

DREDGING OF THE RAHWAY RIVER IS TO BE DISCUSSED

Rahway River Harbor Commission Ask to Meet Jointly With Councilmen Here

SEWER QUESTION PUT OVER

New Brunswick Invites Mayor and Council to Attend Municipal Day on April 27th

The opening remarks of Mayor Mulvihill, at the meeting of the Borough Council Monday night, were to the effect that owing to technical questions, that could not be explained just yet, progress on the East Rahway Sewer proposal would have to be postponed till a special meeting which will be held Monday evening. Another petition urging the construction of the sewer, coming from thirteen property owners on Roosevelt avenue, Hermann street and Claus lane, were read.

The Rahway River Harbor Commission in a communication explained the proposed dredging of the Rahway River, the various depths that are proposed along the river course, and asking that the Council meet with the commission at the Borough Hall here Thursday, April 21st at 8.30 p. m. A questionnaire received with the communication was referred to Mr. John H. Nevill, chairman of a committee appointed by the Council for that purpose.

Another communication from the Department of Public Affairs of the City of New Brunswick, inviting the Mayor and Council to a public inspection of the City, was read and the Mayor suggested that all attend that can.

According to a decision of the Board of Education on the advice of their counsel, Mr. Elmer E. Brown, the assessment for sidewalks and curbs on Hayward avenue will not be met, as no provision in their budget had been made for this assessment. Mr. W. V. Coughlin, clerk of the board in a communication, notified the Council, stating that in the past the school board were not assessed for such improvements. Mayor Mulvihill suggested that the matter be left in the hands of Mr. Stremelau for investigation.

The Mexican Petroleum Company do not feel as they are in no way obligated to maintain the sewer outlet ditch that takes off sewage from part of the hill section and empties into the Rahway River according to a communication read at the meeting. This matter had been up before the Council at several different occasions and had been referred to the attorney to communicate with the Mexican Petroleum Co.

A petition was received from property owners residing at the lower ends of Lowell and Longfellow streets asking that the Borough Council prohibit the dumping of garbage at the foot of their streets as health conditions were becoming very bad in their neighborhood and also that they were exposed to fire risks as was the case just a week ago when the dumps were afire on two consecutive days. Mayor Mulvihill said that he realized the bad condition there and instructed the Street Commissioner to make arrangements to dump garbage elsewhere.

Councilman Vonah suggested that the garbage could in a very short time be dumped in the creek as the trunk sewer would be opened in a few weeks.

An Ordinance for the construction of sidewalks and curbs on the south side of Harris street was taken up on third and final reading and passing was adopted. A petition with only one signer, Joseph Levy, was read asking that sidewalks be laid on the easterly side of Roosevelt avenue from Wohlgenuth's garage to the borough line. This was turned over to the Street and Road committee.

Thirteen property owners petitioned for concrete pavement for Louis street from Washington avenue to Jersey street. This was referred to the committee as a whole. With the endorsement of several Polish organizations and a number of citizens John Tomczuk, made application for the position of patrolman. This was referred to the police committee.

A large number of taxes and assessments for various reasons were abated by the action of the council. Recorder Jacoby's report for the month of March was read and ordered filed.

Mr. William Grohman, chairman of a committee of the Business Men's Association was heard in reference to the bus fare charged to residents of East Rahway. According to a letter from the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, held by Mr. Grohman, there are two existing fares covering the same route. One of the franchises held by the Carteret Bus Service calls for a five cent fare within the Borough limits and

"I take real pleasure in extending Crescent Temple and the Atlantic City Shrine Club my congratulations upon their accomplishment and my assurance of full co-operation."

Jr. Hadassah Work Hard on Their Play

Elaborate rehearsals are under way for "Nothing But the Truth"; a hilarious comedy to be presented to the public by the Junior Hadassah, Wednesday evening, June 1st, 1927, at the Carteret High School. Local talent constitutes the color of the play and if nothing but the truth must be told, much credit is due the players. "Nothing But the Truth" is very novel in that the cast of male characters are being taken by the female members of the Junior Hadassah.

Music for dancing after the play will be furnished by the Everglade Entertainers. Under the able coaching of Miss E. Staggs rehearsals are very satisfactory and there is nothing being left undone to make the play a success. Tickets may be procured from any member or at the door.

Mayor Mulvihill suggested that with the co-operation of the Business Men's Association, a committee confer with Mr. George on a five cent fare throughout the borough.

SEVERAL ALARMS KEEP BOTH FIRE COMPANIES BUSY

Three Fires During the Week; All of Small Consequence; Little or No Damage

Both Fire companies put in a very active week with fires, that although of no real significance, would have caused considerable damage had not both companies promptly responded to the alarms and prevented the blazes from spreading.

Last Saturday an alarm was turned in from the Louis street section of the borough, where the brush and fields in the rear of some of the homes on that street were ablaze and threatened to spread in the direction of several houses nearby. After considerable fighting the firemen extinguished the flames with chemicals. Boys playing in the neighborhood were more than likely responsible for the fire.

Another fire of a similar nature was reported from the East Rahway section Thursday afternoon when a brush blaze in the rear of the Trustum Home, adjoining the Carteret Park Tract, threatened the fence and outbuildings. Quick work by the firemen prevented any great damage. Part of the fence was wiped out before the men arrived on the scene.

Sunday night an alarm from the corner of Roosevelt avenue and Hudson street brought out Company No. 2 to extinguish a blaze of waste paper in the lunch room which gave the men little trouble.

Nature Study in Carteret Public Schools

Nature Study has reached its peak of interest in the Carteret Public Schools with the coming of Spring. The pupils can now see on all sides the things they have been studying during the winter months. Many useful plans and projects have been formulated and carried out.

The study of flowers, trees, and birds as to their kind, use, etc., has been carried on all year. Naturally, this subject becomes more real and vital to the children in the spring-time when evidences of plant life can be found everywhere. It is most gratifying to see the zeal with which the pupils correlate their studies of the past few months with their experiences of today.

A knowledge of trees and flowers makes the children love them. Loving them will, in turn, insure the children's bestowing proper care upon them. If a child appreciates the value and beauty of lawns, hedges, etc.—and this he is taught to do—he will surely protect them from all mistreatment.

The schools have adopted a practical attitude toward this matter as well as a theoretical one. Coinciding with the lesson on the care of lawns is the forming of squads of boys to clear the school lawn of all paper. The boys are to be highly complimented on the work they have done.

Many pupils are interested in gardens, due to the teachers' having encouraged the cleaning of yards and the planting of vegetables and flowers. Problems and perplexities are continually besetting the amateur gardener—and right here is where the school intervenes. The pupils put their difficulties before the class, and with the combined efforts of the students and teachers each difficulty is satisfactorily settled.

Nature Study is a real live subject in the Carteret Public Schools. The theoretical, combined with the practical teaching, makes it an extremely valuable study. It is confidently expected that many excellent results will be brought about.

Now that so much of the preliminary work has been accomplished, the respective schools will organize garden teams to further the pupils' mental and moral attitude toward the love of nature. This work will be started immediately after the Easter vacation.

Mrs. R. Miles and daughters were to Newark Saturday.

Mrs. W. Goodchild journeyed to New York on Tuesday.

Miss Dede Bradley went to Elizabeth Monday with her mother Mrs. G. Bradley.

Hadassah Chapter Plans May Festival

The local Chapter of Hadassah held their regular meeting at the Fire Hall Wednesday evening, April 20th. The meeting was largely attended and very interesting different topics being discussed and plans made for a Strawberry Festival to be held sometime in May. After the meeting cards were played and refreshments served.

The local chapter is also making preparations for its representation at the thirteenth annual convention of Hadassah, to be held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Atlantic City, June 23, 24 and 25. Mrs. Phillip Krinzman and a few others were spoken of as possible delegates.

May being the pre-convention month the local chapter will be glad to welcome all new members so as to make a good showing at the convention. The chapter is trying to attract more women to its work and are quite sure that if the women of Carteret would look into what the Hadassah are doing for the betterment of a community, every Jewish woman should become a member.

COMMISSION ON DREDGING RIVER AT MEETING HERE

Members of Rahway River Harbor Commission Discuss Proceedings on Project

COUNCIL IN ATTENDANCE

To Solicit Estimated Tonnage to Cover Necessary Prospectus; J. Verner President

The proposition of widening and deepening the channel of the Rahway River to make it navigable for shipping purposes was thoroughly outlined at a meeting of the Rahway River Harbor Commissions composed of appointed committees from the cities of Rahway, Linden and the Borough of Carteret, together with Mayor Mulvihill and the Council as a whole. The session was presided over by Mr. Jules Verner of Linden.

The activities of the previous meeting brought out the fact that property owners owning land on the river had been communicated with as to their estimated possibilities of using the river for shipping purposes and to what extent. These questionnaires were sent to 65 holders of lands and to the time of the meeting 15 returns had been received, all favorable with only one objection.

A lengthy discussion as to the best means of communicating with the balance of the owners that had previously been circularized and who had failed to send in their replies brought many suggestions all of which were discarded after Mr. Watson of Linden put the question to the body, "was it absolutely necessary to place so much stress to the consent and opinion of the property owners whose lands bordered on the river?" Mr. Watson said. "It seems to me that some means of procedure should be taken that would give more action to the project."

Many others supported the statements of the gentleman from Linden. Mayor Mulvihill in addressing the body said, "It is just recently that I have become enthusiastic in the possibilities of the benefit that Carteret would derive from navigation on the Rahway River. All our waterfront on the sound is taken up, condemnation proceedings are expensive and with the opening of the Rahway River Project there are new hopes for Carteret in a municipal waterfront site."

The Mayor gave an example of the activities of a similar project on a much smaller improvement in the dredging of the Raritan River and what had been accomplished. "If these projects can receive recognition from the federal government, why can't we with a much more important object to attain, and with three such municipalities as Carteret, Rahway and Linden, put this over," were the remarks of Mr. Mulvihill.

Mr. Quinn, a member of the Commission from Rahway, informed the meeting of the attempts to have desired work done in the past, also futile attempts were made to interest Carteret and Linden some years ago in the same work, and working along the Rahway Committee went so far as to have a survey made of the river and a bill drafted in Washington. The engineers reported unfavorably on the proposed proposition on the strength of the fact that there was no estimated tonnage mentioned in the prospectus. The Bill was later repealed.

Commenting on the suggestion of Mayor Mulvihill, Elmer E. Brown, said he thought a committee should be appointed to see Mr. Watson, Chairman of the New Brunswick Board of Trade to find out just what steps were taken in the Raritan River project and the committee could report at the next meeting, which will be held on May 19th. In that way the commission would have concrete facts that could be applied to this proposal.

The discussion of the necessity of an estimated tonnage was brought up. Mr. John H. Nevill said he thought that the Committee of each Municipality should make a canvass of their respective territory to determine the prospects of merchants and small manufacturers shipping and receiving freight by boat.

Matters will be brought to some definite shape at the next meeting when the reports of the various committees will be received.

World's Greatest Circus at Madison Sq. Garden

Ringling Bros. & Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus; Madison Sq. Garden, 8th Ave. & 49th St.

Hey, Penrod! Hi there, Skinnay! Listen to this!

Daring riders turning somersaults from the backs of galloping mounts, "Pawah," the sacred white elephant of Burma, equestrians that ride skyward in balloons carrying fearless horses, and all the rest of the ten thousand marvels of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus are now under full swing at Madison Square Garden.

The great show began with a "Hoopla" that must have registered for miles around the big building at 8th avenue and 49th street. It is to remain for a short season only and then start its tour under canvas.

Acts of stupendous size and scope predominate on the 1927 program. "Pawah," hailed as the first and only genuine sacred white elephant ever permitted to leave his native land is a remarkable feature. Of the forty-three elephants of common breed and color, thirty-two are seen performing in unison on the ascending levels of a gigantic pedestal.

On still another pedestal structure, ninety zebras, camels, stallions and Shetland ponies perform at one time. This strangely mixed company run, march and drill, clockwise and counter clockwise on a succession of elevations. Of the show's nine hundred horses, almost half are trained. These include five troupes of liberty horses. Two hundred others appear at one time in hippodrome track maneuvers, each ridden by an expert in jeweled costume.

"Pawah," the sacred elephant is shown in the exhibition hall directly under the arena level. Almost a thousand other splendid animals are on display, together with an endless array of freaks and human oddities.

NEWARK THEATRES

"Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" at Shubert Theatre

After a record breaking week at the Broad Street Theatre, Newark, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," the famous comedy by Anita Loos and John Emerson, enters its second week at the Broad Street, and its final week of the season, tomorrow night. This comedy, adapted from Miss Loos' book at the instance of Edgar Selwyn, who is presenting it, is one play that has amply lived up to its advance notices.

"Beau Geste" at the Shubert Theatre
Only once in a decade is the management of the Shubert Theatre afforded the opportunity to present such an outstanding dramatic achievement of the present day theatre. "Beau Geste" is now in its second big week, playing twice daily at 2.30 and 8.30.

This engagement is doubly interesting due to the fact that the film has not as yet been shown west of New York City and this special touring company is playing its first engagement here.

It is only a natural sequence that Herbert Brenon who directed the picture as well as assisting in its adaptation, also being given permission to cast the entire picture as best suited him, that he should surround himself with the best talent available. He has as a result chosen Ronald Colman for the leading role that of Michael "Beau" Geste and Neil Hamilton plays the role of the twin brother Digby, Ralph Forbes a young Englishman plays the third brother John Geste. Other important players are Noah Beery, famous screen villain, Norman Trevor well known stage star, Alice Joyce, Mary Brian, William Powell, Victor McLaglen and Donald Stuart.

"Bozo" Snyder Returns to Miner's
An event of unusual importance to local theatregoers transpires at Miner's Empire theatre next week, commencing Sunday, April 24, when Bozo's Own Show takes up the merry task of continuing Columbia Burlesque as the dominant amusement at that popular theatre. Patrons of the Columbia Circuit have known "Bozo" as one of their favorites for many seasons. It is on the Columbia Circuit that Bozo has developed into a front-rank comedian in a line that is exclusively his—silence in fun and not a spoken word from the lips of Bozo.

Having saved his money—as every body should—Bozo has this season become his own "boss." He has staged his ideas of what musical burlesque should be. He has designed the scenes and scenery; looked to the matter of costuming without regard to expense; signed the best obtainable talent to support him and promised the best entertainment his name has ever been associated with.

Growth of Grandma

"Billy, aged four," says the Charleston News and Courier, "was on his way to visit his grandmother, whom he had not seen for more than a year. 'Gosh!' he remarked, being a slangy little boy, 'I'll bet grandma has grown so I won't know her!'"—Boston Transcript.

A Hint

The photographer was taking a picture of a newly married pair and there was some difficulty in getting the right expression. "Too strained," he complained; "too strained. Don't think of each other all the time. Just look pleasant."

UNKNOWN SPECIES OF ANIMAL FOUND

Different From Any Described in Natural History.

Estelline, Texas.—In the white gypsum hills near here there was recently found a colony of little animals, the identity of which has not been established. They are apparently of a species different from any described in natural history. One of the animals was captured by C. E. Miller and is kept by him as a pet. It has a soft black-and-white fur, the white extending over its back and underneath its stomach like a wide girdle. White tufts adorn each paw.

Its front paws resemble human hands, and the black four fingers, hairy, are reminiscent of the legs of a giant tarantula. Its hind paws are black and have long claws which enable it to climb and scratch. It is particular about them, and keeps them polished.

A face, sharp pointed, peers out from a background of fuzzy mustache, much like that on a monkey's face. Its nose is smooth and sleek like hard rubber. Its neck is small and can be spanned with the thumb and forefinger of an ordinary-size hand.

The animal stands 30 inches high and weighs 20 pounds. It has strong white teeth made for tearing, apparently, but it refuses to eat meats of any kind or fish. It is strictly vegetarian.

Pure Iron From Scrap
Scrap iron rusts all over the world in piles of scattered pieces. Heretofore there has been no process economical enough to be applied to the reclaiming of most scrap iron. Now, however, engineers have found a way to do it electrically. They have made a commercial application near Niagara Falls, N. Y., using Niagara electric power. Bundles of ordinary cast iron scrap are used as anodes of huge wet batteries, the liquid being a solution of iron chloride. The other battery terminals are steel rods. When the electric power is turned on, the iron dissolves from the anodes into the liquid and is deposited on the steel rods. Iron so deposited is said to be almost pure.

L'Aiglon Death Mask
The world has long been familiar with more or less idealized portraits of that pathetic figure of the Napoleonic era, the Duke of Reichstadt, king of Rome, known in the sphere of art as "L'Aiglon." According to Vienna newspapers, his authentic death mask, made by Franz Klein, has been found and will presently be exhibited either in the Vienna Burg or in the Castle of Schoenbrunn. The unhappy youth died in 1832, and his death mask was made by the same artist who five years before had made that of Beethoven.

Influence of Spirits
The time will come when it will be proved that the human soul is already during its life on this earth, in a close and indissoluble connection with the world of spirits, that their world influences ours and impresses it profoundly.—Immanuel Kant.

Valuable Property To Be Sold At Auction

Coincident with the report that the new Holland vehicular tunnel, from the foot of Canal street, Manhattan, to Jersey City, rapidly is nearing completion and will be soon opened to the public, Joseph P. Day of New York, Auctioneer, announces a most interesting liquidation action of income-producing properties and properties suitable for improvement in Jersey City, which center of population will be most directly benefited by the opening of the vehicular tunnel.

Jersey City, in anticipation of a sharp increase in its real estate values, once the vehicular tunnel is in actual operation, is looking forward to a most active real estate market.

The liquidation auction to be held by Mr. Day, is scheduled for Monday evening, April 25th, at half-past seven o'clock. It will be held in the Masonic Temple, 835 Bergen avenue, Jersey City.

The Jersey City investment properties to be sold by Mr. Day include the valuable apartment site at 57-63 Duncan avenue, the business and apartment site at 2843-2847 Hudson boulevard near Journal Square plaza, the business and apartment site at 253-5 Washington street, the tenement at 52 Montgomery street, the 3-family dwellings at 124-126 Chestnut avenue, and the apartment site at 63-67 Tonnele avenue, through to Garrison avenue.

One of the most important offerings in this sale is that of 28 apartment and business building sites near Journal Square tube station and located at the northeast and northwest corners of Pavonia and Corbin avenues, and also at the northeast corners of Pavonia and West Side avenues.

Other offerings in the same sale include the northwest corner of Greene and Morris streets, the northeast corner of Hudson boulevard and Tonnele avenue, the north west corner of Bergen avenue and Vroom street, the south west corner of Hudson boulevard and Custer street, Nos. 52 to 56 Greene street and No. 89 Montgomery street.

At the same time and place Mr. Day will sell the valuable business site at the northwest corner of Grand and Central avenues, Leonia, New Jersey.

Of almost equal interest, because of the several new bridges linking Staten Island and New Jersey, and the fact that the vehicular tunnel, combined with these bridges, will divert a great deal of the Staten Island automobile traffic through New Jersey, is the auction of 210 business and residential lots and two dwellings at Grasmere, Staten Island, overlooking Grasmere and Cameron Lakes, which is to be held by Mr. Day on Saturday next, April 23rd, at two o'clock, under a tent on the premises.

The 210 business and residential lots and two dwellings at Grasmere, to be sold by Mr. Day, at public auction, are located on Hylan boulevard, Clove avenue, Fingerboard road and adjacent thoroughfares, convenient to the Grasmere Station of the electrified Staten Island Rapid Transit Line.

London Call Sells Buick

WHAT is believed to be the first retail automobile sale ever made by international telephone was closed recently by the Garber Buick Company when A. F. Penoyer, salesman, sold a car to a prospect in London by telephone from Saginaw, Michigan.

The purchaser of the car is R. C. Morley of Morley Brothers Wholesale Hardware Company, who was in England on a business trip at the time. Penoyer, an enterprising salesman, learned that the head of the Morley concern was to talk from London to the directors of his company at a certain hour, and he made arrangements to be on hand. "Hello, Mr. Morley," said Penoyer. "It seems good to hear your voice, even though you are a long way from home. I understand you are going to sail tomorrow. Before you left we tried to get your approval on one of our new Buick Country Club coupes. I would like to have one of these cars trimmed and equipped for you when you arrive home."

After a short discussion of terms, Morley gave the order for the car. He then talked for a moment with Guy Garber, Buick distributor in Saginaw.

TAME CHEETAH CHEWS COP'S LEG

Owner's Dissertation on Habits Not Convincing.

Chicago.—Half grown African cheetahs are all right in their place. But their place is out in a jungle with the other beasts or behind the bars of a good strong circus wagon, not in Lake Shore drive apartments.

So declares no less an authority than Brevet Sergeant Wellington W. Britton, well known author and zoological expert of the Chicago police department. He feels that the marks of a cheetah's teeth on one of his legs qualify him as an expert.

The pair of cheetahs is owned by Mrs. John Wentworth, 1240 Lake Shore drive, and the council ordered the police to see if they are "a menace to public safety."

Twice the Wentworth maid refused him admittance, but finally Mr. Wentworth, called from his office, let him in. Percy and Nellie—the two cheetahs—lying on a white-sheeted couch, looked up at him hungrily. It was about supper time.

"Come over and pet them," Mr. Wentworth invited.

"No, thank you," Britton replied. "All I want between them and me is distance."

Mr. Wentworth then started to read to his visitor from a nature book, stating that cheetahs are gentle, harmless pets.

"Why, these cheetahs will eat right out of your hand," he said.

Just then Percy jumped down, walked up behind Britton, and took a nip at his leg.

"Yes," shouted the policeman, "maybe they'll eat out of your hand, but they'll eat out of my leg, too!" Then, turning on Percy, "Scat!" he ordered. But Percy didn't scat. He started to take another bite and the sergeant pulled out his artillery.

"Don't shoot Percy," entreated the owner. "He won't hurt you. Let me read you some more. It says here: 'They can be trained to hunt rabbits.'"

"Worse and worse," commented the detective. "They're nearsighted as well. He mistook me for a rare bit." "He smells the odor of a dog," explained Mr. Wentworth, starting to read some more.

At the detective bureau Britton wrote a classic bit on cheetahs, the erstwhile royal hunting leopards of Persian kings.

"Mr. Wentworth showed me a book that said they would not attack a man, but one bit my leg," Britton wrote.

4 Twin Boys Beat 2 of Girls Until Triplets—

New York.—Tailors rejoiced at an early hour when they heard that two sets of boy twins and one set of girl twins had been born at the Staten Island hospital, New Brighton, up to 3:50 a. m. But dress merchants and fashion artists smiled triumphantly when Mrs. Ralph Mignone, wife of a stonemason of West Orange, N. J., added three girls to the future dress customers of this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Mignone have ten children ranging in age up to thirteen years and live at West Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Phillip Zulla of Port Richmond, became the mother of two boys at 1:55 o'clock in the afternoon. At 3:12 in the morning, two girls were borne by Mrs. Peter Johnson of West New Brighton, and at 3:50 a. m., two boys were borne by Mrs. David Landon of West New Brighton.

Dr. Lewis Lohrbauer introduced the six new Staten Islanders.

ORDER or CONFUSION?

A separate desk for each employee is considered a necessity in most offices.

A separate extension telephone for each desk is equally necessary in order to avoid confusion.

A lone telephone in a big office without the convenience of extensions to other desks, causes disorder and loss of time among the people it vainly endeavors to serve.

Additional telephones (extensions) reflect their value in a better output from the day's work and a better spirit of satisfaction among the members of your office force. The cost is negligible.

World Must Prepare for the Inevitable Coming of the Five-Day Week

By DR. GEORGE B. CUTTING, President Colgate University.

Henry Ford may be a little ahead of his time with a five-day week, but it is coming, and coming soon. If we can afford it, we should welcome it, but first we should prepare for it. No greater danger threatens us than leisure for which we have no plans and with which we know not what to do. The youth of today has been set down in the midst of this condition and Satan is finding some mischief still for idle hands to do, as well as giving a spirit of unrest which we call revolt.

Modern machinery has enabled every man to accomplish 20 times as much as his ancestor of two centuries ago; this has decreased man's work-day from 16 hours to 8, with further decrease in sight.

Elders No Longer Able to Impose Their Dogmas on Modern Youth

By MRS. ROBERT E. SPEER, President National Board Y. W. C. A.

The question: "What is the matter with the old people?" is a very important one in the universal study of youth of today. Youth, above all, dislikes our attitude that our opinions must become theirs. As their elders of an older generation, we have a way of being too tense and dogmatic. Instead of inviting willing co-operation from young people, we too easily assume the right to enforce our opinions. Understanding between the two generations can only come when we, as their elders, become open minded and easy and pleasant to deal with.

Boys and girls are released so early from economic suppression that it behooves parents to begin team work and fair play early in the game. The boy or girl who doesn't have to say "by your leave" about money is not apt to say "by your leave" about anything.

High School and College Girls Not Really Smarter Than Their Brothers

By DONALD G. PATTERSON, University of Minnesota.

High school and college girls are not really smarter than boys. Their apparent superiority is due to inefficient marking systems which emphasize the wrong things.

Peculiar sex differences in marks are due to a constant tendency to overrate the achievement of girls. Objective measurements of achievement would prevent in part such overrating of the girls.

Analysis of ratings shows that teachers' ratings agree with intelligence tests in showing a difference in "ability to learn," in favor of the boys; a difference in the same direction, but almost negligible, in "initiative"; difference in favor of the girls in "industry" (perseverance and application), scholastic zeal (interest in books, independent study), "dependability" (observance of rules, punctuality and faithfulness) and in "capacity for college work."

Forced Maturity Playing Large Part in Woes of Modern Young Folks

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN, New York.

Hothouse methods of forcing maturity are in part responsible for the woes of modern young folks. We are allowing ourselves to enter the twilight mood while the freshness of the morning should still be upon us. Young people in their teens try to capture the experiences of persons in their thirties. Men at forty are restless and feverish if they are not enjoying the rewards and recognition that our forefathers were content to have at sixty. As a result we are shortening our normal youth by speeding up experience and lengthening our silly second childhood. Many are prematurely old at nine o'clock in the morning of life's day and by five in the afternoon are Ponce de Leons looking vainly for a Fountain of Youth.

We must get back to the seasons and the soil of God. We must find enjoyment in the simplicities of life.

Cultivation of Loyal Friendships Only Positive Assurance of Peace

By REV. F. J. LIBBY, Society for Prevention of War.

National security will come by developing and organizing our friendships, and it emphatically will not come by multiplying our battleships. Look at our northern border. Why is it secure? Richard Rush, the son of a Quaker, after the futile War of 1812, negotiated for its disarmament and it has been disarmed for a century. Its security comes, however, from the friendship of Canada on the other side of the border. Our southern border is not so secure with 20,000 soldiers to guard it, because we have neglected to develop sound "preparedness" relations with Mexico.

In China we have followed the path of friendship while Great Britain used what is called the "firm hand." Now Great Britain is boycotted, while our business men have gone on developing their Chinese trade. If now we are losing it, it is because we are slow in making a friendly treaty with China, granting her legitimate demands.

Need of Better Understanding Between the Churches of Europe and America

By CANON ELLIOTT, Leeds, England.

There is need for a better understanding between the churches of Europe and America. The churches of both continents would benefit much from a closer friendship.

The old cathedrals and churches of Europe mean little to most Americans who see them. They view them and pass on, with the satisfaction of having seen the ancient edifices. They should realize that these places of worship represent links in the chain of Christianity which extends back for centuries.

Don't be a Christian plowing a single furrow. Christianity is essentially a fellowship. It would be extremely difficult for one man to be religious by himself. We have too many selfish and self-centered Christians today. We need to give our spiritual experience to others and to the whole community in order that our fellowmen may share in such experiences and privileges.

OPINION

A Marked Improvement. Getting Results. Bathing Accidents. Against Bad Liquor. Daylight Saving Days.

THE new sanitary sewer planned for East Rahway will be a marked improvement, because it will help that section to grow. After the work is done and the gas and water companies put in their lines, conditions will be more appealing than they are at present.

East Rahway's growth has been held back because of the lack of these improvements, which residents in Carteret proper have for their everyday use.

It is now apparent that much interest is being placed in prospects for East Rahway's future. Homes in that part of the town would be well placed.

MAYOR TOM MULVIHILL asks the business men to join together in a petition against the water company. The executive says it would be a splendid way to bring the case to a close and consequently give the people better service.

Mr. Mulvihill has struck at a great idea. Surely the business men of the town cannot be ignored. But, wouldn't it be more powerful to have about five thousand or more residents sign the petition, too. Then state politicians could not continue their sloven ways. They would have to get to work and end the water fight that has now been going on for almost eight years.

FIGURES REVEALED by the American Travelers Insurance Company show that the hazard of the bathtub is an alarming aspect of the country's domestic life—a danger appreciably greater than that inherent in getting in and out of bed and materially more immediate than that which threatens those who run up and down stepladders in the privacy of their homes.

Ninety-eight persons were injured during the last year as they clambered in and out of tubs and slipped on the soap; only forty-four were hurt getting in and out of bed and but thirty-six in falling off stepladders, comic strips to the contrary notwithstanding.

Accidents inside the home made up a total of 16.97 per cent of all claims put before the insurance company, as compared to 16.3 per cent in the year preceding, which should finally dispose of the allegation that America has no home life.

TOO MANY WOMEN are going insane from drink, the New York State Department of Hygiene announces. Now we read of the creation of the Association Against Impure Liquor.

The object of the association is to get good whiskey for the sick. But it is feared that such a noble goal will not be obtained in view of the fact that it will be necessary to get "good stuff" for too many victims of "bad stuff."

EVERYBODY who loves life in the open air will have one more hour of free sunshine daily on and after the last Sunday of this month. Daylight saving comes into effect at 2 o'clock in the morning on April 24 and ends at 2 a. m., on September 25.

The plan has grown popular since the War. Marcus A. Marks, "father of daylight saving," has this slogan, "Awake one more hour in the sunlight and sleep one more hour in the dark." It is interesting to note that Massachusetts is the only state in the country that puts the clock forward everywhere within its borders.

Mr. Marks says, "The oddest objection to daylight saving in my experience came from a Pennsylvania farmer whom I met. He told me that he didn't like it because there had been an increase of divorces in his neighborhood since daylight saving came in. He attributed this to the fact that young married men had a brief hour in which they could go about and see women other than their wives."

22. A.—The machinery operating the locks of the Panama Canal is run by electric motors, each having its own generating plant and being operated separately from the others. The locks are filled and emptied through a system of culverts. The main culvert, 255 feet in area, extends the entire length of each wall; and there are several smaller culverts communicating with the lock chamber through holes in the floor. These are controlled by valves, which are opened at the upper end and closed at the lower end for the purpose of filling a lock, the process being reversed for emptying. The average time for filling and emptying the locks is about fifteen minutes. Strong fender chains attached to powerful springs are placed at each entrance to prevent damage from ships. A floating caisson gate permits repairs to be made on the permanent locks and bottom sluices.

"TIGER CHILD"
RESCUED AT FIVE
FROM TIGRESS

*Strange Tale From India Resembles That of the
"Wolf Children."*

London.—News of a "tiger child," reared by a jungle tigress and "rescued" at five years of age to grow to ferocious manhood, has followed the recent report of two "wolf children," alleged to have been seen by a native missionary.

Like that of the wolf children, the story of the tiger child comes from India. An unnamed magistrate in central India is authority for it. He is quoted as saying he heard of it twenty years ago.

"I was taking evidence against a fierce prisoner, an alleged robber. A strong, ferocious looking man of forty, he shook with suppressed rage as he stood in chains before me. I heard, in native dialect, mention of the word 'tiger child,' and when I inquired the inspector of police present told me the prisoner had been brought up by a tiger.

Child Is Rescued.

"Naturally curious, I investigated the case. Villagers told me that a party of hunters in the jungle came across a tigress, her two cubs, and something that looked like a human child. The tigress and cubs escaped; the child was caught and taken to the village. There the head man of the village adopted it, feeding it on raw meat and rice. It was about five years old, naked and ferocious.

"For some time the tigress prowled about the village howling for the child. Finally the villagers managed to kill it.

"The child gradually accustomed itself to village life and to wearing a loin cloth, the usual dress of the Kola tribe with which it lived. It learned to speak after some years, worked with the other villagers and married and had two children when it grew to manhood.

Friend of Wild Animals.

"The man, like the child, remained ferocious. Tigers in the jungle never disturbed him, nor was he afraid of them.

"I might add that there was no evidence of robbery against the man when he was before me, and he was discharged."

The same magistrate told of a "bear child" of which he had heard—then an old woman, who, it was said, was taken in childhood from a bear.

Scientists remain unimpressed by now frequent stories of children reared by wild animals, citing among others the fact that most wild animals kill even their own young if they are unable to shift for themselves after a few months.

Takes Nap in Lifeboat, Carried Across Atlantic

New York.—As a result of oversleeping in his hiding place in a lifeboat, Joseph Eggermaier, a Czechoslovak, who had stowed away on the French liner Paris at Havre with the intention of disembarking at Plymouth, England, made a 5,000-mile trip across the Atlantic. He arrived on the Paris recently and was turned over to the immigration authorities. He had to go back on the same vessel.

Eggermaier, who is a motion-picture camera man, was in Liege, Belgium, when he decided to go to England. He walked the 600 miles to Havre and boarded the Paris by means of a visitor's pass.

The trip to Plymouth takes eight hours, and as he was exhausted he decided to spend most of it sleeping. He woke up twenty-four hours later, when the Paris was well on her way to New York.

Wire Travels From Foot to Neck in 38 Years

Toronto, Ont.—Thirty-eight years after his foot was sewed up with a silver suture, the silver wire used to close the wound was drawn from the mouth of John Tyland. During all the years since the silver stitch disappeared under his instep, Tyland never felt it until a month ago he was bothered with a slight lump in his neck. Dr. Pomeroy of Elmhurst, who put the stitches in, identified the suture.

Uses for Vulcanite

Vulcanite, or ebonite, is a dark brown or black form of India rubber. Its hardness is due to the presence of more sulphur than soft rubber contains, and to the fact that it is "vulcanized" at a high temperature. It is used for the mouthpieces of pipes, for combs, for screw-stoppers in bottles, and largely as an insulator in electrical instruments.

SCIENCE FINDS CRAB OF NOCTURNAL HABIT

Ecuador Beaches Are Filled With Strange Species.

Washington.—A crab which haunts the beaches by night and hides in the daytime is among the interesting specimens obtained by Dr. Waldo L. Schmitt of the Smithsonian Institution on an expedition in South America. Doctor Schmitt found the beaches at Santa Elena, Ecuador, honey-combed with crabs of this species, the ocydops. In the daytime they are not to be seen. At night they are dazzled by flashes and can easily be picked up.

Doctor Schmitt, who is curator of marine invertebrates at the National museum, under the Smithsonian, left here four months ago to make a survey of crabs, shrimps and similar forms along the west coast of South America. He writes that he has just passed through the Straits of Magellan and has arrived at Punta Arenas, whence he will go to the Falkland Islands to conclude his explorations.

Scientist Travels Alone.

Doctor Schmitt is traveling alone, seeking specimens of marine crustacea and packing his finds with only such native help as can be obtained. He has touched at many points in Ecuador, Peru and Chile, conducting a survey of the principal areas where crustacean forms are to be found in abundance. In Ecuador Doctor Schmitt also found specimens of the genus upogebia, rare animals that have never been found on the west coast before. They are tiny shrimp-like crustacea, able to bore holes in stone. An entirely new species of crab, it is thought, was discovered by Doctor Schmitt among other tiny porcellanids attached to sea urchins.

The purpose of Doctor Schmitt's expedition is to enlarge the scientific knowledge of marine forms. There has previously been little knowledge of the fauna on the west coast of South America. Doctor Schmitt has been looking particularly for specimens of crabs which will help Miss Mary J. Rathbun, an associate of the Smithsonian Institution, in making complete her monograph on the crabs of America, two volumes of which have already been published. He is also sending many specimens of algae to William Randolph Taylor, a botanist at the University of Pennsylvania, who is making a special study in this field. In addition, Doctor Schmitt is considering the economic possibilities in connection with shrimps and crabs in the territory he is covering.

Uses Dredges and Hand Nets.

In collecting specimens Doctor Schmitt uses dredges and hand nets. Because of the difficulty of getting motor boats in the places visited he is able to make little use of the dredges. Most of the specimens are picked up by hand. Doctor Schmitt has with him several collection chests, fitted with bottles, and several sixteen-gallon tanks for conveying the specimens. Some he has shipped in gasoline tins found along the way. The crustacea are put in 70 per cent alcohol and the algae in a weak solution of formalin.

The trip is financed by the Walter Rathbone Bacon traveling scholarship, established at the Smithsonian Institution by Mrs. Virginia Purdy Bacon. A valuable byproduct of the expedition is the strengthening of relationships with the governments and scientific bodies in the countries visited.

CARTERET A. A. LOSE TO BROAD A. A. OF NEWARK

Poor Hitting and Ragged Fielding Cause of Defeat of Local Team, P. A. Lyceums this Week

A glance through the box score tells the story of the defeat of the local boys at the hands of the Broad A. A., last year's Newark Semi-pro champs, by a score of 8 to 4, last Sunday at Brady's Field, before a rather slim gathering.

Up until the seventh inning Carteret didn't get a hit and only totaled four for the game, Kara getting two of those. The fielding was as poor as the hitting, four costly errors netted Newark most of their runs. The only bright spot in the game was a wonderful one-hand catch by W. D'Zurilla of a long drive into left field.

The game for this Sunday promises to be a much more interesting game than that played last Sunday and Manager Elko knows that the boys are finally keyed up for their usual steady game. The Lyceum Club of Perth Amboy needs no introduction to Carteret fans and the locals will have to extend themselves if they hope to win.

Why He Feared for Her

"William," said Mrs. Peckem, sternly, "did you ever stop to think that some one might steal me when you are away from me?"

"Well," answered Mr. Peckem, thoughtfully, "I was rather alarmed when a horse thief was prowling in the neighborhood last week."

Mrs. Peckem stiffened up haughtily. "A horse thief, did you say, William?"

"Yes, my dear. I heard he carried off two or three nags from this district."

Action of Thermometer

The weather bureau says that a thermometer in the air gains and loses heat in two ways—by conduction to and from the air and by exchange of radiation with the surrounding objects. If the thermometer is shaded and screened from radiation from surrounding objects it will read the same whether exposed to a strong wind or only a light breeze. Some circulation about the thermometer is necessary, else the gain or loss of heat by radiation will be an important factor.

Rich Find of Fossils

More fossil fishes and sharks are being turned out in a day by a power shovel operating in the region to the west of Cleveland, known to geologists as the Big Creek basin, than the patience of old-time collectors would bring to light in a whole season. Since lots are being laid out in this part of Cleveland shale prized by scientists for its fishy relics of a past age, the Cleveland Museum of Natural History has obtained the co-operation of one of the land companies and funds from friends to manipulate a steam shovel. Though Big Creek is only one foot deep, sharks five feet long are caught by the shovel while the bungalows creep closer every day. Many choice fishes, millions of years old, are being saved to science that would otherwise be lost, according to Dr. J. E. Hyde, curator of geology of the Cleveland museum.

Wretched Fake

Secretary Merrill of the shipping board said at a dinner in Washington:

"The foreign rivals of our mercantile marine like to poke fun at us. They pretend that we Americans are greenhorns on the water—we whose clipper ships were once the wonder of the world.

"An English skipper, for instance, told a fake story the other day about an American freighter that was entering the port of Liverpool when the captain was heard to yell furiously to the mate:

"Say, are you bringin' in the blunt end or the sharp end of this ship?"

"A minute later, wanting her to slow down, the mate howled:

"Whoa! Whoa!"

NEGOTIATIONS UNDERWAY

Indifference of Supreme Court Prompts This Action by the Borough Council

The postponement of the discussion of the East Rahway sewer at the Council meeting of April 18, as was learned at the special meeting held Monday evening before a large audience of East Rahway property owners, was due to the fact that negotiations with the Rahway Water Board were under way to have the city water of Rahway piped to the East Rahway section, according to a statement made by Mayor Mulvihill.

This action was prompted after the Middlesex Water Company, suggested that one of the hearings held before the Public Utilities Commission some time ago that they needed more money for a proposed pipe line which they intended to run into Carteret by way of East Rahway, from their reservoir just outside of Rahway.

After the increase in rates had been granted the Middlesex Water Company decided that the line was not necessary. The Municipalities had the matter brought into the courts, where the Supreme Court judges have let the matter slide.

Several attempts have been made to have a decision rendered but of no avail. Mayor Mulvihill several weeks ago suggested that the Council get in communication with the proper authorities of the City of Rahway in an attempt to purchase the water from them. The Council as a whole were to act in the matter.

Mayor Mulvihill, at Monday night meeting, said that the authorities of the City of Rahway were willing to run their mains to the Borough limits so that the East Rahway mains could tap in at that point.

With the coming of water for that section a bright future is predicted. Several development projects are already under way and land owners are confident that the neighborhood will develop rapidly.

Further steps in the water question will be taken up at the meeting Monday night.

American Legion Popularity Contest In Full Swing

Many Names Already Entered and Interest is Being Aroused by Novel Affair

A contest that will arouse wide interest in the borough and vicinity is being launched by Roosevelt Post No. 263 American Legion. It is a popularity contest, open to men and women, and offering several valuable prizes. The first prize is a diamond ring, the second a wrist watch, and the third a ball watch. The winner in any instance, has the choice of taking the prize or, its equivalent in cash.

The following contestants had been entered up to today and were given 5,000 votes free each: Victoria McNeill, Elizabeth Farkas, Mary Ivan, Jenny Kohn, Elizabeth C. Pezza, Gladys Kahn, Mary Skerchek, Mary Collins, Lillian Donnelly, Helen Schwartz, Julia Farkas, Jane Duncan, Anita Wager and Helen Labodia.

The winners will be decided by votes which will be sold by the contestants and their friends. At the final counting the one having the greatest number of votes will receive the first prize; the second highest number will win the second prize and the third highest number will take the third prize.

While the contest is open to men and women, it is assumed that the greatest interest will be taken by girls and the probability is that the winner of the first prize will be a girl. In addition to winning the first prize she will be given the title of "The American Legion Girl," and will be honored in many ways. She will have a prominent place in the Legion parade on Memorial Day and also will be the guest of honor for the ensuing year at any legion function conducted under the auspices of the local post.

Contest headquarters will be at the home of James A. Johnson, 89 Washington avenue, and those desiring to enter the contest should present their names there. Each contestant whose name is entered on or before April 30 (tomorrow) will receive 5,000 votes free. Books of tickets, that is votes for the contest, may be obtained from Mr. Johnson, from any member of the Post or at Brady's store. Other places of distribution will be announced later.

Names of prospective contestants will be received until May 4. They may be presented in person or mailed. There will be no charge for entry, nor will there be any formalities farther than to present the name.

All votes must be in the hands of the committee by 5 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, May 28. The winners will be announced on that night which will be the closing night of the big open air Bazaar of the Legion to be held in Liebig's Field.

Further particulars and news of the progress of the contest will be announced each week in this paper.

Traced Here by Phila. Police; Evaded Authorities for Months; Worked in Plant Here

Edward Campbell, age 20, colored, of 829 Delancey street, Philadelphia, was arrested here Monday on a charge of murder. He is wanted in Philadelphia for the murder of a colored man in that city in March.

Corporal Charles Belgrove, of the Philadelphia Police Department, traced Campbell to Carteret and with the aid of Sergeant J. J. Dowling and Traffic Officer George Sheridan, arrested Campbell at the Liebig plant where he had been working. It was arranged to have Campbell discharged and as he came out of the gate the officers made the arrest.

He made no denial of the crime according to police, but said a man named Kearney attacked him with a razor and in defending himself he shot his assailant. Extradition papers are awaited and in the meantime Campbell is lodged in the County Jail in New Brunswick.

Scenery, Costumes and Electrical Effects Are the Same as Used in Broadway Show

Rehearsals are being held daily and everything indicates a marvelous success in the performance of the coming production "Always Hope," to be given by the Senior Class of Carteret High school in the auditorium of the school on the evenings of May 5 and 6.

The performance will begin promptly at 8.15 o'clock each evening. "Always Hope" is a delightful musical comedy, with a laugh in every line. Fourteen tuneful, jingling melodies and numerous dances that will be a delight to the holder, are some of the features.

This well-known musical comedy played a successful run on Broadway for more than a year, and special permission has been obtained from New York's leading theatre owner to produce it here. The theatre man in question delegated, two of his supervisors to supervise the coaching of the cast and chorus during the rehearsals. The directors will also be present on the nights of the performance, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Everyone who has seen the rehearsals is enthusiastic over the play which promises to be one of the biggest successes of local talent ever produced here.

The scenery, costumes and electrical lighting effects used during the Broadway run of "Always Hope" have been brought to Carteret from New York and will be used in the setting of the show.

The directors in charge of the production are Edward A. Keough and Daniel Hogan. Among those having prominent places in the cast are the Misses Frances Harrington, Elsie Lauter, Mae Misdom, Anna Conlan, Grace Van Pelt, Frank I. Bareford, Jr., Ernest Jurick, Etienne Dieble, Ted Leszczynski, Harry Glass, Herbert Nannen and Henry Viater.

The chorus will include the following: Girls, the Misses Blanche Brown, Dorothy Brown, Mary Buckshy, Sophie Carpenter, Margaret Child, Catherine Clford, Catherine Harko, Loretta Kay, Anna Lowandowsky, Dora Lubotsky, Dorothy Newman, Fannie Schwartz, Jeanette Shapiro, Nadine Sherbrinsky, Sarah Weinstein.

Boys, Bernard Chinchin, Philip Chodos, Louis Carpenter, Edward Dubow, William Huber, Lewis Lukach and Abe Chodos.

An evening of Music, Song and Expression will be given by the Piano students of St. Joseph's School on Wednesday evening, May 4th at the Parochial School Auditorium.

LIQUOR CRAZED OFFICER ATTACKS FORMER RESIDENT

John Wetjen and Helper Narrowly Escape Death When Officer Draws Revolver

An article that will be of interest to many residents of Carteret appeared this week and we give the story as printed. John Wetjen is a resident of Carteret and very well known and his friends will be glad to hear of his fortunate escape.

The action of this story takes place in Hillside, N. J., just outside of Elizabeth, where Mr. Wetjen is now engaged in business.

Patrolman Albert Borst, drunk and ugly, beat up two citizens and would have shot them but for the safety catch on his revolver, which he forgot, or was unable to manage, in front of 253 Hollywood avenue at 3.55 o'clock Sunday morning.

John D. Grothur, of 476 Main street, East Orange, and John Wetjen, proprietor of the store on Hollywood avenue in front of which the assault took place, have indicated that they do not wish to press a charge. One of them received a blow over the head, and the other a blow over the arm, and both might have been shot but for the intervention of Patrolman Mickadam and an unidentified taxi driver.

Borst said he drank liquor at a new social hall opening Saturday night but he declared it must have been "doped," for, he said, he had only three small drinks.

At 4 o'clock it was his duty to walk down Hollywood avenue. This he did.

Grothur and Wetjen were carrying cans of ice cream and boxes of candy into the store at 253 Hollywood avenue. Borst asked them if they were unloading liquor, and one of the two replied, "No, it's ice cream. Do you want some?"

In no mood to be argued with, the patrolman accused them of lying, and hit one of them over the head with his nightstick, giving the other a blow on the arm. He ordered them to "line up" against the front of the store to be shot. They obeyed, it is said, and Borst drew his revolver. Aiming it as best he could he tried to pull the trigger, but the safety catch was on.

At this point Patrolman Mickadam, touring the streets in the police car, happened along. The taxi driver at about the same time.

At headquarters Borst tore off his badges, throwing one behind the radiator and the other through the door to the lawn. He threatened to shoot Sergeant Steinholz, on desk duty, and demanded the return of his gun for the purpose.

Thus ended a wild night for Borst and a narrow escape for the two men. It just proves that Hillside is no Sahara desert and it doesn't always pay to line-up for a cop.

BIKE RIDER BACK FROM EUROPEAN TRACK CAMPAIGN

Johnny Bruskie Home After Participating in One Six-day and Several Other Races

Arriving in Germany too late for the Berlin Six Day race, several months ago, Bruskie started his racing campaign with the 100 kilometer race at Dortmund, Germany, and although he finished seventh the fans liked his riding so well that he was given an opportunity to take part in the Six Day event on the same track a week later.

Teamed with a young German rider named Golles, Bruskie finished fifth with the same standing in miles and laps as the winners but losing out in points. About 30 minutes after the start of the race, Bruskie jumped the field and gained a lap which he and his partner maintained for 30 hours, when four other teams stole the lap back and in which standing the first five teams finished.

Willie Spencer teamed with Dave Lands, both top-notch American riders started in the same race but were forced to quit after losing seven laps early in the race.

Bruskie also participated in a 100 kilometer race in Breslau and finished second, having made quite an impression. Offers were made Johnny to ride the Paris Six Day affair with a probability of teaming with Reggie McNamara, who by the way won the race, but as the inducements were rather small Bruskie would not ride.

On arriving home last week Johnny has been training diligently for the outdoor season and intends to take part in at least one match race and several open events at the Newark Velodrome, before he goes to the New England tracks.

COEDS HAVE MADE CHANGE AT OXFORD

Claim Standard of Scholarship Is Declining.

Those who sit in the high places of Oxford are concerned about the future of that seat of learning. Some of them are wondering whether they were not mistaken when they welcomed women to their lecture rooms and examination halls and later allowed them to compete on equal terms with men students in all the schools of the university.

When the first women's colleges were founded at Oxford it was supposed that they would be rather small. It was not believed that many girls would be allowed by their parents to spend three or four years in study and residence at a university town. The handful of young blue stockings would scarcely leaven the mass. Oxford would remain, as it had been for centuries, a community of men.

It was like that up to the later Victorian days. When I was an undergraduate in those times the flavor of monasticism and medievalism still hung about its gray walls and quiet streets.

But when I go to Oxford nowadays I find myself in a noisy, bustling modern town. Tramway bells ring, motor horns clang, bicycles whizz by, crowds beset the pavements. The undergraduate is everywhere.

You see her, with cap and gown and notebook, going to lecture; you meet her of afternoons in the teashops, in the quads, on the country roads, on the towpaths, often with attendant men. You would think there were more women than men in the 'varsity.

Assuredly, these maidens have worked changes upon Oxford. Some of them are regarded doubtfully by fellows and tutors of a conservative temper. One of these, a great scholar himself, said that the standard of scholarship at Oxford was steadily declining. The sterner studies were shirked in favor of the lighter and easier subjects, such as English literature and modern history, which do not demand a strict preliminary training in classics or mathematics.

The lectures are made more popular, especially by some of the young tutors, in order to attract the girls. And the lads and lassies are too conscious of one another to pay proper attention to the teacher. That, at least, is what my friend averred, though it is true he is elderly and a bachelor.

Then there is that matter of sports and games. Whereas at Oxford the girls are to the men as one in five, at Cambridge they are only one to ten, and are kept rather more to themselves. Is that one reason why the Dark Blues make so poor a show against their rivals in almost every kind of athletic contest?

Women ought to be enabled to enjoy the benefits of a college education. In America they do so, but at their own exclusive feminine academies like Vassar and Bryn Mawr, where they can study and play without any disturbing male element. That seems to me the better way.—From the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

More Rubaiyat

Lovers of Omar Khayyam and his Rubaiyat (may their tribe increase!) will be delighted to learn that some more Rubaiyat of the astronomer poet of Persia have been recently discovered. A correspondent of the Daily Gazette of Sind states that during the course of the construction of a new government building at Schwan, in the Larkhana district of Sind, while excavations for the foundations were being made, a brass case was unearthed which contained a manuscript with many hitherto unknown Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. Translations of some of the quatrains have already been made, the cadence and rhyme being said to be as in the classic translation of the Rubaiyat by Fitzgerald. The Rubaiyat are gems of "purest ray serene," and the discovery of even a few more will be hailed with delight the world over.—Bombay Chronicle.

Photos of Brain Messages

Photographic records of messages sent to the brain by nerves are taken with an adaptation of radio apparatus by a European scientist. The instrument is fitted with an amplifier by means of which the nerve impulses are magnified and the impressions are translated into code-like dots and dashes on a photographic plate. The outfit is said to be so sensitive that it records the messages sent to the brain of a frog when the creature's skin is pressed or pricked, and it is being used to study the results of nerve stimulations in human beings, as in the case of a nerve fiber at the end of the finger being pricked with a needle.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

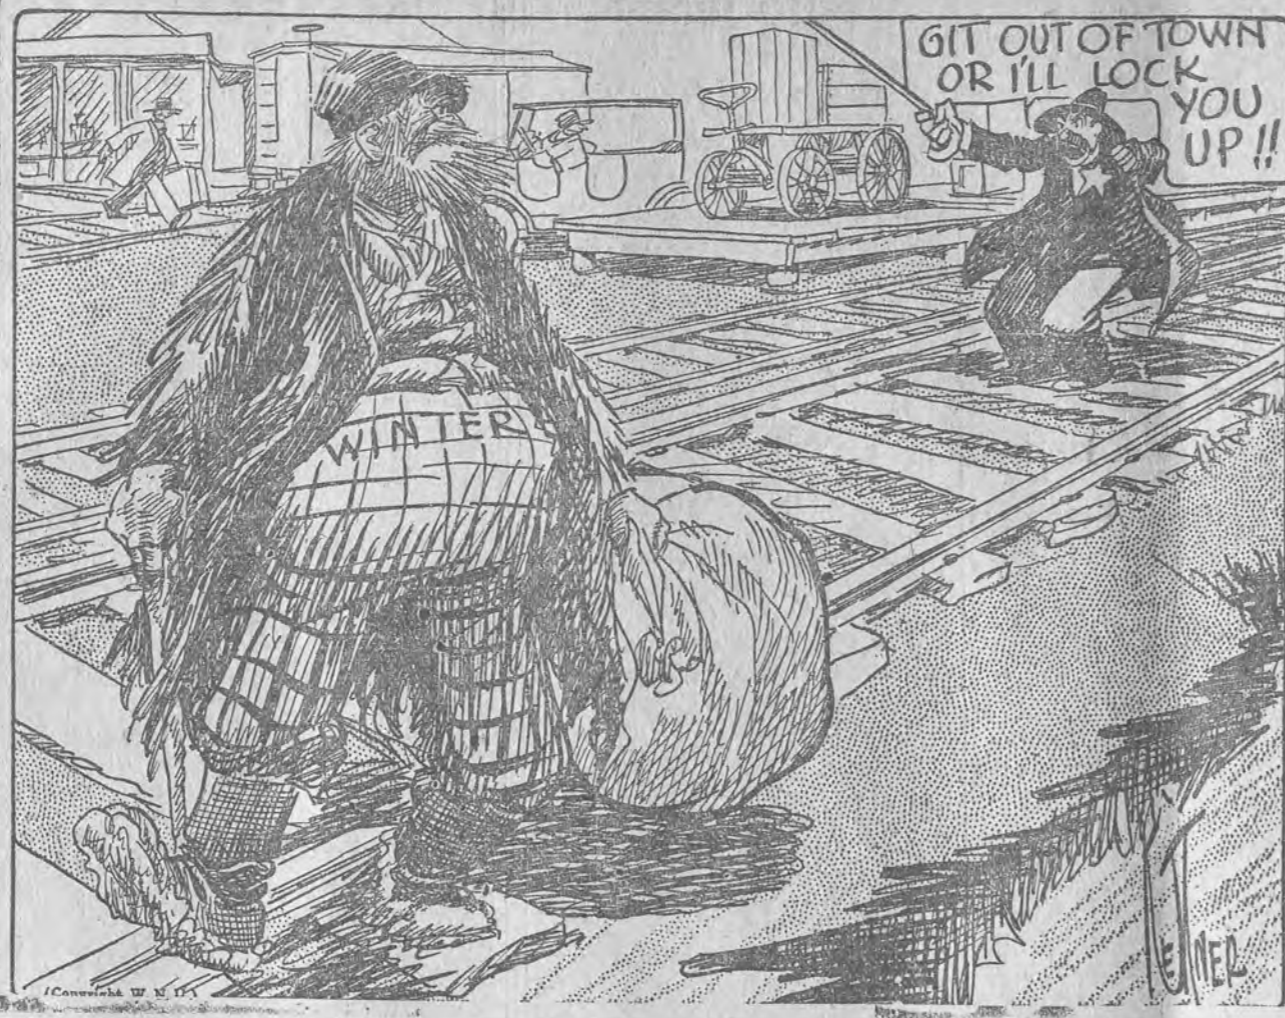

Truthful Bill

Bill Wright used to be a newspaper man and one of his first assignments was a fire at a fashionable house where a ball was in progress. Bill wrote a colorful story, but was called on the carpet by the hawk-eyed city editor who said sourly: "I believe you have overlooked a sensational scandal here. I see that you say the guests fled in scanty attire. Were they in their night gowns or something?" "Oh, no," said Bill, "they were evening gowns!"

Etna Lighthouse

Italian engineers are now making plans for a lighthouse which will be constructed on Mt. Etna, at an altitude of 3,000 meters. It is meant for aerial navigation, for it is well known that a lighthouse for maritime navigation should not be more than 100 meters high. Although intended to light the way for dirigibles and airplanes, it is not yet certain whether or not such an elevation will be favorable.

Rainy Region
The region having the greatest annual rainfall is located in the north-eastern part of India, near Calcutta. It is more than 600 inches a year.

Modern Whaling

Whaling is now handled with modern machinery. A specially built ship is used equipped with a false bow. When a whale has been killed by the machine harpoon guns, of the ship or of her power tender, the false bow is lifted, leaving a gaping hole into which the carcass entire is drawn by power machinery. There in the hull of the vessel it is carved and dissected by other power machinery into the trying vats and ultimately the oil is run off through pipes into vast tanks below, that in one ship's case will hold 67,000 barrels of oil.

Men of Firm Convictions

After 54 years of controversy Charles Keough of Douglas, Kan., paid up. One Charles Lamb had insisted that Keough owed him $75. Keough said it was $40, the price of cutting and stacking wheat back in 1872. They went to law about it and a jury said that Keough owed Lamb nothing. But Keough, now seventy-six years old, wished to settle. He admitted that he owed the $40 and sent the money. Lamb said that he would take the money and say no more about it, except that he had not altered his position, either, in the 54 years.

Irish Poets Have Status

Poets are not fined in the District court at Milford county, Donegal, Ireland. When a local poet appeared for having an unlicensed dog the justice said he would not inflict a penalty on the condition that a license be immediately secured. "Poets are never fined in this court," he said. "To be able to write poetry is almost as good a defense as it is to speak Irish." In a similar case the defendant could not speak Irish. The justice: "I'm sorry I cannot fine you for the dog in this case and also sorry I cannot fine you for not knowing Irish."

Conquering Nature

Since man's beginning he has waged an unceasing battle to subject nature to his will and wish. Though the battle has now waged for thousands of years nature is still the master of man.

Victory is not yet in sight for man but his advance, though slow, is unchecked. Nature may never be entirely under the control of man, who is actually a part of nature, but her many elements are being subdued one by one.

Man's greatest struggle with nature has been the prolongation of human life, a thing over which nature for ages held complete and uncontested sway. Science, medicine, education and sanitation as conceived by the genius of the human mind, are successfully driving back the forces of nature toward the lengthening of the average span of life.

On the basis of the progress made in the past three decades toward the prolongation of human life we can hope to have an average life span of three-quarters of a century within the next 30 years.

The automobile, the railroad, the airship, the telegraph and the radio are exemplifications of man's conquest of nature. Astronomy and archaeology—man's science—have brought within his ken the universe and the past.

Anything man can think of he can do if he works at it long enough. We have abolished the plagues and devastating epidemics of our early history and we shall abolish the diseases which take their toll of human lives today.

Nature is surrendering to man inch by inch and is making man greater for the struggle. When the time comes—if it should—when man no longer has to struggle for supremacy the decap of the human mind will be swift and sure.

Everybody Benefits

The proposition of "trading at home" has been too often construed for the help of the merchant alone. There is no greater economic fallacy. The merchant may gain the first or primary benefit; the result may show up first in his own cash register; but by no means is the "business man" the sole heir of local patronage.

We are all "business" people. It is a broad term, and includes those who toil or add anything to the total of human welfare. The merchant, the banker, the farmer, the house wife, the teacher, the preacher, the lawyer, the doctor, the laborer, the contractor, in short—the "butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker" are all in the same class when it comes to making Carteret what it should be.

Set any one of these trades or professions going and all the rest are benefitted all the way up or down the line. If one prospers, the others he deals with or pays wages to are helped accordingly. It means more savings, more bank deposits and more business.

We are living in an age of keen competition with the big cities. That the large city has its advantages and accommodations, all will admit. But it has its disadvantages. If life is to survive in its fullness, and richness and culture in the suburban and rural sections, and in the smaller cities and towns of this country, the economic side of the question must be given first consideration.

Without economic prosperity all would have to move out. The business of the people of Carteret is to do business here, if it can be done with reason and propriety.

A Never-Ending War

Ordinary rules of sanitation in the home and by municipalities are saving the lives of thousands of Americans annually and making virulent epidemics almost unheard of.

How many people a few years ago knew that malaria germs were spread by the mosquito and that many disease germs were carried broadcast by the common housefly? No greater in number than these were those who realized the efficacy of screens, covered garbage cans, clean yards and the elimination of stagnant water in exterminating the mosquito and the fly.

A fly in the house is a sign of careless housekeeping in this era of swat-the-fly. It is only in the poorest tenement districts and the squalid homes of the mountaineer that the housefly is still given free reign to taint food and carry disease germs from person to person.

Neither is the mosquito permitted to inject his malaria germs into the veins of every sleeping human. To successfully combat the fly and the mosquito the campaign should be launched early in the year. But the battle against summer's pestiferous conveyors of disease must stop with preventatives.

Debris must not be permitted to accumulate, garbage cans must be closed tightly at all times and screens must be kept tightly closed and carefully repaired. And the fly swatter must be kept in daily use.

If you feel badly just because you are alone it is just because you are in bad company. A cynic is a man who doesn't realize just how much obliged he really should be for living.

No matter how early a man comes home his wife always thinks he should have gotten there sooner. Only time some men think they have no kick coming is when it comes time to kick in with some cash.

Christ the Earthly Pledge of God's Everlasting Love and Understanding

By CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW, Veteran Statesman.

I am more firmly anchored to the Bible than ever before and believe implicitly in its teachings and the God it portrays. I believe that there is a supreme intelligence pervading the universe and at times I believe that when a man dies the swarms of billions of highly organized entities which live in the cells desert the body, go out into space, keep on and enter another and last cycle.

Ninety-five per cent of the people are generally on terms with the Lord, and that percentage of any body of people can always be relied upon as being in the right.

I have always felt a real dependence in God. My idea of God is personal rather than one of force. Not a personality, such as we are, of course, but a glorified, divine and infinite heart, brain and spirit—all-comprehending, all-powerful, never failing.

I think of God as being interested in mortals and mortal affairs. Christ was his earthly manifestation, Christ who understood, lived and toiled and suffered upon earth as men and women do, Christ who died as we must do before we live again. Christ is God's pledge of love and understanding.

I don't believe much in chance. You have to make things come your way and they will come your way if you will follow the rules of moderation, not worrying or diversifying your interests, of trusting God and loving your fellow beings.

Courtesy Brings Favors. The Right Road to Take. The Greatness in Patience.

NEW JERSEY and New York are again at odds. Both recently went into deadlock over contracts that will be released for the construction of the proposed Bayonne-Port Richmond bridge.

Governors Moore and Al Smith spoke harshly to each other. Now the two states have come into conflict over matters of health. Harlem notified men in this state that we are puffing entirely too much smoke out of our chimneys at the Big City.

New Jersey drives back—with pen, typewriter, or how we don't know—with a terse reply that New York must stop contaminating our waters and beaches with garbage and filth.

Both are wrong. They should try to deal as though they were two individuals. One cannot expect a favor from the other without giving a favor.

If one is discourteous, the other is likely to be the same. Resentment, at least, will show itself. It is evident that in some matters both states are not co-operating, with conditions remaining as such, the best results cannot be obtained.

VERY SOON the high school here will give diplomas to another graduation class. It will be the second time in history. Then once more, outcoming seniors will face the problem of deciding which road to take—that to college or that to other work.

Those who make up their mind to continue with their schooling will have hopes of becoming eminent in the world, whereas those who decide to go to work elsewhere will have lesser-important prospects in view.

Many students will have the freedom to make their own decision, but some will be obliged in face of parental force to go to college or to get to work. Records show that this practice is a bad one.

Boys and girls should not be forced to undertake something that they do not like. Isn't it true that the things we like best to do are the things that we do best? Then, if your child wants to go to college, send him, and vice versa.

Of course, it is always good to try to point out the advantages of a college education to your child and thus show him, or her, that going to work in a store or factory would not be the right pursuit.

PATIENCE is a noble characteristic. Have you ever thought of the great esteem that people have for patient people? Have you ever considered the greatness of patience and of the good that it does? Edgar Guest, a poet of national fame, tells a little story about being patient.

He was writing a manuscript of good length for a magazine. The work was completed and all ready for the mail. There he had a product of almost a week's earnest effort.

He left his room with the paper on his desk, soon to return to find it gone. A blaze in the hearth told the story of the missing manuscript. The maid had accidentally picked it up with a handful of scrap paper and thrown it into the fire.

Mr. Guest was stricken over the loss, as anyone would have the inclination to be. But, then, he remembered a little passage he had once read, "Do not look at the moment as you would wish it to be, but take it as it really is; do not waste your precious hours grumbling over a loss, while you could be repairing."

He told the maid not to touch any more papers in his room and that he would thereafter get rid of all waste himself. He set to work and wrote another better manuscript.

What good would he have derived from fretting and grumbling about the accident? All his possible fierceness could not restore the papers. It would only make others unhappy. So, just remember that patience is the best resort whenever a setback comes your way.

It might be a little difficult to be patient in times of such distress; yet the road that leads to perfect fruits is always bumpy and very difficult to travel.

Researches in China. Whole chapters of the prehistory of the Chinese are expected to come to light as the result of an archeological expedition to Manchuria and Mongolia now being organized at Tokyo.

Relics of the Stone Age and other ancient periods of man's existence in Asia are sought by the scientists in charge. From what has already been discovered in these regions there is every indication that the surface of this particular habitat of early man has only been scratched yet, archeologically speaking.

Graveyard for Sale. Anyone who wishes to buy a perfectly good graveyard will find one for sale at Lismaloe, Ireland. Reason for sale—no business. The graveyard was opened several years ago, but the officials say there have been no clients.

32. A.—According to computations, based on historical records, the fastest time was 10.7 miles per hour.
33. A.—Russia and Turkey.
34. A.—A character in Morton's comedy, "Speed the Plough," the wife of a lucky farmer, who was envied by "Dame Ashfield," a neighbor who continually exclaims: "What will Mrs. Grundy say?" She has become a symbol for society in general; a tyrannical censor of morals and a stickler for conventional propriety.
35. A.—The first Red Cross Christmas seal stamps were issued in 1907.
36. A.—Coolidge Dam will be constructed across the canyon of the Gila River, near San Carlos, Arizona. The contract has been let to the Atkinson-Spicer Company, 1314 Edward Wilbey Building, Los Angeles, Cal., but work has not yet begun.

39. A.—About 1-13 or 1-14 of the total weight of the body.
40. A.—It would be classed as a mild oath. Probably it was derived from the Roman oath "by the twins of Castor and Pollux" (gemini) or as a corruption of "O Jesu Domine."

Proof That Egyptians Sought Fountain Pen

An early attempt to devise a fountain pen has been disclosed by excavations in an Egyptian tomb dating back more than 4,000 years. The primitive instrument consisted of a section of reed the diameter of a lead pencil, about three inches in length and mounted on a long piece of copper. The nib of the pen is cut away to a fine point like an ordinary quill pen. The narrow tube of the reed served to hold in reserve a small quantity of the writing fluid, whatever it may have been.

The earliest writing fluid, it is now thought, was probably applied by means of a brush in Egypt and in China. The brush required frequent dipping into the fluid so that may have led to the idea of a pen which would hold a considerable amount of fluid even at that early date.

Buick Power is proved on the 24-Hour Hill

Buick knows that the famous Buick Valve-in-Head Engine produces more power for its size than any other automobile engine on earth.

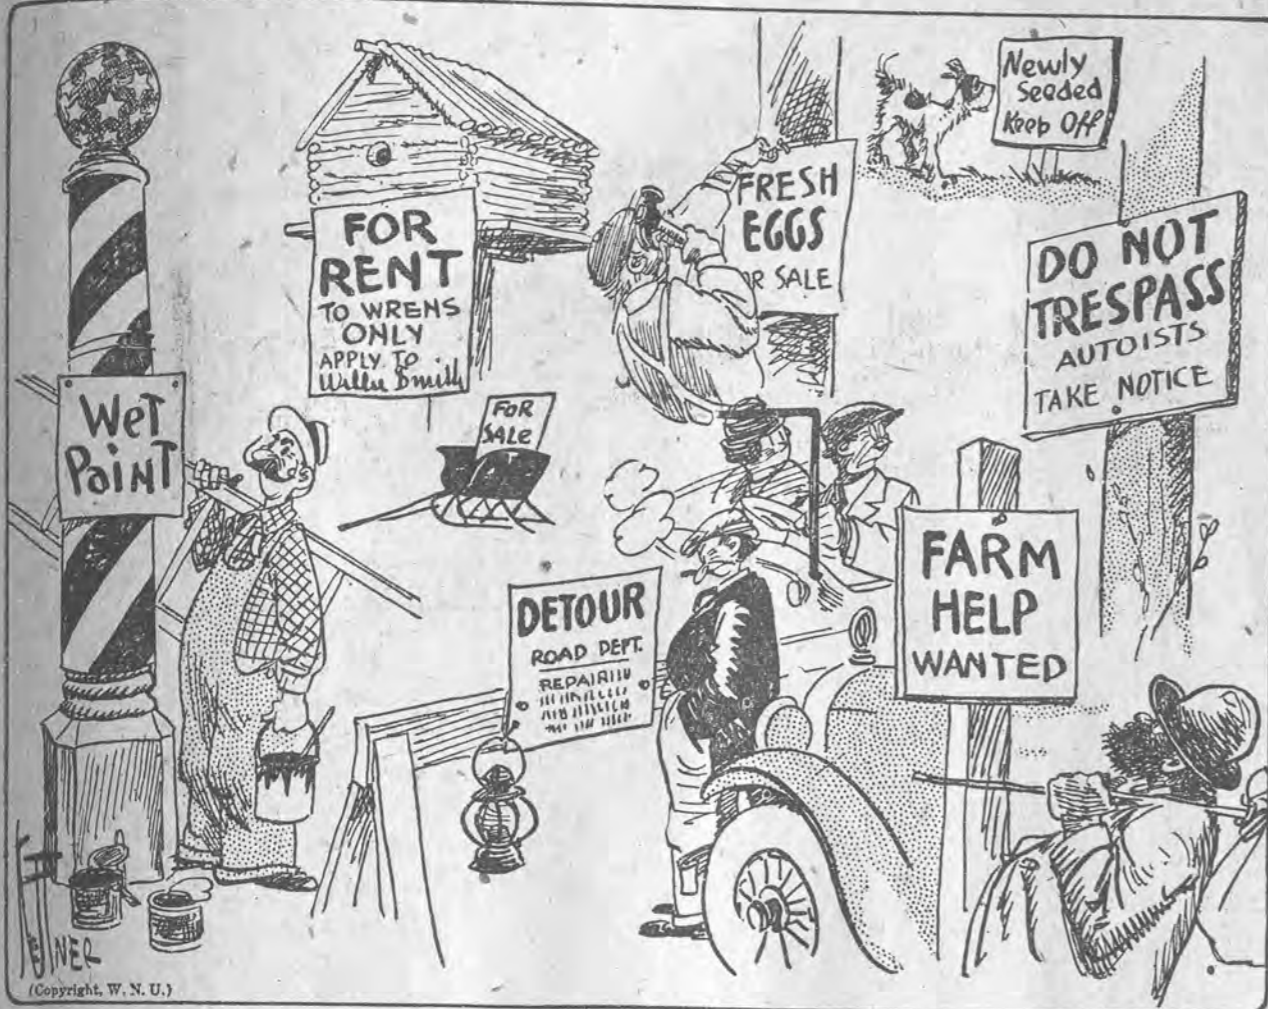

Buick has proved this fact decisively at the great Proving Ground of General Motors, on the "24-Hour Hill"—a mechanical device which faithfully duplicates the pull of any hill for any number of miles.

Test, not guess, is the basis for Buick design. Buick success is founded on this constant search for the new and better thing—on this accurate, beforehand knowledge of results.

Signs of Spring

Old Indian Tradition

of Wyoming Springs

The Big Horn hot springs in Wyoming, among the largest in the world, are a favored haunt of the Great Spirit and possessed of miraculous powers, if old Indian myths are to be believed. Today large numbers of Shoshones, Arapahoes and Crows camp in numbers near the springs, invoking the aid of the Great Spirit in ridding them of their ailments. They also believe these waters will bring them protection against evil.

Harry Lange, an old Indian fighter, recently visited the springs and recalled that 50 years before he, as a member of a scouting party with a cavalry detachment guided by Arapa-hoes, had crossed the Big Horn, at the present site of Thermopolis. Lange said they threw themselves into the pools below the big spring and went through religious rituals. They urged the soldiers to do likewise, declaring the waters were blessed by the Great Spirit and that bathing in them would ward off evil.

A legend almost as old as the Shoshone tribe itself says that back in the beginning of things Ishawooa, a chief who ruled all the Indians of this section, alone knew of the springs and visited them annually, thus keeping his power and health. But when old age finally came he directed his braves to take him to these waters and allow him to die in them so his spirit would be blessed by the Great Spirit. Ishawooa's only son, Wapiti, was a weakling who apparently would never be able to assume his father's leadership. But as he died Ishawooa confided to Wapiti the secret of finding the Great Spirit's favor by bathing in the hot springs. It was thus that Wapiti became strong and eventually an even greater chief than his father.

Generations later the great Shoshone chief, Washakie, submitting to the advance of the paleface, ceded the Big Horn hot springs to the United States and the state of Wyoming on condition that a portion of their waters be reserved for free use by the weak and sick of both peoples.

Sparks Circus in Westfield On May 13

Friday, May 13, afternoon and evening under huge masses of canvass, the finest circus ever made by the ingenuity and courage of men, will parade and show in Westfield, to make the young folks happy and the old folks young. The great parade is on Friday morning at 11.00 o'clock. First of all, a real wild animal circus is a 1927 acquisition, having been imported from the world's greatest wild animal training quarters at Stellingham, Germany. Included in these displays will be found lions, tigers, leopards, polar and grizzly bears—even trained ostriches will be seen in addition to the Sparks group of sixteen "Rotation" horses, the two elephant herds, fancy gaited and posing horses, the Bibb County Pig Circus, Sparks' Seals, and hosts of others of a novel nature. The circus proper opens with an elaborately staged spectacle, "L'Or, the Jungle Queen," in which all of the animals, performers, premier dancers, and a large chorus participate. As a fitting finish to the ad feature performance, the mammoth pageant, "The Flag of America" will be presented, in which 800 people and 500 horses appear. Sparks Circus has been tripled in size this season and is today one of the largest in the world. Excursions on all railroads. Don't forget the date, Friday, May 13, at Westfield, New Jersey.

History in a Bag
A Budapest newspaper relates that a schoolboy at Navyvarad, in the Hungarian territory transferred to Rumania, found on buying some fruit that the paper bag into which it had been placed was made of an old document belonging to the municipal archives and giving an official account of the Battle of Magenta. His curiosity being aroused he secured another bag, which was made from an original decree of the Emperor Joseph, dated 1780, permitting the Protestant inhabitants of Navyvarad to bury their dead to funeral chants. Investigation showed that the new Hungarian authorities had been selling the old archives in bulk as waste paper. The Hungarian inhabitants of the town have now taken steps to save whatever can yet be recovered.—Pierre Van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

Under Bolshevism
"The Bolsheviks were going to give the world a new race. They were going to train the children into supermen. Well—"
Max Eastman was describing his visit to Russia. He went on:
"Well, the Bolsheviks, instead of elevating the children of Russia, have degraded them to unbelievable depths."
"Astonished at the filth of Russian children, I said one day to a Leningrad boy:
"How many collars do you wear a week?"
"The boy gave me a puzzled frown. "I suppose," he said, "you mean how many weeks do I wear a collar?"

SHRINERS TO HAVE AS GUESTS FILM NOTABLES

Wonderful and Gigantic Program of Entertainment Has Been Arranged For

Atlantic City, N. J.—Tom Mix, hero of a hundred Wild West film escapades, will be grand marshal of the two mammoth Hollywood parades in Atlantic City during the Shrine ceremonial of 150,000 Nobles in June.

Tom has wired that he will transfer his rodeo equipment, prairie wagons and other Wild West paraphernalia. He will participate with Douglas Fairbanks, William S. Hart and Harold Lloyd in a spectacular chariot race along the beach.

A carload of electric generators, to be used in creating photoplays during the week, arrived here a few days ago. A special train will bring the Hollywood performers a few days before the Shrine ceremonial opens.

Governor Moore, who will welcome the Shriners on behalf of New Jersey, has issued an open letter to Director General Earl E. Jeffries assuring Potentate Jeffries of the full official co-operation of the State in the gigantic entertainment program now being arranged.

Medinah Temple, of Chicago, has sent word it will come on seven trains, bringing 2,000 Nobles. This will be the largest delegation at the convention.

The Steel Pier has set aside a large space as working room for the fifty or more newspaper men expected here for the week. Incidentally, it is planned to hold a massed concert of Shrine bands on the pier with Creator conducting.

HERE, MOM—LIL PRESENT FOR YOU—LIKE I USED TO BRING YOU BEFORE WE WERE MARRIED.

By Charles Sughroe

WELL, THIS IS GOOD—HERE I TRY TO BE A THOUGHTFUL HUSBAND AND ALL I GET IS NOTHING AND NOT MUCH OF THAT—YOU DONT NEED TO AET SO RITZY— I SEEN THE TIME WHEN YOU COULD MAKE A BOX OF CANDY LOOK SICK— ALL THAT YOUR KID BROTHERS COULD FIND IN THE MORNING WUZ TH' TINFOIL AND PAPER THAT THE CANDY WAS WRAPPED IN— AFTER YOU GOT THROUGH, A BOX OF CANDY LOOKED LIKE THE SEVENTEEN! YEAR LOCUSTS HAD BEEN AT IT.

Why the Craze to Get Thin?

WHY THE CRAZE TO GET THIN? THE VENUS DE MILO—AINT THIN— ARTISTS DONT PICK OUT NO HUMAN BEANPOLES FOR THEIR MODELS— AND DO YOU REMEMBER HOW YOU LAUGHED AT THE LIVING SKELETON AT THE CIRCUS? WELL, SHE AINT WITH THE SIDESHOW ANY MORE—NOPE, SHE'S RUNNING A CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL ON HOW TO ACQUIRE A BEAUTIFUL FIGGER LIKE MINE!

Paw and Maw

OH, WILL YOU BE QUIET!

A TEST CASE

Tommy entered the parlor, where his sister was entertaining Mr. Dubleigh. Walking up to the latter, he held out his hand, in the open palm of which were a dozen small white objects.

Why He Was Hoarse

Fred—You're very hoarse this morning, Ted. What have you been doing?
Ted—I was in some amateur theatricals last night.
"Playing lead, I suppose?"
"No, I was the prompter."

A Mother's Way

Mrs. Smartleigh—Yes, my dear, I intend my daughters to be engaged when they are nineteen.
Mrs. Wise—But suppose they are not?
Mrs. Smartleigh—Then they shall remain nineteen until they are.

REAL SPEED

Pat, employed in a local quarry, one day dropped a stick of dynamite and forthwith disappeared into the clouds with several tons of debris. The catastrophe was witnessed by Mike, who, somewhat later was approached by the quarry owner.

Rather Clumsy

Mrs. Uppe—Daughter is in the other room playing the piano.
Mr. Uppe—It must be cold in there.
Mrs. Uppe—Why?
Mr. Uppe—Sounds like she's playing with mittens on.

NOT BOSS AT HOME

Hubby—Oh, wife! I've been promoted to boss in the office.
Wife—Yes, in the office maybe.

AVOID FIRE!

Have your Chimney Cleaned of last year's soft Coal soot, before the cold weather sets in and save on your coal bill, and loss from Fire.

A DECAYED TOOTH
IS LIKE A SPOTTED FRUIT
The Good Fruit Is Soon Attacked; Just So Does One Decayed Tooth Attack a Sound One
That's why the earliest possible attention to a decayed tooth is advisable. Frequent brushing not less than twice a day is a wise habit and a thorough examination every six months at this office will prevent decay and loss of a single tooth.
Another reason why you should not neglect teeth is the longer you delay the more the repair bill is bound to cost. So it is anything you delay the more the repair bill is bound to cost. So it is anything tooth, or the various diseases that develop from diseased teeth.
Free Examinations Daily
We charge nothing for examining your teeth, telling you just what is needed, if anything; how long the work will take and what it will cost.
