Geneva Red Wings President and General Manager John Salone presented Ray Ciancaglini, former boxer and concussion awareness advocate, an award prior to a Red Wings game July 25. The award was in honor of Ciancaglini's mission to educate young athletes nationwide about the dangers of concussions. He also received a baseball signed by the team and threw out the first pitch. Ciancaglini, the former Geneva Red Wings strength and conditioning coach from 2007-2012, said he was grateful for the award. He also thanked Salone and team owner Bob Ohmann for the many recent improvements to McDonough Park.
