upon. It will remain for some property owners situated along Washington avenue as to whether the avenue should be widened for the purpose of laying sidewalks between Emerson street and Roosevelt avenue at their own expense or at that of the borough.

Quite a little discussion and pondering were prominent in the problem, mostly due to the fact that the residents along the portion of Washington avenue most interested in are divided into two divisions: one consisting of property owners who are willing to sacrifice a piece of their land without cost to the borough, and the other of those who believe that the borough should buy the property from them. The borough will agree to lay the sidewalks at its own expense, that is, taking the cost of the improvement out of the budget of appropriations for such improvements. The avenue is not wide enough at the said sections for the laying of sidewalks and therefore each landowner along that section will have to give a portion of his property for the purpose of making the street wider, thus causing the grievances which are a thorn in the side of many residents there. The road is to be widened to fifty feet.

To Draw Up Petition

A petition will be drawn up by the officials who believe that the improvement is necessary and that the land should be sacrificed by the owners without expense to the local government besides the actual laying of the walks, for which the borough will be the financier. The council members will canvass this section—Emerson street to Roosevelt avenue—and learn whether the majority of the people are in favor of the proposed improvement and of sacrificing the allotted land at their own personal expense or not.

The appointment of Mr. Keppler as bookkeeper was perhaps as wise a thing the councilmen could have done. The work of taking care of a million and a half dollar corporation's books is far too great for a single man to carry; and thus the appointment looks to be a brainy one, which was expected for quite some time. Mr. Keppler will have a desk and other office facilities in the Collector's department in the borough hall. His duties will be taken up shortly.

Also Appoint Auditors

H. Brayerman, representing the Universal Auditing Company, was present at the meeting and received the appointment of his company as the 1925 auditors for the borough. The city scavenger was also obtained, but only after a little difficulty. William Walker, a local contractor, was low bidder in the competition to carry away garbage, but owing to the fact that he was not able to procure a bond, Steve Yanari again received the position at a bid of $11,775.

Has Delightful Affair

A large gathering attended the card party under the auspices of the Hyacinth Grove, No. 25, at the Odd Fellows' Hall, Saturday night. Delightful refreshments were served and prizes were awarded to the winners.

He declared the little play "Graduates Choice" taught a lesson that each could take to heart. The diplomas were presented to the graduates by Rev. Father O'Connor. This was a very impressive part of the program.

The exercises opened with the salute to the flag and the singing of "Our God" and "Glory Be to the Father."

HEALTH BOARD PLANS PARADE

Baby Parade for Next September Will Have to Meet Approval of People First Before Action Is Taken—To Discuss Matter.

REPORTS HEARD

Inspector Frank Born Says Bor- oughs Is Free From Contagious Diseases and That Only 2 Diph- theria Cases Were Reported.

The Board of Health discussed at its last meeting a baby parade to be held in September. The officials decided that the cooperation of the people will have to be sought first before any plans are made, and that when the approval of the residents is received they will go through with the event. Other matters were brought into discussion.

A report was issued in regards to contagious diseases and their effect upon the people since January 1 of this year. The fact that the borough is in good health was learned from Inspector Frank Born. He declared that the borough is free from all contagious diseases.

The death rate is low, also, and the inspector and nurses, Miss Anna Maloney and Miss Louise Zimmerman, are devoting their time in seeing that a proper milk supply is obtainable at all times for the local residents. Other foodstuffs are also coming in for their share of inspection. Severe penalties will be placed upon those storekeepers who fail to obey the ruling of the health department which says that all foodstuffs must be covered at all times.

Diphtheria Menace Cut

During the year 1924 the borough had thirty-one cases of diphtheria. Since January 1, 1925, there have been but two cases. The elimination of this disease is believed to be due to the preventive measures known as the toxin treatment which has been administered to 320 children. More children will be given the treatment in the fall.

The Board of Health's department in the new Memorial Municipal Building is splendidly equipped. One of its principal features is the baby clinic, held every Thursday morning from 10 to 12 o'clock. On the average of one hundred and thirty babies are given treatment at the clinic. The tuberculosis clinic is held every second Wednesday. At the last clinic there were forty patients. The number usually runs from ten to fifteen patients, however.

CLOSING EXERCISES WEDNESDAY NIGHT

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-EIGHT STUDENTS ARE RECIPIENTS OF DIPLO- MAS BEFORE LARGE ASSEMBLAGE AT COLUMBUS SCHOOL AUDITORIUM.

WONDERFUL PROGRAM ARRANGED

Graduates Render Declamation, Vocal and Instru- mental Selections, Which Are Heartily Ap- plauded by Audience—Emil Blaukopf Is Win- ner of Declamation prize at Exercises.

Probably the largest gathering ever to assemble in the Columbus School auditorium attended the Eighth Year Graduation exercises last Wednesday night. Every particle of space was taken up, including seats and standing room, by eager fathers, mothers, relatives and friends of the one hundred and twenty-eight children who were promoted and received diplomas as successful grammar grade students. The thrill of being among this group has only been experienced by those who had the occasion to be a graduate—and to see those graduates gathered at the hall was a spectacle.

The exercises were opened by the High School Orchestra which played several selections during the course of the event. Songs were sung by the graduates, including "A Song of India," "Swinging," and "America." Grace Barker rendered a vocal selection entitled "A Gypsy Love Song." A violin selection, "The Old Refrain," was given by Eleanor Bryer, Helen Kleban, Lillian Schwartz, Emil Blaukopf, John Bodnar and Isadore Rabinowitz.

The declamation contest was without a doubt the biggest event on the program for the graduates, omitting the presentation of the diplomas. The prize of five dollars was won by Emil Blaukopf, who gave a talk on Columbus. The little speech had to be almost excellent, which it was, to be better than those rendered by the other contestants.

Francis Monaghan gave an address to the graduates which was well applauded. He pointed out the duties of a high school student and the importance of being one for a person's future struggles with life's problems. The talk was well planned and was worthy of appreciation.

Supervisor Gives Report

Another event on the program was the report of the year's accomplishments in both the grammar and high school departments by Miss B. V. Hermann. The total enrollment number, which has been a subject of varied importance during the past few years, was given. There were 2,737 students in the schools in the 1924-25 terms, with an increase of 95 over 1923-4. The attendance reported were greatly improved. A gain of over 34,000 days was made in comparison to the year previous.

New Mexico Indians
Put Faith in Totems

The Zuni Indians of New Mexico are divided into a number of totem clans, one of which has the mountain lion for its totem. Each hunter who belongs to the priestly brotherhood carries an image of his totem out of some kind of stone.

If the piece of stone has, to begin with, some semblance to the form of a mountain lion, so much the better. It will then possess more magic when the carving is conferred upon it. The carving finished, they bind over the region of the heart a flint arrowhead, the heart, as the Zunis regard it, symbolizing the source of magic, the Detroit News points out.

The graven images are kept together in a basket, which is deposited in the "house of the deer medicine" and guarded by an official keeper.

At the festival of the New Year they are removed and arranged in front of an altar in a sacred chamber where the members of certain priestly orders assemble for a religious service. A priest presides and prayers are offered up.

Through this service the images receive a blessing and become charged with magic powers. Every hunter carries one with him to bring him good luck when he goes a-hunting.

Would Seem to Have
Odd Ideas of Beauty

Many volumes could be written on the strange customs of African tribes. Many are grotesque and a large number of them deal with personal appearance, says the Family Herald. Painful processes are resorted to in order to conform to accepted standards of beauty.

In one province women stretch their lips with wooden disks, because it is fashionable to have large lips. When at the age of five or six years a native girl is engaged to marry, a ceremony is held for the first lip piercing. Her future husband thrusts a straw through her lips, where it remains for three months, when a round piece of wood is put in its place. Every three months thereafter a larger disk is used until, when the girl has become a young woman, the wood is as large as an ordinary plate. After about seven years of this treatment the lips are so enlarged that the girl has difficulty in eating. Many then take only liquid food. Big lips, some so large that they can be pulled up over the eyes, are a mark of beauty.

Beautiful Spring Flower

Spring beauty belongs to the purslane family and its botanical name is Clay-to-lla Car-ll-ni-an-a. Deep down beneath the surface of the ground is a small, round, swollen stem, termed a tuber, attached to which is a bud. At the advent of spring the bud develops into a long aerial stem, bearing two grasslike leaves opposite to one another. At the top is a loose, delicate cluster of flowers. Each has two sepals, five white or pink petals, veined with rose color, five stamens and one pistil, with three stigmas. This charming flower is found usually in moist, open woods, having almost as wide a range as its first cousin, the objectionable purslane. A delicate, trembling little plant it is, shivering at the slightest breath of wind. Its name of spring beauty is quite appropriate. It is always a delight to the eye and always welcome.—Family Herald.

High Tides

The coast and geodetic survey says that the bay of Fundy tides are, as far as known, the highest in the world. In Noel bay, Minas basin, near the upper end of the bay of Fundy, the mean range of the tide is 44.2 feet and spring range 50.5 feet. At Anchorage, which is located on Knik arm, Cook Inlet, Alaska, the mean range 30.3 feet. Other localities, for which there have been reported ranges of tide equal to or greater than that an Anchorage are as follows: Frohisher bay, Davis strait, Canada; Ungava bay, Hudson strait, Canada; Port Santa Cruz to Port Bulnegos, Argentina; eastern end of the strait of Magellan, Chile; Turnagain arm, Cook Inlet, Alaska; bay of St. Michael, France; Bristol channel, Severn river, England.

Color Blindness

It is said that males are more likely to be color-blind than females (16 to 1). Only one woman in 400 is color-blind. The reason for this is partly, at least, that the development of the gray-perceiving substance is favored by practice and color education.

It is the adaptability of electricity that makes it the ideal power for all manufacturing processes. For manufacturers in a territory served by an efficient electric utility, the question of power supply has been solved by the Central Station.

OFFICIAL BOY SCOUT DISTRICT CAMP, "CAMP COWAW," TO OPEN MONDAY

Located on the Kanohwahke Lakes, 12 Miles West of Bear Mountain—Some Eighteen Camp Units Housing a Daily Population of Over 3,000 Scouts and Leaders Will Be Stationed There.

Everything is set for the opening of Camp Cowaw, the official camp of the Boy Scouts of America, in the Perth Amboy District. This event takes place on Monday, June 29 and on that date the first party leaves for the site which is located on the Kanohwahke Lakes, twelve miles west of Bear Mountain. These lakes are in the great Palisades Park and have been set aside for the exclusive use of the boy scout campers. Some 18 camp units housing a daily population of over 3,000 scouts and leaders makes this entire project the largest boys' camp in the world. Every facility for the proper enjoyment of swimming, fishing and boating has been provided. Adequate equipment for the housing and feeding of the scouts as well as trained leadership is assured.

Camp Cowaw will be operated for eight weeks, and from now until August 17th the beginning of the last week at camp, scouts of each of the 16 troops comprising the Perth Amboy District of the Boy Scouts of America, will be leaving for Camp Cowaw. Indications are that this will be a record breaking season. Camp enrollments have been received at District Scout Headquarters at Perth Amboy from 12 troops and many more are expected. Invitation has been extended to a number of scouts in troops outside the Perth Amboy District to attend Camp Cowaw at a slightly higher rate than that charged scouts in the district. The rate to registered members of the Perth Amboy District troops is $7.00 per week. This represents about two-thirds the in-camp expenses, the remainder being taken care of by an appropriation in the budget of the District Scout Council. The round-trip transportation tickets are also borne by the District Scout Council. The trip to camp is made each Monday under the direction of an adult scout leader. The scouts leave Perth Amboy at 7.15 o'clock on Monday morning going by ferry to Tottenville, Staten Island. From this point they take the train to St. George, at the other end of the island; then another ferry trip to the lower end of Manhattan Island landing at Battery

Park. At 9 o'clock they sail away from New York City on the Interstate Park Commissioner's Boat for Bear Mountain 45 miles up the Hudson. Upon landing at Bear Mountain they board the Interstate Park Commissioner's busses and are taken to the Scout Camps at the Kanohwahke Lakes.

Your Last Name IS IT BLAKE?

YOU might despair of the good sense of anyone who declared that black was white, and yet it seems that sometimes the surname Black with its first cousin, Blake, has much the same meaning as White. These names in some cases may mean black but it is said on good authority they are more often derived from an old word, black, kindred to bleak and bleach, which meant pale.

John Black or John Blake then simply meant a man of a pale complexion, and John White was usually named for the same reason. When these names did come from black, as they sometimes did, they had reference either to a dark complexion, dark hair and eyes, or to black clothes. The Black Prince of English history was known by the color of his coat of mail and so it was that some of the Blacks and Whites and Browns are descended, no doubt, from ancestors who came to be known by the color of their clothes.

The Blakes have always been of a scientific and inquiring turn of mind. They have not been willing to take things for granted. In this country Francis Blake was an inventor and Clarence John Blake was a Boston physician of distinction in the last century. George Smith and Homer Crane Blake were well-known naval officers in this country and Robert Blake in England was a noted admiral and general at sea.

GAS-FIRED OVENS SAVE TIME AND LABOR IN DRYING AND SHAPING SUGAR BARRELS

Replacing coke-fired ovens, a battery of gas-fired ovens has proved a saver of time and labor and, by uniform distribution of heat, has done away with charring at the coopeage plant of one of the large sugar companies in northern New Jersey. Seventeen gas-fired ovens of the type shown in the accompanying picture dry and shape over 5,000 barrels a day at this plant. Each oven consists merely of a cylindrical steel shell and a gas burner is placed at the top. Raised to the inside of the oven, the barrel is kept there a few minutes until it is dried and the staves are set. The burner is controlled so that the gas is on only when a barrel is in the oven.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

PLANTING GOURDS

ACCORDING to the Journal of American Folklore Society there exists in Tennessee a quite common belief that in order to raise a good crop of gourds a certain ceremony is necessary with regard to the seed before it is planted. Perhaps the same superstition exists in other parts of the country. It is a most interesting superstition and suggests a survival from devil worship or at least an appeal to the "gods of the underworld." The gourd seeds must be thrown over the left shoulder by the man who is to plant them and he must utter an oath as each seed is thrown. It will be noticed that the direction in which the seeds are thrown is from right to left or "against the sun," a movement which typifies a retrogression into the realm of the spirits of darkness as the "ceremonial circuit" or sunwise movement typified a progress in conformity with the sun-god, the giver of life and light, the beneficent influence. The cursing and swearing taken in connection with this "against the sun" movement would appear to be an appeal direct to the powers of evil. Instead of being planted with a prayer for increase to the beneficent sun-god the seed is planted with blasphemy calculated to appeal to the powers of evil, those gods whose dark Plutonian realm was conceived as lying in subterranean regions and therefore, naturally gods fitting to be appealed to in behalf of seeds consigned to a dark and subterranean place of germination. Survivals of this sort are rare. In the superstitions, of agriculture especially, it is generally the beneficent forces that are appealed to.

'What's in a Name?'

CLAIRE

CLAIRE was originally a masculine name. Generally spelled Clare, it was first used in England to name a Norman family who came from one of the villages of St. Clair. "Red De Clare," stout Gloucester's earl, the foe of Henry III, was one of them. The son of Red De Clare married into the House of Geraldin in Ireland and received from Edward I a grant of lands, now known as County Clare. His heiress carried the county to the De Burghs and their heiress married Lionel, son of Edward III, thus making the county a dukedom and creating the title, the duke of Clarence. The feminine form is said to have arisen in Italy as Chiara and spread into France, where it was immediately changed into Claire. Though preferring the original Clare, the English accepted Claire and it gained some vogue there, but in this country it was adopted with enthusiasm and has undergone widespread usage. The diamond is Claire's talismanic jewel. It promises her brilliant attainments, magnetism, and courage. Saturday is her lucky day and 6 her lucky number.

The SANDMAN STORY

MR. FOX AND HIS RIVAL

ONCE there lived in some deep woods a fox who had gathered during his years of roaming about the country a great deal of wisdom. As he was now getting rather old he decided to turn his knowledge to good account.

"Surely all the things I know are worth something," he reasoned. "I have learned many things through experience. Some I paid for by suffering and other things I learned by keeping my ears and eyes alert."

"Therefore I should be paid by those who care to profit by my teachings and I shall today post a sign on my door telling the woodfolk where they can listen each night to words of wisdom."

Mr. Fox was busy all one morning painting a sign and that evening as the woodfolk wandered along they stopped and read, "Words of wisdom spoken each and every night, rain or moonlight to those who wish to hear them, for a small fee."

Those who first saw the sign ran to tell others and pretty soon a crowd had gathered around the door of Mr. Fox, which made his eyes twinkle for the larger the crowd the more he would get in fees.

Old Mr. Turtle was stretching his neck, but he could not see well enough to read, so he asked Mr. Rabbit, who was nearest to him, to read what was printed on the sign.

The next day the woodfolk saw on Mr. Turtle's door this sign: "Mr. Turtle, who for over a hundred years has been gathering wisdom, will lecture each night to those who care to improve their minds. A collection will be taken to meet expenses."

"A new broom sweeps clean," quoted Mr. Fox when he heard about Mr. Turtle's sign, and then he added "but too many cooks spoil the broth," so I must use my wits to get ahead of my rival, Mr. Turtle."

Mr. Fox was running along when he happened to see a bed of nice mushrooms; and knowing that Mr. Turtle liked mushrooms, Mr. Fox had an idea.

He turned right about and ran back to the woods, but he did not stop at his own home. Oh, no; he kept right on until he reached the home of Mr. Turtle.

Mr. Fox said: "Mr. Turtle, I saw a bed of fine mushrooms over the hill; thought you might like to know, as you are fond of them."

Mr. Turtle thanked him and said he would go right over and look at them.

Mr. Turtle had stayed late in the mushroom bed, and when he started for home he knew he would never be able to reach there in time for his lecture unless some one gave him a lift and when he saw Mr. Fox trotting along he remembered his ancestor who had won that famous race hundreds of years before from Mr. Hare.

Mr. Fox ran over to the farm, got his supper and was running back at a pretty fast rate of speed; so he did not know when Mr. Turtle reached out his hand and grasped the tip of his tail and held fast to it.

Mr. Fox was thinking of getting home, and how Mr. Turtle must be waddling along somewhere far from home, for he was very certain he went to the mushroom bed. So he was not as careful as he usually was to look where he was going.

Over a stone wall leaped Mr. Fox, and the next thing he knew he was deep in a pond—mostly mud.

A mud bath to Mr. Turtle was fun, and if he had not been in a hurry to reach home he would have liked nothing better than to stay there; but he crawled out and left Mr. Fox wallowing about in the mud.

Before Mr. Fox had come along Mr. Turtle had had time to think, and it had entered his wise old head that Mr. Fox had reasons for being so kind in telling him about the bed of mushrooms, so he called to him as he waddled away: "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," Mr. Fox, I shall remember to explain that saying to my audience tonight and tell them, too, how you are unavoidably detained."

Mr. Fox knew that his rival would reach home in time to give his lecture, and he knew, too, that he would be the laughing stock of all the woodfolk by morning; so, when he did at last get out of the mud he ran for home and pulled down his sign, and then out of the woods he went, to make a home so far away that Mr. Turtle would have to crawl years and years before he found him.

Let the Board Have Your Approval

The Board of Health brought up a question at its last meeting which should attract the attention and interest of local residents, especially mothers of small children. A baby parade is being planned for next September and the Health Department officials will hold several sessions before that time in an effort to promote the event.

It will be remembered that the parade executed by the same borough department a few years ago was a rather huge success, considering the fact that it was the first affair of its kind here. It seemed that everyone was pleased also. But the Health Board will not go through with plans for a baby parade this year without the consent and opinion of the people. The officials are seeking the cooperation of their supporters in regards to the promotion of this affair.

There is little doubt but that the board will receive the approval of the residents. Such an event will stir interest among mothers although a little keen rivalry for honors may not be liked by some, and it will also prove a big boast socially. The public will learn how healthy the babies are in Carteret—healthy children will be a great asset to the borough in future years and those interested in the welfare of the borough should be interested in something that will indirectly help the borough.

Give the board your approval for a baby parade to be held next September.

Greater Carteret

When we come to think a few moments how municipalities as large as Carteret and even smaller are put on the map and are known all over the world first by its improvements and then by its residents, we often wonder why it couldn't be that our dear borough be made greater.

Many opportunities afford themselves much better in Carteret as well as residing here than in other towns of similar size.

If the officials only put their shoulders to the wheel together with the citizens of this borough and started a program of construction, our town would grow rapidly and Carteret would be made greater.

Far be it from us to tell the officials what course to pursue. But we believe that many streets and avenues in our borough could be paved, which should be the first step in construction here, and this street construction could be done in such a manner that our taxes would not be effected, in fact our taxes could be decreased accordingly.

Noe's Creek, in the center of the town, could be enclosed by a trunk sewer and then a street paved over it leading from the Borough Hall to our new High School, which is nearing completion.

A public hospital under the supervision of the governing officials should be erected. Other important building programs could be outlined too numerous to print.

All in all if these constructive policies were entered into through the issuing of bonds, our borough would gain two-fold: first, the improvements would add to the beauty and make our town appear altogether different to attract newcomers, and second, by the issuing of long term bonds, we would receive these improvements immediately and our taxes would be much lower than at present.

These are only some suggestions which we hope will be considered by our governing officials, only to help make a Greater Carteret.

Red-Letter Days

In the early prayerbooks and almanacs the saints' days and church festivals were printed in red ink. Now a red-letter day is any holiday or day which we look forward to with pleasure. The majority of calendars still print Sundays and holidays in red letters.

Bird's Color Varies

Canaries were first brought to Europe in the early part of the sixteenth century. In its wild state the canary is green, or greenish yellow tinged with brown. The wild birds have louder and clearer notes than the tame varieties.

Southern City Keeps Old Funeral Custom

The custom of having a funeral announcement on a silver salver carried through the streets by an aged negro of Chesterfieldian department, an old Spanish custom, still exists in Tallahassee, Fla., and nowhere else in the United States, according to the historical committee of the Florida Centennial celebration.

"This means of announcing the death of a member of a leading family long antedated the newspaper," said Col. Fred T. Myers of Tallahassee, whose family has resided there continuously for more than a century. "It was common in the days when the flag of Spain waved over Florida and has persisted in the face of modern means of communication."

"A carefully engrossed announcement of the place and date of funeral and burial is attached to a broad silver tray by bands of black silk ribbon. A dignified negro then bears it through the business section with a man in keeping with the solemnity of his duty. He presents it ceremoniously to all who care to read. Later, he carries the tray to the homes of friends of the deceased."

"Primus, the impressive colored coachman owned by M. D. Papy, a lawyer of the Civil war period, was the official bearer of these sad tidings for years both before and after the war of secession. Citizens of Tallahassee are so accustomed to this rite that they do not recognize it as a relic of a bygone era."

Vast Wealth Easily Carried in Pocket

Gems represent a value so highly concentrated that it is possible to carry a million dollars worth of precious stones in a waistcoat pocket. Though the diamonds of the world probably have a value of $5,000,000,000, the African yield since 1880, according to Dr. George F. Kunz, in the Engineering and Mining Journal-Press, has been only about 14 metric tons, and with the diamonds from all other sources, the world's production in the last 35 years may have been 25 tons—an average of only about 30 pounds a week.

The profitable sapphire mines of Montana have produced since their discovery in 1900 not more than one or two tons. The total yield of Burma rubies has been not more than a ton or so. In extreme values natural precious stones have ranged up to $20,400 per carat, or $3,000,150 per troy ounce, for an exceptional 20-grain pearl; $8,500 per carat for a red diamond; $3,500 per carat for a white diamond; $3,000 per carat for an emerald; $4,500 per carat for a ruby, and $2,000 per carat for a sapphire.

Why Henry Went Out

It was pouring rain and dreadfully cold. He came in, kicked off his wet shoes, slid his tired feet into a pair of comfortable carpet slippers, sat down in an easy chair, drew forth his pipe, lit up and declared that nothing would make him stir from the house until next morning.

"Henry, my dear," said his wife, "did you mail my letter?"

"Of course I did, my love," he answered.

"I asked mother to postpone her visit for a while," the wife went on; "you see—"

Apparently Henry did see, for with a single bound he sprang from his chair, grabbed his shoes, slipped them on and tore out into the murky street.

A little later he returned and remarked:

"Do you know, my dear, I couldn't resist the temptation of popping round to see the new motion picture." He had carried the letter to the branch post office.

GOOD EVERYDAY FOOD

A MOST nourishing soup that will be good at any season, noon or night, is:

Veal and Sago Soup.
Chop fine two and one-half pounds of lean veal. Cover with three quarts of water and bring slowly to the boiling point, just simmer for two hours, skimming occasionally, strain and reheat. Soak one-fourth of a pound of pearl sago one-half hour in cold water, stir into the hot stock and cook thirty minutes, or until the sago is clear and well done; now add two cupfuls of scalded milk and pour slowly over the yolks of four eggs, lightly beaten. Season to taste and serve hot.

Quick Dinner Biscuits.
Take one and one-half cupfuls of pastry flour, three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt; sift all together until well blended. Add three tablespoonfuls of butter or lard and butter mixed, rub in until well blended; add one-third cupful of milk and water, mixing quickly. Drop by spoonfuls into well greased hot gem pans and bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes.

Mushrooms on Toast.
Cut stale bread into slices and shape with a round cutter; saute in butter. Take two cupfuls of fresh mushrooms cut into small pieces, cook for five minutes in two tablespoonfuls of butter. Cook a minced green onion or shallot in a tablespoonful of butter, add a cupful of tomato puree and simmer three minutes, then season with salt and pepper. Arrange the mushrooms on the rounds of bread, pour over the tomato and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

Roast Hamburg Steak.
To one and one-half pounds of hamburger steak add two slices of salt pork, chopped fine; one-half cupful of bread crumbs, one egg and three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt. Shape into a loaf, dredge with flour and cover with strips of salt pork. Roast forty-five minutes, basting every seven minutes with the fat in the pan and one-fourth cupful of water. To the liquid add water to make a cupful. Brown one and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter with two of flour and add the liquor from the pan. Cook until smooth and serve with the steak.

A tomato sauce may be used. Take a can of clear tomato soup, add such seasoning as one's taste dictates, and you have a sauce both palatable and quickly prepared.

USE JAVELLE WATER TO REMOVE STAINS

Should Be Applied Only to Uncolored Cotton.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Javelle water has long been prepared and used in the household to take out various stains. In Farmers' Bulletin 861, "Removal of Stains from Clothing," Javelle water is suggested as a possible agent for treating stains made by coffee, certain dyes that have run, fruit, a few medicines, mildew, tea, tobacco, tomato vines, and black walnut. Javelle water is prepared as follows, according to the United States Department of Agriculture:

Dissolve one pound of washing soda in one quart of cold water. To this solution add one-fourth of ordinary bleaching powder (calcium hypochlorite). Filter this liquid through a piece of muslin to remove the sediment which remains. Keep the clear liquid in tightly stoppered bottle for use. Javelle water may be used successfully in removing a number of stains, but should be applied only to uncolored cotton or linen materials.

Taking Out Stains With Javelle Water.

Since it bleaches colors and rots silk or wool. In treating stains with Javelle water, stretch the stained portion over a bowl filled with water and apply the Javelle water to the stain with a medicine dropper. Do not allow the Javelle water to remain in contact with the stain for more than one minute, and rinse it out thoroughly.

Scissors Are Valuable Help in Kitchen Work

Medium-sized scissors hanging in a convenient place in the kitchen are a valuable help. Here are some of the purposes for which they will be found useful, according to the United States Department of Agriculture:

- For cutting cold meat into cubes.
- For cutting celery or green peppers into small pieces for pickles or salads.
- For shredding cabbage or lettuce.
- For cutting up raisins or dates.
- For cutting out the center membrane of a grapefruit in preparing it for the table.
- For cutting out the woody core and eyes of fresh pineapple.

Gestures in Pulpit Not Pure Eloquence

A new aid to good preaching has been discovered, a writer in the Continent reports.

During the past summer a suburban church asked a church bureau to send a supply for a certain Sunday. The following Monday the clerk of session called to tell how much the congregation enjoyed the preacher of the day. "That was a fine man you sent," said he; "the people all sat up and took notice. His gestures were great; he swung his arms and certainly sent it home. Can't you get him again for next Sunday?"

The minister was called on the phone and told that the congregation was so well pleased with him that they would like to have him return the following Sunday.

"Well, I'd like to," said he, "but I think I'll have to refuse. I liked the people and enjoyed the service, but there was one thing that did not appeal to me; there were too many mosquitoes."

Mystery of Swastika Sign

The Swastika symbol which figures so largely in Japanese decorations is so ancient, that its origin is lost in the mists of obscurity. According to a writer who has made a special study of the subject, the device was found on a "spindle whorl from the third city of Troy (about 1800 B. C.), and it is frequent in Greek vases about 600 B. C." The symbol appears again on Hindu relics that date back three centuries before Christ, on Mexican and Peruvian relics, and even on relics found in prehistoric mounds in Great Britain. The latest guess as to the origin of the strange device comes from one Harit Krishna Deb, who says he believes it to be "a modification of the mode of expressing the ancient syllable Om, used in religious rites. This—a path with square ends—was duplicated, one across the other, to form the Swastika, meaning 'bringer of blessings.'" However that may be Seventh century India marked her cattle with it.

Roots of Cassava Plant Basis of Our Tapioca

Tapioca is a starchy substance obtained from the roots of the cassava plant which grows in tropical America. The tubers of some species of cassava weigh from 20 to 30 pounds. The juice is obtained by pressing the roots and allowing the starch to deposit at the bottom of a vessel. After the cassava starch is thus separated from the fibrous constituents of the root it is spread on iron plates while in a moist condition. Under the application of heat the starch granules become partly ruptured and agglomerate into irregular pellets. This product is the tapioca of commerce. It is widely used in puddings and as a thickening for soup. The remaining part of the root of the plant is ground to a pulp and made into cassava bread which is eaten in warm countries by the natives and poor whites. "Cassava" is pronounced "Ka-sa-va," with the accent on the second syllable.—Exchange.

PARDEE PROPERTY, AT PERTH AMBOY ON SALE TODAY

Joseph P. Day, New York Real Estate Auctioneer, to Sell Lots at Absolute Auction on Grounds Today and Tomorrow.

At Perth Amboy, where property on Smith street, in the heart of the financial and business section, has attained a valuation of $125,000 a lot, or $5,000 a front foot, and a valuation of $25,000 a lot, or $1,000 a front foot, at a point about five or six blocks from the new $4,000,000 Victory Bridge at the foot of Convery Place and Smith street, Joseph P. Day, of New York, real estate auctioneer, will hold a very remarkable auction sale involving the disposal of 527 business and residential lots known as the Pardee property, and located on both sides of Convery Place, on Smith street, and on new Fayette street, as extended to Convery Place, at the very entrance to the new $4,000,000 Victory Bridge over the Raritan River and leading to the New Jersey Coast resorts.

The sale has been ordered by the Perth Amboy Trust Co., as Trustee an the property is to be sold in separate lots, at absolute public auction by Mr. Day, this (Friday) evening, June 26th, at 7 P. M., on the premises, and on Saturday, June 27th, at 2 P. M., on the premises.

The Perth Amboy Trust Co., Trustee, announces that no assessments are to be paid by purchasers at the sale for improvements now being installed, including sewer and grading of streets.

In discussing the sale yesterday Mr. Day said:

"With the Victory Bridge now nearing completion and soon to become the main automobile highway to the famous resorts on the Jersey Coast, I regard the sale of the Pardee property as one of the most important I have ever held and one of the greatest opportunities ever presented for the investment of large and small amounts of money in lots that have a remarkable future as business sites and as locations for the construction of one and two-family houses, apartment houses and business buildings.

"We all know the high value of lots located at the approaches to such bridges as the Brooklyn, Queensboro, Williamsburg, Manhattan and other bridges in and around New York, and it is almost a certainty that when an enormous stream of automobile traffic begins to flow over the new $4,000,000 Victory Bridge to the Jersey Coast resorts, there will be a very decided increase in the value of the Pardee property, which at the present time is the last remaining large tract of land available in Perth Amboy for improvement with business and residential buildings."

Studebaker Announces Change in Policy

Announcement was made last week by The Studebaker Corporation of America of discontinuing the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year.

Instead of bringing Studebaker cars dramatically up-to-date once in twelve months, this company proposes to keep them up-to-date all the time, adding improvements and refinements from time to time as the merit of such betterments is proved to the satisfaction of Studebaker's engineering department, which, the corporation points out, is maintained at a cost of a half million dollars annually.

Studebaker believes that this policy benefits present Studebaker owners. It is also the belief of this concern that the policy of no "yearly" models enables purchasers of new cars to obtain models that are always modern, without the necessity of waiting for annual changes and without the danger of their new cars becoming obsolete.

The dramatic success of the present line of Studebaker cars is one reason for this important change. During the first five months of 1925, Studebaker dealers delivered 40 per cent more cars to buyers than during the same period in 1924. On May 31st, the end of the period referred to, Studebaker dealers had only half as many cars in stock as on the same date last year.

Despite the fact that Studebaker factories in South Bend, Detroit and Walkerville, Ontario, are operating at capacity, orders for Studebaker cars are far in excess of production.

THE TRUMP WAS NEVER TURNED

By BARNES MAC GREGGOR

(© by Short Story Pub. Co.)

THE ferryboat, Rappahannock, had an experience in the winter of 1878 that will never be forgotten by any of her passengers. During one of her regular trips between New York and Brooklyn this boat suddenly quit her respectable though somewhat monotonous, career, and became a common tramp, without port or destination.

The day awoke in fog such as the oldest inhabitant had never seen. The East river was blocked with ice and soon became a shrieking bedlam of groping and bewildering craft, whose pilots could scarcely see their hands before their faces.

At half-past nine the Rappahannock left Brooklyn, well laden with passengers, and started on her customary trip almost directly across the river—a very short and unusually easy voyage. Before even reaching the middle of the stream, however, the ice and fog had thrown her completely out of her course. Back and forth, up and down stream, the pilot vainly groped, amid the shrieking whistles, ringing of fog bells, and loud crash of ice boulders, until, in the confused clangor, he had entirely lost his bearings.

When, after long and perilous battling with ice jams and many half-breath escapes from collisions, he suddenly sighted the landing place on the New York side, he found it occupied by a sister boat, which had been driven there to avoid destruction. He backed out, only to be lost again, and for three hours this boat, now become a mere tramp, wandered aimlessly up and down the East river with its load of excited passengers, whose emotions ranged anywhere between the rage and impatience of the belated Wall street speculator, to whom the delay might mean a loss of fifty thousand dollars, to the hysteria of a nervous little woman who had left her baby alone at home and who begged the other helpless passengers for the love of heaven to help her set her feet once more on land.

Between these two extremes of impatience and excitement was a small proportion of passengers who remained calm, even endeavoring to while away the time by exchanging pleasantries and making wagers as to the time of their deliverance. Among these was a group of men in the cabin who, after having read and re-read the morning papers, were casting about for some other method of killing time. One suggested a game of cards.

"Cards!" laughed one of his companions in misery. "Who'd carry cards on a ferryboat? Who, outside of a lunatic asylum, would start on a ten minutes' voyage provided with games to pass away the time?"

"Here is a euchre deck which is at your service."

The speaker, evidently a globe-trotter, drew from under the bench a traveling bag, so much worn and embellished by tags, labels and hieroglyphics that it resembled some old veteran just returned from the wars and still covered with surgeons' plasters. From this he produced a pack of cards and tendered it to the man who had suggested a game.

"Certainly, if you will join us; but what shall we do for a table?"

"Here is a camp stool," said the man of the world. And in a moment four men were sitting around it, cutting for deal, which chanced to fall to the stranger.

The cards were distributed rapidly and the dealer was about to turn the trump when a loud shriek pierced the air and a woman opposite suddenly sank fainting to the floor.

The tension among the passengers had become so great that a panic seemed imminent.

"Don't be alarmed, gentlemen; it is nothing serious," said the dealer calmly. "The lady simply caught sight of her own frightened face in the mirror and the shock caused her to faint. It reminds me of a thrilling experience an American traveler had while bumping through Syria. But, pardon me, the game!"

Once more he made a movement to turn the trump, when one of the party exclaimed:

"There can't be a better time or place than this for telling a thrilling experience."

"Yes," said another; "do give us some other kind of bumping than we are having here. Let's have the story before we begin the game."

The stranger leaned back, passed his clear case and, having lighted a weed himself, began:

"It is an unwritten law among the wild Bedouins east of the Red sea that if an infidel traveler is attended on his journey by one of the faithful he is safe from the attacks of Mohammedan robbers. As long as the 'Frank,' as all foreigners are called, is under the protection of the Star and Crescent, the rascal's hand is stayed, and as they meet, the villain, who would otherwise show no quarter, salutes with the grave suavity of a courtier. But let that same traveler become separated from the Arab guard that he has bribed to give him safe conduct through his own bandit-infested country, and he becomes legitimate prey. He will be plundered and perhaps killed, or, worse, if the robber thinks that cruelty will extort any secrets of hidden spoil, tortured or held for ransom, with each day's delay losing a few fingers, which are forwarded to the captive's friends to signify that the rascals mean business."

"The party in which this American was traveling had been entering Syria from the south, and were progressed some twelve days from the sacred base of old Sinal. At a place called Bir-es-Sheba, on the regular caravan route to and from Mecca from the north, they heard of some interesting archeological treasures just unearthed some two days' journey to the east, and, having made the detour, the party snugly encamped by the side of a beautiful stream under the shadow of the Tubal chain of mountains."

The treasures were vastly exaggerated, as is the custom with everything oriental, and they soon determined to turn back to the caravan route and 'bump' on into Syria—'bumping' being the familiar term for camel riding, and a very expressive word at that. But on the afternoon of the first resting day some one suggested a jaunt to a famous old well, where it was said were some very ancient tumuli. But, knowing the Bedouins to be conscientious liars, and sick of this unrewarded chase for phantom treasures, the American begged to be left behind in charge of two tents, which were pitched side by side on the bank of the stream.

"This was at last agreed upon, the whole party except himself going off on their three days' trip, leaving their comrade stretched at full length on a rug, his narghili, or water pipe, lighted for company."

"This oriental atmosphere, gentlemen, is a powerful drug. Do what you will to fight against it, its subtle charm holds you captive. The man succumbed to its influence and went fast asleep."

"Out of this sweet, trance-like repose he suddenly bounded into the horrible consciousness of a torturing pain in one of his hands, as though some wild beast was crunching the bones. But, as he writhed to his knees to grapple with the foe, he saw instead three swarthy, evil-faced Bedouins bending over him with ghoulish glee. One had just cut off, with a hideous dirk knife, the first three fingers of his left hand. In an instant it flashed upon him that these were to be sent to his friends with a demand for ransom. He was correct in this supposition, for no sooner had the bleeding hand been rudely bandaged than two of his captors set out upon this mission, leaving him in care of the third, who was heavily armed."

"No one knew better than the prisoner how impossible such a ransom would be. His fellow travelers had brought as little money into Syria as would meet their actual necessities while there. He therefore began to cast desperately about in his mind for a loophole of escape before the fellows should return with these unsatisfactory tidings, which would result, no doubt, in further mutilations."

"As his gaze swept the tent for something suggesting a plan for deliverance, he saw it had been gutted of everything except two articles—his light silk coat, which hung upon the partition between the two tents, and the tourist's shaving mirror, which it concealed. The coat had been overlooked because it was as grimy as the tent wall itself."

"In moments like this one grasps at straws. As it is said a drowning person reviews his past experiences in a brief moment, so this man, facing desperate odds, came to a desperate suggestion."

"He called loudly on a supposed protector in the adjoining tent to come to the 'window' and prove to his captor that he was under protection of a Moslem. As he spoke he slowly drew the coat from before the mirror in front of which the sheik was standing."

"No words can express the unutterable consternation pictured upon that blazing face, livid with fright and wonder, as for the first time it saw its own awful reflection, not knowing it was its own. One instant he stood stock-still, fascinated, horrified, overwhelmed; then collapsed, just as that lady did but a moment ago, and the American quickly possessed himself of his captor's arms and was master of the situation."

"And now, gentlemen," concluded the story-teller, "we will have our game."

As he spoke he again reached forward to turn the trump. There was a quickly drawn breath of horror from those who observed him, for the first three fingers of his left hand were missing.

Before he could turn the card, a savage lurch of the boat, accompanied by the creaking of timbers, announced the arrival of the Rappahannock at her New York slip—and the trump was never turned.

Examination Anti-Fat
"Midwinter examinations are approaching," said a school teacher, "and my class of 40 little girls will lose about 125 pounds in weight."

"If I wanted to put a really efficacious anti-fat on the market I'd make the case of it examination extract. There's nothing like an examination for taking the flesh off the examinee."

"Remember your own examinations. You had no appetite while they were on; you took no exercise; you studied till the small hours; you slept badly. In the end you were a pale, thin ghost of yourself. Examination anti-fat had got in its work."

"Examinations are a good thing, I suppose, but what a lot of young, healthy, vigorous flesh they melt away."

Easy to Demonstrate

The problem of the revolution of a wheel may be explained by the fact that the top is moving forward in the direction in which the vehicle is progressing, while the bottom is moving backward or in an opposite direction. To demonstrate this in a practical way, take a coin, mark points at the top and bottom as A and B. Make a mark at the starting point directly beneath A and B upon whatever surface the coin is to be rolled. Roll the coin forward a quarter revolution. It will be seen that A moves upon a radius equal to the diameter of the circle and by actual measurement A has moved a greater distance and described a greater curve than B.

Expert Repairing

We have heard a good deal of late years of invisible mending, and it is a fact that some of the experts in this work can repair the worst rents in tweeds or stuffs without leaving a trace of their handiwork. The most remarkable feat in this direction stands to the credit of the Gobelin tapestry factory in Paris.

Some years ago the priceless tapestry representing the entry of Louis XIV into Dunkirk was stolen, and when recovered had been cut into a dozen pieces. This great length of embroidery has been repaired so perfectly that even the most careful examination reveals no sign of the cuts.

Mistaken Idea That Moon Rises in East

If you were asked where the moon rises you would probably say, "In the east." And you would be wrong.

True, we see it coming up above the eastern horizon at night, but that is simply because the earth, by turning in its direction, brings it into view.

In reality, the moon "rises" in the west. If there is any doubt on the point, all that is necessary to do is to watch its progress across the sky night after night.

It would seem to be moving from right to left; that is, from west to east. The stars prove this. One night it will be near a star in the west and the next night near another star a good way to the left, or east; then farther to the east the following night, and so on.

The moon, in short, has risen or come up out of the west, and is journeying across the sky to the east. Nothing is more easily demonstrated, because the stars themselves are there to mark the track.

Saracens

Saracen is a name of doubtful origin. In the Middle ages it was popularly applied to the Arabs, Moors and other Mohammedans who conquered the East, Sicily, parts of Spain, and northern Africa, and resisted the Crusaders from western Europe.

Day of Two Thomases

The annual festival of St. Thomas takes place always on the shortest day of the year. It is said to have been placed on that particular day to punish him for his unbelief. He shares this date with his militant namesake, Thomas a Becket, whose spectre can be seen occasionally in the crypt of Canterbury cathedral. It is a real ghost, and has been photographed, one snapshot showing a dim figure against a pillar where ordinary photographs reveal no such appearance. Rationalists explain that an ancient fresco, painted out at the Reformation, becomes visible through the overlaid material during damp weather.

"Limited" Railway Trains

The word "limited" as applied to trains came into use about the time of the Civil war. Originally the only limiting feature of the "limited train" was the number of cars to be drawn. Now "limited" is applied to trains running a certain distance, carrying only a limited number of cars and prescribing the accommodations that can be given each passenger, for which an increased fare is charged. Such trains are invariably fast trains. Consequently "limited train" has become synonymous, popularly speaking, with "fast train."—Pathfinder Magazine.

ROTH HIT OFTEN BY HAMMERING MACKS

Topsy's Wildness Aids Mack's in 7-4 Victory Over Tail-End Cadillacs, Friday Evening—Issues Six Passes.

A five-run rally in the second inning of last Friday's twilight league game gave the Stars a 7-4 victory over the tail-end Eaters. The Cadillacs could not collect any more than two lone bingles, both doubles by Ernie Sabo. Their four runs sifted across the plate due to Bill Mack's wildness and several errors in the infield.

Szelag's hitting for the Stars was notable, while he played a wide-awake game at second. Topsy Roth worked on the mound for the losing combination and was very wild. He was not the usual enigma, for the Stars belted his offerings all over the pasture. Roth issued six bases on balls and was nicked for a total of seven hits.

Morris Loses to Kaufman

Bout Is Well Fought By Ringmen Throughout First Nine Stanzas, But Flowing Crimson Handicaps Carl in Tenth and Causes Referee Danny Sullivan to Halt Affair—Kaufmann Showed Great Skill and Cleverness in His Victory.

Several thousand boxing fans crammed the Ocean View Casino at Long Branch last Friday evening to witness the well advertised boxing show of Jimmy DeForest. But none of the large audience was at all satisfied with the showing of Carl Morris, local Paul Berlenbach, who lost a whirlwind ten round bout to Joey Kaufman, of Coney Island fame.

to the entire evening's fistie action, which as a whole was well worth seeing.

In spite of the fact that the bout was a corker, Morris did not show his real best. His opponent was a little too smart for him and Carl had all he could do to land a solid smack; none solid enough to uphold Carl's nickname of Paul Berlenbach, however.

Kaufmann was a bit surprised in the tenth when Referee Danny Sullivan, a big hearted fellow, stopped the fracas and deprived Joey of a knockout, which appeared to be on its way at the time.

It was Kaufmann all the way in that main bout, for the more knowing fans could see from the opening round that the Coney Islander knew his business and was in perfect shape for any attack that Carl might let loose.

But on the other hand Morris showed a wildness that caused him to be a target for the right and left swings which his opponent at times placed well.

"Kaufmann won many new friends for his exhibition, which somewhat atones for the fact that he was not permitted to register a kayo. He

PUZZLERS BEAT LEVINE STARS

Wallop Perth Amboy Machine By 6 to 4 Score at Brady's Sunday and Are Within Half Game of Second Place—Orioles Protest.

TO PLAY LEADERS

Crosswords Will Meet Leading Sacred Heart Nine at South Amboy This Sunday—Another Victory Will Threaten Leaders.

The Crosswords walloped out another clean-cut victory in the Middlesex County Junior ball loop last Sunday by taking the Levine Stars into camp by a 6 to 4 score. The game was well played by both nines, the locals excelling in both the batting and fielding departments, in which they completed two accurately executed double plays. The victory put the Crosswords a full game closer to the lead, since the Levines were in second place at the time of the game.

It was announced that the Orioles protested the locals' victory over them two weeks ago, and that the game will be played over. Had this game counted the local combine would be in second place now. They are confident of beating the Orioles in their next meeting, however, since they defeated the Amboys by 13 to 4 in the protested game.

Injuries attempted to play an important hand in bringing the Carteret crew to defeat, but despite this handicap, the Crosswords played great ball with a much shifted team. Patsey Patocnig was unable to cover short due to a bad wrist and Pitcher Rose is also on the hospital list. Mickey Dzurilla and Gerve Harrigan filled in at their positions, however, and played great ball.

Pimami, newly acquired pitching ace of the Levines, was not much of a puzzle for the local batsmen, especially Joe Trusko, who belted out four safe blows in as many official trips to the batter's box. Eight hits were secured from the Amboy pitcher's delivery, while Harrigan held the opposition to seven safeties.

Sunday's tilt with the Sacred Heart clan will be a severe struggle according to indications. The South Amboys suffered only one defeat in this campaign and that was administered by the locals. The combinations in the circuit have been

BATTING AVERAGES OF TWILIGHT LOOP

Veteran Bill Dzurilla Maces Pill for Average of .588 to Lead Batsmen in Local Ball Circuit Wardel Close Second with .529

The batting averages of the Carteret Twilight Baseball League, as compiled by the secretary of the organization, show that Bill Dzurilla, of the Belmonts, is leading all players with the willow in games played up to and including last Friday evening.

Dzurilla maced out a .588 average for five contests, but is closely pursued by Phil Wardel, who holds a .529 percentage.

The race for the batting honors is being waged with much more fervor this season than it was during the 1924 campaign. The players are hitting the ball more often and a little harder in addition. Including last Friday's game, there were twenty-six home runs swatted out, while on the same date last year one was the lone four base blow.

In regards to other extra-base hits no comparison can be made with this season and last. But the records for today show that there were thirty-five doubles and fourteen triples belted to the outfield. Martin, of the Belmonts, leads in doubles with four; while Bill Biesel, Bill Dzurilla, and Bragger share honors in collecting three baggers with two each. Leshick and Sabo are leading run scorers.

The averages of the entire league follow (names in bold type signify those that play in among the ten leading batsmen).

BRUSKIE TAKES TWO MORE SPRINT HEATS

Johnny, Pro. Only Four Weeks, Outrides Noted Cyclers at Worcester and Providence—Beats Myers Bartell and Walsh.

In two more bike races up in New England, Thursday and Friday nights of last week, Johnny Bruskie, recently turned professional rider of the borough, fared well. He rode at Lake Cycle Track at Worcester on Thursday evening in a sprint match with Frat Bartell of Newark and Edward Walsh of Chicago.

After this match was rode the lights went out at the drome and the races had to be called, but Johnny was not hindered any in his melee. He, "an amateur four weeks ago," as the Worcester Daily put it, "won the brace of four lap heats and was second in the mile, which gave him 13 points and victory. Walsh was second with nine points. Bartell had seven."

Bruskie accounted for another special sprint victory on the following night at Providence. Johnny had 15 points to Chick Meyers' eight and Bartell's seven, his two opponents. The victory came when Bruskie jumped the field before the sound of the bell. Bartell and Myers not being fast enough on the recovery to overcome Johnny's lead.

The race developed as fine a piece of sportsmanship as had ever been seen at Providence. In the final heat Bruskie and Bartell fell off the track on the north curve when Bartell's wheel slipped from under him while they were riding slowly. Myers rode around the track, but refused to cross the tape, preferring to give the two men a race and an even chance, when he had the heat nicely tucked away. The final heat was started later with Chick the sufferer for the stand he took in giving Bartell and Bruskie an even break. A crowd of 3,500 witnessed the races.

BELMONTS TO MEET 'LACS' NEXT FRIDAY

Teams Wound Up Corking Ten Inning Struggle, Tuesday, In a Dispute and It Was Decided To Play Again On July 3rd.

By Eddie Ekroy

Regardless of the fact that the league leading Belmonts hammered out three home runs and two singles to gather in seven runs in the very first inning, the Cadillacs fought one of the greatest uphill battles ever staged in the Twilight League, Tuesday night. It was no see-saw affair with each team getting several dozen runs—it was a corking good game; and both teams will have to play again before a winner will be found.

The combat went into extra innings. Joey Coughlin started the pitching for the Eaters and could not seem to get anything by the Harmonizing batters. Ernie Sabo had to finish the inning and consequently the entire game, since his twirling turned out so good. Plug held the leaders to three measly bingles; while his own team showered Horai from the hill with four runs in the second and the tying counters in the third. The Cadillacs forged into the front in the fifth on Clifford's third hit of the game, a wild pitch and a passed ball. The Belmonts tied the score in their half of the seventh on Leshick's home run to right field.

And then the fun began. It was blood. But neither team could seem to get a runner over the plate until the tenth when Roy Dunn tripled to right; and then it was questionable whether he scored safely or not. This doubt settled in the minds of the Cadillacs and they walked off the field with a protest. Umpire O'Donnell called the runner safe when Trusko dropped the ball momentarily, but the Eaters disputed the decision.

The contest will be played over, however. A meeting was held by the loop officials last night and it was decided that both teams should meet again July 3—next Friday. The game could have been given to the Belmonts because the Cadillacs walked off the diamond and refused to play. The umpire is and actually the boss and no matter what his ruling is the players should continue with the contest. A string up a protest at the next meeting of the league. Manager Elko of the Belmonts decided that, since a play-off would be for the best interests of the league, his team would not demand a protest, as would have probably been granted him had a little discussion taken place.

Steve O'Neill Back With Pitcher Jones

Here is one of those Damon and Pythias stories: Some years ago Sam Jones, pitcher, and Steve O'Neill, catcher, were room-mates on the Cleveland club, great pals.

When Speaker came to Cleveland from Boston Sam Jones was included in the trade. That separated the battery of Jones and O'Neill.

Several years ago Jones was secured by the New York Yankees from Boston, and has been one of the club's winning pitchers. It is a rather interesting fact that the pair are now reunited, O'Neill covering the same ground as did Jones. Cleveland sent him to Boston in a trade, and from Boston the Yankees got him over the waiver route.

"BUCKY" HARRIS' RISE IS METEORIC

Five Years Ago He Was Forced to Fight for Job, Now He Is at Top.

Much credit for winning the world's championship last year goes to Stanley Harris, youthful manager whose handling of the team demonstrated that he is a born leader of men.

A dashing and aggressive ball player, Harris instilled fight and pep into his teammates. They played with a determination that would not be dejected and fairly swept the opposition off its feet in their mad rush for baseball's premier honors.

Not only did Harris prove himself a brainy and resourceful manager, but he more than did his share to win the championship with his brilliant fielding and timely batting. Harris' all-around work did more than that of any other individual player to bring the title to Washington.

Harris, the youngest manager in the major leagues, is only twenty-eight years old. He was born at Port Jarvis, N. Y., November 8, 1896, of Welsh and Swiss parents.

His first tryout with a major league club was with the Detroit Tigers in 1918. Hughie Jennings, at that time manager of the Tigers, considered Harris too young and inexperienced and released him, but was kind enough to recommend Stanley to Arthur Devlin, former third baseman for the Giants, who was managing Norfolk of the Virginia league.

Harris finished the 1916 season with Muskegon of the Central league but reported to Devlin at Norfolk in 1917. Then America became involved in the World war and the Virginia league suspended operations in August, 1917.

After the war, Harris was given a try-out by George Wiltse, manager of Reading, New York state league. Later he played with Buffalo of the International league, from which club Clark Griffith purchased him for $5,000 in cash and infielder Harold Janvrin in August, 1919.

Harris' aggressiveness and pluck won the admiration of Griffith, who saw in the youngster the makings of a splendid manager.

MANAGER M'GRAW IS VERY CONSERVATIVE

"It is too risky a thing to pick a four consecutive-time winner of a pennant to repeat again," said Manager J. J. McGraw of the New York Giants to a representative of the Christian Science Monitor.

Not Willing to Make Any Statement as to Final Standing of Giants.

This is the conservative stand taken by Manager McGraw and it is well warranted. There are too many things that might crop out in a team which has won four straight pennants, chiefly among these is overconfidence.

Overconfidence in a team is nearly as detrimental as underconfidence for it makes the team play listless. However, with the leadership of McGraw as the biggest obstacle to overconfidence that one can think of, the Giants look as though they might repeat for a record for all time.

"There is one big reason why I might consider the Giants stronger this year," said McGraw, "and that is the extremely fine showing of our right-handed pitchers. Our strongest opponent will probably be Pittsburgh, but we cannot underestimate any of the clubs. It does not pay. Underestimation of other clubs gives overconfidence the chance to creep in, just as well as overestimation of one's own team's ability.

"I will continue the shifting of G. L. Kelly and William Terry from the outfield to first base, according to the pitching we face this year. Terry hit for only about .230 last season, but I expect him to improve tremendously. The veteran pitchers, A. N. Nehf and J. N. Bentley are fully as effective as a year ago."

Economical Wooing "There are men, I suppose," she remarked pensively, "who get engaged to more than one girl at a time."

"Yes," he answered, "but I am not one of them."

"I'm glad to hear you say that. It is so frivolous and insincere."

"Of course. And there is no reason why a man shouldn't make one engagement ring go all the way around, if he only takes his time."

Chicago Brides Found for Farmers in West Canada Ottawa—Chicago, New York and Montana having been heard from, it will not be necessary to send a special mission to England and Ireland to get wives for Canadian farmers in the Northwest. This was arranged for, but a deluge of letters came from American women willing to pass their lives in the Northwest.

"Vina bachelors," said a dispatch from Vina, Alberta, Canada, "will not need to search England and Ireland for brides. More than 100 letters have been received by the secretary of the Vina Citizens' league from lonely maids in Canada and the United States, asking particulars about the 63 bachelor farmers of this district and giving encouragement to the most bashful to propose at once."

The greater part of the writers hail from Toronto and other Ontario ports. Montana and British Columbia also are well represented. Chicago and New York furnished about a score each.

YOUTH, 20, WHO NEVER WALKED NOW HAS HOPE

Believes Surgeons Will Accomplish Miracle He Has Dreamed of.

Kansas City, Mo.—Gerald Wilson, twenty, of Gilman, Iowa, never has walked.

In six months, surgeons at the Christian Church hospital say, Gerald will try his legs. They believe he will be able to use them.

Recently he underwent an operation on one leg. The other leg just went under the knife.

Gerald faces six months, possibly eight, in the hospital. He's happy. He believes the surgeons who have operated on him will accomplish the miracle he has dreamed of through the long 16 years he has lain bedfast.

Eager to Get Well. Back of Gerald's smile and his fortitude is a desire to get well and repay citizens of Gilman whose generosity made possible the hope for future usefulness.

Dave Manville and Charles Otto Hagerty, Gilman business men, pledged $1,000 to defray Gerald's hospital bill. They now are planning a benefit show in Gilman to raise an additional $500 to do the job up right.

Until a few months ago, Gerald had resigned himself to the life of an invalid. There was no hope, he felt of his ever walking. From his bedroom windows he had watched boys of his age cavort. He had turned away his head many times to keep from sobbing.

Surgeon Proves "Angel." His parents were poor. He had no money. Then a Kansas city surgeon, who has remained anonymous throughout the case, told him an operation would make his legs straight.

The surgeon told Gerald a birth injury had caused a hemorrhage of the brain, which in turn caused the muscles of his legs to contract. The surgeon volunteered his services gratis.

Manville and Hagerty raised the money for the hospital bill and Gerald was trundled into the Christian Church hospital.

"I'm going to walk out," says Gerald.
