

BOARD TO INSIST ON TRUE VALUE

County Boards Throughout State Requested to Submit True Value on Property

According to letters sent to the twenty one county Tax and Assessment Boards, Monday, by Secretary Charles E. Cook of the State Board, the county boards will be required to see that truer valuation is placed on property.

"While there are several enactments of more or less importance," said Cook, "the purpose of this letter is to direct the attention of the county boards particularly to Chapter 115. This act amends the equalization act of 1917 by bringing its dates into conformity with those of the general tax act. The equalization act, which was rendered unworkable by the revision of the general tax act of 1918, will therefore be again in operation next year. The amendment became effective October 1.

The purpose of the equalization act is to secure a comprehensive equalization of assessments throughout the State. Under this act it is the duty of the county boards of taxation, when the books are turned in at the annual meeting of January 10, to examine into the valuations of real property made by each assessor, and to determine whether the assessments are made at true value or a percentage of true value. An equalization table is then prepared in each district, the percentage by which it should be increased or decreased to correspond to true value, and the true value of the property within the district. Provision is also made for a hearing on this table by the county boards, after which hearing they are to conform or revise it according to the facts. The equalized valuations are to be taken as the true value for all apportionments of county and State taxes, charges or distribution of moneys. They will not affect the taxes raised for local purposes.

"A certified copy of the county equalization table will be transmitted to the State Board of Taxes and Assessment. Blanks for the preliminary and final county tables will be sent from this office. Upon the receipt of the abstracts or ratables from the county boards of taxation, the State Board will prepare a State equalization table of county ratables. Hearing will also be given on the State table, after which it will be confirmed or reviewed in accordance with the facts.

"There is nothing new in the principle upon which the equalization act is based. The State Constitution provides for an assessment at true value. The equalization act is simply an investigation of assessments throughout the State to ascertain if they will stand the test of true value.

"The first step in the program of State-wide equalization is in the hands of the local assessor. The county boards of taxation should therefore impress upon the assessing officials under their jurisdiction the importance of a diligent and careful exercise of the duties of their office. Low valuations by the assessors will not, under the operation of this act, result in obtaining low apportionments of State and county taxes to be raised, as the apportionments will not be made on the figures returned by the local assessors, but on the equalization tables prepared by the county and State boards.

"Another act which directly affects the county boards of taxation is Chapter 174, which is an amendment to section 508 of the general tax act. It provides that the table of aggregates to be filed in by the county boards of taxation from the tax duplicates shall include the total amount to be raised in each taxing district for local municipal purposes. This act also makes it the duty of the clerk in each taxing district to transmit to the county board of taxation the budget of the municipality, and immediately upon its adoption upon demand, to furnish to the county board all such other information as required in such form as the county board may designate."

TRAFFIC FINES MUCH TOO EASY SAYS COUNCILMAN

Disregard of Fire Trucks When Going to Fire Also Brought Up —Bus Co. Answer Charges

Acting Mayor Frank Andres spoke of the lenient manner that traffic violators were handled in the borough, at the meeting of the council Monday evening. "I don't think it is right to allow violators of traffic rules off as easy as they have been," said Mr. Andres.

Councilman Hercules Ellis, chairman of the police committee, thought that too many cars are dashing to fire scenes as soon as a fire alarm is turned in. They make it hazardous for the truck drivers and difficult for the firemen by the blocking of the roadway with parked cars. He said that he would ask the police to abate conditions.

Borough Clerk H. VO. Platt was instructed to write to the Public Service Transportation Company to have a representative at the next meeting to explain certain situations that Acting Mayor Andres charges the corporation with. Mr. Andres said he did not think the bus operators were experienced men.

The question of fees was also under fire. Permits of buses expire in July. Neither the Middlesex Bus Owners Association nor the Public Service have renewed their permits and paid the annual fees. Mr. Andres deplored also the failure of the Public Service to notify the borough of the acquisition of the line.

Mr. Levy of Roosevelt avenue presented a petition signed by himself and Mr. David Wohlgenuth, asking for sidewalks on Roosevelt avenue, from Salem avenue to Edwin street. This was read, and Acting Mayor Andres then instructed Mr. Levy to take the petition, have it worded differently so that the Council would know just what was wanted, get other names on same, if possible, and present to the Council at the next regular meeting, October 17, 1927.

The Police report and the Overseer of the Poor reports were read and placed on file. The Building Inspector report for the month of September showing and estimated cost of building to be $66,000. This was also ordered placed on file.

Andres said that the contractors for the paving of Emerson and High streets should be getting under way at once; also that the East Rahway sewer was under way.

Street Commissioner Walling reported Beverly street sewer now O. K., also that he would have Sharot street scraped tomorrow, October 4.

CHRISTMAS TREE PLANTED

The borough is to have a community Christmas tree this year, according to plans of the Carteret Woman's Club, who have received permission from the Mayor and Council to have erected a huge tree on the lawn in front of the Borough Hall.

The tree was planted by Julius Kloss during the past week and at Christmas will be illuminated with lights of various colors.

FATHER O'CONNOR LEAVES PARISH TO ENTER MONASTERY

Friends Tender Banquet On Eve Of Departure—Succeeded By Rev. E. C. Manion

After eight years as pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Father O'Connor leaves his duties here to take greater steps in his devotion to his religion, when he casts aside all the restricted pleasures and comforts allowed him as a catholic priest, to spend the remainder of his life in a Trappist Monastery in Kentucky.

The splendid reception accorded to Father O'Connor at the Farewell Banquet in his honor, last night held in the Parochial school auditorium, on the eve of his departure, was evidence of the high esteem and love for him by his parish.

Speakers at the affair expressed the sentiment of the parish in their regrets to see Father O'Connor leave. But the memory of his good deeds and work here would always be fresh in the minds of his parish as long as the Parochial school and the convent remain erect.

Toastmaster for the evening was John S. Olbright and the speakers were Mr. John H. Nevill, William D. Casey, William J. Lawlor, Edwin S. Quin, Fred Colton, Frank X. Koeppler, and James Owens.

Mr. Owens at the conclusion of his talk presented Father O'Connor in behalf of the parish, with a purse.

Father O'Connor responded by thanking his friends and parishners for their kindness to him and modestly dedicated the school and convent to the parish. "The buildings should be a monument to the people of the parish instead of to me, as the parish will have to pay for them," he said. "I also wish to express my sincere thanks to Miss Anna Richards and her sisters, Mrs. C. Hughs and Mrs. James Wisely for their splendid help, in making the success of many social functions, sponsored by the church, possible," added Father O'Connor.

The entertaining program was as follows:

John Dunn—"Just an Ivy Covered Shack."

Mrs. C. Hughs—"Dawn of Tomorrow."

Mrs. Dunn—"Sunshine That Fills My World."

Tom Jackaway—"End of a Perfect Day."

"Let's Grow Old Together" by the chorus.

Mrs. Wisley—"Because I Love You."

Mrs. Bracher—"Charmaine," "Memories"—by the chorus.

Pianist Miss Anna Richards.

Chairman of entertainment, Mrs. Thomas Burke.

"Memories" sung by the chorus was appropriately composed to Father O'Connor, by Miss Anna Richards. Tuesday afternoon the school children of St. Joseph's presented Father O'Connor with a fine leather bag and a $20 gold piece and a spiritual bouquet. The children of the school will miss Father O'Connor as he was loved by the youngsters.

By his entry into the monastery, Father O'Connor renounces all that the world has to offer to a religious leader. He casts aside the black serge soutane of the Roman clergy for the rough tunic of the Cistercians; the privacy of home life for the religious cloistered life of the sociability of parish friends for the perpetual silence of the cloister; the priestly duties among the faithful for the hard manual labor prescribed by the austere rule of Citeux.

The Trappists, as they are commonly called, are registered in the records of the Catholic Church as the Order of Reformed Cistercians of the stricter Observance. They were founded by the Abbot de Rance, head of the Abbey La Trappe, France. It was he who introduced the reforms into the monastic life of the European religious clergy as an antidote for the prevailing sensualism rampant throughout Continental Europe during the 17th and 18th centuries. The constitution of the order is founded on the Rule of St. Benedict and is followed closely.

The daily routine of the religious, demands that all assemble in the choir at the various Canonical hours of the day and there in unison offer up the Divine Office, mandatory on every Catholic priest. In the morning, according to their constitution, they must devote one-half hour to meditation, and 15 minutes in the evening.

Aside from their recitation of Divine Office and daily mass, the monks devote their time to manual labor, spiritual reading or other pious acts. There is absolutely no time provided for recreation.

All religious exercises are held in common, no monk being allowed to say his community prayers in private. They rise at 2 o'clock every morning except Sunday, when the time is changed to 1:30 A. M., and on the

ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morecraft of Emerson street entertained a party of friends Sunday evening. After a very pleasant evening a delightful dinner was served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Clark and son, Stuart, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews and daughter, Olive, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Pfinnig, Mrs. Alice Walling of Elizabeth, Miss Rose Burke, Miss Dell Burke and Mrs. Mary Burke.

major festivals this hour is changed to 1 A. M. They retire at 7 P. M. During the summer season they are allowed to retire at 8 P. M. During the day their time is divided into seven hours for Divine office, seven hours for sleep, one hour for meals, four hours for study, and five hours for manual labor.

According to the rule of the Reformed Cistercians, the monks are required to live by the work of their own hands. This work must be manual labor, such as gardening, or caring for cattle or farm work. They are not allowed to eat fresh meat or eggs, except in cases of sickness. Under no condition are the monks allowed to communicate with one another except through their superiors, and this must be done briefly.

Their beds must be made of a straw mattress and pillow, with ordinary covering. According to the rule of the order, no Cistercian is allowed to take off his habit, except when absolutely necessary. Hence, they are required to sleep in their ordinary clothing which consists of ordinary underwear, their habit, which is a white tunic, with a black woolen scapular, and a cow, made of the same material as the tunic. About their waist the priests wear a leather cincture.

The objective of the members of the order is to do penance, not necessarily for themselves but mankind in general. Entrance to the order is in most cases perpetual. Few return to the outside world after entering the enclosure, in fact few visitors are allowed to enter within the convent walls. Once the candidate enters, he leaves all, never again to look upon the places he left, never again to see the faces of those he loved most, only in extreme emergency, such as death or serious illness.

"The big cities—you'll find gold diggers in every street."

FLOATED A LOAN

"Wonder how Noah managed so big an enterprise as building the ark?"
"Floated a loan, no doubt?"

Preserving Eggs

"Guarantizing eggs" is a process for preserving them. In guarantizing eggs, the eggs are dipped into a weak oil and wax solution and then put in storage. This process is a new one and has proved very popular. It is claimed that the solution keeps the air from penetrating the shell and thus gives a better preserved egg. The guarantizing egg brings a higher price than the ordinary cold storage eggs.

The White Man's Burden

That is the title of a famous poem written by Rudyard Kipling and first published in 1899. Each stanza of the poem begins with the line: "Take up the white man's burden." The phrase now refers to the supposed responsibility of the white race for the moral and physical welfare of all the dark races of the world.—Pathfinder Magazine.

"Inferiority Complex"

According to Adler's terminology an inferiority complex is a complex which results from thwarting man's natural urge to self-expansion and which (when repressed into the subconscious) compels him to achieve power along some other line than that in which his energies are blocked.

CAMPING SEASON OF BOY SCOUTS IS SUCCESS

The biggest and best camping season in the history of the Raritan Council, Boy Scouts of America, is reported in a special bulletin released this week by Scout Executive Herbert W. Lunn of Scout Headquarters.

The scouts went to Camp Burton on the Metedeconk River through special arrangements with the Monmouth and Middlesex Councils and had a most enjoyable time. 143 scouts representing Perth Amboy, Woodbridge, Fords, Colonia, Iselin, Carteret, and South Amboy were in camp during the eight week season from July 3rd to August 28. The total of boy weeks is 316 which beats all former records of the Raritan Council.

The staff of the camp was headed by Scout Executive Frank C. Cobb of the Monmouth Council. The Director of the camping program was Assistant Scout Executive Morgan C. Knapp of Red Bank; the director of the department of training was Scout Executive Herbert W. Lunn of the Raritan Council and was assisted by Field Scout Executive W. E. Holbrook of Lakewood; the recreational director was Scout Executive Harry I. Cooke of New Brunswick; the camp physician was Deputy Scout Commissioner Alexander H. Fishkoff of Perth Amboy; the water front director was Scoutmaster Oswald A. Nebel of Troop 7 Perth Amboy who is on the staff of the Red Cross. The commissary and camp headquarters was in charge of Field Scout Executive Frederick H. Jewell of Red Bank; special nature study and activities were handled by Eagle Scout Roger Conant, of Red Bank. This group of men served as the regular staff and were assisted by local commissioners and other scout leaders who were in camp for shorter periods. These included District Commissioner B. F. Ellison of Avenel; Assistant Scoutmaster Henry Dambeck Troop 3; Scoutmaster James Harris, Assistant Scoutmasters Archie Christensen and William Bollschweiler, Troop 4; Assistant Scoutmasters Joseph Dennis and Henry Zangenberg, Troop 6; Scoutmaster Fred C. Wilshire, Troop 15; and Scoutmaster P. Boylan, Troop 71.

The activities at camp were the usual summer program of scout training which kept the boys very busy advancing through the various grades and tests. The figures which the training department have compiled speak for themselves for, during the eight weeks 1028 Second and First Class tests were passed, 82 Second Class badges were awarded, 47 First Class, and 482 Merit badges were awarded at the camp Court of Honor which held a session every Friday night during the season. A total of 617 badges of all grades were awarded to 180 scouts and 8 leaders. These included badges in First Aid, Signaling, Tracking, Knife and Axe work, Fire Building, Cooking, Compass, Swimming Map Making and Nature Study. The 482 merit badges covered 39 different subjects of which First Aid to Animals, Pioneering, Carpentry and Life Saving were the most popular. There were also classes in Archery, Marksmanship and Reptile Study. This highly developed scheme of scout training was one of the greatest features of Camp Burton this summer and caused many interesting comments on the educational value of scouting in addition to public school work.

In addition to this regular scout training the boys enjoyed themselves immensely with the general program of the camp which included swimming, boating, canoeing, and hiking. The evening's programs consisted of Sundays, campfire; Mondays, night games; Tuesdays, stunt night; Wednesdays sing and story night; Thursdays, Indian Council; Fridays, Courts of Honor; Saturdays movies. The daily program began at 6:30 for first call and taps were sounded at 9:30. The tents were arranged in Indian villages in groups of four, each in charge of a Scoutmaster.

The meals consisted of good plain wholesome food carefully prepared under the direction of the camp chef James S. Benjamin of the Raritan Council who is familiarly known as "Ben". He was a great favorite with all the boys and was much in demand for his camp fire songs. He was assisted by William H. Green of New Brunswick who is a wonderful story teller.

Camp Burton is located on the south shore of the Metedeconk River in Ocean County and on the two visiting days each week, Sundays and Wednesdays, the parents of the boys would drive down to see them.

Perhaps the most popular day in camp was on the occasion of the visit of Governor Harry A. Moore and his official staff. Governor Moore spent over three hours at the camp, inspected the boys and their quarters and expressed very keen interest in the spirit and condition of the camp life. In his address to the large number of parents and others who were present he stressed the point that every dollar invested in the promotion of the Boy Scout movement will go to reduce the state budget for corrective institutions for the youth of our land. The Governor expressed a hope that the day will come when every boy will have an opportunity of coming under the influence of the Scout oath.

All the arrangements for camp this summer were in the hands of the camp committee consisting of Dr. Fritz Abegg, chairman, John M. Kreger, Dr. C. W. Naulty, Jr., Marshall E. Magee, A. B. McDowell. A full report of the camp season is to be made at the next meeting of the Executive Board which is to be held in Perth Amboy on October 11.

NEW STEEL TOWER ERECTED BY PUBLIC SERVICE

The steel tower transmission line erected by Public Service Electric and Gas Company to connect its Kearny plant with the recently completed switching station at Athena in the city of Clifton, has just been put in service. The new line will permit the delivery of power from the Kearny, Essex and Marion power stations to the Passaic division and very largely increases the company's capacity in that section.

The line, it is announced, is to be extended from Athena to a new switching station under process of erection at Roseland and from Roseland to Metuchen where still another switching station is being built. With the completion of the line to Metuchen a total of 135,000 additional horse power will be placed at the disposal of industrial and domestic users in the Passaic and Central divisions and the West Essex section of the Essex division of the company. The work, including the switching stations will cost about $14,000,000 and the new line will, it is expected, be in operation in about a year.

It is planned ultimately to build a line from Kearny, through Elizabeth to Metuchen switching station, the whole to enclose the most populous section of New Jersey, with a population of more than 1,600,000.

Into the power circuit thus formed will be fed energy generated in adjacent company stations now in operation or to be built as well as energy received through interconnections with other systems. By the use of this method of transmission it is possible to transmit current at high voltage along the outskirts of the territory served and to "step down" the voltage at switching stations in favorable locations, for distribution to sub-stations from which it is sent out to the users. The system is more economical and dependable than is transmission direct from the generation stations, which is necessarily at a much lower voltage.

The total length of the tower line between Kearny and Metuchen is to be about forty-six miles.

The line between Kearny and Athena is about twelve miles in length and is carried on eighty-eight steel towers through the municipalities of Kearny, North Arlington, Belleville, Nutley, Bloomfield and Clifton. The section between Athena and Roseland will traverse Clifton, Little Falls, Cedar Grove, North Caldwell, West Caldwell and part of Roseland, and the line will be carried on sixty-eight towers. The line between Roseland and Metuchen stations will be carried on 150 towers, through part of Roseland, Livingston, Flomham Park, Chatam, New Providence, North Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Clark Township and Raritan Township. Plans for the Metuchen-Kearny line have not been announced.

The Roseland switching station, the largest in the system, will occupy about forty acres and will cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. Besides its function in connection with Public Service operations it will be a part of the system that is being built to interconnect Public Service lines with those of the Philadelphia Electric Company, and the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company. Energy received from these companies will be here transferred to the Public Service circuit and visa versa.

Sun, Moon and Stars

The sun lights this world from without, shines in at a window, but the moon is like a lamp within an apartment. It shines for us. The stars themselves make a more visible, and hence a nearer and more domestic, roof at night. Nature broods us and has not left our germs of thought to be hatched by the sun. We feel her heat and see her body darkening over us. Our thoughts are not dissipated but come back to us like an echo.—Thoreau.

Idle Threat

The man who threatens the world is always ridiculous; for the world can easily go on without him and, in a short time will cease to miss him.—Samuel Johnson.

Industrious Beavers

Dam Brook, Block Road

Stony Point, N. Y.—Town authorities of Stony Point, alleging a family of industrious beavers are delaying traffic on a county highway in the St. John's section of this town, complained to Maj. W. A. Welch, chief engineer of the Palisades interstate park system. They asserted that the beavers built and rebuilt a dam.

Five times now the road gang of workmen under Street Commissioner James Rose of Stony Point have razed the dam made by the beavers in the last two weeks, but each time the beavers rebuilt the dam.

They construct it about twenty feet wide and to a height of five feet under a bridge which crosses a brook. The result is the water, dammed by the industrious animals, floods the highway.

Cards and Dice Burned

After Church Revival

Comanche, Texas.—Cards and dice from four leading stores were piled in the courthouse square and burned as the result of a revival campaign held here. A local pastor gathered the gambling paraphernalia for the bonfire and the tax collector applied the torch. Forty-eight decks of cards and 404 dice were burned. Bibles have been placed on sale where the cards and dice were offered.

Rainbow During Darkness

A rainbow at night is an unusual phenomenon, but not what should be called a rare phenomenon. It only requires a shower with bright moon light on it when the moon is not too high in the heavens.

DELEGATES' HALL BECOMES SHRINE

Virginia Will Restore Room Where Great Historic Events Occurred.

Richmond, Va.—The historic hall of the House of Delegates in Virginia's old state capitol is to be restored as a shrine of American tradition. Except for bronze tablets relating great incidents in its history and for a statue of Robert E. Lee, which Governor Byrd has suggested to commemorate its acceptance of the Confederate command, the hall's appearance will be made as much as possible like that preceding the Civil war. In the hall now is the ancient chair of the speaker of the house of burgesses, used at the capitol in Williamsburg as early as 1700, and efforts are being made to return as much as possible of the old furniture used in the Black and Tan and Sealawag Constitutional convention, which has been scattered about the state. This building was designed by Thomas Jefferson, and he determined the interior arrangements. The cornerstone was laid in 1783. It has been used longer as a capitol than any other building in the United States. On October 13, 1789, the general assembly convened in it. The famous statue of George Washington, which is seen on entering, was placed in the capitol on May 14, 1793. It is the work of Houdon. Aaron Burr Tried. Probably the first great event taking place in the hall of the house of delegates was the adoption of the famous resolutions of 1798-99 drafted by James Monroe as the true interpretation of the Constitution of the United States. Aaron Burr was tried for treason there in 1807. It was necessary that the trial take place in the hall of the house of delegates because the courtroom immediately above was entirely too small to accommodate the crowd, as was the hall of the house of delegates itself. This was one of the most celebrated trials in the history of the United States. Chief Justice Marshall presided, and for a part of the time Judge Cyrus Griffen, also a Virginian, of the United States Circuit court, sat with him. The most learned lawyers of the day were assembled—Caesar Rodney, George Hay and Alexander McRae for the prosecution; Edmund Randolph, John Wickham, William Wirt, Benjamin Botts and Luther Martin for the defense. On February 7, 1822, Henry Clay and George M. Bibb, commissioners from Kentucky, appeared before a joint session of the general assembly of Virginia to speak in reference to the meaning and execution of an act of Virginia in 1789, entitled "The Erection of the District of Kentucky into a Separate State." Scene of Secession Convention. In 1824 General Lafayette visited the city of Richmond for three days. It was the occasion of the greatest rejoicing. Chief Justice Marshall delivered an oration on behalf of the officers of the Revolution, the exercises being conducted in the hall of the house of delegates. In 1829 there was assembled in the hall of the house of delegates the famous Constitutional convention which continued into 1830, and when gave the western nonslave holding counties of Virginia increased representation in the general assembly. In attendance on this convention were Marshall, Madison, Monroe, Giles, John Randolph, Benjamin Watkins, Leigh and Littleton Walter Tazewell. A meeting was held on July 9, 1831, to arrange for public manifestation of sorrow at the death of James Monroe, which had occurred in New York. The ceremonies were held at the northeast end of the capitol. Public meetings were held there later in memory of Thomas Jefferson, Chief Justice Marshall and James Madison. In 1844, in the great explosion on the U. S. S. Princeton near Alexandria, ex-Gov. T. W. Gilmer of Virginia, then secretary of the navy, was killed. The remains of Governor Gilmer lay in state in the hall of the house. The remains of John C. Calhoun also were brought to Richmond, taken to the hall of the house and placed in state on the clerk's desk. The great secession convention met there in February, 1861. It was before this convention that Gen. Robert E. Lee appeared and accepted appointment as commander of the military and naval forces of Virginia. It was in the hall of the house of delegates that the Confederate senate met and conducted Jefferson Davis to a platform beside the Washington monument, from which he read his inaugural address to a great and enthusiastic assembly. Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson's body lay in state in the old senate chamber. The body of ex-President Tyler also lay in state there. 62 Killed When Floor Collapsed. In 1870 the famous capitol disaster occurred. On April 27 a great crowd had collected in the Supreme courtroom, above the hall of the house of delegates, to be present at a trial by the Court of Appeals of the Richmond majority case. The gallery of the Supreme court gave way, then the main floor, and a mass of humanity was precipitated to the floor of the hall of the house. A bronze plate records that 62 were killed and 251 injured. How much of the old furniture can be found is problematical, but it is known that a few of the old chairs and desks are still in existence. Several were acquired by individuals after the constitutional convention, held in the old hall in 1902-03. When the Capitol building was modeled in 1904 two desks which occupied a position directly in front of the desk of the clerk of the senate were purchased by the men who had used them at this important convention. One of the two desks is now in Richmond. At the same time a resident of Richmond acquired the desk built for the use of the newspaper men reporting the sessions of the house of delegates. This desk accommodated four men and stood to the left of the desk of the clerk of the house. It is four feet long, of solid walnut, with a walnut top from twelve to fifteen inches wide and an inch thick. The desk has massive supports, all of walnut, and the top is A-shaped, with two drawers to each side, in which are written the names of men who worked there at various times. It is believed that this desk was first placed in the hall during the sessions of the Confederate states congress, or when the Black-and-Tan used this place for its meetings. This place was made into two smaller ones and they are now in use in a home in Richmond. Though the historic value was not known at the time of the purchase, they have been carefully preserved for their association, and are in excellent condition. A traveling man who was making a fast jump East. The traveler made him a proposition. If Byron would drive at night while the knight of the grip slumbered, bounteous meals would be forthcoming. A bargain was struck. Six times during the next ten days a similar bargain was made and, after only ten days of travel, the would-be journalist rode into Champaign with the original $3 still intact in his pocket. Byron has $75 in all to start the year with! He'll make it. Briquettes of Charcoal. The forest products laboratory says that in briquetting charcoal it has been found necessary to use certain binders, such as gums or starches. Briquetting has also been accomplished by using tar or pitch as a binder and then subjecting the briquettes to a low temperature distillation in order to drive off the volatile material from the tar or pitch. Cause for Exasperation. "What exasperates me more than anything else about the boobies who differ with me on politics, religion, the money question, the tariff, weather omens and the gulf toward which we are inevitably drifting," said Fuller Gloom, the human byena, "is that they are so infernally proud of their own idocy."—Kansas City Star.

Policeman and Horse. New York.—A mounted patrolman and his horse are sharing the credit for a spectacular rescue in the surf of Manhattan beach in which seven women were brought ashore from a motorboat, stranded off a sand bar. A party of nineteen, members of a church club, had chartered the boat for a "moonlight ride." The craft was returning when it ran aground. When it was apparent that the patrol boat could not approach close enough to take the passengers off the stranded craft Patrolman Howard McDonough of the mounted division spurred his horse through the surf, swam the animal alongside the boat and took off one of the women passengers. Rider and horse made the trip to the boat and back to the beach seven times until all the women had been taken ashore. Men passengers were assisted to swim in safety.

May Be World's Record for Bumping One's Way

Champaign, Ill.—A pair of itching feet, a new school of journalism, and the desire to become a newspaper man, led to the establishing of what may be a world's record for bumping one's way across the United States. It was disclosed when Byron Riley, former movie stage carpenter and student at the University of California, rode into Champaign. For five years, Riley built scenes for the Metro-Goldwyn studios in Hollywood, then he became bitten with the germ of the idea that he needed more education. The more he thought about it the more he desired to become immersed in the joys of "book larnin'" and as a result quit the studios of Hollywood for the more sedate and peaceful hills of Berkeley. For a year he studied there, then came the announcement of the opening of the new school of journalism of the University of Illinois. Straightway he went to his Berkeley bank, drew a check for $3 and set out, afoot, for the Illinois institution. Just outside Berkeley he caught a ride with

New Jersey's New Bell Telephone Company

A New Jersey Institution Backed by National Resources

THE people of New Jersey are now served by one statewide telephone company. The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company began its work October first. By purchase and consolidation of properties it provides statewide service with modern plant under single operating control.

The management of the company consists of New Jersey men who are devoting their time exclusively to the telephone needs of the State. Working with them is a trained organization of 12,000 New Jersey men and women interested in the welfare of New Jersey and glad to serve its people.

The Company's capacity for giving good service comes not only from a strong state organization and a modern telephone system but also from its association with the Bell Telephone System.

It receives the full aid of the great business and technical organizations of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc. These organizations have made most of the important contributions to the art of telephony since its beginning, and what they develop can always be secured from the Western Electric Company for our use, so long as needed.

By connections with the lines of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and Associated Bell Companies, we can assure to New Jersey telephone users satisfactory communication at all times throughout the United States, Canada, Cuba and Great Britain.

These service assets combined with the good will and friendly cooperation of telephone users enable us to guarantee to the people of New Jersey a universal service that will be continuously improved and expanded.

DON'T PLAY WITH FIRE

Protection against fire does not lie in highly-trained hosemen, shining chemical engines and inexhaustible water supplies. Safety against fire lies far back of that, in straight-out, hard thinking, in precaution, the highest form of caution, in anticipation, the highest form of creative intelligence. In avoiding loss by fire, an ounce of gray matter is better than rivers of water.

But the only thing that burns these facts home, it seems, is fire itself. That is why, in appealing for preventative efforts during Fire Prevention week it is inescapable that he who would catch the public ear must talk in terms of holocausts. We can end fires, some day, if we plan right, build right, and utilize the proper agencies of government to safeguard us from new hazards.

In the meantime the humblest of us can protect our shop, our office, our home by using the most elementary forms of precaution.

We can be careful with matches. Matches and careless smokers were responsible for a loss of $90,000,000 in a recent five-year period. We can be careful with electricity, avoiding cheap fittings and improper connections. Electricity was responsible for an $85,000,000 loss in the same period. We can be careful with stoves, furnaces, chimneys and flues, which burned out $125,000,000 of wealth from 1915 to 1920. We can remember not to pile rubbish and litter in our cellars. Rubbish piles cost us three-quarters of a million dollars a year. We can banish the open light. We pay a million and a half every twelve months for the privilege of its treacherous inefficiency.

THE GOOD MONTH

The poets have ever sung the praises of stormy March, "with ugly looks and threats"; and fickle April, "when every tear is answered by a blossom"; and merry May, "when those who love must wed"; and chill December, "bleak and drear"; but do not all ordinary humans agree that colorful October were a better object for their art and eulogies.

"What is so rare as a day in June" unless it be an afternoon in October when the departing sun lends a tint and a mystic charm to all the purple and gold, yellow and brown and green of the trees, the hills and the field? There is a freshness and a life-giving vigor about the air of October unknown to her sister months. October is a month of out-of-doors when nature exerts her utmost magnetism and all humanity strains at the leash of confining civilization.

The melancholia that has been attributed to October is but reflection and pensiveness. October days invite sober thought and speculation on the beauties of nature and the sheer joy of living. October is the rugged manhood of the year in all its glorious strength; it is symbolic of tasks begun and completed; it is a synonym for achievement.

ALL WORLD'S A DIAMOND

All the world's a diamond and all the men and women merely fans now that the titanic struggle for the world's baseball championship is upon us. It is ever thus when autumn's tints are on the leaves and work becomes burdensome during the latter half of the afternoon. To baseball followers in every part of the United States the playing of the world series typifies all the superlatives of perfection in the great national pastime, and their interest in the series never wanes until the final decision is rendered.

It matters not whether fans live in the cities whose teams are clashing for baseball's stellar honor or whether they have their habitat in even the most isolated of villages, the same keen, enthusiastic interest is all-pervading. Baseball truly can be termed the great American sport, and the number of participants who engage in the playing of it or some time or other during the season is far in excess of the number indulging in any other form of athletic diversion. It is a clean, wholesome sport, and no better finale could be given to the season's windup than the playing of the world series contests.

COMMON SENSE NEEDED.

Agitation is started periodically for a standardized code of signals for automobile drivers. The plan is to be recommended, surely. If anything needs standardization that has not already been reduced to that common plane, it is signals of automobile drivers. No two drivers have ever been known to employ the same signals.

But such a code of signals, however practical and standardized, cannot take the place of common sense, which every driver was supposed to have been endowed with at the beginning of his earthly career. The "supposed to have been" will be understood by every automobile driver.

Laws, regulations, codes, edicts can never compel an individual to do that which common sense ought teach him to do, but doesn't. A standardized code of automobile signals will not be hard to adopt; it will never be used by 90 per cent of automobile drivers.

God Loves a Good Laugh. He Wants a Song on the Lips of Men

By REV. CHARLES H. ROBINSON, Wheeling, W. Va., Minister.

All work and no play is bad hygiene and bad religion. God loves a good laugh. I know when I hear the the birds sing and see the flowers grow. He wants a song on the lips of men. A merry heart is good medicine, better than medicine.

God is not a tyrant Who sits on a throne making petty laws to govern our every move. He wants us to be happy. A mournful face and long hair are not proof of piety.

Our great national game, baseball, should be rescued from the gamblers and the Sabbath-breakers and turned to making people healthy. Golf and tennis have done a world of good in exercising men and regulating their digestion.

The last hope is the Christian citizen. The trouble with Christian citizens is that many of them, while exemplary in their homes and in society, when they go to the polls, forget their Christian ideals. They surrender Christ to party allegiance. Thus are the righteous sold out in their own house and the wicked rule the people.

DISCOVERS NEW BIBLICAL DATA

English Expert Finds Life of John the Baptist Among Documents.

London.—New Biblical discoveries, including a new Jeremiah Apocryphon, a new life of John the Baptist and some uncanonical psalms have been made by Dr. Rendel Harris, the well known Biblical expert.

Doctor Harris has been working in association with A. Mingana of the Rylands library at Manchester in an intensive study of early Christian documents in Syriac. All of the documents which were collected by Doctor Mingana will be preserved in the Rylands library. The present translations, which will be published shortly, are accompanied by facsimile reproductions of the texts.

Among the manuscripts which Doctor Mingana collected and translated with Doctor Harris were two Arabic translations of the works of Serapion. Apparently Serapion wrote in Greek, but the Greek texts have long been lost. The most interesting of the Serapion finds was his biography of the life of John the Baptist which he elaborates from the canonical gospels, but he tells more of John's childhood.

It was a troubled one, for not long after his birth Herod, alarmed by the visit of the wise men, began a systematic murder of male children in Bethlehem.

Answer of Zacharias.

"And Elizabeth," the translation shows, "feared that her child might be killed like them, and she took him immediately to Zacharias in the temple and she said to him, 'My Lord, let us go with our son John to some other country in order to save him from Herod the unbeliever.' But Zacharias answered and said to her, 'I must not leave the service of the temple of the Lord to go to a foreign land the inhabitants of which worship idols.' And she said unto him, 'What should I do in order to save my infant child?' And the old man answered and said unto her, 'Arise and go to the wilderness of An Karim and by the will of God you will be able to save your child.'"

"Now when Zacharias had said goodbye to Elizabeth and his son John, he had blessed him and made him a priest and afterwards delivered him to his mother. . . . Then she took the child and went into the wilderness in which no soul lived."

Zacharias was slain by Herod's soldiers, but John wandered in the desert with his mother, where—

"God prepared for him locusts and wild honey as food in accordance with what his mother was told about him not to let any unclean food enter his mouth.

"After five years the pious and blessed old mother Elizabeth passed away, and the holy John sat weeping over her, as he did not know how to shroud her and bury her, because on the day of her death he was only seven years and six months old."

Tells of Beheading.

Of the beheading of John, the translation continues: "When the head of John was brought before Herodias the eyes of the holy John were open and his ears were hearing as in his lifetime. The adulteress spoke with ire before the head as follows: 'O accursed one who was not ashamed to look at the king in the face and answer him, I shall cut off the tongue which used to say to the king that it was unlawful for him to marry Herodias, his brother's wife. As to the hair of your head and your beard, I shall pluck it out and place it under the feet of my bedstead.' But the head of the blessed John let the locks of its hair rise from the dish and it flew to the middle of the convivial room before the king and his high officials. In that very moment the roof of the house was opened and the head of John flew into the air."

Doctor Harris describes the life of John as translated as "a curious mixture of history and legend."

Alphonse Has Record as the Youngest King

Paris.—Although the new king of Rumania, Mihai II, son of the ex-Crown Prince Carol, is only five years of age, he is not the youngest child ever to become monarch.

According to historians of royalty in Paris, it is King Alphonso XIII of Spain, who holds this record. For Alphonso, in fact, was born king of Spain, his father having died six months before his birth.

Queen Wilhelmina succeeded to the crown of Holland when she was only ten years old.

Crescent Adopted in 1453

The Turks adopted the crescent as their national emblem in 1453 at the taking of Constantinople, says Gas Logic.

SHIPS PESTERED BY STOWAWAYS

Youth Finds Thrills in Trying to Beat Way to Honolulu.

Honolulu, T. H.—One of the chief diversions of the usual ocean voyage between Honolulu and mainland ports of the United States is the uncovering of stowaways and their transfer to passing ships in mid-Pacific. Scarcely a trip is made without the passengers being entertained by stirring incidents connected with stowaways.

As the City of Honolulu was passing out of the harbor at Honolulu on her last trip to Wilmington, the Los Angeles port, she met the Calawil of the same line coming into port. Both ships stopped and the Calawail let down a lifeboat to transfer two stowaways to the City of Honolulu. While the transfer was being made one of the stowaways, Edward J. O'Hara, twenty-two years old, of New Orleans, jumped overboard and started to swim ashore, two miles.

Unaware of Sharks.

Either O'Hara was ignorant of the fact that the waters outside the reef here are infested with sharks, or he was willing to take a desperate chance to reach the islands of his dreams. At any rate, he started out with strong swimming strokes for the distant palm-lined shore, while the passengers of both the Calawail and the City of Honolulu lined the decks to watch the outcome of the dangerous exploit. They shouted their encouragement to the young man.

The small boat delivered the other stowaway to the City of Honolulu, and in the meanwhile the one who had taken to the water was making fast progress toward the reef where the white breakers piled a flood of water into the more quiet inner harbor.

It happened that the officer of a submarine which was cruising nearby saw the stowaway jump overboard and strike out for shore. The submarine started in pursuit of the daring swimmer. It came alongside the stowaway in the course of 20 or 30 minutes and a life preserver to which a rope was attached was thrown to him. O'Hara was hauled on board and was delivered to port officers. He was permitted to remain here, as the law of deportation applies only to aliens. The other stowaway was made to work his way back to Wilmington on the City of Honolulu.

Most of these stowaways, both on the ships plying between San Francisco and Honolulu and between Los Angeles and Honolulu, are youths of seventeen to the early twenties in years of age. They are much more numerous during the college vacation period, and this is explained by the statement that many of them are students who are merely seeking adventure. They know that the worst thing that can happen to them is to be put to work, once they are discovered, or to be returned to their port of embarkation. Once Honolulu or the mainland ports are reached, they are permitted to go ashore and go about their own business.

Searching the ships for stowaways is a daily performance on these boats. Many ingenious methods are adopted by stowaways to gain free passage across the Pacific. It is not a difficult matter for them to get aboard while the ships are in port and once aboard they are able to select whatever hiding place may best suit them. One of the most unusual instances of a successful voyage of this kind was that of a young college student who, by some means not known to the ship's officers, gained access to one of the best and highest-priced first-class cabins which had not been sold and was therefore unoccupied.

This young man was well dressed, a good conversationalist and no suspicion was aroused among the stewards and passengers whom he met that he was not a paid passenger. He evidently had gotten aboard before the regular passengers began to arrive, as he escaped being asked for his ticket. He was careful to go in and out of the stateroom when the room steward for that section was not looking and he kept his door locked at all times.

After the first day or two out of the port of Wilmington, however, he took his meals in the first class dining room and his table companions enjoyed his conversation very much, they afterwards declared. This stowaway reached Honolulu and then wrote a letter to the steamship company thanking its officials for the splendid treatment he had received and promising to patronize the line again when he got ready to return to the mainland.

Wherein the Difference

We imagine there isn't much difference between psychoneurosis and nervousness, except in the matter of the bill for diagnosis.—Ohio State Journal.

Wisdom of Confucius

It is hard not to chafe at poverty, a high thing not to be proud of wealth.—Confucius.

Guard Capitol Against "Fool Gold" Thievery

Washington.—Much attention is being given to gold these days at the capitol. While a force of workmen on the inside of the senate wing is burnishing the lavish display of goldleaf used in ornamenting the ceilings and sidewalls, other artisans on the outside are picking from the marble that which glitters, but is not gold, "fool gold," or iron pyrites, which, since the discovery of America, has given the inexperienced false dreams of great wealth.

The marble used in the senate and house wings of the capitol shows many outcroppings of "fool gold," and many visitors have picked "nuggets" with their knives, taking them home probably with an excess of faith as to their intrinsic value.

But the public must not be deceived when it visits the halls of congress. So the workmen on the outside, whose main job is to preserve the historic structure from decay by pointing up the joints of the huge blocks of marble, are also removing the spurious "gold," especially that within reach of visitors, thus taking temptation from their reach and blemishes from the stone.

Anniversary of Flight

July 25 is the anniversary of the first airplane flight over the English channel, says Gas Logic. Bleriot, the famous French airman, on that date in 1909 flew from Calais to Dover in thirty-seven minutes.

Oldest Maps Found

The oldest two maps of China known to exist were found some years ago at Hsianfu, the capital of Shenst province, says Gas Logic. They were engraved on stone, the larger of the two being believed to be a representation of China as it was in the Eighth century.

PRINCESS STEPHANIE ONE OF THE SADDEST OF WOMEN

Love, Hatred, Murder and Suicide Caused Most of Unhappiness of Her Life.

Brussels.—One of the saddest women in the world is in Brussels.

She is Princess Stephanie, a daughter of the late King Leopold II of Belgium, and is here for the purpose of assisting in the settlement of the estate of her aunt, ex-Empress Charlotte of Mexico.

Love, hatred, murder, and suicide caused most of the unhappiness which has been her lot in life and which has caused many of those who know of her fearful plight, to call her a "princess of tragedy."

It was her brother-in-law, Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, who was assassinated at Sarajevo in July, 1914.

The late Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, who lost his throne through the great war which followed the Sarajevo incident, was her father-in-law.

Princess Stephanie's mother-in-law was Empress Elizabeth of Austria, who was assassinated at Geneva in 1898.

Her father, King Leopold of Belgium, brought consternation into his home when he married the daughter of a French janitor, later cutting off his daughters. In his will without a cent.

Her husband, Archduke Rudolf of Hapsburg, committed suicide with his mistress in 1889.

The escapades of Stephanie's sister, Princess Louise, scandalized Europe's blue bloods for more than twenty years.

Ex-Empress Charlotte of Mexico, who died a short time ago, after having been insane for 50 years, was Stephanie's aunt.

A cousin of Princess Stephanie was Emperor Charles, who died of a broken heart at Madeira.

Find Purse of Lizard Skin in Viking's Grave

Oslo.—On a small pine-clad island in Aangermanland an interesting discovery of the Viking age has recently been made. There are many burial places on the island from that remote period, but so far, only a few of them have been excavated. The bodies are laid in square coffins made of rough pine, and in one case a small boat has been used as a coffin. In the grave have been found axes, ornaments for women's dress, and also some silver coins from Cologne bearing the names of Otto III (983-1002) and Duke Herman of Saxony, who died in 1088.

The most remarkable among the things found is, however, a tinder box placed in a purse of lizard's skin. The skin has been the object of the most minute investigation by prominent zoologists, who have come to the conclusion that it is the skin of an exotic lizard, the Varanus Bengalensis, which lives in India and Baluchistan. This lizard can reach the length of several feet, and the skin is even to this day, much used for women's bags.

It is of course impossible to say whether the purse was taken to Sweden as a purse, or whether the skin was brought to the Vikings, who in their turn made purses out of it. The one thing clear is that the skin had been brought the long way from India, and that even then a sort of trading existed between Scandinavia and the east.

TRIG BEIGE KASHA FROCK SOLVES MIDSEASON WHAT-TO-WEAR PROBLEM

WHAT a clothes problem midseason invariably thrusts upon us! At this juncture sheer summer frocks cast into the discard, mind not determined as to autumn's final choice—well, there's nothing so timely and comely as a trig beige cloth frock—say kasha cloth, for this is a material which has won favor of fashionable folk the world over.

Tailored? To be sure, and keep in mind that it must fit very, very snug about the hips. There's many ways of accomplishing the snug hipline silhouette, the yoke theme being at present in the lead. The flaring skirt is the inevitable accompaniment to this fitted-about-the-hips effect.

Flat stitched plaits also are a means of attaining the desired styling. This is the method employed for the attractive gown in the picture, which, by the way, is a model which called forth any amount of favorable comment, displayed as it was at an exclusive style show presented by the Fashion Art League of America.

There are many points of interest about this frock which have a direct bearing on the autumn style trend. Perhaps its most outstanding feature is the flat-stitched plaits arranged in two tiers. Thus is the fashionable flare achieved, yet flatness about the hips is maintained by the stitching.

There is going to be an unlimited amount of flaring done this coming season, according to latest advice from Paris. Sunburst plaits, side plaits, circular lines, shirred fullness are a few of the "ways and means" which will be resorted to for the accomplishment of the flare.

There is also a tendency to bring about the fullness to the front, although many of the newer genre silhouette, the yoke theme being at present in the lead. The flaring skirt is the inevitable accompaniment to this fitted-about-the-hips effect.

It is noticeable, too, that most of the intricate manipulation of the fabric is lavished on the skirt, the bodice or blouse being simply styled with long carefully fitted sleeves and a unique neckline either square, pointed or round.

Goats Have Queer Horns

One of the species of wild goats found among the lofty peaks of the Himalayas is notable for its twisted horns, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Parking Pintos Is the Latest Among Cowboys

Almosa, Colo.—Parking, the bane of motorists, has at last invaded the ranks of the broncos, the pintos and "rarin' cayuses" of the plains. In the center of the San Luis valley, cowboys and cowgirls daily may be seen putting their pintos through the antics made familiar through the parking of motor cars.

Having been crowded out of their "parking" spaces because of the motor car, resourceful range riders have trained their mounts to lie down while they transact their business.

As a result, it is not an uncommon sight to see a cowgirl wheel her horse into a vacant space between parked cars, "drop" the animal to the pavement and leave it there in a automobile.

Miss "Sammy" Traveller, daughter of Colorado's cowboy preacher, Rev. Gil Traveller, has become so adept in parking her pinto, that she now can leave her mount in a space that would stump the hardest motorist. Miss Traveller is considered one of the most expert horsewomen in the entire San Luis valley.

Restaurants of Soho Popular with Princes

London.—The quiet restaurants of Soho, London's Latin quarter, have a special appeal for the king's sons.

The prince of Wales and Prince George patronize the Malton Doree. Prince Henry, with his squerry, walked casually into the Rendezvous in Dean Street and for a long time no one recognized the tall young man in the oak room balcony.

Ramsay MacDonald frequently entertains his friends at the Rendezvous, which is famed for its French cooking. Mr. MacDonald always sits at the same corner table in the oak room. Another patron is Winston Churchill.

Many a loss and sorrow we would take out of our lives if the power were ours. We have endured them and gone on, but the ache and the scar remain. But few of us would consent to be just what we were before the stormy experience came to us. It is on such battlefields that faith is strengthened, character built, and soul power gained.

Last year Buick said: "Change your oil only four times a year." Buick tests at that time had shown that oil changes would never be necessary, with the Oil Filter to remove impurities, and the Crankcase Ventilator to prevent oil dilution.

Now, more than a year has passed, and Buick owners in every section of the world—under every climatic condition—have also proved that you never need change your oil if you own a Buick—replenishment and inspection of the Buick Oil Filter only are required.

Among the outstanding hits of last season on Broadway listed for presentation at the Broad Street Theatre the week of October 10th, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday, none is awaited with more interest than "2 Girls Wanted" the Gladys Unger comedy which John Golden presented for forty-one weeks—the longest run registered by a non-musical attraction since "Lightnin'," "7th Heaven," "Pigs," "The First Year" and earlier Golden successes swayed New Yorkers from tears to laughter in Times Square, the heart of the Great White Way.
Staged by Winchell Smith and played by one of the most distinctive cast ever assembled by Mr. Golden "2 Girls Wanted" comes to Newark with the original organization intact. Nydia Westman, well remembered as the precious little blonde player who contributed so delightfully to the enjoyment of "Pigs" has mounted several notches nearer stardom as the principal feminine player. Donald Foster, usually popular as the dashing young juvenile in "Thank-You" and who was sent to London to appear in "Lightnin'" will be seen opposite Miss Westman, and other principals are Mary Phillips, who scored in "The Wisdom Tooth", Grace Menken, who followed her sister Helen, with great success as "Diane" in "7th Heaven", Mary Hampton so long associated with Charles Frohman's Empire Theatre Players, May Duryea, Charlotte Denniston, Frank Monroe, Charles Laite, John LaPevre, Herbert Saunders and John Humphrey.

"2 Girls Wanted" is a play of fun and youthful romance from the pen of Gladys Unger and it ranks with the most notable of John Golden successes.

Fox Terminal Theatre
The William Fox picturization of John Golden's stage success, "7th Heaven", by Austin Strong, will have its premiere performance at the Fox Terminal Theatre, Newark, Saturday, October 15th. It will be shown with orchestral and choral accompaniment on the famous movietone. "What Price Glory" will close accordingly at this theatre Friday, October 14th, after an run of six weeks.

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are featured in "7th Heaven" essaying the respective roles made famous by Helen Manken and George Gaul in a stage version. Frank Borzage, who directed among other pictures the immortal "Humoresque", directed this celebrated play from a scenario written by Benjamin Glazer. Katherine Hilliker and H. H. Caldwell edited and titled the picture.

Representing an approximate cost of $1,300,000 and taking one full year to complete the film, "7th Heaven" emerges as one of the finest efforts on the screen. Borzage spent three months in the Montmartre section of Paris where the locale of the story is laid. The director not only studied the characteristics of the people and its quaint scenic investiture, but shot several thousand feet of film there for authentic purposes.

Like its predecessor, "What Price Glory" at the Fox Terminal Theatre, "7th Heaven" in its cinema translation is a faithful reproduction of the stage version which ran for more than two years on Broadway. "7th Heaven" is a monumental picture of courage and undying love, replete with dramatic interludes. It tells a simple love story against a picturesque background. The cast, in addition to Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, comprises Ben Bard, David Butler, Marie Mosquini, Albert Gran, Gladys Brockwell, Emile Chautard, George Stone, Jessie Haslett Brandon Hurst and Lillian West and thousands of others.

Shubert's Theatre
"The Love Call" has been selected by the Messrs. Shubert in association with L. Lawrence Weber, for presentation at The Shubert Theatre for one week beginning Monday, October 10th.
"The Love Call" is a musical play by the Golde West. Sigmund Romberg, composer of the score for "My Maryland" has again proven that he ranks first among musical composers of today, with the new score which he has composed for "The Love Call", the book of which has been adapted by Edward Locks. The lyrics are by Harry B. Smith, popular Librettist, and J. C. Hoffman, who is responsible for the staging of almost all the Shubert operettas, has also contributed to "The Love Call". Watson Barratt, the eminent scenic artist has designed the settings, and in "The Love Call" makes the western prairies alive with realism.

What could be more conducive to colorful romance than the western prairies, cavalymen and cowboys? And with a cast of virile men and beautiful maidens to portray these roles, "The Love Call" is one of the few things that must not be missed by theatregoers. The cast includes Alice Fischer, Berna Deane, Viola Thorne, Charles Lawrence, John Barker, John Rutherford, Joseph Macaulay, Carlos Maiia, and a male chorus of 125 voices.

Ten featured acts from Broadway will headline the Sunday vaudeville at The Shubert Theatre this coming Sunday. The new musical revue headed by Charles Moorely and Adelaide Crews, will be seen. This smart little act is composed of some of the best songs and dances ever, capably performed by the clever company of ten people. Jack Mayers and Sol Bird, eccentric comedians; Grace and Bobby Heirs, comedy and songs; Wolfinger and his animal parade; and Richard Moody and his Golden Birds, a very talented orchestra, are some of the acts. Altogether ten of the best acts Broadway has produced, will be seen, in conjunction with motion pictures.

Loew's Theatre.
Society dramas come and go; So, to, do stories of college life and similar things. But there is no denying the fact that for steady popularity nothing has ever been known to approach the good, old fashioned, melodrama. And when you get one that is strong with the tang of the sea you have a well-nigh irresistible proposition—one that will appeal to man, woman or child alike.
When you take a picture like this and fit Tom Santschi into one of the leading roles—well the result is a foregone conclusion. For Tom belongs to melodrama just as much as Park belongs to Tilford, he is as the saying goes just the type. From the early days of the cinema he has given the screen one great characterization after another—and always in a melodramatic role.

Probably the greatest of his achievements was his work in "The Spoilers", with William Farnum, made some thirteen years ago, and what a picture that was, and what a battle the steel-sinewed Farnum and Tom staged, and in picture circles they still talk about that fight, beyond the shadow of a doubt one of the greatest things the camera ever recorded.

Of course as things go, that immediately set Tom Santschi as a scrapping actor and since that time he has plowed his way with flying fist through many a foot of celluloid.

He has a great role in his latest picture; he's the skipper of a veritable hell ship—they call "The Hellion", which gives him ample opportunities to display all the fighting qualities that he's famous for.

He is ably supported in the picture by Edna Murphy, Donald Keith, Sheldon Lewis and several other well known picture stars.

Headlining the vaudeville bill for the week will be Senorita Launa Alaniz, a little Spanish dancing star and her company in one of the prettiest dance sets of the season. The Senorita will be assisted by Alberto Galo-Binar Holt and the Bentacourt Marimba Band. In the second spot will be Jaq Housh and Company in a song recital, and it is predicted that Loew's audiences are in for a treat when they hear this golden voiced singer.

Swarts and Clifford are offering popular melodies and original nonsense. Powers and Wallace are presenting "Georgia", and you will have to see the act to get in the know on this one. The Takewa Japs are closing the vaudeville end of the programme with some daring equilibristic work.
A corking comedy and the Metro News will close the bill.

APPEAL TO MOTORISTS

Motorism now is entering the season for more headlight use when glare makes its damaging effects most seriously felt and the motor car owner who is interested in making his own path and that of his fellow driver easier and safer will give a thought to the condition of the lights on his car, says Hon. Charles C. Hommonn, Judge of the District Court at Perth Amboy and a strong believer in the efficacy of the Raritan Automobile Club.

Fall brings into service lights that may have seen relatively little use during the Summer when days were long, Judge Hommonn points out and the result is the creation of a traffic hazard that long has been regarded as one of the most serious.

"While some motorists will regard it as wholly unnecessary to question the condition of the headlights on their cars, it is safe to say that in the case of nine out of ten cars that have not had their lights adjusted during the last three months, there is a serious need for action," says the Judge. "It is not to be questioned that headlamp equipment is better, much better, than ever before, but the best of it, subjected to driving over rough roads, will get out of focus and proper aim.

"It is high time that every car owner realizes that he must look to the condition of his own lamps instead of constantly berating the other fellow for driving with glaring lights. This club and others of the 930 affiliated with the American Automobile Association have found that the reverse of this attitude is one of the largest contributing causes to the never-ending headlight problem.

"It is a problem that can be solved but not until each car owner takes it upon himself to have his own lights adjusted, not once, but at regular intervals just as he has the crankcase of his car drained and the gasoline tank filled. Furthermore the chronic offender who tries to get by with only one headlight should not be tolerated; every club member should aid the police in the suppression of this evil.

Make Big Money in Swimming

If you would meet Dame Fortune face to face wear a swimming suit.

Gertrude Ederle set the style when she swam the English channel last summer. She was immediately deluged with theatrical and motion picture contracts, and, because her father was a butcher, she was honored by the meat dealer associations throughout the country.

Then came Mrs. Millie Gade Corson, who also swam the channel and collected for it with vaudeville tours. George Young, the young Toronto swimmer, was next to be chosen by the fickle Dame Fortune, writes H. H. Barcus in the Detroit News. He swam the Catalina island channel, received a big cash prize and toured the country in vaudeville.

Now we have Ernst Vierkotter, a German swimmer, who last year made the English channel swim in 12 hours and 42 minutes. He was an amateur at the time and did not collect on the race. He turned pro recently, competing in and winning the Toronto swim for which he received a prize of $30,000, and in a few days he had contracts for vaudeville, motion pictures, writing books, advertising various articles, phonograph records and other things aggregating $145,000.

Before he is through, it is likely he will clean up a quarter of a million dollars.

Vierkotter is twenty-seven years old, stands 5 feet 11½ inches in height and weighed 182 pounds when he entered the Toronto swim. He lost 12½ pounds in the race.

The new swimming champion, the only one to win two international races, has only one good eye. His right eye was punched out when he was a child by a hat pin in the hands of his young sister.

"Shamateurism" Called

Tennis' Chief Menace

"Shamateurism" is the greatest menace in the world to good tennis, in the opinion of Charles B. Cochran, who has been managing Suzanne Lenglen and other professional tennis stars on a tour through England.

"Professionalism will do no more harm to tennis than it has to golf, cricket, football and baseball," said Cochran. "The all-important thing is to keep amateurism and professionalism entirely separate, and not to have purported amateurs camouflage their professionalism."

Professional tennis has brought great tennis within the reach of the masses, so Cochran says, and since municipalities have encouraged tennis playing so generally by providing courts there is universal desire to see good tennis at a low cost. This was impossible with strictly amateur matches.

"At Glasgow a crowd of 15,000 sat through a rain to watch Mlle. Lenglen and her associates in professional tennis," Cochran asserted. "This is said to be the largest crowd that ever attended a tennis match."

SCHOOL BOARD AT REGULAR MEETING

Routine Business Disposed Of— Board Takes Up Suggestion To Plant Shrubbery

Commissioner Charles A. Conrad reported that the Carteret Bus Service Company was doing the best they possibly could in the transportation of the East Rahway School children, at the meeting of the Board of Education, on Tuesday evening, Mr. Conrad was one of a committee to investigate several complaints against the service.

Mr. Conrad said "I met the buses on their trip to the schools one morning and the second bus following about ten minutes after the first had about twelve children in it." Mr. Conrad also stated that he thought the service was as good as could be expected with the East Rahway road in the condition it is in.

Mr. Edward J. Heil, president of the Board asked if anyone present wished to be heard. Mr. Joseph Trefenko, a resident of East Rahway said he wished to say a few things in reference to the transportation of the school children from his section. Mr. Heil interrupted Mr. Trefenko at this point and asked the board if they wished to hear Mr. Trefenko after the report of the committee had been accepted.

After some silence, Commissioner O'Selle stated that the board should hear Mr. Trefenko. Mr. Heil then gave him permission to speak. The procedure, however, was not to the liking of Trefenko, who stated that he no longer had any desire to talk. "I did not think a citizen had to get permission from the Board when he wanted to be heard," said Trefenko. "No one has refused you," returned Mr. Heil. "The only reason I brought the matter before the board was to determine if they wished to hear your remarks after the report of the committee had been accepted." Mr. Heil added.

Mr. John Lysek, also a member of the East Rahway delegation, however, took up the argument, saying, "Is it right to transport our children as they are? Why pigs are transported better."

The remark met with the disapproval of Commissioner Robert Jefferys who censured Mr. Lysek for bringing the discussion of the transportation.

Mr. Lysek charged that seventy-six children were being crowded into one bus. Mr. Schwartz said that he had watched the buses come in and at no time was there more than forty children in the bus. The East Rahway delegation feel that another bus is necessary.

Mr. Heil addressing the East Rahway citizens said that the transportation has been alright for several years and it seems strange that the service has depreciated so quick.

Commissioner George A. Dalrymple suggested that the board have planted shrubbery and trees in front of the high school grounds. This was placed in the hands of the grounds committee with power to act.

The board set October 17 as the opening date for the night sessions classes. There will be three sessions weekly on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 P. M. Miss Claire Monahan was named principal. The teachers for the regular evening school classes named last night, follow: Miss Genevieve Kramer, Miss Eugenia Keating, Miss Arline Pickett, Miss Esther Goodwin, Mrs. Catherine Hughes. Miss Mary Danohue will teach foreign born classes at the Washington school and Miss Mary Ziemba and Mrs. Elizabeth Connelly will teach at the Columbus school.

There are 1,360 boys and 1,276 girls enrolled in the schools, the report of Supervising Principal Miss B. V. Hermann showed. There are also 44 boys and 102 girls in the continuation classes.

A total of 105 treatments are given the public school children in September and general hygienic conditions of the pupils are excellent, Miss Elizabeth C. Fezza, public school nurse reported.

The trenches that had been dug to lay the pipe were completely filled with water and in many places the walls of the trench caved in retarding the progress of the work.

LAUNDRY STRIKE DECLARED HERE

Roosevelt Laundry Service Drivers Refuse to Take Cut in Wages—New Help Hired

Nine drivers and a like number of inside men, all employed by the Roosevelt Laundry Company in Roosevelt avenue, went on strike Monday in protest against a cut in wages of $5 per week. The drivers were paid on a salary and commission plan and some of the more industrious ones earned as much as $50 per week, $20 of it salary or wages and the rest commission.

The laundry has grown from a small concern to a business of considerable proportions, and has enlarged both in area and in equipment. A few weeks ago a new ironer was purchased and, in order to house it, a large public garage adjoining the laundry was taken over. When the new machine was put into operation the cut in wages was announced, according to the striking drivers. The plan was to cut their wages $5, but to offer them extra commissions for procuring more "flat" work, that is, work for the new machine. This proposal was not received with favor by the drivers and when they struck, the inside men went out in sympathy.

Another angle of the situation is a $50 deposit from each man held by the company. By the terms of the agreement controlling the $50 deposits, the drivers agreed not to quit without giving two weeks' notice. And they also agreed not to go to work for any other laundry. The strikers declare that this arrangement was made as part of the old working agreement between the workers and the firm, and that by cutting wages the company has breached the contract and so must refund the $50 upon demand.

The laundry is owned by a partnership, Brown and Fischer. Mr. Fischer was in the plant yesterday afternoon, cisetted with a visitor and said he was too busy to discuss the strike. A rumor Monday afternoon that property of the laundry might be damaged during the night, resulted in a police guard being placed there. But nothing happened and none of the strikers appeared in the vicinity of the plant.

Clara Bow and Gary Cooper Prove Themselves Talented

These stars and featured players of the motion picture screen must be a talented lot of folk. They must know more than how to act, wear clothes well, walk and use their hands.

For example, Clara Bow, co-starred with Esther Ralston in "Children of Divorce," coming Wednesday to the Ritz Theatre, was called upon to play tennis like Suzanne Lenglen. And Gary Cooper, the young and exceedingly handsome featured leading man, found it necessary to ride a hunting horse like a champion at his best.

It happened that Suzanne Lenglen the great French woman of the tennis courts, was in Los Angeles at the time "Children of Divorce" was being made at the West Coast studios of Famous Players-Lasky. Accordingly, the vivacious little star studied Lenglen's style of play at every opportunity. The tennis game between Clara and Einar Hanson, playing the part of Prince Ludovico de Sfax, is one of the most delightful action shots of the film according to those who have already seen it.

Cooper's ability test as a rider comes early in the story when Gary, as Ted Larrabee, breaks up a lawn party by jumping his horse over the table from which cocktails are being served. Cooper, raised on a Montana ranch and accustomed to horses all his life, was obliged to learn how to ride all over again for "Children of Divorce". He had never used an English-type riding saddle and because of the difficulty of the jump was obliged to be absolutely familiar with it before the scene was taken.

Parent Teachers Euchre

The regular weekly Euchre of St. Joseph's Parent Teachers was held in the Church basement yesterday afternoon. A large attendance was present. Father Mannion attended and met the ladies of the Parish. The following won prizes:

Mrs. F. X. Koepfler, Mrs. Ida Bonner, Mrs. P. E. Harrington, Mary Armour, Mrs. Devlin, Mrs. C. A. Mayer, Mrs. Davies, Mrs. C. Morris, Jr., Mr. C. Bonner, Mrs. Henry Green, E. Britschvat, Mrs. A. ## Red Cross Roll Call Planned Next Week

Review of Organization's Accom- plishments At Conference in Jersey City October 18.

Plans for the Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, and a review of the organization's accomplishments during the last year will be important features of the New Jersey State Red Cross conference which convenes in the Women's Club at Jersey City October 18.

Approximately 200 delegates, representing the New Jersey chapters, will meet at the conference with national officers of the organization from Washington, D. C., including James T. Nicholson, assistant manager of the Eastern Area; Douglas Griesemer, director of Roll Call and Public Information Service; A. L. Schafer, assistant director of the Junior Red Cross; and Miss Malinde Hovey, assistant director of the organization's public health nursing activities.

The national officers will tell the delegates about the extensive Red Cross operations of the last year, which are said to have set a record for Red Cross service. During this period, they state, more than a million persons, victims of 97 disasters, have been aided by the Red Cross. Seventy-seven of these disasters were in this country. At the same time, through its other activities considerably more than a million other persons have received some type of assistance.

Careful consideration will be given by the delegates to the problem of enlarging their memberships in the Fall enrolment campaign, which opens Armistice Day and closes November 24. This is in line with the resolution of the Central Committee of the Red Cross, passed at a recent meeting in Washington, calling on the country to increase its support of Red Cross work. While the membership for the nation last year was slightly in excess of three million, the organization has set five million members as its goal this year. Increasing responsibilities in every field of its work is the reason given for the call for a larger membership.

Many prominent persons active in the organization's work in New Jersey have been invited to participate in the conference. Among these are Judge Harold Wells, of Burlington county; Miss Margaret Buttenheim, of Madison; and Dr. Charles E. Elliott, State Commissioner of Education.

The euchre to be held on Wednesday evening, October 26, was reported on the committee has all arrangements made for a successful affair, which will be held at German Lutheran Hall. A great many beautiful and useful prizes will be awarded.

James Mullan resigned as a member and Fred Miller was elected to fill his place. A social session followed in honor of Paul Beier and Thomas Cherec both having recently returned from Europe, and both being members of the company.

Latin Sport Club Soccer

The Latin Sporting Club will have for their opponents this Sunday at Leibig's Field, The Works A. C. of Perth Amboy. The club is planning a typical Spanish dance in the near future. A short time ago a dance of this sort was held and the affair proved to be a decided success.

The arrangement committee is: J. R. Rivas, Angel Miguel, J. Merelo, and J. Mignol.

BUSY SEASON IN LIONS CALENDAR

Discussion of Prospective Activi- ties Point to Very Promis- ing Campaign in Work

After a fine luncheon, the business session of the Lions opened with the election of officers. Instead of the usual election it was decided to move the officers up. Dr. Joseph Wantoch, first vice president moved up to the presidency, while John H. Nevill became first vice president, Edward A. Strack moved up to the office of Lion Tamer.

Mr. Karl Krepper was again named secretary. He will also perform the duties of the treasurer.

Efforts will be made to have this year's program of activities include many important matters of welfare work. An effort will be made to create interest in a schoolboy's patrol. This was brought up at a meeting in the early part of the summer and laid over until the fall school term started.

An invitation will be given to the Board of Education and Miss B. V. Hermann and Chief of Police Harrington to attend a meeting at which time speakers will be present that have authority in other municipalities in this branch of the Police department.

The danger that the school children are subjected to in crossing the streets and from school has prompted the Lions to try to interest the proper authorities here to inaugurate a Boys' Patrol, who act as traffic officers.

Another important matter brought up was the confusion that strangers in Carteret experience in the street layout. It was pointed out that people continuing along Pershing avenue from the hill section will come to the bridge over the Trunk sewer and along Cooke avenue thinking it is a continuation of Pershing avenue. Another bad condition was that we have two intersections of Washington avenue and Roosevelt avenue, also Pershing and Roosevelt avenues.

The Lions feel that the Borough Council and Mayor should do something to remedy this condition.

CARD CLUB HAS FINE SESSION—PLAN EVENTS

The girls spent an enjoyable evening playing bridge and pinocle, after which refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Blanche Hale, of Perth Amboy.

Those present were: The Misses Kathryn Conran, Agnes Clifford, Agnes and Olive Gunderson, Elsie Springer and Ruth Dinsmore, of Carteret; Lillian Richards and Jane Kingberry, of Woodbridge, and Blanche Hale, of Perth Amboy.

MAN LIVED ON $1 A DAY;

John R. Keys, Dead in Honolulu, Boasted He Kept Expenses to $1.27 a Week.

Philadelphia.—Word has been received here from Honolulu telling of the death of John R. Keys in the Queens hospital. Keys lived in the Salvation Army home and made it a point to live on a dollar a day. He was seventy-nine and little was known of him. Investigation, however, revealed Keys had an estate of more than $800,000, largely in realty, from which he drew an income of more than $1,500 a month. He also owned blocks of sugar and pineapple plantation stocks and bonds and had substantial deposits in several Honolulu banks.

Albert G. Haines, an old friend of John's, said he was convinced the John R. Keys who died in far-off Honolulu was the same John R. Keys he knew 25 years ago.

"We called him Happy Jack" said Haines. "Back in the '90s he worked for the National Publishing Company on South American street near Locust."

"Judging from the dispatches, Happy Jack had not changed very much. He was eccentric and loved to hoard his money. It is said Keys lived on a dollar a day. When I knew him, he used to boast that when out of work he lived on exactly $1.27 a week."

"Keys had felt the pinch of poverty, and when he had employment he made it a point to save his money. He paid specified sums weekly into an insurance company to guarantee him an annuity. He made up his mind that he would not be poverty-stricken in his old age."

Keys was methodical in his habits. When he worked for the publishing company he ate at a restaurant at the same time every day. As soon as he entered the place, the waiter would sing out, "Pot pie and plenty of crust."

In those days saloons served free lunch. Keys would stroll into a barroom, watch his chance, grab a partly consumed glass of beer and then demand, "Where's my lunch?"

When out of work, he would sleep until noon to save breakfast money. He cooked his lunch, and his daily repast was prunes and coffee. Then he would saunter to the Y. M. C. A. and spend most of the afternoon and evening reading. When he was put out at ten o'clock he would go to one of the railroad stations and continue his reading until early in the morning.

Keys was born in Ireland. He served in the British army and also in the American marines.

Developing Language

Custom is the great language maker. If children grew up on a deserted island and had no one to teach them to talk, in all probability they would develop a language of their own, which would serve their purposes. One might point to what we call a "coconut" and say "Awk." And the "Awk!" would mean coconut to him.—Exchange.

Member of Raritan Automobile Club Urges Car Owner to Care For His Motor

Hon. Wilton T. Applegate, one of the Middlesex County Representatives, in the New Jersey State Legislature, and one of the members of the Assembly who helped to place the "Stop Street" law upon the statute books, is one of the latest prominent men to join the Raritan Automobile Club.

While commenting upon the need of such an organization in the Raritan Bay District and the approaching Winter Season, Mr. Applegate said: "The careful motorist should realize at the very beginning of cold weather that he will need a battery that is in the best condition, that Winter makes its demand for special grades of oil and grease, that a change in gasoline may be advisable and that an anti-freeze is necessary and gives real study to the special requirements, he will not have trouble this Winter."

"Winter troubles come from slovenliness in car care. It is dimly in the car owner's consciousness that certain things should be done, but they do not come into the forefront of one's mind until the first bitter cold day has got in its disastrous effects."

"Now is the time to consider what anti-freeze one will use, to learn from the proper source just what grade of oil and grease is best for the temperatures in the area in which one lives, to find out whether the generator is set to supply the greater current that the battery needs, and generally to learn the condition of the car."

"A study of the emergency service records of this Club, and others of the 929 that comprise the membership of the American Automobile Association, reveal that thousands of motorists do not seek this information until they have found themselves stalled, possibly with serious damage to the car. It is too early, of course, to act in all these matters, but it is not too early to get ready to act correctly when the time comes."

FALL HUNTING TO BE BEST IN YEARS

Restocking Of Small Game and The Natural Multiplication Affords Splendid Sport

New Jersey is offering its licensed gunners this Fall a prospect of the best small-game hunting in a decade. Notwithstanding its increasing population, the state has shown that it still can provide sport that would make many a sparsely populated western commonwealth envious. It already has a $1,000,000 yearly game bag to its credit but Jersey is banking in its sportsmen hanging up a new record this year.

The State itself has broken a few records, this year, in the distribution of fish and game in its great restocking program. Of timely interest to sportsmen is the announcement by the Fish and Game Commission that more than 20,000 ring-necked pheasants have been liberated in the fields and woods during the last few months. Of these 18,000 were reared on the State's game farms at Forked River and Rockport; 3500 were imported from England and the balance were purchased from pheasant breeders in other states. In addition to these birds, the Commission distributed 25,000 pheasant eggs for hatching to farmers and sportsmen, with the provision that the hatched birds, when old enough to care for themselves, be liberated.

Motorists report it is now a daily occurrence to glimpse the brilliant-plumaged cock pheasants or the quieter toned hens on side roads and often along the main highways. The crowing of the cock pheasants has become a familiar sound in woods and swamps throughout the state. Wardens report there is also a noticeable increase in native grouse or pine pheasants.

That most popular of all small game, the rabbit, will as usual furnish the biggest portion of the season's sport and game-food supply. It has been a good year for rabbits, with few rains to drown the young, generally the most common cause for mortality among these animals. The Commission has continued its custom of importing several thousand western cottontails and these have been apportioned among the counties and distributed in the wilder sections. Quail have been increasing during the last few years and while there is still a closed season in the northern counties, there will be plenty of sport among the innumerable coveys of Bob Whites in South Jersey.

NO TAX ADDITION FOR BOND ISSUE

The $30,000,000 Bond Issue For Expanding the New Jersey State Highway System

Five years ago the Good Roads Association of New Jersey conducted a successful campaign, in behalf of popular endorsement of a $40,000,000 bond issue, to complete the New Jersey State Highway System as then contemplated.

The splendid things achieved by the proceed of that bond issue have been so numerous and so important that today few people can be found, even among those who voted against the measure, who are not willing to admit that New Jersey Highway Development would have been crippled if the bond issue had not been endorsed.

The Association is now making similar efforts for favorable vote by the people on a new highway bond issue of $30,000,000, which will be acted upon at the General Election next November the 8th.

Endorsement of this new $30,000,000 bond issue is absolutely necessary to the financial scheme devised for expanding the New Jersey State Highway System and increasing its sphere of usefulness.

The overrun from the same mill tax which is now carrying and retiring the $40,000,000 issue will be more than sufficient to carry and retire the new $30,000,000 bond issue. In consequence NO NEW NOR INCREASED TAXES ARE NECESSARY FOR THE PROPOSITION.

Indeed, conservative and scientific computation made by experts show that the proceeds from the present mill tax for highways will not only prove sufficient to carry and retire both the bond issues, but will also leave each year a substantial amount of additional revenue for other highway purposes.

The proceeds of this new $30,000,000 bond issue will be used entirely for the acquirement of rights-of-way and the building of viaducts and bridges. Clearly, all of these are capital investments in the fullest and truest sense of the expression and justifiably lend themselves to the long term or the deferred payment method of financing—namely, a bond issue. (The revenues derived from registration fees and the gasoline tax are dedicated to the construction and maintenance of highways.)

NEW BOARD MAKES APPROPRIATIONS

First Appropriations For New Construction Total More Than $3,363,000

First appropriations by the Board of Directors of the newly organized New Jersey Bell Telephone Company for necessary new construction total more than $3,363,000.

About half of this sum is for small additions to the System each involving less than $2,000. More than $980,000 will be used to enlarge the Outside Plant and nearly $610,000 will go for additional Central Office equipment.

New central office equipment of the dial type will be installed at Atlantic City and a manual type switchboard will be provided to serve Pompton Lakes. Other switchboard additions are scheduled for the Branch Brook and Terrace Offices in Newark; the Montgomery Office in Jersey City; and the Red Bank and Plainfield offices.

The Outside Plant program provides new lines connecting the Newark and Jersey City toll switchboards with Monmouth and Middlesex County points to care for the increasing traffic between Northern New Jersey, New York City and communities in the two counties named.

The Company's Board of Directors elected an executive committee consisting of President Chester I. Barnard; G. W. McRae, Vice President and General Manager; Frankland Briggs, Vice President and General Counsel; J. S. McCulloch, President of the New York Telephone Company; and L. H. Kinnard, President of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

A Benefit Fund Committee to administer the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's plan for caring for its employees' welfare was appointed with C. F. Brisbin, Vice President in charge of Personnel and Public Relations, as chairman; G. W. McRae, Vice President and General Manager; H. A. Trax, General Auditor; L. R. Scovill General Traffic Manager; and H. A. McIlwain Division Plant Superintendent southern.

SHIP WRECKS ARE BOON TO FISHING

Whole Coast Approve Governor Moore's Plan To Strew the Ocean With Derelicts

Sow the coast with derelict ships and reap an increased crop of fish—the novel plan proposed to Governor Moore, last month, by the State Fish and Game Commission, has received wide endorsement from those interests seeking to improve coast fishing. The Commission would take a fleet of the abandoned and useless hulks of the merchant marine, now berthed in federal shipyards, tow them to selected points along the coast and there blow them up, scattering their wreckage along the ocean floor to create new fishing banks.

A half-dozen charted wrecks off the Jersey coast now testify to the lure that such debris, soon encrusted with marine growths, has for fish life. These are the most popular angling centres sought by the sportsmen and commercial hook-and-line fishermen. Many of the fishing boats travel fifty miles to reach these spots. The Commissioners believe that the plan they have suggested to the Governor, with the request that he seek federal cooperation in putting it into effect, would create similar conditions all along the coast.

Chambers of Commerce and civic clubs of several seashore resort cities have gone on record in favor of the project and it has been endorsed by angling clubs, fishing fleets and commercial fishing interests.

The wrecks would be deposited under direction of the Department of Commerce and Navigation where they could offer no menace to shipping. The removal of the vessels from the shipyards where they are falling into decay, being valueless even as junk, would solve a problem from the Shipping Board it is claimed while experienced ocean fishermen agree that the artificial fishing paradise thus created would add hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly to the New Jersey seafood industry.

Giant Spider Guides U. S. Weather Observer

Macon, Mo.—P. Connor of Kansas City and the Goosebone Prophet of Washington have nothing on William C. Brown of this city as weather forecasters. Mr. Brown is the government's observer here. He also is vice president of the Security Trust company, a banking concern.

In Mr. Brown's backyard is a big, ugly spider, Bluebeard by name. By observing its work, Mr. Brown says, he has been able to determine the weather ahead for a week or ten days.

The Macon county fair management consulted Mr. Brown this year to learn whether it would have good weather at the time set for the fair. Mr. Brown found Bluebeard had been running lines up and down the fence and out to the trees.

"He never does that when it's going to rain," said Mr. Brown. "You'll have good weather all next week."

Not a drop of rain fell any day of the fair, and all the roads were good. The management made money.

Last season Bluebeard did not work for days before the week of the fair. Mr. Brown warned of bad weather. It started to rain the first day of the fair and it rained four days. The fair had to be abandoned.

Faith Needed

One of the needs of our time is to have the simple faith of our fathers poured into a Twentieth-century mold. We need the old-fashioned religion—but dressed in a free and flowing robe and not in the strait-jacket in which the bigots would encase it. We need more people who can say "Our Father Who Art in Heaven," and really believe it.—Merle Crowell in the American Magazine.

Carr Doesn't Think He Has Reached the "Roof"

Sabin W. Carr, the sandy-haired Yale Junior who startled the athletic world by pole vaulting 14 feet in the intercollegiate championships, doesn't think he has reached the "roof" yet, by any means.

"I felt kind of funny up there, when I finally made it," he said, discussing his sensational feat at Philadelphia. "But after it was all over I wondered why it hadn't been done before. Maybe I can go a little higher. That mark certainly isn't the limit for pole vaulters. Anyway, although I suppose there has been a bit of psychology in previous failures to make 14 feet—it sounded kind of impossible to a lot of folks."

Bill Carrigan Says Game Is Somewhat Different

Bill Carrigan, manager of the Boston Red Sox who was on the retired list since 1916 until he resumed the direction of this season's team, finds the game somewhat different. Bill says: "The game is more simplified than it used to be. They used to play for runs by ones and twos in the old days. Now they go out for 'em in larger quantities, three and four. In these days the teams look for the big inning and the batting explosion that blows the lid off the game, where formerly we were more patient and systematic in gathering our runs. The bunt is no longer the dangerous little weapon it used to be. The sacrifice is still used when a game is tight, but the ball jumps off the bat with such force these days that it's a big risk to try any of the subtle stuff."

Army Grid Team Not So Strong, Says Garbisch

Army's football team will not be as strong this year as it was last, in the opinion of Edgar Garbisch, captain of the great 1924 Cadet eleven. Garbisch is no longer in the service, having resigned a year after his graduation, but he still keeps a close tab on things at West Point and usually makes it a point during the football season either to scout for his old team or to run up from New York a few days each week and help coach.

Sunflower Specialty

The bureau of plant industry says that it is not uncommon for a sunflower to produce double flowers. The species can be perpetuated by planting the seeds of the double-flowered plant. While every flower will not be double, there will be an increased number. This has been worked out by botanists in the past and seed for double-flowered sunflowers are now on the market.

Inexhaustible Forests

Most Americans have been in the habit of considering the Canadian forest resources as "inexhaustible," by way of speaking—the reserve upon which this country would draw when its own forests disappeared. But the Canadians already have exploded the theory of inexhaustibility and are moving to replenish their forest stocks, says the New Orleans Times-Picayune. The province of Quebec will plant 1,600,000 trees on its public lands this year, and 3,000,000 in 1928. Thereafter the Quebec department of lands and forests expects to plant 5,000,000 trees per year and is gearing its tree nurseries to that production.

As one would expect, in a country of greater prosperity, the American child is more plentifully provided with luxuries than is the English child, says a writer in the Baltimore Sun.

However, old-fashioned people complain that the English child also is getting far too much of everything it wants these days of "spare the rod and spoil the child." It is depressing to see a child surrounded with so many toys, blunting its God-given imagination with mechanical marvels. Those were happier days when a wooden spoon or a wisp of material made a doll and a couple of chairs a train. The American child is a little more heavily handicapped by force of circumstances, but as soon as the standard of living goes up in England down will come the walls of the children's make-believe castles with a bump.

A news dispatch from the Southwest informs us of the death of a real 100 per cent American, who also came within an ace of achieving 100 per cent as a centenarian. Santiago Valenzuela, aged ninety-nine, an Indian warrior who gained fame as "the Geronimo scout," is dead at his home in Arizona. He won his title because of his services in running down the notorious Apache chief, Geronimo, as an army scout under Gen. Nelson A. Miles. That was just 40 years ago, and Valenzuela was then a man well past middle age. He is credited with having served with distinction under Gen. Winfield Scott in Mexico, so it is probable that he was, at the time of his death, the oldest of this country's old-time soldiers.

It was an outstanding achievement in the annals of aviation and no wonder Mussolini was glad to back out of the limelight for a period and give the Italians opportunity to pour their rich store of adulation upon their hero.

Prof. Albrecht Penck of Holland places the limit of human population of the earth, with every possible inch of land cultivated, at 8,000,000,000. Inasmuch as the human race still has a long way to go before reaching the professor's maximum and plenty of time to work out new means of stimulating and increasing the earth's yield, this forecast scarcely gives the Malthusians excuse to call for bigger and better world wars.

Nearly 10,000,000 American women earn their own living as compared to 35,000,000 men. It is significant that the professions are claiming more women while domestic service is losing them. More than a million women are now engaged in the professions and the number of domestics has dropped from 2,000,000 in 1900 to half that number today.

A number of modern women have taken to hunting lions. There is nothing particularly novel in this diversion, except that in these later instances the hunting is being done in Africa.

Papa and Mama Too Busy Are parents shirkers? Some of them certainly are. Safety From Lightning The weather bureau says that inside a steel frame building, a reinforced concrete building, or a house with properly installed lightning rods, is a safe place to be during a thunderstorm. Inside a house of any kind, and well away from the walls, is better than being out in the open. Especially dangerous places are close to a wire fence, under a tall tree, and on the top of a hill.

When critics assailed his accuracy, he asserted that he had made a special trip to Egypt to get the correct local color and found that there were no bulrushes in Egypt.

Spirit of Adventure

Things for which men dare and die may change from age to age. They must do so, as they have done in the past. Has "Winning Spirit"

Art Fletcher, former fiery Giant shortstop and Philly manager, who is now coaching for the Yanks, has always been known as possessing a real "winning spirit."

In a recent game Babe Ruth came to bat in the ninth inning, with his team nine runs on the deficit side of the books.

"Come on," screeched Fletcher from the first-base coaching lines, "Nine to tie and ten to win! Let's get 'em, Babe!"

Ruth, steaming hot with perspiration and ready to drop prone on the field with weariness, cast an ugly eye on the vociferous coach and remarked pointedly, "That guy has been out in the sun too long."

Olympic Club Players to Meet Californians

Former University of California football stars will play against their alma mater when the Olympic club of San Francisco faces the California varsity on October 22. Among these ex-Californians are Jimmy Dixon, crack halfback, and John Sargent and Ed Giddings, stalwart guards, all of whom played on last year's Golden Bear machine.

The annual contest between the California varsity and the Olympic club has assumed increasing importance each year, especially since 1925, when the clubmen handed the Golden Bears their first defeat since 1919.

This year's game will witness the unusual occurrence of a former club player performing in a California uniform. The player in question is Lee Eisan, clever quarterback, who led the Olympic club to its victory over the Golden Bears in 1925.

Lefty Grove's Control Is Quite Remarkable

Lefty Grove's control against the Yanks recently was phenomenal. At one stage of the game he pitched the ball over the plate nineteen times in succession before Umpire McGowan had to call a "ball."

In the course of this streak of plate-cutting Grove fanned Mense, Lazzeri and Dugan on ten pitched balls. The latter, after two strikes, fouled one off. Then came Dugan's third strike, retiring the side. Starting the third inning, Grove pitched nine straight pitches, all of which were strikes except those hit by the batters for flies and grounders. During the string of nineteen "strikes" no Yank reached first base. When they hit the ball they were retired.

Olympics of 1928 Give Borah Chance at Paddock

Charles Borah, southern California's sprinting sensation, has a definite purpose in view in directing his attentions and 1928 efforts at the Olympics in Amsterdam, Holland, next summer. He is anxious to settle the discussions which have been flying through sports-ports concerning his 100-yard races with Charles Paddock and Chester Bowman. Borah will get a shot at both at the same time at the next Olympiad.

When in 1926 Paddock was given the decision over Borah in a questionable finish, Paddock and not Borah got credit for a 9.5 seconds hundred. "Hard luck," the fans said. A world's record is a big thing to lose by a narrow margin.

And then Borah figured in a 9.6 seconds century at the A. A. U. championships. Although Borah was first announced as winner, a 5-to-4 vote by judges gave not only the gold medal, but a tie for the A. A. U. record to Bowman. A few years hence fans will see only Bowman's name in the books and forget about the close race.

Paddock and Bowman both placed at the 1924 meet. They, with Borah, will probably be in the 1928 affair. There will be no previous meeting between them.

Major League Star Also Is Reporter in Winter

Johnny Neun, Detroit Tiger first baseman, is a baseball player in the summer and a reporter in the winter.

As soon as he dons his Tiger uniform he hurries to his desk on the Baltimore Sun. At odd times he referees and writes about soccer games. He also is a basket ball official.

Neun has been in many spectacular plays this season. He turned in the only unassisted triple play in the American league.

In a seven-inning game he stole five bases and made five hits, all singles. During a double-header with New York he stole home in each game, the second time under the eagle-eyed Herb Pennock.

Walker Invincible

Notwithstanding Mickey Walker's decisive victory over Tommy Milligan, there are quite a host of Britons ready to tackle the world's champion on reasonable terms. Their eagerness is due to a remark passed by Charles B. Cochran that there is not a boxer in Europe capable of defeating Walker. Cochran's estimate of the situation while probably true, is rather quite broad and Walker may run into a snag of some kind.

Hooper's First Row

The department card of Harry Hooper, former Red Sox player, has at last been spoiled after 20 years of professional ball. Hooper prided himself on his amicable relations with the umpires. The manager of the Oakland Mission club ventured a protest, however, during a game with the San Francisco Seals, and Umpire Casey sent him to the clubhouse.

Giants' Boss Not Hard-Boiled

Rogers Hornsby, discussing his baseball playing code, his ideas of leadership, attitude toward the game and the fans, leaves the distinct impression that he comes of the same school that turned out John J. McGraw—or perhaps it was McGraw that started it.

At any rate, it is generally understood that McGraw will turn over the full reins of leadership to Hornsby when the gray-haired veteran decides to retire. He has given Rogers a pretty free hand this season a number of times and the results haven't been unsatisfactory.

"A lot of people have the idea that McGraw is hard-boiled," Hornsby said, "but they have him all wrong. Probably they got the notion because Mac is decisive and forceful in the way he does things. He gives orders and expects them to be followed. He doesn't do any second-guessing. If a mistake is made on his orders, the player isn't blamed."

"I would rather work for McGraw than any other man in baseball because I realize, and so do all the other players, that he's forgotten more baseball than we know."

"There isn't any friction on the club, either. You hear stories about wrangling in the clubhouse or on the bench once in a while. They're bunk. We may not always work smoothly, but there isn't any argument over who's leading the team or why."

"You know, they think I'm hard-boiled, too. They said that of me when I was managing the Cardinals last year. I don't do any kidding around on the field, if that's what they mean. When I'm out there, it's all business."

"I like McGraw's methods. It wasn't difficult for me to adjust myself to the Giants' style of play. The game is the same. When Mac puts confidence enough in me to let me run the club at times I attempt to follow out his plans just as though he were on the bench."

Sporting Squibs

There is a rumor abroad that Ray Schalk will not be retained as manager of the White Sox next year.

Harvard has increased its athletic facilities by 20 tennis courts and 3 football fields.

The New York Giants boast of a future rival to Ruth and Gehrig in a rookie catcher named Bill Barrett.

Ted Ray says the British golfers need more bunkers to improve their play—and the British boxers less bunk.

Croker Wade, hard-hitting leftfielder of the Winston-Salem Twins, Piedmont league, has been sold to the Detroit Tigers.

Jack Kolza, hard-hitting Southeast-ern league player reported bought by Brooklyn, is the property of the Birmingham Southern league club.

Feinting Is Lost Art

Among the Heavyweights

Joe Choyinski, famous heavyweight of past years, who knocked out Jack Johnson, says the big boxers of today do not know how to feint.

"It seems to me the big fellows take numbers of unnecessary punches," said the veteran. "They seem content to take a punch to land one. They apparently have not been taught the art of slipping punches or how to pull away from or get inside of long swings."

"Back in the old days even Jeffries knew a lot about feinting," he went on. "Fitzsimmons was a great feinter and so was Jim Corbett. Even Peter Maher and Gus Ruhlin knew how to draw their opponent's leads."

"I wish," he concluded, after watching Jim Maloney, Big Boy Peterson, Arthur De Kuh, the Italian, and Jack Sherry of New York perform recently in Chicago's first all-heavyweight bill, "that I could go back 25 years. I would be a millionaire in less than a year."

As tough as varnish..... As beautiful as enamel... —but dry in 30 minutes

DEVOE Brushing Lacquer is amazing in more ways than one! It is as tough as a varnish; as beautiful as an enamel. But instead of taking hours to dry, it actually dries hard in 30 minutes! Think what this means; you can lacquer a chair with Devoe and sit down safely on it in half an hour; refinish a floor and walk across it 30 minutes later; decorate things without taking them out of service for more than half an hour.

NEWARK THEATRES

Loews State Theatre
 "The Girl From Rio" which is coming to Loews State Theatre next week is the kind of a picture you have been waiting for, for a long, long time. A romance of old Spain and young hearts, it is filled with lightning action, filmed against a background of hectic days and moonlight nights in Rio De Janeiro. The swirl of the dance, and the hot breath of the sultry nights, with the fire of passion burning in Spanish breast, smouldering hatred and burning, make this a burning romance that will fire your imagination and set the blood surging in your veins.
 A Spanish dancer that brushes aside lightly the liberations of love that were poured at her feet met the Englishman and her heart that was as flint, melted away at the first caress of his lips, she knew that this was the only man for her, and so the heart breaker that had so ruthlessly trampled hearts under her heel, awakened to the first ecstasies of love, a love that knew no bounds, a love that knew no sacrifice was too great.
 This is the theme of the "Girl From Rio", who loved life but who loved love still more. The scenes in the cafes at Rio De Janeiro are photographed entirely in technicolor and are beautiful beyond compare.
 Neither trouble or expense were considered in the making of the picture so long as the Spanish atmosphere which forms the background of the picture was done full justice.

 Carmel Myers plays the title role of the picture and her brunette beauty is ideally suited to the Spanish atmosphere of the piece. Walter Pidgeon plays opposite to Miss Myers and although a newcomer to the screen is forging rapidly to the front. The picture was directed by Tom Terriss who needs no introduction to screen fans.
Broad Street Theatre
 Of interest to theatregoers is the production sponsored by A. H. Woods entitled "The Desperado" with Leon Gordon playing the starring role, which will open at the Broad Street Theatre for one week's engagement beginning Monday evening October 17th. It is from the pen of Barry Connors whose name has adorned many Broadway successes, chiefly among them are "The Patsy" and "Applesauce".
 In "The Desperado" the author has portrayed vividly the escapades of a South American bandit bearing the title of "El Diablo". A substantial reward is placed by the Government for his capture, but his hiding place is never revealed. There is also a love story, beautifully told, which involves the romance of a mountain boy and girl of excellent family. The match is opposed by the girl's mother who has selected a much more lucrative pact with an Army Captain. The romance hits a happy conclusion when the mountain boy, in spite of many protests, marries the girl of his choice. There are thrills aplenty and for sheer dramatic intensity "The Desperado" exceeds any of its predecessors.
 A. H. Woods producer of many Broadway successes, and whose plays are the theatregoers of an entertaining evening, has mounted "The Desperado" with an unexcelled cast of Broadway players. Leon Gordon, who has spent three years starting in the role of "Witzel" in "White Cargo" a play of his own authorship, will in "The Desperado" play the title role.
Fox Terminal Theatre.
 "7th Heaven" has been brought to the screen and will be shown for the first time in Newark at the Fox Terminal Theatre. This picture based on the play by Austin Strong, is said by all critics to be one of the finest productions of any type ever screened. Taken from every angle it is perfection, and more than that it has lost none of the appeal or beauty of the original play.
 The atmosphere of the Paris Montmartre, where the plot of the story is laid, is accurately carried out in the settings and the photographic effects. The story follows the play itself, but bringing into actual view these things that could only be talked about in the play, thereby heightening the interest and adding greatly to the entertaining value of the picture.

 The characterizations of the players are said to be inspired, particularly that of Janet Gaynor, who appears as the winsome, frightened and finally glorified "Diane", and Charles Farrell, who is the handsome egotistical, generous and thoroughly lovable "Chico".
 "7th Heaven" is the story of two of the lowest type of Parisians, a worker in the sewers of Paris and a waif of the Paris streets. But because of the glorious doctrine of courage which it preaches and the marvelous things it does to both of their characters it has been called one of the greatest and one of the most beautiful love stories ever written. The play created a sensation when produced for a record run on Broadway, and the picture is surpassing the reputation established by the play.
 Besides these two principals the cast includes Ben Bard, David Butler, Albert Gran, Gladys Brockwell, George Stone, Emile Chautard, Marie Mosquini and Brandon Hurst. Frank Borzage directed the production.
Mosque Theatre.
 John Gilbert in that magnificent screen triumph, "The Big Parade" is to be seen for a second successful week at the Mosque Theatre, Newark. "The Show Place of New Jersey." This masterpiece of the World War is one of the greatest productions ever to be seen on the silver sheet and the management is proud to announce that it will continue to be shown at popular prices. "The Big Parade" is shown at continuous performances for seven days, including Sunday shows.
 "The Big Parade" is from the pen of Lawrence Stallings, who knows of war from experience. He was a Captain in the Marine Corps. The reality of war has been finally brought home in this production which shows the tragedy of the horror, its tragi-comedy, and its romance. Yet, the epic quality of the film is based on a simple story; an American doughboy goes to France where he takes up with two buddies a former Bovey bartender and an ex-riveter.
 The doughboy then meets a little French peasant girl and some of the most touching scenes ever filmed are those showing the love-making of the doughboy and the French girl. Then comes the advance to the front, the separation of the lovers and the combat between men and engines of warfare—trench battle, grenade flinging, machine gun meets and the final light between the pals of the doughboy and how he is wounded. Then home again and the reconstruction period back in the United States.

Miner's Empire Theatre
 "Here We Are" is the Columbia Circuit attraction presented for next week's entertainment of Miner's Empire theatre patrons, commencing Sunday matinee, October 16, with the customary twice-a-day offering of frivolity and mirth featured as this new production's strong points of attractiveness. Comedy will be the basic element of the amusement with Jack Lamont and Billy Tanner leading a mirthful host in many humorous surprises and fun provocations. Frank O'Rourke, leading man, will assist in the comedy scenes. The "sight" features will include gorgeous costumes, brilliant scenic inventiveness and host of pretty girls in the chorus ranks as well as in the list of charming principals.
 Ed. E. Daley, one of the veterans among the Scribner "Wheel" producers sponsors "Here We Are" and his past reputation should warrant open minded attention to his advance promises. Mr. Daley and John O. Grant wrote the book on which "Here We Are" rests its comedy appeal. The lyrics and music were created by Joe Burrows and in staging the musical numbers Bunny Waldron applied his long Broadway experience to the connivance of new formations and ensemble dances.
 Thelma Carlton heads the legion of woman principals, heralded as a recent member of the "Artists and Models" company, where she was featured for her sensational dances.

Midgie Gibbons, the volatile sou-brette, will be recalled for her personal charms as displayed last season in "Rarin' to Go". Jyles LaRue is a Southern girl, who brings to the entertainment rare talents as a dramatic soprano. Patricia Burns is referred to as the most beautiful of ingenues in a garden filled with flowers of female loveliness.
 There will be in the chorus 30 winsome lassies "from where the West begins"—meaning that Producer Daley went to Chicago and searched the night clubs and cabarets for a fresh compliment of beauty. Where most showmen boast of the "Broadway" beauties Daley is holding up the advantages of Chicago as a beauty mart. All the girls are specialty dancers, they all sing harmoniously and all are variously bedecked in lovely costumes for their several numbers.
 Week commencing Sunday, October 23, "Gaieties of 1928".

INVESTORS WILL RECEIVE EXPERT STOCK ADVICE

This Newspaper Is First In Field To Publish Results of Investigations of Fake Stock

The Carteret News always eager to render its readers a real service, announces its affiliation this week with a nation-wide movement to protect the general public and warn it against placing its savings with unscrupulous brokers and crooked stock promoters. On another page of this issue, appears the first installment of a weekly series of articles disclosing the results of investigations conducted into the affairs of corporations whose stock issues have not passed the scrutiny of a rigid security test.

This service comes direct from the Financial Division of the National-Wide Review and is free to our readers. It represents a movement that favors the policy of the American Bankers Association and such agencies as the Better Business Bureau. Readers approached by stock and bond salesmen are urged to make free use of this service. Any question asked about any corporation or the stocks or bonds of any company, will be answered after investigations have been conducted.

This service, sponsored by the National-Wide Review of Business and Finance, comes after an exhaustive investigation into the annual losses suffered by a gullible public and by investors in small communities who place their savings with stock salesmen promising fabulous returns. The weekly advice, if followed carefully, will protect such investors, it is hoped from losing their money.

One thousand newspapers of the country have promised to co-operate in this movement by publishing this information weekly for the protection of its readers. Thus, the net thrown about the operations of fake stock promoters will minimize the annual losses suffered.

Readers are also urged to report the activities of all stock promoters, no matter how attractive their propositions may seem, to this newspaper. It will have their claims and companies fully investigated without charge. Honest promoters will not object to this investigation, while unscrupulous dealers in unknown securities will not urge you to invest your money once they learn of the service offered you.

Another feature of this movement is to prosecute all promoters engaged in soliciting investments which do not come up to the standard of the Attorney General's office or the laws of the state. In this manner, speculative risks will be avoided and the savings which would otherwise be lost can be deposited in the local savings banks. Therefore, all readers of this newspaper are urged to make free use of this service and report promptly any offer that may be made to them by mail order brokers and traveling stock salesmen, before parting with their money.

NEARLY 422,000 HOLDERS OF A. T. & T. CO. STOCK

On October 15, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company mailed quarterly dividend checks to 421,982 stock holders. This is the largest number to whom the Corporation has ever paid a dividend and exceeds by 1,691 the number receiving checks for the preceding quarter.

There were no important changes during the quarter in the distribution of the stock. Only 4 per cent is held by brokers, the balance being owned by investors throughout the country and including some 5,000 cities in foreign countries.

The average number of shares held per stock holder is only 26, however more than one half of the stock holders own ten shares or less and more than three quarters own 25 shares or less. The number of stock holders owning 5 shares or less exceed the total number in any other American Corporation. No stock holder owns as much as one per cent of the outstanding stock.

PURSUANT to an act entitled "An Act for the better protection of garage keepers and automobile repair men, Laws of 1915, C. 312, page 556 with all the supplements and amendments thereto" notice is hereby given to Nick Paul, last known owner and to whomever else may lay claim of motor vehicle, motor #342848, serial #275896, said car being an Essex Coach, that the said car will be sold at public auction on the 17th day of November, 1927, by Morris Hertz, an automobile repair-man residing in the Borough of Carteret, County of Middlesex and State of New Jersey and the proceeds of said sale shall be applied to the payment of a lien now held for repairs by the aforesaid Morris Hertz, said lien being in the amount of three hundred forty dollars ($340.00) together with interest and costs and expenses of such sale.

MORRIS HERTZ.

Effect of Slander

To be continually subject to the breath of slander will tarnish the purest virtue, as a constant exposure to the atmosphere will obscure the brightness of the finest gold; but in either case the real value of both continues the same, although the currency may be somewhat impeded.—Colton.

RUTGERS PRESIDENT URGES STATE AID

President John M. Thomas, of Rutgers University, in his annual report to Governor T. Harry Moore, made public this week, declares that Rutgers is definitely committed to a policy of development as the State University of New Jersey, and urges the adoption of a special tax for higher education in this State.

"Rutgers has gone too far in the development as a State institution to go back to the program of a small college," Dr. Thomas says, "and no division of the institution can be kept back as private."

The past year has been marked by vigorous progress and in formulation of plans for improved organization and practice as the State University, the report continues, but Rutgers cannot hope to function adequately as the University of New Jersey without sufficient funds for buildings and equipment.

"The remedy of the situation," President Thomas says, "is a special fund for higher education, leaving the railroad or 'main stem' taxes, from which Rutgers appropriations are now taken, for other forms of education. If the State is to continue at all the business of higher education, it should provide for it in a businesslike and adequate manner, as New Jersey is accustomed to do."

The report discusses in some detail the survey of the State University made by the U. S. Bureau of Education, and declares that in the survey the State and the University has a carefully conceived program for the development of a university adequate to the needs of New Jersey. "And," Dr. Thomas concludes, "both the University and the State may be counted upon to search out the path of wise progress in an orderly manner."

Just Couldn't Help It

"What makes you laugh at your own jokes?" inquired a friend of Israel Zangwill one day when, in convivial company, that witty writer had just perpetrated a bon mot at which all had laughed and he the loudest. "Well," responded Zangwill, "why shouldn't I laugh? That joke was as new to me as to you."

New York Has Appetite

It has been estimated that it takes 4,000 miles of freight cars to hold the food consumed in New York every year, save 100.

Mrs. Mabel Wagnalls Jones, daughter of Adam Wagnalls, the late publisher, and her husband, Richard J. Jones, of Northport, L. I., have endowed a school of Esperanto in Lithopolis, Ohio, the first of its kind anywhere, with the idea of effecting an international understanding which would prevent war. Lithopolis is an isolated village of 300 persons.

BUICK BREAKS SALES RECORDS

Increase Averages 4,000 Cars a Month over Same Period in 1926

Flint, Mich., Oct. 15—Buick sales since the introduction of new models in July have shattered all records in Buick history, C. W. Churchill, general sales manager of the Buick Motor Company, announced today. The July, August and September total this year is 82,965 cars, as compared with 70,941 cars sold during the corresponding period in 1926.

"The average monthly increase during the last three months, over the corresponding period in 1926, amounts to more than 4,000 cars," said Mr. Churchill. "This represents an average increase of 1,000 cars a week, or considerably better than 100 a day."

"When it is recalled that these are retail sales figures, and not mere production totals, such a record seems to us highly significant. It means that the instantaneous public reception of the new Buicks was not a mere flash in the pan, but rather the forerunner of a sustained demand for Buicks, all over the country, based on the recognition that here was such style, comfort and performance as best fitted the public's conception of value in a motor car."

Best Known Hickory

NATION-WIDE REVIEW OF FINANCE

A WEEKLY GUIDE TO INVESTORS

Editors Note—Protect your savings by reading this column regularly. It is compiled after exhaustive study and investigations conducted by the Financial Division of The Nation-Wide Review, with an aim to safeguard the savings of our readers and the public at large against unscrupulous brokers, fake stock promoters and crooked salesmen. Address this newspaper in reference to any stock or bond issue or company unknown to you. All questions will be answered in this column, without any charge to our readers. If personal and confidential report is requested, enclose 2c stamp and address your query to Financial Editor, Nation-Wide Review, 41-43 Vesey street, New York, N. Y.

1.—I am a widow, having just collected $5,000 insurance money, following my husband's death. A friend of mine advises investing it in stock of the American Can Company. Is it a good investment?—Mrs. E. C. M.

Ans.—American Can is a speculative issue. Your friend is only guessing about its safety. It is subject to fluctuations of the market. If $5,000 represents your sole capital, you better place the money in Certificates of Deposit in one of your local banks. Rather depend on a smaller interest revenue than take chances on "big" dividends that may not materialize.

2.—Is Eureka Croesus a safe investment?—J. L. S.

Ans.—Eureka Croesus is a western mining stock that is occasionally traded in on the Curb Exchange. Its value is about 2c a share, although curb stone brokers, trading among themselves, often succeed in elevating the price to 6c or more. It is an outright speculation, with chances of proving valuable being very remote. Our advice is to leave it alone.

3.—What do you think about the Wyoming Valley Coal Company stock of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.? Do you consider its preferred stock a safer investment than its common shares?—R. L. S.

Ans.—The Wyoming Valley Coal Company is a Delaware corporation, with an authorized capital of 50,000 shares of no par value. The company once owned valuable anthracite coal properties under lease, which were later forfeited because of non-payment of minimum royalties. The initial stock sold for $30 a share, later climbing to $50. It never paid any dividends and in all probability never will. Those investing their money will undoubtedly suffer a loss. There is no record of the company having any assets at the present time.

4.—A New York broker sent me descriptive circulars urging investment in the Oil Creek Mining Company, claiming the stock will soon be worth twice as much money. Would I be safe in buying $2,500 worth?—H. F.

Ans.—A broker sending you such literature by mail should be reported to the Postal Authorities or the Better Business Bureau. The Oil Creek Mining Company, is incorporated under the laws of Delaware, with a capital stock of $500,000 of the par value of $1.00 per share. It owns speculative leases on oil and semi-anthracite farm lands in Wyoming and Sullivan counties, Pa., but these lands have never been drilled or tested. The company is organized by men whose reputations are not the best. It is not operating, although the charter was granted in 1919. Selling stock in this company, after knowing about its true condition, is downright fraud.

5.—Would you advise buying stock in the General Lead & Zinc Corporation of Joplin, Mo.?—E. R. P.

Ans.—The General Lead and Zinc Corporation started out with fine prospects of promising leases of zinc and lead properties in the Tri-State District of Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas. But last year's floods inundated the mining regions so that developments could not be continued. In addition, the company spent most of its capital which was raised by selling stock and has no money in the treasury at present. Zinc and lead mining is very hazardous at best, requiring enormous capital and entailing risks in working metal veins. Our advice would be to await further developments. Do not invest at this time.

6.—I am urged to buy 5,000 shares of Cortez Silver at 32. Is it bound to go up as represented to me?—A. L. M.

Ans.—Cortez Silver is purely speculative. It is handled on the Curb Exchange at about 22 to 25 cents a share. The silver market is down at present and this issue does not promise anything worthwhile. No one can predict its future value. If you have money to speculate with, inviting almost a certain loss, then invest. Otherwise, keep your money and forget this stock.

7.—I have an opportunity to buy Chicago & Rock Island Railway Bonds, 4s, maturing in 2004, with interest payable semi-annually, face value $1,000 each, for $650. Why are they offered at such a low price?—G. M. R.

8.—What is your opinion of Great States Petroleum stock of Texas?—C. F. B.

Ans.—This company raised tremendous sums of money through its fiscal agents and through such brokers as Jones & Baker of New York, who went out of business several years ago. It appeared to have some valuable leases in the Panhandle region and drilling was conducted on a large scale. But the company eventually failed after several dry wells were brought in. There has been no activity in this stock for some time and we would warn you against investing any money in it.

Ans.—Whenever a railroad bond is offered at such sacrifice, common sense should guide your judgment in leaving it alone. In this particular instance, the Chicago & Rock Island Railway Company issued these bonds just before it went into the hands of a receiver and reorganized. The bonds are absolutely worthless and wouldn't bring 50 cents each anywhere. Your own banker, in looking them up in Moody's Annual, will tell you likewise. Thousands of people throughout the country have been victimized during the last few years, buying, what on the face, appeared a genuine railroad bond, each having unused interest coupons attached, which appeared attractive to the gullible investor. They will never be redeemed. The present Chicago & Rock Island Railway bonds are an altogether different issue, not having anything to do with the former, bankrupt company.

An Indiana woman was speaking in favor of an eight-hour law for women. "What about housewives, they work 18 hours," a male questioner asked. "I don't see what the law can do for them," replied the woman campaigner. "Well," said the heckler, "it might give men two wives."—Capper's Weekly.

World's Largest Aviation Field Dedicated

The largest aviation field in the world, at Dayton, Ohio, has just been dedicated with impressive ceremonies participated in by Secretary of War Davis and other government officials. This is Wright field, named for the Wright brothers, and it consists of 3,000 acres.

DOOM IS SEEN OF BATTLESHIP

Big Craft to Give Way to Speedy Vessels.

Washington.—The battleship is likely to be scrapped or relegated to a subordinate position when the Washington disarmament conference reconvenes in 1931, or at the latest when the Washington treaties expire in 1936.

The new ten 10,000-ton cruisers President Coolidge wishes to have congress authorize next winter will be built with a new conception of the navy in mind which will call for greater surface speed and a wider use of the airplane than was possible when even the latest battleships were built.

The airplane carriers Lexington and Saratoga, which the United States has been building since 1922, have caused a complete revision of the ideas of capital ships of the future. The details of these ships are still secret, but the Navy department is greatly pleased with the vessels as engines of war. They have a displacement of 33,000 tons and a speed, it is said, greater than 32.50 knots an hour. Each will carry, it is said, as many as 100 airplanes.

The 10,000-ton cruisers also have a speed of 32 knots an hour and the 7,500-ton cruisers, of which we have ten afloat, have a speed of 33.50 knots an hour.

Into a fleet of which these fast ships with a minimum of 32 knots speed are an important part, the dreadnought battleship with a speed of 21 knots fits just about as well as the old monitors, which survived till after the Spanish war with their speed of eight or ten knots, fit into the more modern battleship fleets of fifteen or twenty years ago.

No fleet can move any faster than its slowest member, so the effect of the battleship would be to slow down the new powerful and speedy cruisers and airplane carriers. At least that is the way naval thought is now tending.

The ten new 10,000-ton cruisers, which President Coolidge will ask congress to authorize, will bring the American cruiser strength up to about the minimum this country proposed at the Geneva conference.

Therefore, their authorization is not to be regarded as the beginning of a naval race with Great Britain or as impairing the prospect of cruiser limitation in negotiations that may follow the failure at Geneva.

With that authorization the total of cruisers built, building and authorized, will not be above the lowest point at which an agreement is possible between the United States, Great Britain and Japan, namely, 250,000 tons. The United States has now ten 7,000-ton cruisers, and eight 10,000-ton cruisers in process of building, a total of 155,000 tons. Ten more 10,000-ton ships would bring the total up to 255,000 tons.

France Finds Census Short by 23 Names

Paris.—By Presidential decree, the official population of France has been increased by twenty-three souls. Guide books, histories, almanacs and other informative volumes which give the population of France as 40,745,851 are in error. The figure should be 40,745,874.

When the last census was taken, the names of twenty-three inhabitants of the village of Honnecourt, near Cambrai, were first carefully jotted down, and then overlooked. The fact that they had not been included in the grand total was discovered only a short time ago, whereupon the President of the republic signed a decree correcting the error.

Women's Voice Stronger

Talking fires men, but doesn't women, a scientist tells us. The vocal cords of women are shorter than those of men and less energy is required to produce a sound. Besides women are more sociable and would rather talk than eat, much as they like to eat.

Really in High Gear

A colored man employed to wash windows at a certain factory in Boston was working so moderately that his actions might very well be termed "slow motion." "Why don't you hurry a little more?" demanded his superior. "Boss," he has only two speeds and the other is slower than his one."—Patricia Morning.

Hair on Mammals

Hair is the characteristic covering of mammals. Hairs are not wanting in any mammals, but vary greatly in abundance, some being densely clothed, while others possess it only in limited parts of the body.

Mount Koraima

References to which we have access concerning Mount Koraima do not state the area at the top of the mountain, but give the height as 8,740 feet above sea level and that the perpendicular rocky walls rise to a sheer height of nearly 3,000 feet.—Exchange.

Weight of Goldfish

A goldfish weighing five pounds is quite large. Generally speaking, goldfish in and about Maryland attain a weight of two and two and one-half pounds. Of course, the weight depends upon food and heat. They usually grow larger in the southern states.

Governor Must Not Appoint

On August 23, 1893, the United States passed a law stating that when a state legislature has the opportunity to elect a United States senator and fails to do so, an appointment by the governor is void.

New Jersey's Telephone System Has Doubled in Ten Years

TELEPHONE growth reflects community progress. New Jersey's Bell Telephone system has doubled in size within ten years and probably will repeat this development during the next decade.

Back of the 570,000 Bell Telephones now in use in New Jersey is an immense physical plant.

It contains 2,500,000 miles of wire over which nearly 2,000,000 conversations are held each day.

Its buildings number 203 and they house 12,000 workers, 164 central office switchboards, power plants, testing apparatus and a great array of other equipment needed to give you service whenever you want it.

Always this system is growing. Six new buildings have been completed this year and three others are under construction. Among the latter is the company's new twenty-story headquarters building in Newark.

The 1927 record will show several hundred thousand miles of wire placed in service and 40,000 more New Jersey telephones brought within your reach.

When you lift a receiver or turn a dial to start a telephone call you command a system of communication that is growing each day in its power to serve you and the community in which you live.

CARTERET—NOT A PERFECT CITY

Carteret is not a perfect city. There is no perfect city. Not until individuals come closer to approaching perfection, not until men become imbued with more of the spirit of cooperation and less of the spirit of individualism, not until municipal government approaches that degree of efficiency long since demanded by private business, not until Nature smiles upon one locality continually, not until climate and atmosphere become a constant instead of a variable, can any city, community, or state, make a legitimate claim to perfection.

The keynote of twentieth century city promotion is to combine, to a remarkable degree, the things necessary to attract people, namely, a good place to do business and a fine place in which to live.

Somewhere in all America there must be some city that stands out preeminently as the city of friendliness and neighborliness—the city that loves to give attention to the little things that make visitors and sojourners desire to return to that city with the spirit of thoughtfulness—a city with the love of service developed to as high a degree as anyone anywhere might hope for and expect.

In that city there must be evident on every hand a quickened public sentiment capable of responding to the desires and the wishes of those who are not favored by fortune or by birth to such an extent that they feel confident that they can dwell in that city forever and a day. In that city there must be many organizations able and ready to respond to the call of city duty whenever necessary. In that city there must be individualism and initiative sufficiently strong enough to assert itself and yet, when the call for city-wide service presents itself, able and willing to turn to good account its individual assets for the good of all.

While Carteret has by no means reached "the perfect state," we believe that Carteret has the best opportunity to become that city. Carteret may not become the biggest city in all America but it is surely growing and its virtues are being heralded throughout the nation by those who happen to pass this way.

Carteret should become one of the greatest motor tourist gathering points—some day—in all America—because the very atmosphere of the town has developed a personality for attracting tourists. We have a high civic standard which constantly asserts itself in the development of our commerce, our industry, and the general welfare. There are abundant natural and man-made assets which are located in our midst. There are liabilities which we should correct.

We should think today of the Carteret of tomorrow. Many things must go into the making of our tomorrow. Prestige and good will must be constantly created and maintained through a pure water supply, clean streets, good schools, and those many other essentials necessary for physical comfort and moral well-being. If Carteret desires to expand it must provide opportunities for those who come on and assume active charge of the city's business and social and civic life in later years.

Cities have the ambition to aspire to great heights when they have built their foundation with an understanding of the main essentials which go into the development of prestige and good will. Without these attributes, some cities may become richer and greater, but they do not and cannot become better. Carteret has the opportunity. Carteret may never become the city of half a million people; but Carteret may become better and more favorably known than any city twice or three times its size if new standards are adopted and applied.

Future Generations Likely to Inhabit a World Free From Plagues

By DR. FRANK BILLINGS, Professor of Medicine.

The future of medicine will be greater in opportunity than the past has been in accomplishment. The work accomplished justifies the statement that the knowledge of the cause and means of transmission, with the use of dependable measures of prevention of most of the infectious diseases, and sanitary science could make the world free of these plagues—the captains of the hosts of death.

We cannot rest and be satisfied with acknowledgments of these splendid accomplishments, because there are still hundreds of problems to be solved which are of the greatest importance. There still are infectious diseases to be investigated and we must learn their microbic cause and find specific means for their prevention and cure.

Of these infectious diseases epidemic influenza is probably the most important, because we are ignorant of the nature of its etiologic virus. Without this knowledge we are unable to prevent its epidemic recurrence.

We have no definite knowledge of the cause of insanity or feeble-mindedness. Clinical studies of these conditions have been interesting, but not especially productive. It is believed that the problem of prevention may be solved by an intense clinical laboratory research, utilizing biochemistry, physical chemistry, and biology. Birth control and sterilization should not be adopted until the underlying problems of heredity have been thoroughly investigated.

Parents Should Take More Interest in Education of Their Children

By MRS. FLORENCE V. WATKINS, Parents-Teachers Associations' Sec.

Education will not advance as it should until parents take a more active interest in it for the sake of their children.

Parents haven't played enough with their children. They have been censors instead of playmates. They should come down from their pinnacles, and become their children's pals. Parents, however, are more alive to the possibilities of training the child through the first six years of life.

Teachers are more sympathetically inclined to problems confronting the home. Communities have become more concerned in making conditions right for the child.

Too Ardent Rooting for Favorite Baseball Team Is Not Good Sign

By DR. THADDEUS L. BOLTON, Temple University.

A man who would stand in line for hours for a seat in the bleachers and then shout himself hoarse rooting for his favorite baseball team, is not well-balanced mentally.

The well-balanced man will not become fanatical in his love for one particular sport. If he does, he is suffering from a mental hypertrophy.

A hypertrophy is a growth. There are mental and physical hypertrophies. Physically they manifest themselves in the form of corns, bunions, boils, etc. Mentally, in the case of the baseball fan, by a tendency toward over-ardent, hysterical devotion to the one particular sport.

U. S. IMPROVES ON WEAPONS FOR WAR

Important Advances Made Over Arms of 1917.

Washington.—New weapons far superior to those used by the American army during the World War have been developed by the Ordnance Department. The new weapons are heavier, more powerful, and more mobile.

While the United States has not progressed so far as European armies, especially England, in the mechanization of its fighting equipment, military experts reveal that the new weapons developed in the United States are of a type which will function efficiently on the battle field.

Two outstanding examples in the Ordnance Department are the 75-millimeter gun and the 75-millimeter pack howitzer. Other improved weapons include a new 155-millimeter or 6-inch field gun and the 75-millimeter pack split trail, an improved 87-millimeter infantry weapon, a new trench mortar, two new 3-inch anti-aircraft guns and a 14-inch howitzer.

Artillerymen are confident that the new 75-millimeter gun developed in this country since the war is destined to make the smaller caliber field gun a more efficient weapon. The American 75, while weighing slightly more than the famous French 75-millimeter field gun, used so widely during the war, has a much greater range and a wider field of fire. Where the old weapon had a maximum range of 9,200 yards, the new American rifle fires a 15-pound projectile a distance of 15,000. Its elevation, thanks to the use of a split trail, is 45 degrees, while the old weapon had an elevation of only 19 degrees.

The new American 75 will be horse-drawn and tests have shown it can be taken anywhere the old 75 could go. This gun has been adopted for army use. Companion pieces for this weapon are the new 75-millimeter pack howitzer and the recently developed 105-millimeter rifle.

The advantages of the new howitzer are that it boasts a range as great as the French 75 and is so light in weight that it can be easily transported through mountainous or hilly country.

Find Indians Raised 32 Leading Vegetables

Washington.—According to the Department of Agriculture, the American Indian was a successful vegetable farmer.

"In the American vegetable garden," the department points out, "eight principal food products had their origin in the Indian crops existing before the advent of the white man. These include beans, corn, peppers, pumpkins, squash, tomato, potato and sweet potato."

Vegetables of Old World origin are far more numerous. The department lists 24 of importance:

Cucumbers, eggplant, muskmelon, watermelon, okra, asparagus, beets, brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, kale and collard, kohlrabi, leek, lettuce, onion, parsley, parsnip, peas, radish, salsify, spinach and turnip.

"But," it is asserted, "the value of the crop of the eight native vegetables is considerably greater than the 24 of foreign origin."

Old English Mission Ship to Be Broken Up

London.—"Gin and Bibles," as the sailors affectionately called the old sailing mission ship Harmony, is now in the graveyard of ships.

After a service of more than fifty years in the Arctic, the 200-ton vessel has been sold by the Moravian Missionary society, to be broken up.

The Harmony was the last of a succession of Harmony ships which sailed along the coasts of the Arctic carrying supplies, since 1771.

A year ago the Harmony left Dartmouth for her last voyage to the trading stations of Labrador. For the last time the Eskimos came out, shot off guns and made a carnival time of her arrival.

X-Ray Proves Useful in Treating Horses

Washington.—The X-ray for horses is one of the latest advances in veterinary science that has given very satisfactory results at the Veterinary Station hospital at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, according to reports received here. The rays have been found most useful, it is stated, in making diagnoses of broken bones, dislocations and the presence of foreign bodies in the feet. As yet the curative effects of X-ray treatment have not been tried on horses.

Since it is not feasible to bring such large animals into the X-ray room, an X-ray machine has been fitted up on a chassis with eighteen inch wheels which convey the apparatus directly to the patient's "bedside."

NORMA TALMADGE BOBBED CAMILLE IN LATEST FILM

Norma Talmadge in the title role of her unique, modern version of "Camille," the famous romance of Alexandre Dumas the younger, is the treat in store for the patrons of the Ritz Theatre, beginning next Thursday.

The story of the screen "Camille," while following closely the theme and spirit of the classical romance, is visualized in settings of the present day. The "Lady of the Camellias," most celebrated of all the Parisian demimondaines, is interpreted, by Miss Talmadge as a captivating, brilliantly gowned, bobbed haired heartbreaker of the present generation.

Desiring to make "Camille" one of the outstanding triumphs in Norma's career, Joseph M. Schenck, who produced the picture for First National release, recruited a notable cast for the modern picturization of the Dumas classic, and assigned Fred Niblo as director.

Gilbert Roland, a young Spanish actor who recently was placed under a long-term contract by the Schenck organization, appears as "Armand," the impetuous young lover of "Camille." Lilyan Tashman and Rose Dione have important roles as "Olympe" and "Prudence" respectively. Portraying the various wealthy and titled admirers of the "Lady of the Camellias," Harvey Clark is cast as "The Baron" and Alec Francis as "The Duke". Other supporting players are Helen Jerome Eddy, Albert Conti, Michael Viseroff, Evelyn Selbie and Etta Lee.

Fred de Gresac wrote the 1927 adaptation of "Camille" and Chandler Sprague and Olga Printzlau prepared the continuity. Oliver Marsh is the chief cinematographer and the settings are the work of William Cameron Menzies, art director for all Joseph M. Schenck enterprises.

Hibernians Elect Officers

Division No. 7, Ancient Order of Hibernians held their annual meeting at Fire House No. 2 on Sunday. A big attendance of members came out to this session. The principal business was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Lawrence Hagen, president; John Connolly, vice president; Philip Foxe, treasurer; Patrick Cooney, financial secretary; Dennis A. Fitzgerald, recording secretary.

A general reconstruction is expected in the local division, by a membership drive, that will result in a roll twice the number of the present standing. Other business was taken up in due order. A big session is expected next month when the new officers function for the first time.

STILL GET THRILL AT PENNY ARCADES

New York Sticks to Ancient Amusement.

New York.—Eight o'clock in the morning is the zero hour for entertainment in New York. Nothing remains, apparently, but to crawl into a taxi and give the driver your home address.

That is, of course, if you do not belong to that class of New Yorkers who know all the little intimate things about their home town. For instance, that when it's eight o'clock in the morning, when you've dissipated the best part of your bank roll, when you still prefer any place to home, you can turn toward Sixth avenue and find the bacchanal spirit running riot to the strains of a mechanical piano in a penny arcade.

The early morning recreation problem has been solved by this thoughtful amusement resort that flings wide its doors at 7:30 and within half an hour has collected a swarming throng of customers.

The silken and the seamy citizenry of New York is there. Don't be surprised to see the former in tuxedos and spangles debark noisily from an open victoria at the curb.

Gold Mine to Arcade. These rich once-in-a-whillers are a gold mine, for they "do" the works at an outlay of $1.50 each—the tariff on the entire 150 machines designed for the public's enjoyment. They may even give another dollar to be photographed before the canvas scenery of a bar painted with such sentiments as "Drink Here and Die at Home."

The average customer, however, is good for only about three cents, the change from a breakfast of cold slaw, an ice cream sandwich and orangeade at a cheap restaurant next door.

Tim, the florid faced manager, is probably the worst cynic on Sixth avenue. It beats his Irish understanding how crooked a guy can be in the matter of a cent.

"You'd never believe it, but there are people that will swear falsely they put in the money and the machinery wouldn't go," he deplores.

Tim asserts that his employers get epped out of plenty of money a year this way. He's been changing nickels for pennies during two decades of service for the single corporation which monopolizes ownership of the few remaining peep palaces in New York.

Tim says that about 1,100 people come in every day. And at least 1,007 are out on the pretext of visiting the Sixth avenue employment agencies that cluster around the district at the rate of ten to a block. Although the arcade keeps open till midnight, business falls off perceptibly as soon as the job exchanges close.

The arcade offers a diversity of amusements. The athletic, the superstitious, the musically bent, the practical, and, of course, the seeker for thrills, have all been remembered.

Fortunes Told.

Visitors come first to fifteen or sixteen fortune telling devices. The Little Gypsy, for the small consideration of a copper, will answer briefly, "Can I trust my love?" "Am I a liar?" "Is there any hope for me?" or "Is my salary going to be raised?" She won't give you any particulars, except registering "Yes," "No" or "Maybe." But who would say that it isn't worth the price?

The mystic wheel also assures you that you can have a preview of your bridegroom. While the wheel actually comes across with his photograph, there's a futility in it at that. The man looks ready to leap on a bicycle built for two. If he is still alive somewhere he probably wants a wife who can run a wheel chair.

The surprising artistic allurement is the crank driven microscope or peep show that gives you two eyesful for the same reasonable price asked in 1897. The shapely ladies have stood the strain remarkably well.

"The Death Chair at Sing Sing" has exhausted its melodramatic horrors and works no longer. The attraction called "What Girls Do When They Are Alone" gives the educational information that they skip rope clad in flannel night dresses. Another well worn one is the caption "For Men Only." Here you have a whimsical little piece about an artist who falls asleep while drawing a skeleton. In his dreams his model assumes the well rounded lines of a 1900 chorus girl, whom his modest subconscious mind discreetly covers with lights of a heavy woolen texture.

On your way out treat yourself to a penny squirt of perfume and stop to listen to Edison's first conception of a gramophone. If you've never heard "Valencia" or "The Prisoner's Song" strike rubber tubes in your ears and turn on the current.

BIG SUM SPENT TO MAINTAIN HEALTH

$20,000,000 Cost of Protecting National Life.

Washington.—Uncle Sam pays the world's greatest insurance premium—$20,000,000 a year. In return he is protected against wholesale destruction of human life, crops and live stock.

That, virtually, is the view taken by Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific research, United States Department of Agriculture.

"Without the research scientist," Doctor Woods declared, "our present complex life would wipe out cities. Gradual depletion of soil and inroads of pests would mean starvation for millions. Through the work of the research man our lives are made easier, and what we have is made to last longer. He is the foundation of an intricate structure."

Research achievements in this country, recorded in the history of little more than half a century, cost the government about $10,000,000 a year. Closely affiliated experiment stations cost a similar sum, bringing the total to approximately $20,000,000 annually.

Small Premium.

"This," Doctor Woods continues, "is an extremely small premium to pay for protection of an industry capitalized at approximately $60,000,000,000 with an annual gross income of $12,500,000,000. Careful analysis of results show that for every dollar expended for research there is an annual yield of $500, or 50,000 per cent. In the bureau of dairy industry alone an annual expenditure of $500,000 for the improvement and protection of milk and its products saves the country $200,000,000 a year. Hundreds of other projects in as many different fields are saving billions of dollars annually."

Check Plant Pests.

"Serum and virus treatments have made it possible to prevent hog cholera; fruit quality and yield have been improved by means of bud selection; methods and poisons have been discovered for combating insects, particularly the boll weevil, which threatened the entire cotton crop. Discov- ery of the part played by the common barberry bush in the life of black stem rust made it possible to stop this enemy of the wheat crop.

"Danger of yellow fever and malaria was minimized when science found it to be transmitted by mosquitoes. Science found carbon tetrachloride with which nearly 2,000,000 human patients have been treated for hook-worm."

Young Swan Good Eating

The meat of the cygnet or young swan is a greatly esteemed delicacy and "swanpits" are maintained for the fattening of these birds. A royal license is required for the keeping of swans in England, the birds formerly having been exclusively the property of the crown.

Aged Wine

The Explanation

A woman looks better in the hat she buys than a man looks in the hat he buys, because a man has to buy a hat to fit his head. He can't buy one to fit his face and then arrange his hair to make it fit the hat.—Marysville Advocate.

Pisa Tower Has a Rival

Pisa's famous tower has a rival in the form of a church steeple in Coblenz, Germany. Lightning is believed responsible for the shape of the steeple which is twisted like a corkscrew and leans at a decided angle. The steeple appears sturdy despite this displacement.

Rubber Substitute Found in Soy Bean

Urbana, Ill.—From chop suey sprouts to a substitute for rubber is a long road for a bean to travel, but research work on the development of by-products of the soy bean exhibited at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, this fall showed not only those two possibilities, but a score of others.

Soy bean production, a comparatively new crop to Illinois, is one of the oldest in the world, farm experts here said. Its production dates back to 5,000 years ago in its home country of Manchuria, China.

The by products developed from the bean in the last few years include chop suey sprouts and food sauces; rubber in oleum and lard substitutes; crude and refined oils and glycerine; enamels, paints, varnishes and printers' inks; soaps artificial ivory and resin; candlestick and core binder material from which casts for producing metal parts are made.

LINE CAPTAINS HAVE BIG EDGE

Predominate in Survey of 410 College Teams.

Not many years ago it was a common practice for football teams to select backfield men as captains. Recently, however, the custom has changed and the present football season finds that more linesmen than backs are favored with the captaincy than backs. A survey of 410 college elevens shows that 234 of the leaders are centers, tackles, guards or centers, while only 176 are quarterbacks, halfbacks or fullbacks.

The quarterback post, at one time the most popular position upon which to bestow the captaincy, has undergone a decided slump this season for only 57 quarters have been called upon to lead their teams into action. As a matter of fact quarterback is much less popular than two of the line berths, for the tackles have 66 captaincies to their credit and the guards are close behind with 64. Fullbacks have taken more of a slide than the quarters, for only 36 of them have been chosen as leaders for the 1927 season.

The shoes of captains will be filled by more fullbacks than any other players, 83 of them being called upon to direct gridiron machines. The ends and centers are at the rear of the list, but, even so, plenty of direction will be given from those places, for 54 terminal men and 50 pivots will serve as captains.

Charles Pyle Is One of Big Dreamers of Sport

Charles C. Pyle is one of the dreamers of sport. Some of his dreams have come true; others will never be realized.

One of his dreams concerns itself with vast sports theaters. These coliseums will be so large that it will be possible to play football, soccer or baseball under roof.

He visions from eight to one dozen of these coliseums scattered over the country and professional football leagues, playing football from October 1 until April 1, a six-months' season.

He believes that the present drawback to professional football is the weather, but if the game were played under roof and spectators were sure of seeing the games in comfort, and being assured of no postponements, it would pay.

This dream will probably never come true.

Jack Sharkey's Triumph Ruined Buckley's Alibi

Now that it is all over, the story has leaked out that John Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, wanted to ask for a postponement of the Jimmy Maloney bout.

Two days before the bout Sharkey was suffering from what Dr. W. G. Frallich diagnosed as neuritis of the spine. He could not lift himself out of bed that morning. Alarmed, Buckley insisted that he would demand a postponement. Sharkey vehemently protested.

On Friday morning, a few hours before he weighed in, Sharkey was in Doctor Frallich's office for an hour. He was treated with heat rays. When he entered the ring he wore a bandage over the affected region.

Sharkey's triumph ruined a swell alibi. "Spinal neuritis" would have been brand new.

Bill Tilden Would Play for Americans in 1928

If the United States sends a team abroad next year in an attempt to regain the Davis cup from the French, "Big Bill" Tilden will be very glad to be a member.

Instead of turning professional, as he had contemplated if defense of the Davis cup had been successful, Tilden declared he would be entirely at the service of the United States Lawn Tennis association in 1928.

With such younger stars as George Lott and John Doeg, Tilden will be ready for the long trail of qualifying play which must be traversed next year before the United States can challenge the reigning Frenchmen for the cup.

Wind Dies Out and Golf Title Lost to Duncan

A real heart-breaker in the way of tough luck golf shots was that of George Duncan in playing to the final green in the 1922 British open at Sandwick.

Walter Hagen had finished with 300. Duncan could tie if he could ring up a 68.

George made a stupendous effort. He went out in 34, and, with the last nine holes very hard, there being but one short one in the lot, he arrived at the sixteenth needing 2, 4, 4. He got his 2 and first 4, and drove perfectly to the left in the last effort of that heroic battle.

The wind was left to right as George prepared to play his second. "Just his shot," everyone said.

Duncan trusted the wind to bring his ball around to the green. His shot appeared perfect, but the wind played traitor. His ball didn't come around. It went into a shallow hollow at the left of the green 30 yards from the hole.

At the edge of the green, squatted in front of the encircling gallery, Hagen said to a friend:

"That's strange; I played my second to that exact spot on my last round, and I took a five. Are you sure he needs a four to tie me?"

"Yes."

It was a tense moment. Hagen stood up. Then he sat down again.

Duncan clipped. He was five yards short. He, too, took a five. Hagen was champion.

Princeton Hopeful

The Princeton football team hopes to achieve as much glory as its predecessor, which won from both Old Nassau's greatest rivals, Yale and Harvard, although only three men of last year's team are in this year's squad. The photo shows Capt. Charlie Moeser of the 1927 team.

Tad Jones Again Yale Head Football Coach

Tad Jones will again be at the head of the Yale eleven this fall, according to the announcement made by the board of control of the Yale Athletic association. Myron E. Feller, Charles A. Commerford and Maj. V. E. Prichard of the Yale R. O. T. C. will again be his assistants.

Ted Blair will not be on the staff, while M. A. Stevens will be shifted to the second varsity squad, where he will work with W. M. Lovejoy and Philip Bunnell.

The hockey committee will again be headed by E. S. Bronson. The other members of the committee, as announced, are George T. Adee, Sanford Stoddard, J. E. Bierworth and J. O. Buckley.

Lost 42 Games

Jack Coleman still holds the record for the number of defeats sustained by a pitcher in a single season. When Coleman pitched for Philadelphia in 1883, the first season that city was in the National league, he lost 42 ball games. It was not altogether the fault of Coleman's pitching because his support was far from the best. The Philadelphia club finished the season with a percentage of .174.

Lieut. Col. Edward D. Miller, who served for many years with the British army in India, is known as "The Father of Polo." Since leaving the army he has devoted his time to the training of polo ponies.

One of the old track marks that has defied the efforts of modern runners is Maxey Long's 47 seconds flat for the straightaway quarter-mile dash, made on the old racetrack at Guttenburg, N. J., 27 years ago.

Supreme as Tennis Queen

HELLEN WILLIS, twenty-one-year-old "poker-faced" girl of Berkeley, Calif., now holds sway as the unrivaled empress of the tennis courts, for Miss Suzanne Lenglen cannot challenge her position, being outside the pale of amateur tennis.

Miss Willis took a two-handed grasp on the scepter of power through victories over every prominent amateur of the United States, England, and continental Europe.

The last obstacle in the path of Miss Willis' ascent to the tennis Olympus was removed when in the final round of the women's national championship, she defeated sixteen-year-old Betty Nuthall, of Great Britain.

She accomplished this by playing by far the most magnificent tennis she has ever shown in the championship, letting loose with an attack of such withering pace and deadly accuracy as to make a mockery of Miss Nuthall's efforts to hold her off.

Who knows but that Helen's relentless onslaught against the English girl was inspired by visions of the foreign child star's decisive victory of a day or so before over Miss Willis' little friend, Helen Jacobs, also of California.

Friends and followers of the pretty daughter of a California physician say that Helen Willis, now that she has recovered from an operation for appendicitis and is not handicapped by a physical weakness, could take into camp Suzanne Lenglen, erstwhile queen of the courts.

But it is hardly likely the argument as to whether the United States or France has the best woman tennis player of the present day ever will be settled. Suzanne is a professional and Helen cannot meet her on the amateur tennis courts.—Grit.

Philippine Fighter Is After the Bantam Title

Ignacio Fernandez, the latest Philippine bantamweight to invade America, can neither read nor write, even in his own language. He never went to school. A thumb print accompanied by an "X" is his signature on a contract.

But Fernandez never makes a move without consulting his friend and advisor, Senor Thomas Cortez, graduate of an American university in Manila. Cortez supplies the business sense for the combination.

Fernandez, in his American debut, knocked out Abe Attell Goldstein, winning a mile-wide decision by whipping over a finishing blow in the seventh round.

Shift Play Finds True Supporter in Cavanaugh

Maj. Frank Cavanaugh, noted Fordham coach, the only man who stood up boldly in defense of the shift play in the coaches' meeting in New York, is not especially well known to the new football fans, but the coaches know him and respect him as one of the greatest original thinkers in football, a man who ranks with Warner and Dobie as the originator of new strategems. Many a coach has made a reputation by using the stuff Cavanaugh has left behind him.

Cavanaugh's greatest fault has been a complete freedom from the sham that a football coach must assume to get on with our more reputable educational institutions. He makes his words and his professions square with his actions.

He insists that his job is to win football games and that he plays to win and this frankness has been used by his rivals to support a rumor that he goes to unfair extremes to accomplish his purpose whereas, in actual fact, he is far above the shady tricks practiced by other great men of the gridiron who prech sports-

Indiana university gridmen are using white jerseys this season.

The Yankees are not invincible. The Browns beat them—once in 22 games.

Eddie Kenna, Minneapolis catcher, is slated for sale to a major league club.

Strangler Lewis is now taking part in a series of wrestling matches in the Southwest.

Dog racing in England is more or less confined to society circles, for the sport is expensive.

Newspapers on the French Riviera are using carrier pigeons to cover important sporting events.

A crowd of 80,000 recently attended the greyhound racing at one of the big tracks near London.

The Philadelphia National league team will train next spring at Winter Haven, Fla., officials have announced.

Wilcox Is Star

Chester "Cotton" Wilcox, captain all-American halfback, is doing some work for the Purdue team this fall.

No Sinecure for Huggins

THEY didn't believe in Miller Huggins when he took charge of the Yankees in 1918. They didn't believe in him when, in 1921, he won a pennant with the New York team. His sceptic was called for when the Giants beat him for the world's title. His prestige wasn't appreciably enhanced in the eyes of the Gotham fans when he sent the Yanks back to cop the flag twice in the ensuing two years. Then, when Washington broke in and won in 1924 and 1925, they were ready to suspend the little manager from the Brooklyn bridge and cut the rope. But Colonel Ruppert knew his man. He stood by him loyally.

In 1926, the Yankees came back for another pennant and this year they have made history with the most crushing triumph in the history of either of the major leagues.

Five pennants in seven years! Other managers have won more pennants, but not in modern baseball history have they annexed that number of championships in such a space of time. Shades of Cap Anson and Ned Hanlon! So, perhaps the fans of New York will yet come to recognize Miller Huggins as a great manager. A powerful team of sluggers has tended to dim the glory of victory for him. But, who was it who put this team together? Lastly superintending a team of stars is not a sinecure.

The photograph shows Colonel Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, as he appeared with Miller Huggins, manager, at the Yankee stadium before the start of the world series.

Ruppert and Huggins.

WRIT DENIED BORO COUNCIL IN COURT

Resolution To Have Referendum Taken Off Ballot—Decision Of Supreme Court

A writ of Mandamus, invalidating the recinding resolution, passed by the Borough Council at a meeting on Monday evening, October 17, was denied before Chief Justice Kalisch at a hearing of the Supreme Court in Trenton on Monday.

On September 19, the Borough Council passed a resolution, requesting the County Clerk to have placed on the ballot this fall, the question, whether there shall be adopted section 6 of the laws of 1903, which gives the mayor of a municipality the power to appoint a school board, instead of electing them at an election. This according to the understanding was to be done.

Again on October 17th another resolution was passed by the council, recinding the first resolution. County Clerk William F. Hilker at loss as to how to treat the matter, referred it to Attorney General Katzenbach, who in turn had the question placed before the Supreme Court.

Attorney Nathaniel A. Jacoby, representing the local interests fighting against the recinding resolution, presented in court, a writ of Mandamus, invalidating the recinding resolution. Jacoby argued the discussion was vested in the people, after the first resolution was passed, and that the council had no right to recind or arbitrate their first action. He cited in case on several similar cases where the Supreme Court had upheld this same action.

The court decided that, the Borough Council having the right to create also had the power to destroy. County Clerk Hilker was notified to carry the referendum taken off the ballot.

Play Offered In Second Program of Chautauqua

Scene from "The Easy Mark"

The second day's offering of the Chautauqua, at the High School next Thursday afternoon and evening, brings to the public, two features, Paul J. Bernaby, in entertainment of Music, Art and Drama. The evening entertainment will consist of the presentation of a comedy-drama in three acts entitled "The Easy Mark."

"The Easy Mark" was recently produced by the Independent Theatre Corporation at the 39th Street Theatre, New York, with Walter Huston starred.

"The Easy Mark", a comedy of life in the middle west, will be presented by a cast of six Broadway players. It deals with everyday small town folks, their fortunes and misfortunes, joys and sorrows. Jack Larrie, the author, was for several years connected with newspapers in that area. He knows the life he depicts so humanly and so humorously and sticks closely to the facts. This play grips you. There are unexpected situations. It has much delightful comedy.

He tells the story of Sam Crane, a small town youth with big town ideas. Descended from hardy pioneer folk, he finds a mere clerkship in a clothing shop or general store irksome.

Sam wants to make big money—and make it quick—not simply for the sake of possessing it, but because his heart aches at the hard life his mother is leading. He seeks to as-

POLICE ASKED TO AID LAUNDRYMEN

Trouble Expected Monday Morning When New Drivers Start—Strikers Remain Orderly

A call was received at police headquarters Monday morning that trouble was expected with the strikers. Someone at the Roosevelt Laundry notified the police that a new crew of drivers were being sent out and it was felt that the strikers would offer opposition.

Several officers were detailed to the post but everyone of the strikers although on the scene remained orderly and with no trouble in sight the officers investigated several complaints of the Laundry owners.

According to the complaints, some of the strikers were said to have visited customers of the laundry and notified them that a strike was in progress and asked the customers not to give their wash to the strikebreakers.

There was no way in which the police could deal with this matter and the officers doubted their authority to interfere so long as there was no disorder. The police were more interested in a group of out-of-town men said to be strike-breakers who had been following the trucks in a sedan. The strikers intimated that the men in the sedan were "looking for trouble" and that probably they carried guns. The strikebreakers are said to be operatives of a nationally known private detective agency.

Last week the strikers were organized into a union under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor and the Central Labor Council of Perth Amboy. At a dance given Saturday night in Sokol Hall under the auspices of the strikers, speakers from the central labor council addressed the crowd.

One of the strikers said that in soliciting the customers not to give bundles to the non-union drivers, the strikers were acting upon the advice of a Central Labor Council attorney, the strikers are local residents and several of them are married men. A cut in wages started the strike.

COMMUNICATION

Contrary to the general impression that has been created throughout the town, we the outside men recently in the employ of the Roosevelt Laundry, have not been paid excessive wages and a resume of the existing scale at the time of announcement of a decrease will prove the fact.

Out of nine drivers employed by the Roosevelt Laundry only three earned an average of $45 a week, and out of that wage, from $5 to $7 had to be paid to a helper, according to the new scale this man's cut would be about $6, which coupled with the helpers pay would bring the man's salary to below $85, which is small remuneration for the long hours that the men have to put in, in all sorts of weather.

The balance of the men fare even worse than the three mentioned; their average pay, on the old scale was from $27 to $35. The new scale would cut their wages to a bare meager living.

We place the facts before the public, not as the Roosevelt Laundry would have them known, but as they are. We have caused no disturbances and only demand fair treatment.

We do not ask for an increase in pay, only that the Roosevelt Laundry recognize our organization. We do not think the Laundry is fair to cut our wage. They have built up a good business and have made money on the old scale. We cannot see any justification in a wage cut.

Signed JOHN ESTOK, PETER MORTSEA Drivers of the Roosevelt Laundry.

Assistant Prosecutor F Monaghan Chosen Head of Organization—Rift Patched Up Is Rumor

Assistant Prosecutor Francis A. Monaghan has been elected chairman of the Democratic Organization of the borough at a meeting of all the committeemen from the respective districts held Wednesday night. Nominated for the post by Former Mayor Joseph A. Hermann, his selection was unanimously endorsed. This is the first time that Mr. Monaghan has accepted an active position on the organization, although he has been long identified with Democratic politics in the borough.

Elmer E. Brown, attorney, and counsel for the Board of Education, was named secretary and Edward J. Heil, president of the school trustees is treasurer of the organization.

The session was attended by thirty-five men and women leaders, also by William D. Casey, candidate for re-election as assessor; Charles A. Brady, candidate for re-election as tax collector; Frederick Colton and Adam Makwinski, candidates for councilmen.

Plans were made for the election campaign. Mr. Monaghan announced that a series of meetings will be held in the respective districts between now and election day. Arrangements will be made for a mass meeting, the date for which has not been set. Aside from the state, county and local candidates, a prominent speaker will be secured.

Enthusiasm displayed by the leaders at last night's get-together session, indicates that the rift, which has been evident in the organization for sometime has been patched up and harmony once more prevails.

ST. JOSEPH'S PARISH TO HOLD BAZAAR SOON

A big gathering of men of St. Joseph's Parish met at the school auditorium last Sunday night to talk over and decide some sort of a social. It was decided to hold a bazaar during the Thanksgiving week. Rev. Father Mannion was present and spoke to the men, asking their support, leave all arrangements and routine work of the affair to a committee selected. The men were highly impressed with Father Mannion and his talk, all expressing themselves to give the full support in the coming events. The committee again met on Tuesday night when committees were selected to arrange for the Bazaar in preliminary detail. Joseph A. Hermann was chosen chairman of the committee and Hugh Carleton, secretary.

The following were prize winners: Mrs. B. Lauter, Mrs. J. Abeil, Mrs. E. Wilgus, Mrs. L. Phillips, Mrs. J. Nevill, Mrs. H. Ellis, Mrs. J. Walling, Mr. W. Donnelly, Sr., Mr. J. Walling, Mr. J. J. FORESTERS MEET

Foresters held their regular session at Odd Fellows' Hall Tuesday night. Edward Schultz, newly elected Chief Ranger urged the members for increase of membership. A good attendance was present that gave assurance to Schultz, that they would support his leadership as presiding officer.

Financial report from the auditors shows a good solid working fund with 505 members on the roll. Several applications were received and will await initiation at the next regular meeting, November 22, as the regular session falls on November 8th, which is election day and a legal holiday.

HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL SUNDAY EVENING

Committees are busy with preparations for the euchre to be held by Court Fedelis, Catholic Daughters of America this evening, October 28, at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic parochial school. Over 200 prizes are expected to be awarded, among them will be a drawing for a $5 gold piece, and also a $2.50 gold piece as door prize.

$10,000 Too Much, So Lincoln Declined Job

New York.—A story that Abraham Lincoln once declined a position as general counsel for the New York Central railroad, because he feared the effect of the $10,000 salary it carried upon the morale of his family, has been substantiated by Parker Corning, grandson of the man who made the offer.

In the spring of 1880 Lincoln came to New York to deliver a political address at Cooper institute, and one of his auditors was Erastus Corning, president of the New York Central, the story runs as related by Corning's grandson to John W. Starr, who tells it in a volume on "Lincoln and the Railroads."

The next day Corning called on Lincoln and asked: "Would you entertain an offer from the New York Central to become its general counsel at $10,000 a year?"

Lincoln, amazed at the offer, pondered it. Then, the story goes, he replied: "What could I do with $10,000 a year? It would ruin my family to have that much income. I don't believe that I had better consider it."

ENDS TRAIL OF BOGUS CHECKS

College Youth Boasts of Forging 200 in Larger Cities of Country.

Portland, Ore.—Leroy W. Trueblood, twenty-four-year-old college graduate, claims to have traveled widely in the United States during the last eight months, and to have left a trail of bogus checks, which he estimated number 200 and total $7,500 in face value, so the Portland police declare.

He related his tale at police headquarters, where he was questioned by Inspectors Eickenberger and Mulligan after he had been arrested in a local hotel. As he told the story, he shifted nervously from foot to foot as he stood beside his two suitcases in which he claims to have a wardrobe which cost him $3,000. The prisoner says he lived in Elizabeth City, N. C., until 1923, then moved to Miami, Fla. After outwitting business men and bankers and keeping clear of law officers for eight months, Trueblood, son of an army officer, fell into the hands of officers through the vigilance of Edward Drake, credit man for J. K. Gill company, who had cashed a worthless check for $25, drawn on the First National bank of Portland, two days before.

Bad Checks Mark Trail.
If the story the debonaire and handsome Trueblood is alleged to have told the inspectors is true, he is wanted in nearly every large city in the United States and many small ones.

Trueblood declares he attended the University of North Carolina two years. Five years of college life had prepared Trueblood for a career as a civil engineer, and the degree of bachelor of science which Boston College of Technology was to bestow upon him was pending one year of actual practice in the civil engineering field, according to his statement.

But with all these qualifications for a career of civil engineering and business, Trueblood turned, and he claims the cause of his downfall was the big storm of last year that washed inflated values off Florida real estate.

"I had been dickering in real estate for several months," he said, according to the police, "and had increased my pile from $300 to $6,400. With that I took a 30-day option on a piece of ocean front property 240 feet long and 100 feet wide, which was a part of the estate of Mrs. Richard D. Croker, widow of the ex-Tammany leader, near Palm Beach. The storm came during the 30-day period and the price of the land fell so suddenly that I was unable to unload my option and was wiped out, for the $6,400 I had invested was only 10 per cent of the price of the land."

"I found myself with only $60 in my pockets, and the land game was dead in Florida. I went to Baltimore and became broke. Being hungry, I wrote a check for $3 and ate. Then another and another and so on, keeping a record of every person to whom I gave a bogus check. For two months I kept records of my victims, then, because it was so long, I threw it away. I always looked my victims in the eye, told a bold story and showed my forged credentials, so that I was never suspected. I started small, but wrote bigger checks as I went, many of them over $25."

Banker One of Victims.
At Eureka, Calif., Trueblood says he gave the vice president of the First National bank a bogus check for $100 after he had told the banker he was a government employee on a geodetic survey boat then in the harbor.

When arrested Trueblood produced a telegram that he sent to himself from Eugene, Ore., to Portland. The telegram was signed "R. O. O'Brine," and said: "If possible be present Tuesday night. Prepare a short talk on 'Better Road Movement.'"

"That was just a fake," Trueblood said, so the police allege. "I sent it to myself so I could identify myself when I cashed my checks. I used that method frequently."

Trueblood has his own theory of crime.

"Nobody wants to go wrong, and everybody would love to reimburse those who lost to them if possible," he is quoted by the police as saying. "I knew all the time that I would get caught, but I couldn't stop. I had to keep going to keep from getting picked up, and to keep going I had to write more checks. So, there you are! What can I do?"

To bankers and business men, Trueblood points a lesson in thrift:

"Never trust anybody until you're sure they are all right."

Don't be too hard on Percival when he gets home too late for breakfast. Ask yourself when you would have reached home had you been equipped with a gas buggy instead of a bicycle when you were his age.

House With Record to Be Saved From Ruin

Northport, Maine.—An ancient house that has stood in two states and three countries and yet never has been moved from its original location will be preserved here.

The old structure, named the "Jane Hart house," after one of its many occupants, was erected in 1718. An early owner of the land on which the house stands was Gen. Henry Knox, first secretary of war under Washington.

For 102 years the old house was situated on the soil of Massachusetts. Then came the setting off of Maine as a separate state, and the house officially was situated in the plantation of Ducktrap and Canaan, Lincoln county. Later it was within the borders of Hancock county. Soon afterward the section became Waldo county, named for Gen. Samuel Waldo.

PLANS DARING VOYAGE

This young motor boat builder of Constance, Switzerland, named Joerg, has constructed by hand a small motorboat in which he plans to sail from Constance to New York. His route is down the Rhine to Rotterdam, thence to England, to the Azores, to Brazil, to Florida and New York. He claims the discovery of a new fuel, the ingredients of which have been kept secret and which, he expects, will propel his boat across the Atlantic without refueling.

Developing Language

Custom is the great language maker. If children grew up on a deserted island and had no one to teach them to talk, in all probability they would develop a language of their own, which would serve their purposes. One might point to what we call a "coconut" and say "Awk." And the "Awk!" would mean coconut to him.—Exchange.

COMMUNISM

Russia is, and has been for some years, permeated with Communism. The preachers of Communism "kidded" the unthinking into believing that once they were in the saddle everyone else's riches would be divided up among those who did not have so much. In other words, everyone was to get something for nothing. That at least was one angle of it. However, since the beginning of the world, there has been no way of getting anything except by working and saving, industry and thrift. That is just as true now in the time of Coolidge as it was in the time of Benjamin Franklin.

Incidentally, the man who has worked and saved something; the man who owns a house because he worked and saved or owns any other property, wants order and not disorder. He wants respect for authority. Without law and order, without respect for authority, without the continuance of orderly government and free opportunity, ownership is practically worthless. It is worthless because when the over-turn comes the fellow who agitates against the large owner of property is really agitating against all owners of property. In America the fellow who has a small property today may, in a few years, be the owner of large properties later on. He does not want any attack upon his freedom to own as much as he is able to through his industry, thrift and intelligent effort. Interfering with the rights of others to enjoy the fruits of their industry and thrift is cutting off his own opportunity to do likewise. Naturally, everyone looks forward.

Just the reverse happened in Russia where the whole scheme of things is ruled by an autocratic few. Practically everyone was stripped of their property and not to the advantage of all but to the benefit of the promoters of that so-called new form of government now called Party Organization—Communism.

President Coolidge and his cabinet steadfastly refused to recognize those in the saddle in Russia. The Coolidge cabinet continuously refused to approve of trade dealings with that country. This refusal included the approval of Mr. Hoover, who has first-hand knowledge of trade conditions there. No one is more humane than Mr. Hoover. Some get-rich-quick promoters in America, who did not care who they dealt with as long as they made profit for the time being, advocated trade with Russia on a national basis. Recently the chief advocate of general trade with Russia has come out and denounced the Communists. The British Government, which did not see Mr. Coolidge's point of view sometime ago, has turned about face and has deported a number of the communistic agents. They realize now that those who attack all government and all religions are really attacking the well being of all free humans who do not want to be driven like yokels.

Sometime ago the President of the United States called attention to the activities of these Communists in foreign countries breeding hate against our country. Attention was also called in other directions to their activities in this country. Not so long ago they invaded Passaic and caused considerable confusion in the minds of the people. In the meantime they got in their fine work. The result was that when they got through that there was general unemployment in Passaic on a scale that never existed before, property values of all types of real estate were demolished, the general income of the community had been severely reduced, business men in general were piled up with debts of people who could not pay and had their own credit impaired. More recently the fire underwriters have withdrawn all existing insurance from a big section of Passaic and have refused to write any more insurance. This is far from being a happy situation. Passaic is done for. No enterprise that investigates first will ever go to Passaic. No few of those who own property in Passaic would be glad if they could sell for a reasonable part of its former value. Most of the industries that are operating are on part time with greatly reduced forces hoping for better things in the future. Most of the merchants have got big credit lists hoping some day that things will be better and that some of the credit obligations will be gradually wiped out. Property owners with vacant apartments see nothing but gloom. Many landlords are hoping that some day they will get a part of the back rents. The situation is hardly encouraging. Much of it was due to smooth tongued Communists preaching doctrines that the President of the United States and his cabinet warned everyone against. America, with its free opportunity, is good enough for us. Most of us are old enough to know that we have good times and bad times and that we have to make the best of it.

Many Pairs of Shoes

Starting at the feet, a recent newspaper article defines one of the characteristics of a "gentleman" as the possession of nineteen pairs of shoes and boots and two pairs of slippers, says the Christian Science Monitor. To many a reader, however, the gentleman's nineteen pairs of shoes and boots—almost anybody can have two pairs of slippers—will seem, on second thought, an embarrassment of riches. His shoe wardrobe presupposes a shoe master, shrewd to select the shoes suitable to what some of the radio announcers would call his employer's "program." In this forest of trees (as the artificial feet are oddly called that wear these shoes and boots when not in use) the owner himself might easily get lost, and wish himself father with his single pair of cowhides. There are no doubt some such gentlemen, who, having achieved the shoe wardrobe, cannot quite finance a valet. Happily the writer of the article assures us that the average man, if he counted his shoes, would be surprised to find that he has more pairs than he thought—which leads further to the comforting conclusion that the astonished investigator may be more of a gentleman than he had imagined.

Redwood trees, imported from California and planted in the Grays Harbor district of western Washington fourteen years ago by one of the largest logging concerns of the Pacific Northwest, have proved a pronounced success. As a result, plans are under way to transform large areas of cut-over lands into redwood forests. In the fourteen years a redwood tree has attained a diameter of eighteen inches, showing more rapid growth than that of any other variety of tree planted at the same time. The tree also shows every indication of being high-grade lumber stock. Encouraged by these results, the company is undertaking the growing of the redwood trees from seed and in addition has planted more than 1,000 acres with spruce, fir and pine seed.

In American constitutional law an "original package" means the package in which goods are shipped from one state to another. The United States courts held that where an article is imported into one state from another it does not lose the protection of the interstate commerce clause while the original package remains unbroken, and is the property of the importer. Interpretation of these decisions made it possible to evade state laws by selling direct to the customers in original packages. The importance of this is in its bearing on the sale of cigarettes and other commodities about which state laws differ.

Huge Ice Fields Found

50 Miles From Equator

New York.—Huge ice fields, only 50 miles from the equator, at an altitude of 15,400 feet above sea level, were found by Dr. James P. Chapin and B. L. Sage, two curators of the American Museum of Natural History, they reported on their return from an exploration tour in Africa and East Congo.

Chapin and Sage, who passed 13 months in Africa, said they scaled the lofty Ruwenzori range and explored the Kavi volcanoes. It was at this elevation that the ice fields were found.

The native guides were afraid to approach the ice and turned back, leaving the two Americans to go on alone.

The explorers brought back a collection of 2,500 stuffed birds and many stuffed small mammals for the museum.

Indians Save Up 17 Years to Give Gigantic Feast

McCarthy, Alaska.—The Healy river aborigines recently held a potlatch near here that for generosity rivaled anything on record in the Far Northwest.

The Healy Indians began saving for this event years ago as a return entertainment for a similar potlatch by the Cooper river tribes in 1910.

During five days' potlatching, the Healys gave away 500 blankets, 50 rifles, 300 steel traps and tons of food. Not a guest went away without a gift, while some carried a dozen blankets.

It has been a time-honored custom in Alaska and northern Canada for natives to hold such events annually, which brings them to some particular group about once in 20 years. To faithfully meet the responsibilities savings must be slowly accumulated.

Iowa laboratories have hopes of deriving from conkals substitutes for paper and wood and a fiber more useful for apparel than silk. Corn has already been used for food, fuel and illicit beverage. But its versatile possibilities apparently have been but slightly realized.

LAST SHOWBOAT MAKES A STAND

Amusements of Pre-Film Days Are Recalled by Floating Theater.

Peoria, Ill.—They double in brass, sell or collect tickets, serve as ushers, form part of the crew, and, incidentally, appear upon the stage in the performances upon the river showboats, now passing into history. The cosmopolitan, versatile folk who carry on in these floating amusement resorts, must, at least, be jack of all trades, even if master of none.

It is a case of being "Handy Andy" if a job is to be secured. It may be necessary, in case of emergency, to be speller, musician, performer or roustabout. With a limited coterie composing the aggregation assembled, it is a prime necessity for an applicant for a job to be an all-around workman, ready to respond to any situation and bluff through any kind of service.

"Good evening, ladies. Straight ahead and down the left aisle."

Last of the Showboats. Doc Dean, taking tickets at the entrance to the Sensation, the last of the Illinois river showboats, was in happy mood. His hat was cocked at a jaunty angle, and there was a friendly tone in his voice as he welcomed the slowly assembling audience tripping down the gangplank.

The sun, in setting, had left a glow in the west. Dusk was settling over the rippling river and the boat was gleaming with lights, forming a lure that the town people and the country folk could not resist. They were wending their way from all directions to see the show.

"Upstairs to your right, captain."

Doc had a cordial greeting for every one. A tottering old man, walking feebly with the aid of a cane, apparently in the nineties, chuckled when Doc called him son and helped him to the deck. Two flappers tittered coyly at his flirty gesture and sweeping bow as he tore off the seat stubs and directed them to an usher.

He's "Whole Show." Dean acquired his title when spilling for a medicine show. "He's the whole works," confidentially interjected a deck hand standing near, and by the time the audience dispersed it was demonstrated that the comment was correct. Doc continued to tickets and glad-hand the customers until eight o'clock, and then disappeared, only to bob up a moment later on the stage. He was introducing a new brand of candy, the last word in confections, and, as a special inducement, would give away some valuable prizes to the holders of the lucky numbers in certain of the gaudily colored boxes. His line of talk was irresistible.

Passing up and down the aisle, he handed out the packages as rapidly as he could make change. Then came the distribution of the prizes, a sewing basket, a pair of silk hose, a gray ladie, a manure set and other articles. Everybody appeared to be satisfied, even those who failed to get in on the distribution. With this important preliminary out of the way, the orchestra appeared in the pit.

Usher and Drummer. A stalwart youth who had been showing patrons to their seats was at the drums. The pilot manipulated a cornet, while at the last minute, another musician appeared, stooping low through the small door that led to the pit from the make-up rooms below the stage and picking up a saxophone. It was Doc Dean. "Honolulu Moon," in jazz time, was played and then the play was on.

In due time the leading man in the somewhat ambitious production, "The Cat and the Canary," made his appearance. It was Doc Dean in the comedy part of Paul Jones. And he kept the audience laughing. Versatile? Yes, but the performance was not yet over.

Between the acts, vaudeville specialties were introduced, and Doc was the star in song and dance specialties. Then at the close, there was one more chore for the irrepressible Dean. He appeared upon the stage to announce the play to be given the following night, expressed the hope that all had enjoyed the show and wishing them all a kind good night.

"And, in case you haven't liked our performance," he concluded, "step right back to the box office on your way out and ask for your money back. It won't do any harm to ask, because we will not give it back anyway." It was typical showboat humor. Everybody understood it. They had heard it many times before and would not have thought the production legal without it.

Landmarks Are Passing.

The opening of moving-picture theaters in practically every river town of consequence is spelling the doom of the showboat. Tourists by motor who may have read Edna Ferber's novel on the subject of these floating amusement resorts and who happen to drive into a river town when these craft are tied up for the purpose of giving performances, usually attend, drawn by curiosity. In the good old days before the film attraction, the radio and the motor car, the showboat was about the only theatrical amusement available for the inhabitants of the river towns, and the coming of the huge amusement barge, created a holiday and was regarded as a real event, comparable only to a circus.

Welcome to Old Days. Noisy calliopes announced their coming, the band would play and the water front would be lined with the entire populace while the landing was being made. The band gave a concert in front of the post office or general store, a trick bicycle rider, magician, or tight-rope walker, would give a free performance, and, if the town was large enough, there would be a parade, boys rigged up in red coats with sleeves too long and caps that came down over their ears, carrying banners in exchange for passes to the show.

And there was always a scramble among the town urchins for the job.

"Fly Eat Fly," Slogan in Fight on Blow-Fly

London.—War has been declared on the blow-fly in New South Wales, Australia, and United Kingdom entomologists will attempt to exterminate the pests through the introduction of blue-bottle flies, natural enemies of the blow-fly.

A cargo of 15,000 chrysalises of the English blue-bottle is to be shipped from Great Britain to Australia and the Falkland Islands within the next few weeks.

The chrysalises will be shipped in wooden boxes, between layers of moss kept at a predetermined temperature so that nothing will hatch until the cargo has reached its destination. When the boxes are unpacked the flies will emerge which entomologists hope will exterminate the pests.

According to figures quoted by Dr. G. A. K. Marshall, entomological advisor to the colonial office here, the damage done in one year to sheep in New South Wales by the blow-fly totaled $10,000,000.

"Last year we sent out to New South Wales 6,400 chrysalises, to New Zealand 6,000 and to the Falkland Isles 2,000," Doctor Marshall said. "The results were successful."

MOTH'S 15,000 EYES SAID TO CAUSE ITS FOOLISHNESS

It's Wrong to Use Moth as Simile for Brainless Fool; He Has Good Alibi.

New York.—Here's some good news and it's a pleasure to tell it. We've been all wrong, using the moth as a simile for a brainless fool; he's got a perfectly good alibi, and we might have known it long ago except that burnt moths have so little to say. The trouble is with their eyes.

The Lepidoptera, which includes all the moths and butterflies, instead of having simple or single shot eyes like ours, have compound or multiple eyes, some of them with as many as 15,000 or 16,000 separate subdivisions or facets. We knew this all along but kept on blaming the moth for the way he acted around a lighted candle. Maybe we had better not inquire too closely who was foolish.

And here's the why of it. With several thousand eyes, for that's what they amount to, a moth gets several thousand separate images of whatever candle flame he happens to see. Now when Alex Haycutter takes his first trip to Broadway and Forty-second street, or to the Great White Way or any haunt of the sophisticated, what does he see? A whole lot fewer bright lights than a country raised moth with his first candle. And does Alex beat it immediately for home and mother? Not while the roll lasts. Nor do we blame him much; the lights look pretty good.

So we might as well realize that when young Horace B. Moth comes flying along in the dusk in range of a candle he doesn't see just one little child-size flame, but a grand array of lights compared to which the battle of Verdun in fireworks on Uncle Sam's birthday is a third or fourth rate show.

Oak Where Wesley Began Crusade Is Blown Down

Winchelsea, Sussex, England.—The famous oak tree under which John Wesley, English divine, preached during the early days of his crusade out of which Methodism grew, has been blown down.

A storm, which raged along the channel recently, felled the tree which stood near the chapel erected here to his memory.

Red Cross Meets Heavy Demand for Water Safety Duty

Trained life-savers in the United States, qualified by the Red Cross as experts in all phases of water safety, now number 134,582 adults and Juniors, according to the Life-Saving Service of the American Red Cross, which reported 32,506 trained and qualified in the past year. This number does not include other thousands who were taught to swim.

Training courses conducted by the Red Cross last summer brought out a uniformly high standard of proficiency. In addition, more than 20 winter training courses were conducted the past year. Swimming "institutes" at camps in Arizona, California, Indiana, Massachusetts, New York, North Carolina, Missouri, Oregon, Washington, and Wisconsin, "splash weeks" and swimming and life-saving campaigns under Red Cross auspices held in many States aroused great interest.

"The experience gained during the last few years indicates that the dangers involved in water sports can be eliminated through training and by the adoption of water safety methods," a recent Red Cross report stated. "When our communities provide sufficient swimming pools, bathing beaches, and skating places, and furnish trained leaders under whose guidance both adults and children may enjoy themselves in safety, the number of preventable deaths through drowning will be greatly reduced."

The Red Cross is endeavoring to supply trained leaders in water safety so far as its facilities permit. To increase the effectiveness of this and other services, the Eleventh Annual Roll Call, from November 11 to 24, will urge an enrollment of 5,000,000.

The American Red Cross will ask an enrollment of 5,000,000 members for the coming year, during the Annual Roll Call, November 11-24 inclusive.

VOLCANO BLAST LIKELY TO SINK ISLAND OF BOGOSLOF

Rock Mass in Bering Sea on Fire and May Pop Like Giant Firecracker.

Dutch Harbor, Alaska.—Smoking like an inferno, Bogoslof Island, Bering sea, is in a mass of fire and steam, with every indication that it is ready to pop like a giant firecracker, according to reports brought here by the steamship William Tupper, Seattle bound from Bethel.

The vessel ventured within three miles of the island, a course followed by few ships.

The whole rocky mass seemed to be blazing. Smoke and steam issued continually from every part of the island and numerous huge flame-red cracks were discernible through the marine glasses.

Countless huge sea lions were in the water off the island, roaring in protest of the burning of their favorite home. Their roaring was audible for six miles.

Thousands of sea birds, generally resting on the rocks of Bogoslof, swarmed in the air about the island.

There was a discoloration in the surrounding water and a distinct odor of sulphur in the air. At night the heavens reflected the inferno somewhere in the center of the island.

Bogoslof Island is 25 miles north of the western end of Unalaska Island and situated in Bering sea. It disappeared many years ago, and then reappeared when the submarine volcano beneath it became active again.

Since 1910 it has been gradually cooling off until sea lions, seals and water birds found refuge on the rocky shores. But no vegetation ever obtained a foothold on the new-born land.

The coming of winter fogs may curtail the transformation of the island. Perhaps next spring will disclose the rolling ocean where Bogoslof once smoked, or a larger and newer area of land.

Cane Cream New Sweet Product of Southland

Washington.—Cane cream, a new sugar by-product developed by the bureau of chemistry, has proved to be such a popular delicacy in the South that the government is now introducing it to northern cookery experts.

A deep brown in color, the new offering is more or less of a medium in flavor between the Canadian maple cream, a thick spread made from maple sugar, and the molasses sirup popular for use on pancakes. Experts claim the flavor retains to an unusual degree the taste of the original sugar juice. Whereas molasses is the juice remaining after the making of sugar by crystallization of the cane sap, cane cream is the whole juice—thick, creamy and sirupy.

Fun for John D.

Matawan, N. J.—A policeman commanded an automobile to chase another that failed to heed a signal. An old gentleman in the back seat enjoyed himself during the successful pursuit. At its termination he handed the policeman five shiny dimes, it was John D. Rockefeller.

Dog's Raincoat Must Match That of Owner

Paris.—A music-hall artist dressed by Jeanne Lanvin has set the fashion in Paris of matching her dog's raincoat to her own.

The idea has made a hit in Paris, where a wet summer made the raincoat everybody's constant companion. White sat in raincoats are the smartest of the new season. Dog's apparel, therefore, is often white. The ultrafashionable canine has his name painted on his slicker. Or if the name is too big for the dog there is an initial at either side.

Woman Makes Automobile Trip to Arctic Region

Stockholm.—An automobile trip through northern Sweden to the Arctic region has just been completed by Mrs. Victor Bruce, an English woman, accompanied by her husband and Robert W. Weare, a British newspaper man. Their intention was to drive northward until they reached the shores of the Arctic ocean itself, just to prove it could be done, and they actually came within 40 miles of it before they got stuck in a marsh.

Traveling at the rate of 200 miles a day, with Mrs. Bruce at the wheel the entire time, the car covered 2,500 miles north of Stockholm with only two accidents, one tire puncture and a leak in the radiator caused by a flying stone.

Even north of the Arctic circle Mrs. Bruce found the roads in good condition, but finally she had to drive along reindeer paths across open heaths. Many reindeer were encountered along the route, some of which were so tame that Mrs. Bruce was able to pat them, but of their owners, the nomad Lapps, who are shy of such modern things as automobiles, she saw only two. From Stockholm Mrs. Bruce returned to London by automobile via the continent, but next winter she plans to return to take part in the annual race to Monte Carlo.

Finishing Course

A Kansas City man who took up a course in golf to improve his health is taking another to improve his language.

Safety From Lightning

The weather bureau says that inside a steel frame building, or a reinforced concrete building, or a house with properly installed lightning rods, is a safe place to be during a thunderstorm. Inside a house of any kind, and well away from the walls, is better than being out in the open. Especially dangerous places are close to a wire fence, under a tall tree, and on the top of a hill.

Atmospheric Fact

At 31 miles from the earth's surface there is atmosphere still, but its density is only 1-7,000 of what it is at the surface. It does not extend much farther.
