home in Carteret, because the Borough's bonds are a first mortgage on every piece of property in the community.

"That is bad enough but that is not all."

"Had the Mayor and his administration done as the present Republican candidate wanted, spent what tax money the people scraped together for more 'improvements,' there would not have been any money left to pay our public employees."

"The Republican candidate does not seem to care where the money comes from. Neither did the previous Republican raiders of the taxpayers' pocketbooks. They left a debt of $825,000.00 to be paid off by the people."

"When it was up to the Board of Education to decide whether the taxpayers were to be asked this year to raise money for 12 months of school or 18 months, he was reported to have said it did not make any difference."

"The only difference it would have made was $124,000.00. This would have meant that many would not have been able to pay rents and taxes because of the big unnecessary tax increase in asking people in 1934 to pay out for all of 1934 and half of 1935."

"This is apparently due to his lack of understanding of even the most elementary principles of municipal finance: He does not seem to understand that tax money represents savings of our people's earnings and that you cannot spend in the people's name more than the people are able to pay."

"If he did understand, he would realize that with greatly reduced tax income, due to the inability of the people of the Borough of Carteret to pay, the community would have been bankrupt and our schools closed, had we spent what came in for 'improvements.'"

"Any simpleton can spend money for 'improvements' in good times, piling a debt on the people and the people's children for the future. However, in a depression, when tax payments are small, it takes one of long solid experience to keep from selling homes, to meet community debts, to pay all employees promptly in cash and to see to it that no one goes hungry and everyone has shelter. That is a job for EXPERIENCE. "Over two hundred men were placed on town work during the year and through co-operation with the industries over 1,500 local residents have gone back on the job since the low of the depression. Every effort is being exercised to get more in private employ."

"Public work opportunities have been planned and more work for Carteret residents is expected to result shortly. "Running an industrial community in times of depression is not just for anyone who would like to be Mayor and spend the people's money for so-called 'improvements.'"

"The town must not spend more than the people can afford to pay. Security of our homes comes first. We must meet our bonded indebtedness and interest to prevent bankruptcies, and our self-respect, despite conditions, demands we try to meet payrolls in cash, before we have more 'improvements.'"

"These are critical times. Experience is needed. Hold your home with Hermann. Give him the supporters needed to carry out a safe and sane policy for ALL!"

Head of the Home or Manager— Which Is Easier?

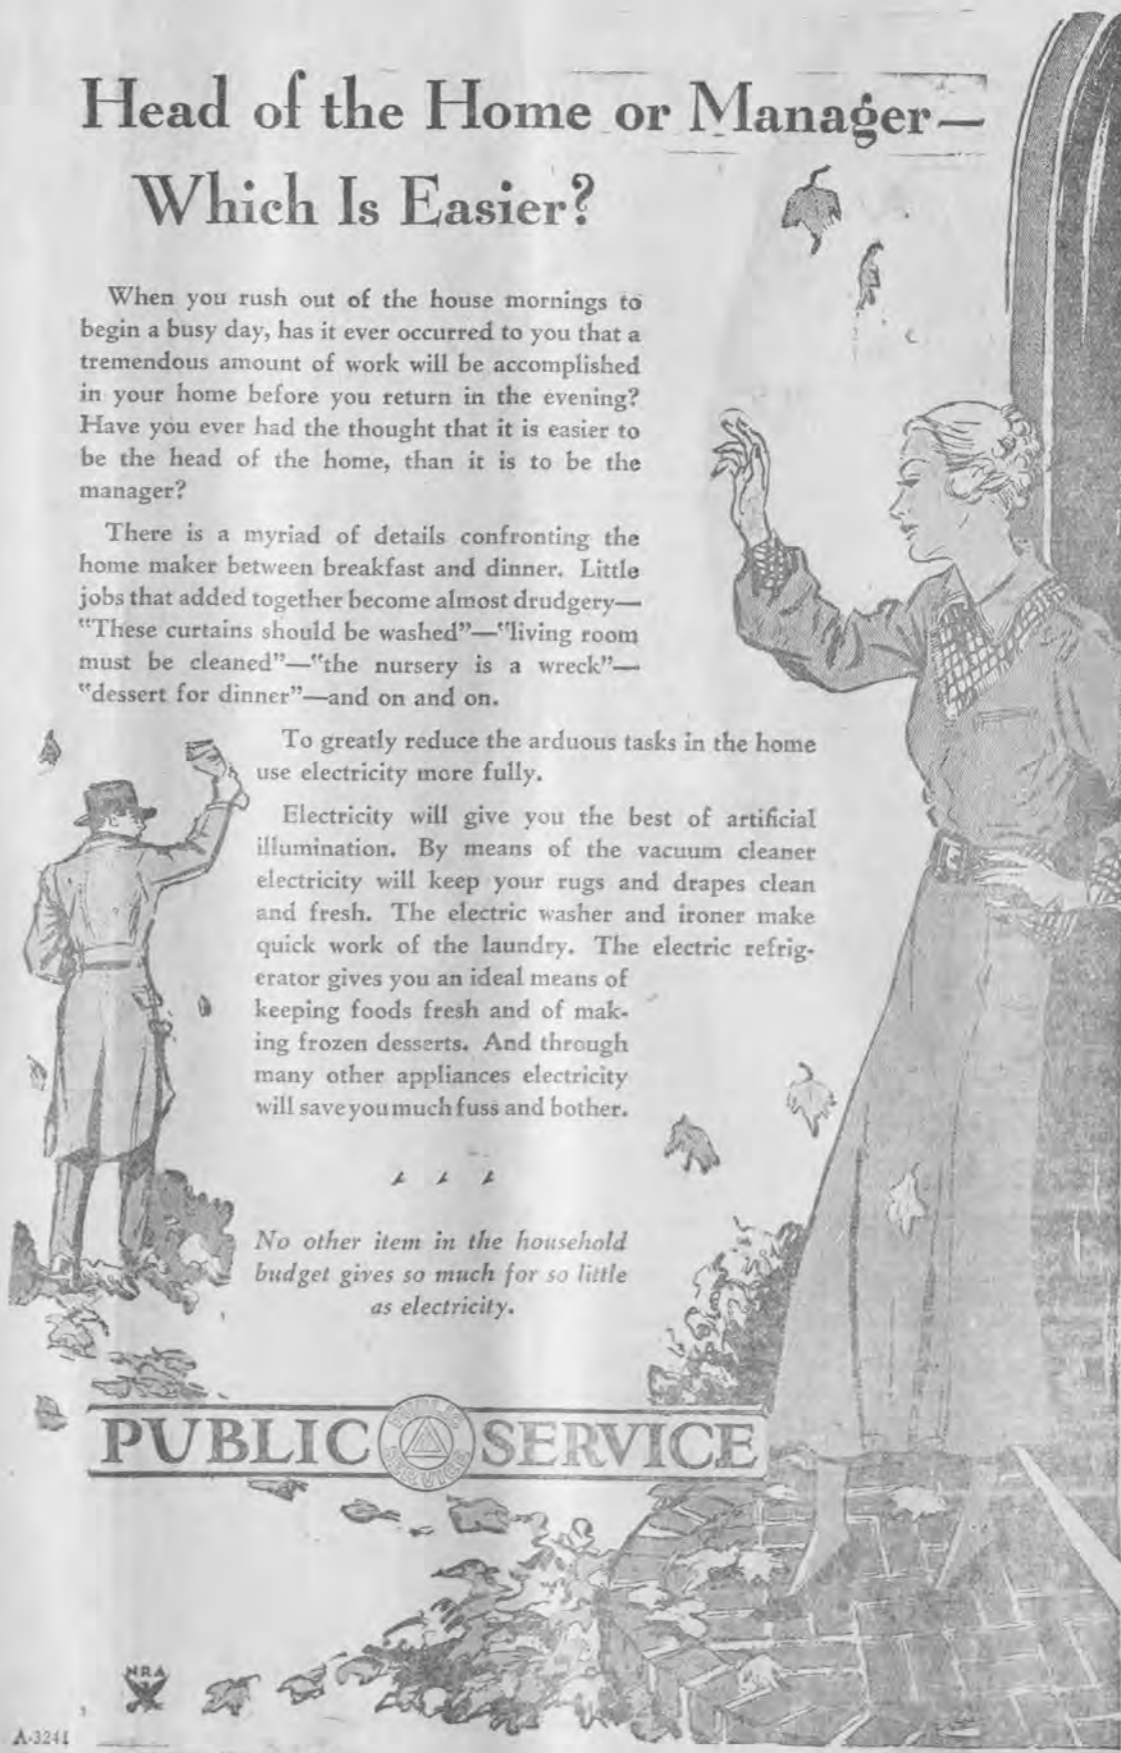

When you rush out of the house mornings to begin a busy day, has it ever occurred to you that a tremendous amount of work will be accomplished in your home before you return in the evening? Have you ever had the thought that it is easier to be the head of the home, than it is to be the manager?

There is a myriad of details confronting the home maker between breakfast and dinner. Little jobs that added together become almost drudgery—"These curtains should be washed"—"living room must be cleaned"—"the nursery is a wreck"—"dessert for dinner"—and on and on.

To greatly reduce the arduous tasks in the home use electricity more fully.

Electricity will give you the best of artificial illumination. By means of the vacuum cleaner electricity will keep your rugs and drapes clean and fresh. The electric washer and ironer make quick work of the laundry. The electric refrigerator gives you an ideal means of keeping foods fresh and of making frozen desserts. And through many other appliances electricity will save you much fuss and bother.

No other item in the household budget gives so much for so little as electricity.

JAVILAK STARTS SUIT AGAINST GARAGE CO.

Peter Javilak, retired police officer of this borough, started suit in the Court of Common Pleas Monday afternoon for $5,000 damages for injuries he claims that he received when riding in an automobile owned by the Union Garage Company of Perth Amboy and driven by Joseph Hrehowsik, also of Perth Amboy. The case is being tried before Judge Adrian Lyon.

Javilak claims that the care in which he was riding struck a bump at a high rate of speed and that the shock caused him to strike his head on the roof of the automobile. He claims that he received a lacerated scalp and brain concussion in the accident.

According to the story that the plaintiff's counsel Joseph T. Karcher, deputy surrogate, told the court, Javilak had taken his automobile to the Union Garage Company to be repaired. The garage was sunable to the work then and Javilak left the machine there. Hrehowsik was detailed to drive him to his home in Carteret.

Crossing Pulaski avenue on Pershing avenue, the car crossed a bump and Javilak claims he was thrown against the roof of the car.

Huyler E. Romond of Perth Amboy represents the defendant.

Switzerland's Individuality

Switzerland, a confederation of 22 autonomous and sovereign cantons, as a nation seems to defy every canon known to political science; ethnology, geography, creed, language, history and policy, all seem to negate the meaning of a nation; yet there is no European power whose future is more assured.

WITH DUE RESPECT

He was a Chinese, and had been invited to dine at little Cuthbert's home. His mother was anxious that their guest should not be made uncomfortable by the boy's curiosity, so she took him aside and explained all about the yellow skin and almond eyes of the Mongolians; she even showed him pictures of Chinese. More than anything else she impressed upon Cuthbert that the visitor was his father's friend, and to be treated with every respect. When the celestial arrived, Cuthbert tried hard not to stare or look curious, but at last he cried: "I say, mummy, if he wasn't my friend, wouldn't he be a funny looking chap?"

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people 'round 40 think they're "growing old." They feel tired a lot... "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

And There Are Many... Hokus is for the easily taken in; but they like it.

If you tire easily-why not reason out the cause of this unnatural condition? Your first thought may be, "I must eat more." That's not all. You should enjoy what you do eat. Frequently, the blood cells are low... and this, perhaps, is what makes you feel weak. If this is your trouble the stomach may not be calling for sufficient food. Zest to eat may be lacking. But what a difference S.S.S. makes when taken just before meals. Just try it and notice how your appetite and digestion improve. S.S.S. stimulates the flow of gastric juices and also supplies the precious mineral elements so necessary in blood-cell and hemo-glo-bin up-building. Do try it. It may be the rainbow you need to brush away present discouragement over your health condition.

Do not be blinded by the efforts of a few unethical dealers who may suggest substitutes. You have a right to insist that S.S.S. be supplied you on request. Its long years of preference is your guarantee of satisfaction.

ENCOURAGEMENT

The Beauty—I don't see why there can't be self-made women the same as self-made men. The Beast—Mebbe there will in time. They've made a good start on the hair and complexion.

HOLE IN ONE, WHAT?

"Jones is an expert accountant." "I don't believe it. I played golf with him and the score he handed in convinced me that he had never studied arithmetic."

OLD STUFF

"Why don't you call your hotel 'The Brenkers' any more?" "Aw, everybody had to crack an alleged joke as he paid his bill."

A SHOCK

"Well, Sam, it's strange to see you going to work." "Yassir! But I've forced to. Mah wife done sprain her wrist, and can't do no washin' fo' a while!"

STEPPED UP

"Don't you think Mrs. Heavysides is dreadfully plain?" "Plain! No. She's mountainous."

CALL AGAIN

"Why the beard?" "I'm waiting for that blame small messenger boy."

On the Funny Side

NOT YET DISTURBED

"They are asking how you got your money," said the friend. "That's all right," answered Senator Sorghum. "It will be time enough to worry when they begin to figure on how to get it away from me."

Wrong Party

Stranger—I want to buy a good farm. Real Estate Broker—You've come to the right place, sir. What's your business? Stranger—I'm a farmer. Broker—Oh, we have no good farms for farmers! I thought you were a city chap.—Montreal Star.

And a Careless One

He—You're good at conundrums, try this one. She—Sure, go ahead. He—Take away my first letter, take away my second letter, take away all my letters, and I am still the same. What am I? She—That's easy. You're a mail-carrier.—Milwaukee Medical Times.

Practical Enforcement

"What's the idea of going down the street at 10 o'clock each night and shooting out the lights?" asked the traveling salesman. "Crimson Gulch has a curfew law," answered Cactus Joe, "and us respectable citizens are going to see that it's obeyed."

GRAVE ERROR

"Brown doesn't seem to manage so well as a pedestrian. I thought he owned a car." "He does, but he made the mistake of teaching his wife and daughter to drive."

Neck-and-Neck Contest

"I don't know what to give my father for his birthday. Sometimes the idea to give him a shirt wins out, then the thought of a cigarette case seems to be the choice." "How will it end?" "Oh, I suppose it will be a tie."

Useless Discussion

"Which do you prefer, money or brains?" "There's no use to bother about making a choice," answered Miss Cayenne. "A person is uncommonly lucky not to find himself without either."

Ready Reference

"What I want," said Senator Sorghum, "is to get my own financial affairs straightened out along with those of the nation." "I don't believe my scientific calculations are sufficiently advanced to help you," said the friend with the pale, thoughtful face. "But I can recommend you a good lobbyist."—Washington Star.

Honor

"Mrs. Buntle," said the bank cashier, "your account is overdrawn $42.29." "Dear me!" exclaimed Mrs. Buntle. "I'll attend to it right away." As good as her word, she straightway wrote and mailed to the bank a check for $42.29.

Be Fair!

"I am going to publish a volume of my poems and do it under the name of John Smith." "Well, that wouldn't be quite fair." "Why not?" "Just think of the thousands of innocent men who will be suspected."

Educational Distinctions

"Do you approve of college professors in politics?" "Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "But I don't favor professional politicians in colleges."

Here's Slip That Has "Everything"

PATTERN 1897 There are only a few things that we can count on in this funny old world, but one of them is that no woman ever really has enough slips. She just gets all set when along comes a new frock and the whole business has to be done over again. With this pattern she is prepared for any emergency. It is no trouble to make, fits beautifully, and it is shadow-proof—just about all any dress can ask of the slip which goes under it. It is nice in white and simply grand in a color to go under transparent dresses.

Pattern 1897 is available in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number, BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

BAD BUSINESS

Charitable Lady—Here, my poor fellow, is a quarter for you. It must be terrible to be lame, but I think it must be worse to be blind. Panhandler—You're right, maam. When I was blind, people was always handlin' me counterfeit money. —Pathfinder Magazine.

EASILY DEALT WITH

"Does she bow to the inevitable?" "No; she cuts it dead."

The Injustice of It

All through dinner Percy sat so silent that his parents at last began to wonder what was troubling him. "Pa," he said at last, "do school teachers get paid?" "Of course they do, sonny," replied father. "Then it's not fair," burst out the small boy, indignantly. "Why should the teachers get paid when us kids do all the work?"

Seems So

"Debate must be limited." "Somebody is always taking the jaw out of life."

POPULAR HAROLD G. HOFFMAN NEW GOVERNOR-ELECT

At this writing Harold G. Hoffman of South Amboy is the victor in the gubernatorial race by a majority of 11,247. As the first returns came in it looked as if the popular Motor Vehicle Commissioner had no chance to be elected. The first report credited Dill with over 100,000 majority in Hudson County. Later reports whittled this town somewhat and more complete returns whittled it further. As late as Wednesday afternoon Dill seemed to be gaining again in some of the missing districts. Late Thursday report, however, gave the former Congressman from this district a total of 683,872 as against 678,328 for Dill. Had Hudson County delivered its usually heavy vote for gubernatorial candidate Dill would have been elected.

The latest revised vote is: Hoffman, 685,072; Dill, 673,825. Hoffman carried every county but Warren, Middlesex, Essex and Hudson. Without any organization in Middlesex worthy of the man, he ran only 748 behind Dill, despite the fact the Democrats control the Board of Freeholders and patronage from the Government. Hoffman can be depended upon to give attention to his own county and it would not be surprising if he changed the complexion of the control in the county after a few years.

The Republican Party had party scraps in Atlantic, Bergen and Essex and not too strong an organization in many other counties.

What put Hoffman across is personal popularity. It was a triumph for him personally and not for the Republican Party. As a Congressman he gained a reputation of dealing fairly with everyone regardless of party. This tended to make friends with most everyone with the result that he obtained more than a strictly party vote. In Essex there was a bitter fight, yet Hoffman lost the county by less than 6,358 votes with a total vote cast there of over 202,000.

NEW WOR STATION NEARLY COMPLETED

The Transmitter station of WOR in the East Rahway section of Carteret is nearing completion and indication are that it will be in operation around December 1, or possibly by Thanksgiving Day. The main building is finished so far as construction work is concerned.

There is much other work outside the plant. A well-made road is under construction. It swings in a graceful curve up to the entrance of the building, then sweeps away again and circles around the spraying pool, a rather large concrete basin, and back to the main entrance drive.

The installation work in the power room and transmitter room is in charge of J. C. Herber, of the Bell Telephone Company laboratories.

Everything in the way of power about the plant will be on a dual basis with an automatic hook-up so that if anything goes wrong with any unit its companion will instantly take up the work.

There are two main power supply cables, each carrying 4,150 volts. One comes from the Carteret power station of the Public Service Electric Company. The other comes from the Rahway Station.

There are $12,000 worth of vacuum tubes to be installed in the transmitter. When the transmitter is in operation these tubes become intensely hot and are cooled by a water circulatory system. The water used in this system becomes warm and will be used in heating the air in the building in cool weather.

The program to be broadcast is carried from the studio in New York or Newark by telephone. But it is a special kind of telephone transmission.

Because of the delicate operations involved a great deal of attention has been given to acoustics in the construction of the transmitter room.

When the plant is completed and in operation there will be eight highly trained men in the control room. Later a special short wave transmitter will be installed in a room set apart for that purpose. This equipment will be able to broadcast to Europe or South America or receive from those places.

The office and studio will be located in the front of the building and there will be a reception room where visitors may view the control room.

Because water can play great havoc with things electrical, the WOR building is absolutely waterproof. The main floor is a little above ground level. The main power room is in the basement and that is a solid concrete structure with extra thick walls. Beneath it a sump and electrical pump to dispose of any draining.

J. W. Mittuch Elected Mayor In Closely Contested Election

James Lukach, Democrat, and H. L. Strandberg, Republican Are Winners of Councilmanic Posts. P. Sivon New Justice.

The Carteret election went in favor of the Republicans with Hoffman, Mittuch and Strandberg winning.

Hoffman always has been a local favorite regardless of party. The campaign of local candidates was largely an appeal, outside of party lines, to prejudices and dissatisfactions of those who were disgruntled because political or other jobs were not made for them or their families.

The campaign of the Republicans locally was carried on largely along those lines. The Democratic campaign locally, although it was supposed to have the oldest and most experienced handling it, showed little evidence anywhere of being organized.

Aside from continued play on the part of local Republicans to those who were dissatisfied for one reason or another, there was petty jealousy within the Democratic ranks. Some did not like those who were heading up the campaign, claiming they always did well by themselves but not by their party. There were others who have a job or two in the family through politics and wanted more. Then there were those who fed at the political crib whenever the party was in power, who did little else but show themselves on election day. They were in a position they thought, to say they did it if the party went in, and to sit on those who were trying to save the day if they failed.

The head of the local Republican ticket won by 4,000 votes. A switch of 211 votes to his opponent would have carried the day.

The high man on the councilmanic ticket was Lukach who polled 2189. H. L. Strandberg, the successful Republican candidate for Council, polled 2138.

Another note injected in the campaign and reflected in the figures was appeal to the national origin of the candidate. One appeal went out just addressed to those who were born in the same country as the candidate.

The election of a Republican councilman gives the council over to Republican control. The Republicans in the Council will be Ellis, Yarosheski, Greenwald and Strandberg. The Democratic members of the Council will be Lukach and Turk.

The mayor-elect in his previous statement said he could be trusted to guard the Borough against higher taxes.

The campaign of the Republicans was aimed to appeal to all elements, not unskillfully handled, and aggressively followed through.

The fine personality and attractiveness of Harold G. Hoffman, the gubernatorial candidate of the party, no doubt had its weight in the campaigned locally. However, his personality and many friends throughout the State, transcended many difficulties, including lack of State-wide Republican organization, party rights, recent deaths of his mother-in-law and mother, and finally the killing in an automobile accident of his publicity manager. The vote he got in spite of the New Deal was a remarkable tribute to his personal popularity. In all his dealings in public career from Assemblyman to Motor Vehicle Commissioner, he has always had a fine human appeal and made a business of personally knowing thousands. His victory was the first off-year triumph of the Republican Party for Governor in 27 years.

The New Deal in its outpouring of money helped the Democrats in many communities but worked to the disadvantage of the local ticket in Carteret. As soon as the Civil Works Administration funds were made available to the State, the present Mayor filed a list of projects in order to get all possible funds to put men to work in the Borough. His plans were among the first filed with the State and resulted in providing employment for practically everyone out of work at the time, including the very young and elderly people who would not be likely to find work elsewhere. The whole crew was carried for several months as long as the Federal Government provided the money. The Federal Government suddenly dropped all the C. W. A. work. Instead of being appreciative of what had done, the tendency for no few of these many of whom would not have found work otherwise, was to complain. In a similar way the New Deal and the State Government provided part of the funds for relief, which is under a state director. The state decided that where communities were close to gether, the relief work should be directed from the largest community establishing headquarters in Woodbridge with full control by federal and state government over relief. Some complained because there was relief to those who did not need it and were not entitled to it and others complained because they were not getting more. So that the New Deal which helped the Democratic tickets in some places simply pried up woe here. In one case by helping civil works employment and then suddenly dumping the whole outfit on the town and later by combining its relief work in Woodbridge, and directing it through the State rather than local representatives. In the large cities and in the farming districts the New Deal was a boon, but it made plenty of trouble in the smaller places where there were those who did not appreciate all that had been done for them.

APPRECIATION

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all the men and women of Carteret who were loyal to me on Election Day.

William Green Gloomy About Unemployment—Henry Ford Cheerful—Serious Charges Concerning Government of the Virgin Islands.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© by Western Newspaper Union.

WITH another winter at hand and millions of Americans still unemployed, organized labor, through President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, has asked the administration to appeal to all industries to increase production 30 per cent.

Mr. Green in a public statement asserted that for the first time since President Roosevelt's re-employment program got under way in July, 1933, unemployment has exceeded last year's level.

The number of persons without any employment he puts at 8,348,000. Those without jobs in industry in September numbered 10,951,000.

Mr. Green continued: "Could not the administration invite all industries to co-operate in a general program to increase production and put men to work?"

"If the nation-wide level of all production were lifted 30 per cent in a balanced program, adjusting production to consumption needs, each industry would then be assured that all other industries would increase their production, and the wealth produced by putting labor to work would create income to buy the product of all."

The total number at work in the United States was 39,764,000 in September, 1933; by September, 1934, it had declined to 39,307,000. During these 12 months the normal increase in population has added close to 450,000 to the army of job seekers for whom industry provides no work.

Quite as gloomy as Mr. Green's report was a statement of the National Industrial Conference board. This agency noted that the general improvement in manufacturing activity usually occurring in September failed to materialize.

Instead, declines of 5.7 per cent in the number of wage earners employed, of 6.1 per cent in total man hours worked and of 6.5 per cent in payrolls disbursed, were reported. In addition, it was stated, the rise in the cost of living from August to September depressed real weekly earnings of wage earners 2.1 per cent.

On the other hand, the United States Chamber of Commerce in its summary of conditions throughout the nation reports continued improvement of business sentiment although it has not as yet been reflected definitely in the volume of transactions.

MANY thoughtful persons comment on the apparent discrepancy between the pleas of William Green for more employment and the policy pursued by organized labor in fostering great strikes seemingly for the sole purpose of enforcing unionization and the closed shop. Many thousands of persons are thrown out of employment by these strikes, industries are hampered or shut down and often serious disorders result.

HENRY FORD, who says that what is done in Washington doesn't matter much so far as recovery is concerned, came out with a statement that should be encouraging to the American business man.

The depression, Ford set forth in a statement, "would be over for the whole country very soon if American industrialists would just forget the alphabet schemes and take hold of their industries and run them with good, sound American business sense."

ruled them unconstitutional and dismissed an indictment against an operator of several sawmills. The action was taken by agreement of both sides so as to expedite an appeal to the Supreme court.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT announced that, beginning July 1, 1935, he will eliminate the 5 per cent pay cut that is now taken out of the salaries of all federal employees.

The Treasury department thereupon admitted frankly that this means the taxpayers will be called on to pay an additional fifty million dollars a year for the benefit of the 700,000 federal employees who will benefit by the restoration in salaries.

Mr. Roosevelt predicted flatly that the cost of living will advance substantially within the next eight months. When he made this statement at his regular press conference he also cautioned reporters to remember that an increase in the cost of living meant an increase in commodity and property values, thereby lessening the difficulty in paying debts.

He said he expected the rise of food, clothing, fuel, housing, and other living costs to be large enough by next July 1 to justify the 5 per cent restoration.

In a petition for a congressional inquiry, Paul C. Yates, who recently resigned as executive assistant to Gov. Paul M. Pearson, charges that the present administration of the islands is "wasteful, extravagant, inefficient, and tainted with corruption."

Yates was recently suspended and ordered to Washington for an inquiry by Secretary Ickes, who accused him of "disloyalty, insubordination, and gross inefficiency."

He charges that Mr. Ickes has been "outrageously deceived" by Governor Pearson and subordinate officials of the Interior department, has ignored "complaints, petitions, and specific charges" presented by the citizens of the islands, and has dealt with officials "in a peculiarly harsh, cruel, and dictatorial manner."

The petition further charges that minor officials in the Interior department aided and abetted Governor Pearson to "whitewash a major public works scandal and deceived the secretary of the interior regarding public works and the general situation, and were criminally negligent in the performance of their duty."

Secretary Ickes is accused of making prejudicial and injurious remarks about T. Webber Wilson, judge of the Federal District court in the islands, remarks which "reflect unjustly upon the federal judiciary and which are unbecoming the dignity of a cabinet officer."

MEXICAN governments, both federal and state, are carrying on a determined campaign against the Roman Catholic church, charging that the latter has been fostering a revolutionary movement. On the other hand, a vigorous denial that the Catholic church had advocated armed resistance to the Mexican government or intervention by the United States in the religious conflict in Mexico was issued by Archbishop Ruiz, the apostolic delegate to Mexico, in San Antonio, Texas.

Bishops and priests are being expelled from various states, and the state of Mexico issued an order limiting the number of churches in the region in which services may be held to 34, the same as the number of priests permitted to officiate in the state.

At all events, the work of shadowing Harmon and Mayer continued without interruption. Two and two were put together and the conclusion of the authorities was that the library had been made the rendezvous of German spies for nearly a year.

Of course it goes without saying that there was nothing in the library that was not open to the public at any time. But the conviction grew that Harmon and Mayer were doing the preliminary work, which was afterwards verified by bolder and more audacious men who stole into navy yards and laid the foundations for destroying munition plants.

Operative Henry had several conversations with Miss Langfitt and he compared this with the reports which were brought in as a result of the shadowing of the two Germans.

Up to this point they had never been found together. In the meanwhile an attempt was made to learn something of the previous history of the two men.

One of them it was learned had been visiting a number of the seacoast towns in New England and it was also alleged that he had not complied with the alien enemy registration laws.

They sat at a table and produced a coastwise map which they began to study. That was the signal for the detectives.

The suspects were arrested and in twenty-four hours had been placed in a detention camp. What became of them no one will tell.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORY by Vance Wynn Public Ledger

The Spy Plot That Failed

It WAS during the early days of the World war that a rough-looking man, who posed as a Belgian, began to frequent one of the branches of the Carnegie library in Pittsburgh.

He was poorly dressed, wore a scraggly beard and seemed to have all of the time in the world.

Usually he went to the reference department of the library, and spent hours in reading books that had reference to America. He paid particular attention to the maps and one night was seen to be tracing some of these from one of the geographical works in the library.

Miss Frances Langfitt, the assistant librarian, noticed the man, and her suspicions were aroused.

So while the fellow spied around the shelves the young woman did a little spying on her own account.

Night after night she sat there with a green shade over her eyes apparently engrossed in her work, but in reality keeping tabs upon the Belgian who was not a Belgian.

One night she watched him replace a book on the shelf, and when he had departed she hastened over to that part of the library and obtained possession of this particular book.

It contained a coastwise map, and gave evidence of having been traced. Before the next day had dawned the patriotic young woman had informed the Department of Justice of her suspicions of the man who had been visiting the library.

Operative Henry—that will have to be his name for the purpose of this article—was placed on the case at once.

He traced the man and found that he was a stranger in the city. He located the house where he had a room and discovered he was going by the name of Jacob Harmon.

The fellow must have sensed the fact that he was being followed, because he ceased his visits to the library.

About the same time an undersized man with a decidedly German accent began to frequent the library.

When interrogated he gave the name of Emil Mayer.

This man pursued pretty nearly the same tactics as the other, but on the surface there did not seem to be any connection between the two.

One day he was followed to his room, and later in his absence a search was made of his effects.

There was nothing absolutely criminal, but the detectives did find a number of papers and tracings.

In themselves they seemed meaningless, but if it were possible to put them together they might have meant much.

At all events, the work of shadowing Harmon and Mayer continued without interruption.

Two and two were put together and the conclusion of the authorities was that the library had been made the rendezvous of German spies for nearly a year.

Of course it goes without saying that there was nothing in the library that was not open to the public at any time.

Marry or Lose Legacy; Woman Has to Choose

"Until or unless she marries again"—how familiar that form of bequest, a contributor to these columns comments. Prohibitions or restrictions on remarriage are "nothing new" in the wills of wealthy men.

But that is exactly what happened to one woman who has a short time left in which to take a second husband or forfeit a legacy of $25,000.

She is Mrs. Josephine B. Patton, she lives in Cincinnati and she persisted for eleven years in her independent state in spite of the large sum contingent upon her taking another husband. The original direction in the will was that she had five years in which to remarry, but a codicil allowed another six years.

And there is not the slightest chance, says Mrs. Patton, that she will marry. After fifteen years' work in a department store she has opened her own business whose success is now her chief interest.

"Never mind why she doesn't marry," my readers will say. "The point is the mystery of that bequest—a husband requiring a woman to marry again in order to inherit his money—there's a catch somewhere!"

Sure enough, there is, and the patient reader now deserves to be told. It was Mrs. Patton's husband at all who left her the money on condition that she remarry. It was, we are told, a "former admirer," whom she had refused years ago. His action was "to encourage me as once."

NOW—Pay Less and Get Real BAYER Aspirin!

If you're one of the people who has been denying yourself the speedy action and quick relief of BAYER ASPIRIN, in order to save a few cents, here's Good News for you: We've reduced the prices on all sizes of Genuine Bayer Aspirin to a point that makes it unnecessary to ever again accept an unknown brand in place of the real BAYER aspirin.

People by the millions, as you know, have long been willing to pay a higher price in order to enjoy Bayer's remarkably fast action in relieving headaches; neuralgia, and pains of rheumatism or neuritis.

TALK IT OVER WITH US Buying Wisely. In these days people are buying wisely. They study values more closely than ever before, they compare prices.

Remember this next time you go to buy aspirin. You now actually pay less and get Genuine Bayer Aspirin. So never ask for it by the name "aspirin" alone; but always say "BAYER ASPIRIN" when you buy and see that you get it.

WOMAN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

By Isabel Lefkowitz
Telephone 8-0301

Mrs. Howard Thorn, president, and Mrs. Emanuel Lefkowitz, chairman of publicity, representing the Carteret Woman's Club at the Third District Fall Conference of the New Jersey State Federation at Matawan Tuesday, report a most inspiring and interesting day. The new district vice-president, Mrs. J. D. Tuller, of Red Bank, presided.

Mrs. Isaac Gihuly, legislation chairman of the district, in her remarks on "Current Legislation," expressed the view that women must become interested in legislation because they have to live under it. She suggested that women become acquainted with legislation on Crime Control; the Nationalization Bill, whereby citizenship would come to children from mothers as well as fathers; the Pure Food and Drug Bill; the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution, which while it would give women equal rights with men would also take away much of their protective legislation, and the Unemployment Insurance question. The United States is considering this insurance which is a matter for investment in vast quantities. The discussion will be on where the reserve is to come from.

Mrs. Howard Hancock, federation chairman of the American Home Department, speaking on "The Charm of Home," showed how the word "charm" embodies all the sentiment of home, thus—C for comradeship and co-operation; H for happiness; A for adventure; R for rock of refuge; and M for memories.

Miss Mary Slayton Welles, Northern chairman on Recreation, told how important Recreation and Leisure Time programs are to unemployed and under-employed young men and women as well as adults, and urged clubwomen to help establish and maintain these programs.

Mrs. Patrick Henry Adams, editor of the New Jersey Club Woman, the official news organ of the federation, spoke on the importance of the right kind of publicity to an organization and asked all club members to subscribe to the "Club Women."

Mrs. Chauncey Marsh, Northern vice-president, stressed the point that women from all walks of life be admitted to women's clubs so that membership in women's clubs might truly represent a cross section of the women of the country. A good luncheon served by the women of the First Presbyterian Church in which the conference was held, and singing and dramatic readings by the Juniors of Matawan, all helped to add to the pleasure of the day.

The Perth Amboy Chapter, under whose jurisdiction Carteret operates, has asked the Carteret Woman's Club to direct the Red Cross drive here. Under the leadership of Mrs. Howard W. Thorn, president, and Mrs. T. J. Nevill, member of federation civic committee, activities are progressing most enthusiastically.

A regular meeting of the club was held Thursday afternoon at the American Legion rooms. In observance of Armistice Day, Mrs. Thorn read a poem entitled "Valley of the Shadow," by John Galsworthy, and asked all members to observe the two minutes of silence on Armistice Day with thoughts of peace.

The guest speaker, Rev. D. E. Lor-entz, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, in his talk on "Our Children and the Movies," gave a brief report on the findings of the Payne Foundation. These findings state facts as to how the "movies" affect children physically and emotionally. Blind booking of blocks of pictures by producers to which local movie owners are forced to submit is one of the reasons why undesirable pictures are shown in communities. Rev. Lorentz said efforts are being made to pass legislation regulating this evil.

The music of the afternoon was furnished by Mrs. Thomas Burke, music chairman, who also started her Music Memory Contest.

The club congratulates its members, Mrs. Louis Ruderman, on the birth of a son, and Mrs. Leo Brown on the birth of a daughter. It also wishes Mrs. William Casey a speedy recovery. Mrs. George Bradley, recording secretary, was not present at the meeting due to a slight automobile accident. Mrs. Henry Harrington, program chairman, was also in-

The Carteret News

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY IN THE YEAR AT THE PLANT OF THE CARTERET NEWS AT 9 COOKE AVENUE, CARTERET, N. J. TELEPHONE, CARTERET 8-0300.

M. E. YORKE, Publisher

Entered as second-class matter June 24, 1908, at the post office at Carteret, N. J., under act of March 3, 1879.

THE CARTERET NEWS was founded June 17, 1908 as THE ROOSEVELT NEWS; was published on Wednesdays until July 15, 1909; was then published on Thursdays until December 6, 1912, since which time it has been a Friday paper. The title of the paper became THE CARTERET NEWS on November 17, 1922, following the election of November 7, 1922, when the people of the Borough voted to change the name of the Borough from Roosevelt to Carteret by a vote of 1652 to 203.

A GRAVE RESPONSIBILITY

When the people of Carteret thrust their plurality support behind Joseph W. Mittuch for mayor of their borough, they rendered unto him a grave responsibility.

There is hardly any doubt that Mr. Mittuch understands the problems of the day. He has heard depression talked a long time. He has also felt it in his own business, the very nature of which, with its fine store, gives definite proof that he has great faith in Carteret.

While he has faith, he also realizes that a long period of governmental saving is ahead. He has visualized a great many plans in his day; yet at this time he is fully aware that those plans must wait for a better day.

The News feels it quite unnecessary to say that an election is not an invitation to spend sums of money in the name of the people. Nor is it a system whereby the people prefer one man to another in the capacity of making deals.

Mr. Mittuch lived through the administration of Thomas J. Mulvihill and is undoubtedly disgusted with all that took place in the closing years of that reign. In his political campaign, the mayor-elect gave full promise that he would carry on local governmental activity with the strictest economy. Being in business himself, he knows what economy means. He is fully equipped in experience, therefore, to do as he pledged.

He also has felt the stern reckoning of bill collectors and as most certainly knashed his teeth more than once at the first of the month, inasmuch as his business must have been the same as any other business in the last four years.

Economy in government today then is not simple economy; but that kind of figuring and perspiring that transcends ordinary thriftiness—the same kind of thing each private individual needs to practice whether business or not.

There will be times in the next two years in which Mr. Mittuch will wonder how on earth the borough will be able to meet its bills, for this depression is far from over. Furthermore, the ill effects of this catastrophe will be felt clear through the present decade. It will take all that time to get back on all-fours.

Giving the job to Joseph Mittuch is doing him no favor, as The News looks at it. For, really, the people of Carteret have thrust upon him a colossal task—the task of saving and saying "no" to those who will intend to urge him to spend. He must be a very strong man. Only such a man can the grave responsibility of today rest successfully—we mean FOR THE PEOPLE.

Good luck to you, Mr. Mittuch. And may all of your friends stick by you to make this a better Carteret, if not through the manipulation of improvements, at least through a stable treasury and continued low taxation.

WELL DONE

The smoke of the local campaign battle has cleared. The play to prejudices of everyone who had a pain or an ache or thought they had is over.

The more sober citizens, who have knowledge of the difficulties of the depression which has gripped us, say frankly that Joseph A. Hermann has been a good and faithful servant of the community and whose job was well done. Space does not permit at this time the proper and fitting tribute to one who has contributed so much to the community's well being in the last four years. A study of the comparative situations of the people of Carteret as compared to those in other communities brings home how very fortunate we have been to have on the job one of such thorough-going experience.

HOFFMAN

At the time Harold G. Hoffman completed his labors in Congress, The News had an editorial that was much appreciated by the Governor-elect telling the community how very much on the job he had been in behalf of all members in his congressional district regardless of party and how thoroughly considerate and human he was in all his dealings. We said then that he deserved well of the people and would go higher. The then retiring Congressman wrote us one of his characteristic, friendly notes telling us that our tribute was one of the nicest ones that had ever been paid him.

When Democratic leaders in the State were predicting vast majorities for all their State-wide candidates and there were innuendoes put out about the "gang" which controlled Hoffman, we felt that his opponents were not speaking from the record.

We pointed out that his record showed he had always been absolutely above board and that he must not be confused with previous Republican Governors even though a recent one came from this county.

We also pointed out that although the State Republican organization had weakened, his personal popularity would have to be considered; that, instead of losing ground and being snowed under, he was steadily gaining ground and he might even win the election in spite of the lack of Republican organization.

We knew that in Carteret many who were not of his party would vote for him. We likewise knew from contacts elsewhere that a host of friends and independents would vote for him. He does not owe his election to any organization or set of bosses. He is free and in an enviable position to give the State of New Jersey the best administration of affairs of which he is capable.

If he will not hesitate to battle with the legislature or others who would impede progress, he, undoubtedly, will rally the support of the people in governmental battle as he did in the election.

Good luck to you, Governor!

SAVE WIRES FROM BIRDS

South Carolina woodpeckers have havoc with the exposed portion of soft wire in a number of the fuses formerly used. These have now been replaced with fuses in which the exposed parts are of copper, a substance too tough for the bird's beak to penetrate.

Mercolized Wax

Keeps Skin Young
Absorb blemishes and discolorations using Mercolized Wax daily as directed. Inevitable particles of aged skin are freed and all defects such as blackheads, tan, freckles and large pores disappear. Skin is then beautifully clear, velvety and so soft—face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out your hidden beauty. At all leading druggists.

Powdered Saxolite
Reduces wrinkles and other signs of age. Simply dissolve one ounce Saxolite in half-pint witch hazel and use daily as face lotion.

ASK THE MOTHER
who has made this change

The average mother gives any laxative the family may be using, while family doctors give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

If you want to know just what a tremendous difference this means to any youngster, just inquire of any mother who has tried it!

She knows that a bilious boy or girl needs a gentle liquid laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until bowels seem to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.

Use a liquid laxative containingenna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not harm or upset a child's system.

Get a bottle of the real California Syrup of Figs at any druggists. All children like its agreeable taste, and it agrees with them. No need to give a child anything stronger. This fruity syrup is laxative enough; indeed, many adults use it in preference to pills and tablets.

THE "LIQUID TEST." First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age. Third: reduce the dose, until the bowels are moving without any help.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is the pure California Syrup of Figs, but be sure the word "California" is on the bottle.

Is a constant headache keeping you miserable? Do you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination; attacks of dizziness, rheumatic pains, swollen feet and ankles? Do you feel tired, nervous—all unstrung?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly. For functional kidney disorder permits poisons to stay in the blood and upset the whole system.

PATTERN 9937

Here is a design that was born to make laundresses happy. One can see them with the mind's eye smiling "friendly-like" at it every time it is tubbed. The little sash will be untied, and first they will iron the ruffles. After that it will be plain sailing—or should we say ironing? In our concentration upon laundresses, we have forgotten to mention the proud possessors of the frock who will one and all adore it because, in the first place, it was so easy to make—and ever afterward so smart and becoming to wear.

Pattern 9937 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

Junior Court League To Meet Monday Night At High School

A general meeting of the Junior Basketball league will be held Monday night in the high school gym, it was learned by The News this week.

Managers, captains and players of the various teams wishing to enter the loop this year are requested to attend.

Membership fees of $2.00 per team will probably be collected at the meeting. Also, a fixed schedule of league games will be worked out by either Joe Comba or Joe Shuteilo.

It has been decided that Monday night will be League night, which means that the loop games will be played at that time.

However, whether the six teams will all see action on that one night is uncertain. Playing three full games during one evening takes up quite a bit of time, so it may be that one of the games will be transferred to another night.

However, this and other matters of importance will be taken up by the directors and managers.

The league season is expected to begin next Monday evening.

Last year, as you may remember, the St. Joseph Juniors won the championship of the league by knocking off the Trojans in as hectic a playoff game as the current world series.

FIELD CLUB DROPS TOUGH ONE TO ROSELLE ELEVEN

The Carteret Field Club went down in defeat before the Roselle Field Club Tuesday afternoon at the latter's field by a 6-0 score.

The locals, outweighed about ten pounds to the man, could not get their usually high powered offensive working.

Donovan and Malaszewski, ends; Godmustad and Bab Szalay, tackles; Krulkowski and O'Brien, guards; Walter Galvanek, center; Andy Galvanek, quarter; Coughlin and Nagy, halfbacks, and Green, fullback, were the starters of the game for the locals.

HIGH SCHOOL

Carteret High School Library

The transformation of the old study hall in the high school to a library has been a decidedly good step in the right direction. In valuable, most certainly, must be the results obtained from this move for therein, under a teacher's guidance, reading both for education and entertainment, is done. The atmosphere itself that prevails within these four walls is most inviting. At the five large tables students will be found either doing reference work assigned by the teacher in his respective class or reading for pleasure. A spirit of silence, helpfulness and good fellowship is fostered and respected.

The library itself offers many advantages over the one of former years; it has a greater seating capacity and the numerous steel shelves add additional space for new books as well as an orderly system for filing old magazines; too, it permits teachers to have reserve shelves when a special assignment is made in their classes. To the side of the room there is a rack where several of the best magazines as well as two daily papers "The Herald Tribune" and "The New York Times" may be found.

The library seems to attract more students each day; hence a taste for good reading is being cultivated which later will culminate in a worthy pastime for leisure hours.

Clem's Quibs of Sport Scores Three Times As Locals Win From Long Branch, 20-0

When the State Scholastic football experts get together soon to choose an all-state eleven, it would not be amiss to say that Stan Kosel will be mentioned on one of the teams.

The big Carteret fullback who is making modest newspaper reporters look like press agents, has been ripping through opposing teams' lines with appalling effect consistent ground gain in his sharp shooting right arm which hurls those bullet-like passes that almost always turn into touchdowns.

Last week, after the Long Branch-Carteret game, which the latter team won, 20-0, it was rumored that Coach Besset of Long Branch said: "What we need is about four fellows like Kosel."

Quite a compliment from an opposing coach!

ROSE'S FIVE TAKE LEAD IN BOROUGH LOOP TUESDAY

Rose's Big Five set the pace in the Carteret City Bowling loop Tuesday night at the Udzielak Alleys, winning two matches from the Hudsons in their three game set. The Hudsons, who were at the top of the league standings since its opening a few weeks ago, lost two games to the Blue Eagles, also, which put them down in third place.

The sensational bowling of Frank Donnelly was the main cause for the Rose team's sudden spurt. Donnelly rolled 255, 212 and 185 in the games with the Hudsons for an average of 217, which is fine bowling in any man's league. For the losing Hudsons, Mike Siekerka was outstanding. Mike rolled a 244, 192 and 209 for an average of 215, but the rest of the team, with the exception of Rudy Galvanek, fell down completely.

Bowlers in the league who have averaged over 200 for the games already played are Mike Siekerka with 215, Frank Donnelly with 217 and Rudy Galvanek with 204.

The teams will hook up again on Tuesday evening.

The scores:

A Duck Dinner, Eh What! Looks Good From Here

It is reported that if the Carteret High gridders go undefeated this season, their coach will take them out and buy them a duck dinner at a classy restaurant. (Ed. note—And they don't have to bring the ducks.)

At this writing, the duck dinner looks mighty good. The locals hook up with Cranford tomorrow, and although they will have a tough battle, are expected to win. Next week comes the big "grudge" game with Woodbridge and the week following comes the "double grudge" game with Perth Amboy.

Here's hoping you boys get the duck dinner. Boy howdy, they deserve it!

So, at least Mike will be in his familiar atmosphere. "Slug" Prokop, who became over-age this summer, is at present on the

PERCY S. YOUNG, vice president in charge of finance of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and subsidiary operating companies, was elected president of the American Gas Association October 30 at the sixteenth annual convention of the Association in Atlantic City. Mr. Young has been a vice president of the American Gas Association for the past year and is one of its directors.

Mr. Young has been active in the work of public utility associations for many years, having served as president of the National Commercial Gas Association and the Eastern States Gas Conference. He also served as a vice president of the Edison Electric Institute and is now a member of its operating committee.

Born in London, England, Mr. Young came to America in 1885 and settled on a ranch in Western Nebraska. At the age of nineteen he began his career in the utility business as collector for the Omaha, Nebraska, Gas Company. Later he was transferred to the Philadelphia office of the United Gas Improvement Company which controlled the Omaha Gas Company. In February, 1898, he became assistant agent of the Hudson County gas companies, controlled by the United Gas Improvement Company and in 1899, when these companies were merged as the Hudson County Gas Company, he became assistant treasurer and later secretary. Upon the organization of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey in 1903, Mr. Young was made its first comptroller. Eleven years later he became treasurer and in 1917 he was elected vice president in charge of finance and a member of the Corporation's board of directors and executive committee.

Picked Up in Stolen Car

Police received a telephone call from Philadelphia Monday night reporting James Brush, colored, of Woodbridge, had been picked up by State police when he was found riding in a car registered in the name of John Brown, of 45 Mercer street, Carteret. Brown, colored, known as "John D.," could not be found to verify Brush's statement.

Three passes intercepted by Stan Kosel were converted into touchdowns as the Carteret High School football team went on to win its sixth successive game of the current season by conquering Long Branch, 20-0, at the shore team's field Saturday afternoon.

Kosel had a field day at the expense of the shore team, intercepting three of their attempted ten passes and racing for touchdowns three times. He also added two extra points after touchdown by placement kicks.

The Branchers played a fine ground game, allowing the hard charging Carteret backs to tally but five first downs. However, their offense was entirely ineffective against the strong Carteret forward wall. The only first down credited to the Long Branch eleven came in the second period when Farrow ran around Carteret's right end for a 12-yard gain.

Neither team held the ball in a seriously threatening position at any time during the game, but Carteret held the advantage, due primarily to Kosel and Marciniak, who broke away for consistent gains at spasmodic intervals. Kosel's punting did more for his team than did the combined efforts of Nixon and Crotehett for the Long Branch cause.

The first real break came in the second quarter, when Kosel intercepted Freddy Crotchet's pass on the Long Branch line and raced for a touchdown. It was the first pass Long Branch had attempted. As Comba held the ball, Kosel booted the extra point.

Neither team scored in the third period, but the Branchers resorted to the air in the final period. "Red" Broussell tossed a pass from his own 15-yard line which Kosel snared on the twenty-yard stripe and ran over the line for a second Carteret score. An attempted pass, Kosel to Dumanski, for the extra point, was batted down by Brazo, Branch quarterback.

Their first three passes having been intercepted, the Green and White team tried another one on the first play after the kick-off. Again it was Broussell back to hurl the ball, and again it was Kosel on the receiving end. He snatched the ball on his own 45-yard line and ran for third touchdown. Dumanski held the ball and Kosel booted the extra point.

The locals meet Cranford tomorrow, after which they will go into a tough drill in preparation for the big game with Woodbridge next Saturday.

New Light on the Early History of Thanksgiving

Congress of the United States
In the House of Representatives
the 25th of September, 1789

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that a joint Committee of both Houses be directed to wait upon the President of the United States, to request that he would recommend to the people of the United States, a day of public thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts, the many and signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a Constitution of Government for their safety and happiness.

President Washington

By the Report of the said Committee

George Washington

Elias Boudinot

Thomas Jefferson

Alexander Hamilton

Jefferson's supporters in congress, principally southerners. Immediately made known their opposition to the idea. Representative Aedamus Burke of South Carolina declared that he "did not like this mimicking of European customs, where they made a mere mockery of thanksgiving." He pointed out that "two parties at war frequently sang Te Deum for the same event, though for one it was victory and to the other a defeat."

Representative Thomas Tudor Tucker of South Carolina, thought the House had no business to interfere in a matter which did not concern them. He suggested that the people might not be inclined to return thanks for a Constitution until they have experienced that it promotes their safety and happiness." He said further that if a Thanksgiving day must be held the states could institute it. He said that "it is a religious matter, and, as such, is proscribed to us."

Through the words of these spokesmen we can hear the voice of Jefferson, protesting against a monarchical trend in the new government, against encroachment upon the boundary line which had been fixed between church and state and against any invasion of "states' rights." In answer to these protests Boudinot "quoted further precedents from the practice of the late Congress" and Representative Roger Sherman of Connecticut rallied to his support, declaring that the practice of thanksgiving was "warranted by a number of precedents in Holy Writ; for instance, the solemn thanksgivings and rejoicings which took place in the time of Solomon, after the building of the temple, was a case in point."

The resolution was carried and Representatives Boudinot, Sherman and Peter Silvester of New York were appointed by the house committee to wait upon the President. The senate, on the following day, adopted the resolution, appointing Senators William Samuel Johnson of Connecticut and Ralph Izard of South Carolina to be the senate members of the committee.

Accordingly this committee waited on the President and on October 3 Washington issued the proclamation in which he recommended that Thursday, November 26, be observed by the people of the United States as a day of thanksgiving.

Hamilton had won the first maneuver over his rival but there were still stormy days ahead for him. For now arose the question of how the celebration should be carried out and, of course, the two statesmen were at odds on that. Hamilton proposed a monster parade of military officials and governmental dignitaries, headed by President Washington. Jefferson, opposed as he was to all displays of pomp and circumstance, protested against such a celebration. He apparently won his point, for it was determined that the day was a domestic holiday and should be observed in the privacy of the home after the New England tradition.

Accordingly Mrs. Washington began making plans for a levee in the true colonial style at the Executive Mansion in Franklin Square to which every one of consequence in New York was invited. It promised to be a great social occasion so it was eagerly looked forward to by the beaux and belles of the city.

But even though Jefferson had outmaneuvered him in this respect, Hamilton was not yet ready to admit defeat. He began organizing all kinds of public festivities to upset the plans of those who wished to celebrate the day quietly. Although Jefferson held himself somewhat aloof from the preparations for the celebration, word of this latest antagonism between the two cabinet members had leaked out and two different factions of celebrators began to form in New York. More than that, factions formed in Boston and Philadelphia also and considerable bitterness between them became evident. So as the day for the celebration of the first official Thanksgiving approached, it became plain that it would be a day of partisanship and ill-feeling rather than one of rejoicing and gratitude, as Washington had hoped it would be.

History records that this first national Thanksgiving day in New York was fair and warm even though it was late in November. The festivities opened with a parade in the morning as Hamilton had planned and the secretary of the treasury reviewed it from in front of Fraunces tavern, that historic inn where Washington had said farewell to his officers at the close of the Revolution. After the parade Hamilton was host at a great feast in the tavern and it is this first official Thanksgiving dinner to which we can look back, but not with any great pride, for it degenerated into a disgraceful brawl.

Hamilton could not be present for the entire affair. He was to have remained long enough to respond to a toast and then leave for the President's mansion, where his official presence was required by his position in the President's cabinet. While most of the city had been holding its noisy celebration, Washington had attended church and at noon began to receive guests at the mansion.

But Hamilton was late in arriving at his own party and his guests, impatient to be at their feasting, sat down without him and began to eat. Almost immediately a disagreement arose among the diners. A certain Lieutenant St. Clair, who had toasted the festive day not wisely but too well, felt called upon to assert, upon his honor as a gentleman, that he was "perfectly sober." Whereupon Alderman Tisdal of the city council, who had probably also been toasting the festive day extensively, disputed the statement and called upon St. Clair to prove that he was sober.

St. Clair's retort was to seize a bottle from the table and hurl it, not at Tisdal nor at anyone in particular but at the whole company in general. Fortunately it hit none of them but it did throw the room into an uproar. And into the tavern a moment later walked their host, Alexander Hamilton, to look upon a shameful scene in which food, glassware and china and guests were all in a heap.

Hamilton, dreading the scandal that would result if the story of the affair became known, set about swiftly to restore order. Enough quiet was obtained so that he was able to make his speech. Then he departed, probably with a real thanksgiving feeling in his heart to escape from such guests. But unfortunately for Hamilton, rumors of the disorder in Fraunces tavern had already reached Washington's ears and the President was plainly disturbed by the fact that what he had intended to be a quiet religious holiday had been turned into a rowdy affair by the friends of his secretary of the treasury.

So when Hamilton arrived the President lost no time in questioning him about what had taken place. When he learned that a young soldier of the United States army had been injured in a disgraceful brawl, especially at a gathering presumably for the purpose of giving thanks to God for the blessings of "good government, peace and concord," his anger was aroused to the extent that he demonstrated again, as he did when he rebuked Charles Lee on the battlefield of Monmouth, that he knew how to use strong language when the occasion called for it.

"It is disgraceful, by —, sir," spoke George Washington, and there was nothing left for Alexander Hamilton to do but meekly agree and discreetly withdraw from the presence of his chief without further comment.

Thus did the political rivalry of two of his cabinet members have a part in detracting from the solemn character which our first President had wished the first Thanksgiving day to have, and although this may have had nothing directly to do with it, the fact is that for five years thereafter did the President again proclaim an other official Thanksgiving.

Queer Tricks Are Played by Some Erratic Rivers

Eccentric Rio Grande Leaves Farmers in Lurch.

Washington.—Residents of north and central New Mexico received a jolt recently when the Rio Grande, source of water for their crops, suddenly left them in the lurch by drying up completely into a path of sand.

"Dwellers near the peaceful Potomac or steady Hudson, accustomed to relying on rivers as dependable landmarks, flowing in routine way from source to mouth, are in for disillusionment," says the National Geographic society. "No feature of nature is more capricious than some rivers."

"This sudden drying up is an old trick of the Rio Grande, which, with only one large tributary, the River Pecos, tries to flow from the Rocky mountains over 2,000 miles to the sea across open valleys and arid desert. In winter and spring, melted snows swell this United States boundary stream until in places it leaves its banks; but in summer, in many sections, it evaporates in its sandy bed.

One of Bad Habits.

"Dwindling is just one of the bad habits of the eccentric Rio Grande. Swinging in great curves over the low flood plains, it often changes its course, shifting land between Mexico and Texas.

"Another perverse river is the changeable Hwang Ho, which has shifted its course through China many times. Its mouth on the Yellow sea, once south of the Shantung peninsula, now lies north of that promontory, 250 miles from its former outlet.

"Roundabout windings of a river add numerous miles to its course. Although an airplane trip direct from the source of the Seine to its mouth covers only 250 miles, the river, because of its meanderings, actually traverses 482 miles.

"Broad swings of a river form wide curves, so-called 'oxbow loops.' In flood time, a swollen stream will sometimes cut across the neck of one of these loops, and flowing in a new channel, shorten its course by as much as fifteen miles.

"Rivers erode their banks unevenly. Often one bank remains many times higher than the other. The Volga's right bank in its lower portion is cliff-like, while the left bank is low and subject to floods. For this reason, the Volga's lower course shows over thirty towns built on the high right bank to a mere handful on the low left bank.

Streams That Disappear.

"Although the sea's deposits on coasts sometimes cause rivers to seek new outlets, many rivers, on the other hand, push coast lines out into the sea, linking islands to the land with sediment.

"A stream eccentric in its flow is the Garonne, a river of southwestern France, formed by two torrents. One of them rises like any other river, flows along normally like an ordinary stream, and then drops mysteriously into the earth to flow underground for two and a half miles before emerging. Kentucky's Mammoth Cave and Virginia's Natural Bridge are thought to be the result of like subterranean tunneling. In Greece, rivers quite commonly disappear into caverns and reappear miles distant.

"Rivers vary not only their length but their volume. Broken dams and levees, raging waters dotted with roofs of drowned houses tell the tragedy of floods on the Mississippi and other rivers. The Hwang Ho is nicknamed 'China's Sorrow,' because of its frequent inundations which drown thousands of peasants crowding its low basin.

"Tidal rivers possess interesting phenomena in tidal waves, or 'bores,' which sweep in periodically from the sea. As these waves ascend the narrowing channel of a river, they form a steep wall of water towering many feet high. The Wye and the Severn in England, and the Seine in France, have small bores. The Hangchow bore on the Tsientang river, China, is one of the most famous of the river bores.

Whisky Snake Story Has New Dressing

"The Upper Nile, between Khartum and Gondokoro is sometimes blockaded with floating vegetation called sudd, from an Arabic word meaning 'block.' In flood times, additional sediment often causes the mass to grow 25 miles long. Its interwoven reeds, vines, and bamboos form a great carpet so strong that elephants and rhinoceroses can walk across the Nile on it."

Doukhobor Sect Will Remove to Mexico

Plan to Dispose of Property in Western Canada.

Winnipeg, Man.—The Doukhobor sect of western Canada, center of many stormy controversies precipitated by its fiery leader, Peter Verigin, is preparing to abandon its rich holdings in Saskatchewan and move to a new "promised land," it was revealed here.

Verigin, the spare, mustached Messiah of the colony of 8,000 persons whose farmlands are among the most productive in Saskatchewan, was in Winnipeg, ostensibly negotiating for migration of his tribe. He was reticent and uncommunicative regarding the Doukhobors' plans, refusing to comment on a report that they would move to a tract in Chihuahua, Mexico, for which it is known he has been negotiating.

Verigin did reveal, however, that the Doukhobors were ready to dispose of their 25,000 acres of land "lock, stock and barrel," possibly the culmination of a hectic series of clashes with governmental restrictions that were marked by nude parades and arrest of Verigin himself.

Verigin, the Sheistikof (Christ) of the pacifist sect, salaried by all of the faithful, served 18 months in prison on a perjury charge and barely escaped deportation to Russia. He had complained loudly against restrictions that prevented other Doukhobors from all parts of the world from coming to Saskatchewan at will.

It was expected that if the colony moves to Mexico thousands of members in Russia and delegations from Germany, Persia and other countries will join them. Mexican immigration laws are comparatively lenient.

The area in Mexico to which the tribe may move is known as the "La Juntas Lands," near San Antonio, and consists of 1,000,000 acres.

The Doukhobors' present holdings are valued at more than $1,000,000.

Mexican War Engineers Built Stanch Causeway

Austin, Texas.—Texas highway engineers have a high regard for the United States army engineers of Mexican war days. They have just discovered that some of the causeway work of Gen. Zachary Taylor's forces is still in good state after being undrained for years.

The causeway across Boca Chica at the extreme southwest limit of the United States has been buried in sand and water for years. A recent gulf hurricane changed the water line and brought the old military causeway to view.

It was built upon piles. Most of the posts were cypress. The good condition of the cypress posts after years caused little surprise, but the engineers were astounded to find that the trunks of palm trees had also been used and also were in good preservation.

Sale of House Reveals Date of War Mystery

London.—Sale of Tom-Na-Monachan, mystery house of Scotland, near Pitlochrie, has resulted in the piecing together of data which has furnished an amazing spy story.

The mansion was purchased by a rich Turk, Iskendar, shortly before the World war. In the course of business a Mr. Blank of Glasgow called. Iskendar seemed interested to know that Mr. Blank spoke French and promised to send him to Paris to take a position. The Turk changed his mind, but said he had a house in Paris and asked Blank to call there any time. The war broke out and Blank was in Paris. He called at the Turk's house and found gendarmes in charge. Iskendar had been murdered.

Tom-Na-Monachan was raided and was found to be the source of the pacifist literature circulating throughout Scotland and England.

Tree Association Starts Campaign to Save Elms

Washington.—A fight to a finish against the Dutch elm disease has been launched by Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree association.

Pack has begun distribution of thousands of copies of a bulletin entitled "Another American Tragedy." He said there was no cure for the disease and the future of the elm rested on the possibility of eliminating the plague entirely.

The only way to win the battle, Pack said, is to locate and destroy infected trees. It is feared that in a short time the disease will become so widespread that all varieties of elm in this country will be destroyed.

Pack said trees in New Jersey, New York, and Connecticut were the chief victims, and that the fate of all the nation's elms depended on the result of the fight in these states.

Iowa Villager Is Willed Violin 267 Years Old

Earlville, Iowa.—A 267-year-old violin, made in Germany, and brought to this country by a pioneer when it already was ancient, is the prize curio of this little village.

The violin is owned by Harry Cruise, who came into its possession through the will of J. W. Corbin, the first white male child born in Delaware county. Corbin said he obtained it from a German settler.

The instrument bears the inscription: "Antonius Stradivarius Cereimonis Fiebacht Anno 1667."

Preacher Places Birds in Church for Sermon

Somerville, Mass.—In preparation for the preaching of a sermon entitled "A Bird's-Eye View of God," recently, Rev. Harold Willard Arthur, pastor of the Union Square Baptist church of this city, arranged to have 25 canaries distributed among the pine trees grouped around his pulpit to help him express his theme more forcefully. The birds accompanied members of the congregation when they were singing and continued to sing during the entire service.

Mrs. Gladys Smith must have known where these birds were all the time. Her bag represents a two day shoot of Chinese pheasants in western Washington, where orchards and stubblefields are good places to look for this greatest of game bird delicacies.

The Carteret News

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY IN THE YEAR AT THE PLANT OF THE CARTERET NEWS AT 9 COOKE AVENUE, CARTERET, N. J. TELEPHONE, CARTERET 8-3000.

M. E. YORKER, Publisher

Entered as second-class matter June 24, 1908, at the post office at Carteret, N. J., under act of March 3, 1879.

THE CARTERET NEWS was founded June 17, 1908 as THE ROOSEVELT NEWS; was published on Wednesdays until July 15, 1909; was then published on Thursdays until December 6, 1912, since which time it has been a Friday paper. The title of the paper became THE CARTERET NEWS on November 17, 1922, following the election of November 7, 1922, when the people of the Borough voted to change the name of the Borough from Roosevelt to Carteret by a vote of 1652 to 203.

BUY AT HOME—IT PAYS

These are trying times and demand trying actions. Our President has recognized this fact and is trying very hard by new methods, to bring back prosperity.

Our Carteret business men, or a group of them at least, have also recognized this principle and are making innovations. There have been business men here who thought that Carteret has lately been what it formerly was, a small closely knit body of people whose wants and desires were limited and solidified. Perhaps they thought that our inhabitants were too intelligent or stabilized in their purchases as to be attracted by the luring advertisements of "bargains" promised in the cities or in surrounding communities. Those who thought so were seriously mistaken, for no matter how intelligent a people might be it is only human to be enticed by incessant and alluring propoganda of high-powered salesmanship.

The Carteret News has pointed out, in the final analysis of things, Carteret business men have in a quiet, dignified way, been selling a better or the same grade of merchandise at lower prices. This is not merely a statement, but a fact. The enormous overhead of operating businesses in the city, the cost of these high alluring ads, must be returned to the merchants there, from the price of the product.

Carteret business went them one better. They combined, and instead of petty competition amongst themselves, they have taken the example set by the President and resorted to the principle of combination. As a class of Carteret business men, then, they are united in a campaign to acquaint our inhabitants with the products that they have to sell, and the highly efficient and beneficial service that goes with them. Carteret business men cannot afford to refuse warranties of quality of their wares, nor their service; and nowhere is more service given than by neighborhood merchants.

In addition, they have combined to give gratis to the purchasing public, prizes that are within their combined means to give without increasing the price of the product, for by this method the cost to each merchant is so small as to be negligible. This adds zest and thrill to marketing by the housewife and makes that otherwise dreinal task a sort of a game. The prizes are substantial and sufficiently alluring and purchases need not be made in any particular place. Competition takes place just the same in the qualities of the merchandise and mostly, in the service that the particular merchant offers. Carteret business men have merely given up the dog-eat-dog policy of business and are now satisfied to have Carteret Shoppers purchase in Carteret.

This competition of service will be of great advantage and benefit to the shopper with each merchant trying to outdo the other in courtesy, attention and personal interest. And it is here that the greatest advantage seems to lie—in personal interest. Your merchant is your friend, socially and in all ways. He knows of the trials and hardships, the laughs and gayeties, the hopes and aspirations of the families with whom he does business by virtue of his close residence to them. He, being a member of the same community, must of necessity, take interests in common with them. When his fellow towns-men and customers are up against it, they find their home-town merchants ever-ready and willing to aid them into the clear. In the merchant, they find a beneficial ally.

Aside from this, successful business merchants in the Borough, add other advantages that revert to the interest of the residents. Churches, synagogues, social welfare, charities, banks, building loans, sport events, celebrations, parades, etc., and all other sorts of social activity dependent upon public support, are more readily had and with easier burden to the worker-resident, when the profits to be made upon the goods consumed here are left with the home town merchant. Leaving your dollars with the out-of-town merchant leaves our own merchant in no position to contribute to all of these activities that make life more zestful and enjoyable. Our merchants have always been liberal in this respect; they deserve the preference of our trade.

Best of all, it seems that they ask nothing more than just that: Preference Not to be misled by alluring "bargains" elsewhere. See if your favorite merchant in town or some other merchant here cannot do better with your dollar or as well. You'll find that it pays to buy home.

In Appreciation—

The high development of the electric industry in this country is due, in large measure, to the demand of American women for ways and means of eliminating the burdensome tasks in the home.

She demanded a way to sweep easily, quickly and efficiently; she wanted mechanical methods of washing clothes; she wanted an automatic refrigerator; she wanted to get away from smelly, smoky lamps; in hundreds of tasks about the house she wanted mechanical aid.

The electric industry appreciates its opportunity to serve the American woman and has striven to furnish electric service economically and efficiently to the end that for a few cents a day she has at her command energy to do her arduous household tasks.

Why

Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the right dose of a properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a more natural movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action. It gently helps the average person's constipated bowels until nature restores their regularity. You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store, ready for use.

Bedtime Story for Children

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A LESSON IN POLITENESS

A FLOCK of modestly dressed yet rather distinguished looking feathered folks alighted in a cherry tree and began helping themselves to Farmer Brown's cherries. They were about the size of Winsome Bluebird, but did not look in the least like him, for they were dressed almost wholly in a beautiful rich, soft, grayish-brown. Across the end of each tail was a bright yellow band. On each, the forehead, chin, and a line through each eye was velvety black. Each wore a very stylish pointed cap, and on the wings of most of them were little spots of red which looked like sealing wax. From this they get the name of Waxwings. They were slim and trim and quite dandified, and in a quiet way were really beautiful.

"If they stay long, Farmer Brown won't have any cherries left," remarked Peter. "Don't worry," replied Jenny Wren. "I don't know anybody equal to them for roaming about. Here are most of us with families, while those gadabouts haven't even begun thinking about housekeeping yet. They certainly do just look at that performance, will you?"

They Were About the Size of Winsome Bluebird, but Did Not Look in the Least Like Him.

like those cherries, but I guess Farmer Brown can stand the loss of what they eat. He may have fewer cherries, but he'll have more apples because of them."

"How's that?" demanded Peter. "Oh," replied Jenny, "they were over here a while ago when those little green canker worms threatened to eat up the whole orchard, and they stuffed themselves on those worms just the same as they are stuffing themselves on cherries now. They are very fond of small fruits, but most of those they eat are the wild kind which are of no use to Farmer Brown or to anybody else. They eat so many cedar berries that some folks call them Cedar Birds. Others call them Cherry Birds. Now

Do YOU Know—

That the first engagement token was the Gimmel ring, this name being derived from the Latin Gemellus, which means joined. The ring was made of two separate bands, with little teeth cut in their inner edge, and were joined together by the bride and groom when they walked to the altar.

Huckleberry Pie

By ANNE CAMPBELL

IT'S just a huckleberry pie Set on the window ledge to cool. Outside the summer sun is high, The sky a blue inverted pool. And once again a barefoot child Sets out to find, tin pall in hand, The berries hiding in the wild Far off upon that pleasant land.

It was in huckleberry time The farm was loveliest to see I saw the morning-glories climb Upon my window happily; And glancing backward, as I walked With cheerful footsteps down the lane, It seemed to me the brown wrens mocked That little girl so tanned and plain.

But nothing changed that sense of peace That was my heart's blest quality. The woodland path was a release From irksome household tasks to me. But now upon small things intent, I view with an approving eye The sweetness of home's sacrament, Caught in a huckleberry pie.

The line can be shot 150 yards with 300 pounds pressure. The sight on the gun is similar to an airplane ring sight. The gun also has a rail attachment that can be used instead of a tripod. The tapered cone is used with the line wound on it, this cone keeping the line from tangling when the harpoon is fired. It is equipped with a pistol grip and trigger for firing.

See the way the panel idea is prolonged in the seams of the skirt! Don't you like the sleeves?—they can be short or long. And please don't overlook the back view, with that nice pointed yoke.

CRANFORD SINKS UNDEFEATED MACMEN BY 7-6

Cameron Kicks Extra Point; Kosel Scores For Carteret

Carteret High's hopes of going through the season undefeated were smashed to smithereens Saturday afternoon when the Cranford High team sent them down to their first defeat by a score of 7 to 6 at the Cranford ball yard.

Kosel plunged over for the lone Carteret touchdown early in the first period, but he failed to convert when his kick went wide of the bars. Tomczuk carried the ball over the line for Cranford in the second period, and Cameron added the extra point.

The Carteret score came after a sustained march down the field following the kick-off, Kosel and Comba doing most of the ball carrying. A pass, Comba to Kosel, from the 25-yard line, was the climax of the drive, Kosel scoring standing up. His kick for the point was wide.

The second half saw the Cranford team make their way down to the shadows of the Carteret goal posts, but the team itself did little in the drive. Tomczuk plunged over for the touchdown, although some of the Carteret fans protested that he was nowhere near the goal line. Cameron added the extra point.

The second half saw little or no action on the part of both teams, with the exception of the officials, who were quite busy penalizing the local team. Throughout the game, Carteret was penalized over 175 yards for apparently no good reason at all.

Tomorrow Carteret meets its archrival, Woodbridge, in the Perth Amboy City Stadium.

STEVE SUTO WINS DECISION OVER JIM COOGAN FRIDAY

(Special to The Carteret News)

HARRISON—Steve Suto, Harmony Club boxer, out-pointed Jim Coogan, of Newark, in the A. A. U. bouts held there last Friday evening. Suto, flashing a world of form, took the three rounds easily, and won the decision without very much trouble.

Preliminary results of the matches however, showed Coogan the winner, but a check-up by The News later found Suto the victor.

Suto weighed 160; Coogan 154. Steve and his younger brother, Otto, are fighting amateur bouts under the banner of the local Harmony Club. Baby Face Fischer is also fighting under the banner of the club, but is in the professional ranks.

George Kurtz handles all three of the boys.

Clem's Quibs of Sport

In order to call the 1934 season good, Coach Frank McCarthy's high school football team must emerge victorious from its game with Woodbridge High tomorrow afternoon at the City Stadium in Perth Amboy. If it does not, their victories over their other opponents means little. The fact that Woodbridge is a county school, makes it all the more important for them to win. But, if the Blue and White team get any kind of an even break, they should win, even though Woodbridge has been coming along rapidly during the past few weeks.

The Carteret-Woodbridge rivalry dates way back over a period of years. Players on both teams know what it means to come out victorious. Many Woodbridge boys, who were working, have come back to school to play football against Carteret. After the game, it is a safe bet to say that they will go back to work. So you can see that tomorrow's game is one of utmost importance to the Macmen. For the past two years, Carteret has failed to turn the tables on the K'rkieski coached team. In 1932, they lost by the slim margin of one point, 7-6. Last year, the Barons won easily 18-0, with Frankie Jost playing the hero role.

When the current football season started, big "Percy" Wukovets was the only one of the Woodbridge players who returned to school to play ball. That is, he was the only varsity man from last year's campaign to return. Frank Kirleski, who coaches Woodbridge, took up a pessimistic attitude when the season opened, saying that his team would be lucky if it won two games. But the Barons have already proven their worth. They have won over four games, the latest of which was a 12-6 victory over Hillside.

Comparing their records, Carteret seems to hold a slight edge, due mostly to their 12-0 victory over West Side High of Newark.

The team that shows the most deceptive type of football will win. Sheer manpower is not enough for either team. The writer's guess is Carteret, by a very slim margin.
Carteret City League Going Over in a Big Way
The Carteret City Bowling League is going over in a big way. The enthusiasm shown by the players on the six teams makes it a sure sign that the league will continue its operation next year.
At present, Rose's Big Five is leading the league by a safe margin. The Hungarians elevated themselves over the week-end by taking the three games from the Old Timers.
"McCarthy's Advice Helped Me A Lot"—Medwick
Recently, the writer asked Joe Medwick, left fielder of the St. Louis Cards, if any of the advice and coaching given him while he was at high school aided him in his professional career, and this is what the Ducky boy had to say:
"Yes, McCarthy's advice did much to make me what I am, on and off the field. He is one of the best high school coaches I know, and a swell fellow to work for. He has something about him that makes you want to win."
Taking this statement as it stands, Medwick's splendid record is all that is needed to prove it.
"What do you think of Stan Kosel as a football player", Medwick was asked.
"Well", replied Joe, "Kosel is better than the average high school kid. I think that Charley Szelag was the best back ever to wear a Carteret High uniform, with Mike Trivanovich second, and Kosel third."

Beisel Elected To Presidency Of Junior Basketball League

By CLARENCE M. SCHWARTZ

Bill Beisel was unanimously elected President of the Junior basketball League Monday evening at the high school gym when the players and managers got together for the first time this year to formulate plans for the league's 1934-35 season.

Joe Comba was elected secretary and Clem Schwartz of The News was elected publicity manager.

Applications from eight teams were received by the directors, and a vote was taken by the members of the loop to decide how many of the teams would be acceptable. At first it was thought that only six teams would be admitted to the loop but it now appears that eight teams will participate. The teams entered are The Tigers, managed by Adam Zimmerman; Terrys, managed by Clem Schwartz; St. Joseph's, managed by Ed R'ley; Rovers, managed by Mike Markowitz; Clovers, managed by Mike Wadiak; St. James, managed by Johnny Goyena; Falcons, managed by Charley Bazaral; and the Ukes, managed by Mike Haluka. However, it will be definitely decided whether or not the eight teams will be admitted Monday night, when another meeting is scheduled to be held.

The age limit was another subject which took up the attention of the members. After a long discussion, it was decided to maintain the same standard as was set last year. That is, any boy over eighteen years of age before the league season starts will be ineligible. Also, varsity players who have played with the high school are ineligible.

One change, however, which will give the teams a better break than they had last year, is in the fact that the clubs are allowed to carry ten men on their rosters. This excludes the manager, giving each club sort of an "A" and "B" team. However, the clubs do not have to carry ten men.

An entry fee of $2.00 will be turned over to the league Monday evening by each team. Also, managers are required to have a list of their players made and ready to be turned over to the league officials.

A Look at Some Teams
Looking over the preliminary rosters of the teams entered in the league, it appears that quite a bit of changes have been made during the summer by the respective managers. In the case of the Boy Club, only Van Deventer remains of last year's squad. The Boys' Club has Thom, Nascak, Ward, John Kovacs, Kurdlya and Van Deventer as a starting team. The Falcons, who didn't fair so well against the stronger opponents in the league last year, are back again with Al Such, "Mansch" Campbell, Charley Bazaral, Walter Ward and Al Pettit. The Clovers, one of the new outfits, have Bill Mikis, Mike Wadiak, Joe Terebecki, Steve Hegedus and John Ward on their first team. The Terrys or Panthers as they are now called, have Scotty Price, John Barney, John Toth, Joe Lucas and Norman Goderstad as a nucleus for their team. St. Joseph's, with Al Derra, Joe Kubicka, Trav Jackson, Jack Dixon, and Bill Walsh seem to be all set for another great season. The Rovers and the Ukes are the teams that little or nothing is known about. It may be that when the league season opens, they will not be participating. It seems that some of the players on both teams are over age.

A keen rivalry between the Tigers and St. Joseph's has already been forecast. The Tigers are out to get revenge on Joe Comba's team for the defeat they suffered last year at the hands of these same Saints. The Tigers, if anyone, should be the team to give the Saints a run for their money.

Monday evening, final plans will be completed. It is expected that the first games will be played next Monday evening at the high school gym. However, more definite news will be obtained after the players get together again.

The Carteret News will again carry full and complete stories of the going on in the Junior Basketball League this winter. From time to time, officials and accurate statistics compiled by the secretary of the league will appear.

$69⁵⁰ buys both an ELECTRIC WASHER and IRONER

This is the regular price for this equipment and this is standard equipment selling at that price. The washer with its ironing attachment are part of the standard Thor line and Thor products have justly earned their reputation for long and satisfactory service.

The Thor washing method is to set six currents of water at work, keeping the clothes moving about so they cannot bunch. At the same time twelve other currents are thrown directly on the clothes and the force of the water is sufficient to loosen and remove the dirt. The ballroom type rubber rollers on the wringer are so smooth and soft that fasteners pass through without injury.

By removing the wringer and putting the ironing attachment in its place, you convert the washer into an electric ironer. You can do all your pressing on it. It cuts ironing time in half or even to a third.

Thor electric laundry equipment has been tested at our laboratories and the reliability of its performance proved.
